East Dundee man indicted for Rockford burglary, gun running

On May 12, 2016, 32-year-old East Dundee resident Matthew Shores was arrested in Fox Lake, Ill. after he was found to be in possession of a firearm in that jurisdiction. Shores was charged with Unlawful Use of a Weapon by a Felon and lodged in Lake County Jail.

On May 15, 2016, Rockford Police were sent to an address in the 1700 block of Douglas Street in reference to a residential burglary complaint. The homeowner advised that sometime between May 8 - May 15, 2016, his residence had been burglarized.

Several firearms were among the items allegedly taken from the residence. A preliminary investigation by Rockford Police revealed that the firearm found in Shores' possession in Fox Lake was one of the firearms taken in the burglary in Rockford.

Matthew Shores

The ATF task force conducted an investigation. As a result of this investigation, the case was reviewed with the Winnebago County State's Attorney's Office. On Feb. 1, 2017, the case was presented to the Winnebago County Grand Jury who returned a bill of indictment charging Shores with the following offenses: Residential Burglary; Gunrunning; and Unlawful Use of a Weapon by a Felon (four counts).

"The increase of guns proliferating in our city is simply unacceptable," said Rockford Police Chief Dan O'Shea. "We will continue to utilize and partner with ATF and other law enforcement agencies to reduce the quantity of guns on our streets, and the senseless violence guns inflict on our community."

Shores is currently in custody in the Department of Corrections, serving a five year sentence for Unlawful Use of a Weapon by a Felon, stemming from the Fox Lake arrest.

No further information is available for release at this time.

The charges against Shores are merely accusations and not evidence of his guilt.

As with defendants in all criminal cases, he is considered innocent unless proven guilty in court.

WHS announces Seniors of the Month

Congratulations to the Winnebago High School January Seniors of the Month! Two Grand Prize Winners were drawn from a group of seven nominated Seniors that were chosen by WHS staff. All of the nominees: Emma Brown, Sergio Solis, Hannah Insko, Ayanna Pettigrew-Wilkes, Seth Weinrich, Michael Capriola, and Kaitlyn Freimuth, were specially selected by WHS staff members due to their outstanding demonstration of strength in character and leadership skills both in and out of the classroom.

Representatives from our sponsor, First National Bank and Trust Company, recognized our two winners, Emma Brown and Seth Weinrich, with a generous donation. The proud community partnership of Winnebago High School and First National Bank and Trust Company is excited to have the opportunity to work together to recognize excellence in our young leaders of the community.

The Table

By JILL PERTLER
Contributor

The Table has been a part of my life for as long as I can remember.

When I was a child, it was my fortress; I crawled under it, learning every crack and crevice from the underside. It seemed massive from my little girl perspective. Larger than life.

The Table held a revered position in the household. It was old, older than all of us put together – and that even included my dad. It was old, but it was perfect. From the intricately-carved claw feet to the highly-polished, pristine ebony top with grooved edge.

But all that wasn't readily evident, because the Table was securely and doubly protected with padding and a tablecloth. Always. My mom – who took great pride and joy in preserving the perfection of the table – wasn't taking any chances, especially not one that could result in a scratch.

When my parents relocated to a new home they no longer had space for the Table. I did. So I became its proud owner. I used a cover for awhile (just one, not two), but concealing the beauty of the flawless ebony wood seemed wrong, somehow – hiding it meant no one could appreciate and enjoy it.

I took the cover off. Over the years, my family has used the table for numerous activities. It was our homework station. Big enough to spread out large assignments – some of which involved glue drips from posterboard to table. We've completed craft projects with fabric paint and permanent markers. We colored eggs at the table using dyes of various colors.

We've had many family game nights at the table. Sometimes snacks or a drink got spilled on the wood. I use my sewing machine at the table. Once or twice the machine has slid unexpectedly and caused a scratch (or two).

Perhaps the most egregious of all, for a while we used the table for ping pong. It's about the right size and the net attached nicely to the table edges – leaving just the tiniest of marks when we removed it.

Recently we had a big meal at the table and needed to pull out the extra leaves, which extend to make our large table into an enormous one. The leaves haven't been used for homework, game night, sewing, crafts or ping pong. They've been protected from the elements and the rigors of my family within the undercarriage of the table – where I used to play. And they remain as pristine as the table used to be – before we used it.

The contrast between the table that is now and the leaves that were then was significant – and symbolic. Some would look at the table and conclude that we wrecked it. I don't believe that's true.

The table (no longer uppercase) may not have the extrinsic value it had when it was untouched and unscratched. But its intrinsic worth has increased exponentially. When the table was the Table, it was beautiful but nothing more. Each scratch and glue drip and watermark signifies family memories made around a piece of furniture that has earned its place in our dining room.

Some day we may have to refinish it to bring it back to its pristine stature, but that's okay. Because I bet my kids will remember our times around the table with a fondness that would have been hard to attain if perfection meant more to us than family. I think even my mom would agree.

Historical Society to hold two events

The Pecatonica Historical Society invites the community to attend their Monday, Feb. 20, meeting to listen to the special presentation about local houses that have active spirits.

Brian Johnson, a Pecatonica resident, has developed an interest is communicating with willing spirits in area dwellings and will share his findings with the audience at 7 p.m. at the Pecatonica Public Library.

Looking ahead: The Pecatonica Historical Society will sponsor a trip to the Command Post restaurant on Samuelson Road in Rockford for their April 17 meeting.

The event will begin at 4 p.m. with an historical tour about military Camp Grant in South Rockford.

Illinois State Police warns of phone scams

The Illinois State Police (ISP) is warning the public of a phone scam that is currently circulating throughout the state. Several individuals have reported to the ISP that they have received automated messages advising them they are under criminal investigation and requesting they send $600. The voice in the automated message appears to be a male with a foreign accent.

The phone number associated with the calls has been faked to appear as a legitimate ISP telephone number of (847) 608-3200, in a practice known as "caller ID spoofing." The ISP wants to inform the public these calls are not coming from the ISP. Citizens should be wary of calls soliciting money regardless of the phone number the call is made from, particularly if threats are made by the caller or they become pushy.

The ISP will never call to solicit money on behalf of the Department or ask you to send money for any reason. The ISP encourages those that believe they have been the victim of this phone scam to call the ISP at (815) 632-4010 to file a report.

For information on different types of phone scams and indicators of phone scams please visit the Illinois Attorney General website or the Federal Trade Commission at:

One way we can help each other get through these challenging times is to keep our dollars local. Here are three good reasons.

Reason #1: Shopping locally saves you gas and wear and tear on your vehicle.

Reason #2: When you spend your money locally, you support the businesses whose property taxes pay for our municipal services.

Reason #3: Many of our youth programs are supported and sponsored by local businesses and if we don't support them, they can't support our kids.
