Stockton Heritage Museum to host presentation on telling time in ancient North America

This August, the Stockton Heritage Museum will play host to a discussion on some of the ways humans have been measuring time for thousands of years. Without a cell phone or clock around to tell if one was running late for the hunt or needed to prepare for harvesting season, the earliest human civilizations had to rely on other methods to schedule their days and nights.

The presentation, Telling Time in Ancient North America, will take place on Aug. 23, at the Stockton Heritage Museum, 107 W. Front Ave., Stockton, IL at 7 p.m. William Iseminger will invite audiences to discover the various timekeeping methods employed by these ancient civilizations in North America. Whether natural formations on the horizon or artificial, man-made structures, their calendars made use of the sun, moon, and certain bright stars to measure time.

Learn about the Woodhenge sun circles of Cahokia Mounds, America's and Illinois's first major city, other prehistoric Indian sites in eastern North America, the Pueblo structures in the Southwest, and the rock circle "Medicine Wheels" of the Great Plains – all evidence of the great innovators who looked to the sky to know what time it was.

The event is being produced in part by Illinois Humanities Road Scholars Speakers Bureau, a program that provides organizations statewide with affordable, entertaining, and thought-provoking humanities events for their communities. A roster of speakers, hailing from 20 different towns and cities across Illinois, present topics in history, culture, literature, music, politics, law, science, and many more.

Road Scholar William Iseminger, the speaker for this program, was born in Bloomington, Illinois, and grew up in Arlington, Virginia. He majored in anthropology in college, receiving his BA from the University of Oklahoma and his MA from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. He participated in excavations in South Dakota and several locations in Illinois, and he has worked at the Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site, near Collinsville, IL, full time since 1971. He directed public archaeological field schools for many years and serves as assistant site manager in charge of exhibits, interpretation and public relations at Cahokia for the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency. Iseminger is the author of the book, Cahokia Mounds: America's First City (Landmarks) published in March 2010.

The event is free and open to all audiences. For more information, please visit our Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/Stockton-Heritage-Museum-309324911534/> or contact Peggy Drane, pdrane56@gmail.com, or (815) 238-7859.

Friends and family members gathered Sunday evening for the last Movie in the Park event of the season in Stockton's Memorial Park.

She said the 2016 Summer in the Park season was fantastic.

"We had three Movies in the Park, an arts festival with its jazz festival and Music in the Park," Jordan said. "It's been a great summer and there are always new people that come to the events hosted by Stockton Strong, so we thought to give back to the community and have everyone out for one final hurrah before school starts."

Five smart financial tips for college students from the Illinois CPA Society

About 20 million students attended U.S. colleges and universities last year, according to the National Center for Education Statistics. These students may have spent years in school preparing academically for higher education, but they may not feel completely ready to handle their finances. The Illinois CPA Society offers its top five tips for students who want to get high marks in managing their money.

1. Take charge with a budget

Have you been responsible for your own monthly budget in the past? Or are you new to being responsible for what you spend on food, rent and other expenses? Your first step should be creating a budget that will serve as a roadmap for your spending. It will also help you manage your expenditures so you can avoid running short on funds at the end of the month. Be sure you include all monthly expenses, and for any yearly expenses, divide the total by 12 to start paying towards each month.

2. Don't over think it

Making a budget doesn't have to be complicated. It can be as simple as figuring out how much you have to spend each month which will include money you receive from your parents and from student jobs or other sources and how much you expect to spend. That will include things such as rent, if you're not in a dorm, plus any meals you'll have to pay for that aren't already covered in a meal plan, as well as the costs of books, fees or activities related to your courses and any travel or commuting costs.

Once you've identified your monthly needs, whatever is left is yours to spend on your wants. It's a good idea to track your spending as you go – to be sure you're on target with your budget and to get a sense of where you're spending your money.

3. Keep a lid on credit

Fifty-six percent of undergraduates have credit cards, according to a national Sallie Mae study. Managed properly through controlled spending, credit cards can be an important part of building a solid credit history. However, be sure to monitor your balance. You may be surprised by how quickly your purchases add up. To avoid overspending, stick to your budget and pay off your balance each month. And before you sign up, be sure to read the fine print.

Look for a card with low or no annual fees and compare offers to find the lowest interest rate. Also, find out how long the grace period, the amount of time you have to pay your balance in full without paying a finance charge, on the credit card is and what you'll be charged for a late payment. Once you begin to use credit, the three major credit reporting companies will begin calculating your credit score based on factors such as your payment history. You're eligible to receive a free credit report from each of the three major credit reporting companies once every 12 months. It's a good idea to request these reports to confirm the accuracy of your credit information – an excellent way to detect potential identity theft or fraud. Visit www.annualcreditreport.com for more information.

4. Don't spend more than necessary

If you're signed up for meals at the college cafeteria, don't waste cash buying food elsewhere. In addition, many businesses give discounts to students or sell gently used books or other supplies. Research all your opportunities to save a few bucks on purchases and make the most of them.

5. Set some aside for later

Remember that it's never too early to get into the habit of putting some of your money into a savings account. Doing so can help you afford things like a trip to a sunny location during your break or your account can serve as a nest egg for life beyond college. And saving is a habit that will serve you well throughout the years ahead.

Are student loan servicers keeping you in the dark?

With student loan debt reaching $1.26 trillion and affecting 43.3 million Americans, it's no wonder many borrowers are falling behind. In fact, the Education Department reports more than 40 percent of those who borrowed from the government's main student-loan program aren't making payments or are delinquent. The long-term impacts of student loan default and delinquency cannot be overstated, but there is hope, said Sarah Hamilton, student loan supervisor for Take Charge America, national nonprofit credit and student loan counseling agency. The trick is to ensure you're in the right repayment program, but this is easier said than done. Loan servicers are in the business of collecting payment – not educating borrowers.”

Hamilton details eight repayment considerations loan servicers may not share:

Multiple loans: Loan servicers only advise on the balances they hold. If you have multiple loans, your servicer will focus only on their individual loan without regard to other debts.

Deferment/forbearance: Your servicer may or may not know this, but you should use deferment or forbearance only as long as necessary and only if you have no other options bearing in mind you're only allowed a total of 36 months over the life of your loan. Also, know that interest continues to accrue for certain types of loans in deferment or forbearance.

Federal loan repayment options: Servicer's first job is to collect on debt, so they may not inform borrowers about options for lowering their monthly payment including income-driven repayment or loan consolidation. It's wise to consult a nonprofit student loan counselor to understand your options.

Tax status: Married borrowers who file their taxes jointly may be at a disadvantage when it comes to loan repayment. Monthly payments for income-driven plans are based on income; a joint tax return will reflect your entire household income and may result in a higher payment. If you're married filing separate, your payment will be based on your income alone. Your loan servicer may not know what's best, but your tax preparer can advise you.

Family size: Monthly payments for income-based plans take your family size into consideration – but this isn't necessarily based on the family size you claim on your taxes. Even borrowers who claim children every other year can include their dependents when applying for a repayment plan. Your loan servicer may not know this or may not tell you as family size will bring down your payment.

Parent PLUS Federal Loans: Your only repayment alternative for parent loans is an income-contingent plan, which sets your monthly payment at 20 percent of your discretionary income. Your servicer may not know it's best to leave your Parent PLUS Loan(s) out of your consolidation so you don't limit repayment options.

Consolidation: This may be your best repayment option, but your servicer may not recommend you consolidate your loans, or tell you that all past-due balances become current as soon as you consolidate. Also, your servicer may not inform you that consolidation could allow you to qualify for additional repayment and forgiveness options that your individual loans may not qualify for.

Loan forgiveness: If you're a teacher, work in nonprofit or hold a government post, you may be eligible for loan forgiveness. It is unlikely your servicer will ask about your employment, so if you don't know about this option, you may miss out on the opportunity altogether.

Borrowers seeking more information about student loan repayment may visit Take Charge America at studentloans.takechargeamerica.org or call (877) 784-2008.

VIEWPOINT

From the desk of Illinois State Representative Brian W. Stewart

The Olympics are here! I don't know about you but I can't seem to get enough of the games. Admittedly, I don't get to watch as many of the events as I would like, but I did have a chance to see Michael Phelps dominate the competition Tuesday night. Something about the medal ceremony just sends a chill down my spine and a sense of pride in my country through my veins.

What is it exactly that makes the Olympics so great? Is it the fact that seemingly everyone across the world is watching the same exact thing you are with the same level of anticipation? Is it the stories of overcoming personal struggles to achieve Olympic gold? Or maybe it's the athletes like Oksana Chusovitina, the Uzbekistani gymnast who competed against other gymnasts who were all half her age? For me it's all of these things. And one more thing keeps it all interesting – the International Olympic Committee ensures that all athletes have a fair chance of winning.

Just imagine if one country was able to control all of the proceedings. What if the host country for the Olympics was allowed to design a pool that favored its own swimmers? Or what if they were able to design a track that ensured Brazil had the shortest distance to the finish line? Surely this would cause international uproar, right?

Interestingly enough, in Illinois we have a system that allows for just that. Not for athletes, mind you, but for politicians. I'm serious. The party in power in Illinois is legally allowed to draw their own maps and make their own legislative districts. We wouldn't allow this in sports, so why do we allow this when it comes to making decisions that affect you and your family? Well, we don't have to, because 570,000 Illinoisans signed a petition saying they've had enough of this corrupt system.

For those of you who may not know, the Independent Map Amendment committee is a bi-partisan grassroots organization that seeks to take the authority for drawing maps away from the politicians in Springfield and turn the job over to a non-partisan commission. This would ensure that maps were not drawn to favor a certain party, but to be fair to all voters. Illinois' current system of drawing legislative maps would be puzzling to most any geographer, but to a seasoned political operative it makes perfect sense.

Let me give you an example of our current system. I will use our very own congressional district, the Illinois 17th. The 17th Congressional District begins in Rockford. It doesn't contain all of Rockford, just the portions of Rockford that tend to favor a certain party (If you look at a Google Maps version of the district, you can see that the party in power went as far as to split residential streets between congressional districts). The district runs through Freeport covering all or most of Stephenson, Jo Daviess, Whiteside, Carroll, Rock Island, and Henry Counties. From here it gets interesting; the district then runs across several other counties to include the city of Galesburg and then the district hooks east to catch part of Peoria. Not all of Peoria, of course, but just enough of Peoria to help that same political party. Amazing, who would have ever thought that Rockford and Peoria would be in the very same congressional district? The Speaker of the Illinois House, that's who.

Iowa, our neighbors to the east, adopted an independent commission much the same as the Illinois ballot initiative. And wouldn't you know it – it worked out beautifully. I would encourage you right now to go to your computer or phone and type "Iowa Congressional District Map" into the search bar. You can then compare that map to the map of the Illinois 17th Congressional District. Look closely and you will see that Iowa's commission drew a map that actually makes sense! Whole counties are contained within congressional districts instead of splitting up neighborhoods by households to maximize one party's electoral advantage. So what is stopping us from doing this in Illinois?

Well, as of right now, what is stopping us from reforming our system of drawing legislative maps is a challenge from a lawyer with deep ties to the current Speaker of the Illinois House. His challenge was upheld by a judge from – can you guess which county? – Cook County. At this moment, the fate of Independent Maps Amendment hangs in the balance. I would love to say that I think the Illinois Supreme Court will overrule the lower court's ruling, but I would hate to give you false hope. At this moment, it looks like partisanship has won.

But I refuse to give up hope. Too many Illinoisans have made their voices heard for this issue to just go away quietly. So we will keep fighting.

To wrap things up, I think I will go ahead and do something I have not yet done with this column and I never thought I would do, but – I'm going to quote President Barack Obama. Earlier this year during his State of the Union address he said: "We have to end the practice of drawing our congressional districts so that politicians can pick their voters, and not the other way around." President Obama, on this issue you and I are in complete agreement.

As always, you can reach me or Sally at (815) 232-0774 or e-mail us at repstewart@gmail.com. You can also visit my website at www.repbrianstewart.com or on Facebook.

Rauner signs bills honoring Gold Star Families, increasing services to Illinois veterans

Governor Bruce Rauner took action on five bills as part of Veterans Day at the 2016 Illinois State Fair. The bills strengthen Illinois' commitment to our veterans and their families by providing needed assistance and honor to those who have sacrificed so much for our country and our state.

"The selflessness of our American heroes can never truly be repaid, but here in Illinois we are making it easier for our men and women to return home and have prosperous futures," said Governor Rauner. "We are investing in our veterans' futures while never forgetting those we have lost along the way."

Two of the bills support the families of our Illinois veterans. HB 4389 designates the day after Gold Star Mother's Day as Gold Star Family Day to be observed throughout the Illinois as a day to honor and commemorate the families of men and women who gave their lives while serving with the armed forces of the United States. HB 4432 allows a child in any grades 6 through 12 to be absent from a public school for the purpose of sounding "Taps" at a military honor funeral held in Illinois for a deceased veteran.

"Our Gold Star Families have made the ultimate sacrifice for the people of this country. They have lost their loved ones in service to our nation. That loss and their resilience should be remembered and honored every single year," Governor Rauner added.

The Governor also signed bills to assist veterans' transition from military life to life as a civilian and increase the level of care within Veterans' Homes.

HB 4627 allows veterans to begin their college education upon discharge regardless of how the calendar year lines up.

"By establishing an admissions process in which honorably discharged veterans are permitted to submit an application for admission to the university as a freshman student enrolling in the spring semester, if the veteran was on active duty during the fall semester, will not force the veteran to put their life on hold just because the calendar does not match up," said Illinois Department of Veterans' Affairs Director Erica Jeffries. "I thank the Governor and the legislature for providing this important benefit to our Illinois Heroes."

HB5938 amends the Veterans' Home Nurses' Loan Repayment Act to expand the scope of the program to include eligible physicians, nurse practitioners and nurses, rather than limiting the act to just nurses. HB 5003 requires, rather than allows, the Chief Judge of each judicial circuit to establish a Veterans and Service Members Court program to help those veterans that have fallen on hard times.

Stockton Strong is an organization born of The Illinois Institute for Rural Affairs' MAPPING The Future of Your Community program, a participant driven strategic planning process where local leaders and citizen volunteers create a long-range vision for the future of their village.

The organization is in its third year and has organized a number of activities that highlight Stockton and its neighboring communities.

Peggy Tully works at the Stockton Banking Center and has contributed considerable time and energy to making the 2016 Summer in the Park season a success.

"I think Stockton Strong is an awesome organization to be part of," said Tully. "A big part of tonight's End of Summer Celebration is the recognition of our volunteers. Our movie nights have been a lot of fun and we've had great crowds at each of the three movies. We are running Minions tonight and I think it's a perfect choice for a great End of Summer Celebration."

Stockton Strong treasurer Jill Pepin took time out from her chores at the cotton candy machine to celebrate the end of summer with the rest of the volunteers.

"This has been our third full summer of Stockton Strong events and each year we've seen growth; really positive growth and not just with our events, but also with our volunteers and supporters within the community," Pepin said.

She said the events and activities staged by the Stockton Strong organization are drawing positive attention to Stockton.

"We want people that live in Stockton to come out and enjoy what is here and we want people that don't live here to come out and then wish that they lived here," said Pepin. "We have a great park and we are staging some awesome events."

FROM LENA'S KITCHEN

The not so skinny cook

I was at Timberlake Playhouse on Thursday night when yet another storm came through. It was the last play of the season, and I breathed a sigh of relief when I was home without any trees on the road or water standing. The play was Gaslight, a Victorian thriller. It was well done, but when it is storming after seeing an attempted murder, haunted house production, it is hard to wind down and go to sleep. Thank goodness for the Olympics and the Cubs ball game in extra innings! Summer is with us with a vengeance, and we are still putting up with hot and humid weather—I do think it helps the tomatoes ripen. As I have said before, the rain makes this hate-to-water person happy! This week we continue to feature summer vegetables and fruits.

It seems as if everyone wants to pickle something these days. This next recipe is for pickled red onions. I suppose you could use regular onions, but the red ones are really pretty in a jar or bowl. Pickling is very old fashioned. This recipe doesn't make you prepare for canning, so it is easy to make.

Pickled Red Onions

- 1 red onion
- ½ C. Italian Dressing
- ½ C. white vinegar
- 1 T. sugar
- 1 T. minced garlic

Cut the onion lengthwise in half, then crosswise into thin slices; place in medium bowl. In a large bowl, combine the Italian dressing, white vinegar, sugar, and garlic. Add the onions and mix lightly. Refrigerate for 2 hours, stirring several times during the 2 hours. Use as tasty condiment on meat, vegetables, or eat it by itself.

Since corn and tomatoes are plentiful, this easy salsa recipe will help you use some of both. If you don't want to grill the corn, you can toast it in a skillet after boiling it. The results will be almost the same, although corn on the grill has a better flavor.

Easy Salsa

- 3 ears of corn
- 1 T. olive oil
- ½ t. salt
- ½ t. black pepper
- ½ t. garlic powder
- ½ t. Italian seasoning
- 2 C. tomatoes chopped and drained

- ½ medium red onion, diced
 - ¼ C basil leaves, roughly chopped
- Dressing:
- ¼ C. olive oil
 - 2 T. vinegar
 - 1 t. minced garlic
 - ¼ t. salt
 - ¼ t. pepper

Preheat the grill to medium heat. Place a 12 x 12 piece of aluminum foil on the grill. Brush the corn with olive oil. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, garlic powder and Italian seasoning. Place the corn on the foil and cook for 10-12 minutes, turning occasionally until kernels begin to char. Remove from heat and slice kernels off of the cob.

Toss the corn, tomatoes, onions, and basil together in a large bowl. Whisk together the dressing ingredients in a small bowl. Add to the salad and toss. Serve immediately.

This great appetizer is good for any season. The large mushrooms are at a good price, and the spinach makes for a great stuffing. I sometimes chop the stems I removed and use them in the stuffing.

Spinach Stuffed Mushrooms

- 30 large whole fresh mushroom, stems removed
- ¼ C. olive oil
- 1 egg
- 1 t. minced garlic
- ¼ t. salt
- ¼ t. pepper
- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped

spinach, thawed and drained
2 oz. of softened cream cheese
½ C. grated parmesan cheese
½ C. shredded mozzarella cheese
¼ C. plain dried crumbs
Preheat oven to 375. Lightly oil a rimmed baking sheet. Place mushrooms gill side up, on sheet and brush with oil. Bake until just tender, 12-17 minutes. While the mushrooms are baking, beat the egg with the garlic, salt, and pepper in a bowl. Stir in cream cheese, spinach, ¼ cup parmesan, mozzarella, and bread crumbs.

Drain off any juices from the baked mushrooms. Fill the caps with the spinach mixture (about a tablespoon in each). Sprinkle the mushroom caps with remaining parmesan and bake until stuffing is hot and golden brown, about 10 minutes. Note: you can make this up to 4 hours ahead and chill covered with a damp paper towel or plastic wrap. If they are chilled, you might want to add a couple minutes to the baking times.

My friend, Lee, gave me this unique macaroni salad that she likes to make. The addition of the lettuce, tomato and bacon makes for an interesting flair to plain macaroni salad. If you buy Lena Maid bacon, there is not much grease and little shrinkage. Enjoy this unique take on macaroni salad.

BLT Macaroni Salad

- ½ C. mayonnaise
- 2 T. chili sauce
- 2 T. lemon juice
- 1 t. sugar
- 3 C. cooked elbow macaroni
- ½ C. chopped seeded tomato
- 2 T. chopped green onions
- 3 C. shredded lettuce
- 4 bacon strips, cooked and crumbled

In a large bowl, combine the mayo, chili sauce, lemon juice and sugar. Add the macaroni, tomatoes and onions; toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate. Just before serving, add the lettuce and bacon. Toss to coat.

This great veggie casserole can be used as a meal with a salad and crusty bread or as a side. The rice is available in most grocery stores. The addition of the rosemary gives an added flavor. You can use shredded Cheddar, Mozzarella, or Cheddar Jack cheese for the topping.

Summer Veggie Casserole

- 3 C. broccoli florets
- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) Uncle Ben's Whole Grain Brown Ready Rice
- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and water squeezed out

- 3 T. grated Parmesan cheese
- ¾ t. crushed rosemary
- ½ t. salt

- 1/8 t. pepper
- 1 C. tomato juice
- ½ C. water
- 2 small tomatoes, thinly sliced
- 1 C. shredded cheese

Preheat the oven to 375. Coat a 10-inch pie plate with cooking spray. In a large bowl, combine the broccoli, rice, spinach, Parmesan, rosemary, salt and pepper. Spoon into the pie plate. Pour tomato juice and water over the top. Arrange tomato slices on top. Sprinkle with cheese.

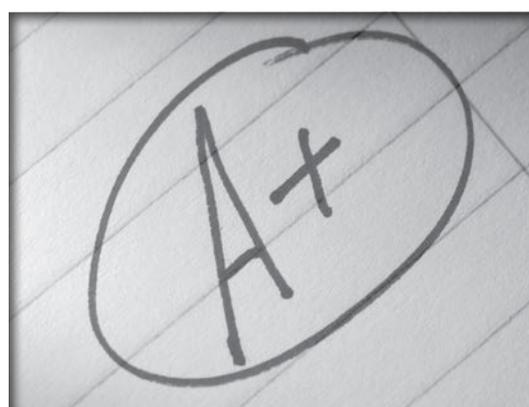

Bake 25 minutes or until golden brown. Important: Let stand a few minutes before serving. Cut into pie slices.

The big dessert on the Cooking Channel is any kind of upside-down cake. This one uses peaches. There plenty of good tasting ones in the store and at Farmer's Markets. I use a cast iron pan for making upside-cakes. You can use a stainless steel frying pan as long as the handle is metal. Be very careful when removing the cake from the pan because the juices are very hot and will burn your skin easily.

Peach Cornmeal Upside-Down Cake

- ½ C. cornmeal
- 2 T. unsalted butter, plus 6 tablespoons melted and cooled
- 1/3 C. sugar, plus ¾ C. more of sugar
- Salt
- 2½ C. peeled and pitted peaches, cut into ¾ inch wedges
- 1 C. flour
- 1 t. baking powder
- 1/8 t. baking soda
- ½ C. whole milk
- 2 t. grated orange zest plus ¼ C. juice

Scales Mound crosses border to take the field

By Chris Johnson
 REPORTER

It appears a solution has been found, which will allow the student-athletes at Scales Mound High School, the opportunity to play football this year.

Courtesy of a co-operative agreement between Scales Mound and Benton, WI, the students who want to play football, can do it.

With a listed enrollment of 55, finding enough players to field a stand-alone team wasn't possible.

In order to allow the students served by District 390 the right to participate in extra-curricular activities, an adjustment was made.

The IHSA season opener is Friday, Aug. 26.

Scales Mound will be a non-conference, participant.

The Hornets kick-off the regular season in September.

Practice continues this week, as the students at Scales Mound prepare for game one, of the 2016 fall sports season.

WIAA regulations allow game play to commence, in full force, following the Labor Day holiday.

The house yard at the Jim Briggs farm just north of Orangeville is regularly home to one of the more striking exhibits of beautifully restored early farm machinery. Be sure to join them this weekend for the annual Briggs and Reed Tractor Ride.

1 large egg plus 1 large yolk
Preheat the oven to 350. Toast the cornmeal in an oven safe 10-inch nonstick skillet over medium heat until fragrant, about 2-3 minutes, stirring frequently. Transfer to a large bowl and let cool.

Wipe skillet clean with paper towels. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in the skillet over medium heat. Add 1/3 cup sugar and a pinch of salt and cook, whisking constantly, until the sugar is melted, smooth, and deep golden brown, 3-5 minutes. (Mixture may look broken, but will come together). Off the heat, carefully arrange peaches cut side down in tight pinwheel around the edge of the skillet. Arrange the remaining peaches in the center of the skillet.

In a separate bowl, whisk the flour, baking powder, baking soda, and 1/2 teaspoon of salt into the cornmeal. In a separate bowl, whisk the milk, orange zest, juice, egg and yolk, and melted butter and remaining 3/4 cup sugar until smooth. Stir the milk mixture into the flour mixture until just combined.

Pour the batter over the peaches and spread into an even layer. Bake until cake is golden brown and a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean, 28-33 minutes, rotating the skillet halfway through the baking.

Let cake cool in skillet on a wire rack for 15 minutes. Run a knife around the edge of the skillet to loosen the cake. Place large, flat serving platter over the skillet. Using potholders and holding the platter tightly, invert the skillet and the platter together; lift off the skillet (if any peaches stick to the skillet, remove and position on the top of the cake.) Let cake cool completely, about 1 hour. Serve with whipped cream.

I got my peaches from the Farm Bureau, and they ripened in a day. Guess what I was doing on Friday? They will certainly taste good this winter (I told myself that as I was finishing up on Friday night at 9:00!). This week is full of new and interesting experiences—I will have a report next week. If you have any good peach recipes, send them in. We are also looking for some garden vegetable recipes. Egg plant, zucchini and tomatoes are ripening at a fast rate. If you have any recipes to share, you can contact us in person, by mail, or email us at From Lena's Kitchens, Shopper's Guide at 213 S. Center St. or email scoopshopper@rvpublishing.com.

Stockton Police Department report for week ending August 9

On 8/5 at approximately 8:50 a.m., an officer of the Stockton Police Department was dispatched to a residence on West Prairie Street in reference to assisting the Stockton Ambulance Service. The Officer assisted the Ambulance personnel in the removal of a person from the residence.

On 8/6 at approximately 11:44 a.m., an officer of the Stockton Police Department was dispatched to the area of Hilltop Terrace in reference to someone with a gun. On arrival, the officer's preliminary investigation revealed that the incident was not as originally reported and no further action was required by the police.

On 8/7 at approximately 10:25 a.m., an officer of the Stockton Police Department was dispatched to assist the Stockton Ambulance in reference to a person who fell at the Country Inn and Suites, 200 Dillon Street. On arrival, the officer assisted the victim by securing and helping to lift the person with ambulance personnel. The victim was then removed from the scene for medical assistance.

At approximately 4:11 p.m. on 08/08 an officer of the Stockton Police Department was on patrol near the intersection of W. North Ave. and N. Pearl St. when he observed a gray Nissan van travelling west on W. North Ave. The van was travelling at forty six miles per hour in a 35 zone according to radar.

A computer check showed that the driver, Maurece Herrion's Illinois driver's License was suspended. Maurece Herrion was placed under arrest for driving while his driver's license was suspended and he was transported to the Stockton Police Department for processing.

On 08/08 at approximately 1:36 p.m., an Officer of the Stockton Police Department observed a Hispanic female sitting on the grass along Highway 20, with a large garbage bag and a backpack. The officer made contact with the subject and inquired as to whether she needed assistance. The female subject stated that she was stranded and did not have enough money to get to Tennessee, which was her intended goal. A name check of the female revealed that she had several warrants for her arrest from out of state, which were not serviceable in Illinois. A local resident offered the woman a place to stay temporarily until she was able to find a way home. No further assistance was required from the police.

On 08/07 at approximately 0120 hours, while on stationary patrol, an officer of the Stockton Police Department observed a white van travelling eastbound on Rt. 20, come to almost a complete stop at the intersection of Rt. 20 and Rush Street, despite there being no stop sign. As the officer followed the vehicle, it was observed to make several more traffic violations, including swerving into oncoming traffic. The driver was identified as Laurencio M Jimenez. After physical observation Jimenez was placed under arrest for DUI and transported to the Jo Daviess County Jail for processing.

On 08/08 at approximately 01:25

hours, Officers from the Stockton Police Department and the Jo Daviess County Sheriff's Department were dispatched to an address on east Front Avenue for a report of a domestic disturbance. Upon arrival, Officers encountered the Suspect, Corey B Hoskinson and his girlfriend, as they were talking. Both subjects stated that they were involved in a Domestic Incident in rural Stephenson County earlier in the night and that the girlfriend had come to Stockton to get away from Hoskinson. A computer name check on Hoskinson revealed that he had a warrant for his arrest from Carroll County, IL. Hoskinson was placed under arrest for the warrant and traffic charges, and Stephenson County Sheriff's Department was notified of the Domestic Incident occurring in their jurisdiction. Hoskinson was taken to the Jo Daviess County Jail for Processing.

At approximately 4:02 p.m. on 08/09 officers of the Stockton Police Department and the Jo Daviess County Sheriff's Department were dispatched to an address on South Simmons St. for an attempted suicide in progress. Dispatch reported that the victim was in the process of hanging himself.

Upon arrival, officers were met by two females. They advised that the victim had been removed from the noose and was barely responsive. Officers were directed to a bedroom where they found the semi-responsive victim on the floor. Officers provided assistance to the victim until Stockton Ambulance personnel arrived on the scene. The victim was removed from the scene by Stockton Ambulance and taken to Freeport Hospital for treatment.

On 08/09 at approximately 8:16 p.m. an officer of the Stockton Police Department, was on routine patrol when he observed a red Jeep travelling west bound on North Ave at the intersection of N. Pearl St. The Red Jeep appeared to be traveling at a rate of speed greater than the posted speed limit of 35 mph. This was confirmed, as the vehicle's speed was found to be 47mph in a 35 mph zone on. The Officer then initiated a traffic stop on the red Jeep.

The female driver later identified as Nemoyer U. Flowers. Ms. Flowers produced an Illinois State ID card and a temporary Michigan Driver's License. A computer check through the Secretary Of State confirmed that Nemoyer U. Flowers had a suspended Illinois driver's license. Ms. Flowers was taken into custody and transported to the Stockton Police Department for processing. Ms. Flower's was issued a notice to appear traffic complaint for Driving While Suspended.

Chief Tom Sheehan of the Stockton Police Department reminds everyone that all persons arrested are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ISP investigate squad car crash

Illinois State Police today released the following statement regarding the crash involving a District 8 (Metamora) State Trooper and a pedestrian on Aug. 13, at 4:19 a.m., at Rt. 116 at Centennial Drive, East Peoria.

The Tazewell County Coroner's Office identified the man who was killed as Jarett J. Simons, 44, of Freeport.

"It saddens me to announce a pedestrian was fatally injured during a tragic traffic crash along Illinois Route 116," said ISP Captain Steven Riesenber. "Our thoughts and prayers are with the deceased and their family," he added.

The preliminary investigation indicates an Illinois State Trooper was driving in the left lane of Route 116 when he struck a pedestrian walking in the middle of the unlit highway. The Trooper did not have time to react before striking the subject.

The trooper was not injured but was taken to a local hospital to be examined. The scene is being processed by ISP Crime Scene Services, the ISP Traffic Crash Reconstruction Unit, and ISP Zone 4 Investigations.

Monroe Clinic named in '100 Great Community Hospital' rankings

Becker's Hospital Review recently named Monroe Clinic among its "100 Great Community Hospitals." "This list recognizes the important role community hospitals serve in our nation's healthcare landscape. It's compiled through Becker's editorial team's extensive research and review process. Our hospital's inclusion on the list recognizes the collective dedication to healthcare excellence demonstrated by each of our team members and leadership," said Mark Thompson, MD, Chief Medical Officer at Monroe Clinic. Hospitals considered for this list have 550 or fewer beds and are located in both suburban and rural areas across the nation. The editorial team works through a master list of facilities selected based on original research or national rankings from such organizations as iVantage Health Analytics, Truven Health Analytics, Healthgrades and CareChex to determine if the hospital is making continual strides to provide quality care. While there is no perfect measure of healthcare quality, Dr. Thompson explained how the data and research behind '100 Great Community Hospitals,' as well as other rankings and recognitions, are part of an important conversation throughout the industry. "More than a pat on the back, it can lead to information sharing and higher quality care for all patients. As for Monroe Clinic, it also offers encouragement to keep moving forward, keep improving and keep listening to the communities we serve," said Dr. Thompson. Monroe Clinic Hospital was also named one of the Top 100 Rural & Community Hospitals in the nation by iVantage and received the Outstanding Patient Experience Award from Healthgrades this year.

One way we can help each other get through these challenging times is to keep our dollars local. Here are three good reasons.

Reason #1: Shopping locally saves you gas and wear and tear on your vehicle.

Reason #2: When you spend your money locally, you support the businesses whose property taxes pay for our municipal services.

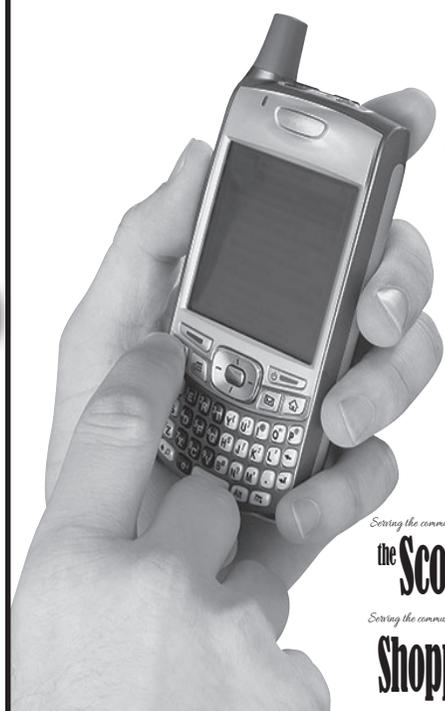

Reason #3: Many of our youth programs are supported and sponsored by local businesses and if we don't support them, they can't support our kids.

Winslow celebrates its heritage with Antique Days

Tony Carton
EDITOR

Winslow Historical Society's Antique Days brought hundreds of people to town to reminisce, check out the museum, shop at flea markets, listen to music, and of course, eat.

The event is an annual celebration of Winslow history featuring an ice cream social with homemade ice cream, the Prairie Thunder Cloggers, a large flea market, live music and more.

Winslow's claims to fame are its cream cheese which was later made famous as Philadelphia Cream Cheese and the village was home to Doc Carver and his Wild West show.

Folks in Winslow are becoming increasingly concerned because the younger generation is not as interested in preserving or discovering their heritage, but the Winslow Historical Society and Museum is emerging as an increasingly popular source of background and information on the area and as the town's demographic shifts and younger folks want more factual information about their hometown. The museum is filling that bill.

There is a lot more to Winslow's heritage than cream cheese, an artesian well and a sharpshooter and with newly found funding, museum quality pieces and increased local interest, the Winslow Historical Society and Museum promises to continue uncovering and sharing the materials it finds.

Millie's World – Rare birding event happens right in Millie's back yard

By Millie
CORRESPONDENT IN TRAINING
with help from Tony Carton
EDITOR

Tony and I have been cautiously watching a pair of vultures nesting inside a cavity in one of the maple trees in our backyard since early spring. A friend who is active with the Audubon Society told him it is very unusual for them to nest in a tree and to expect they are tunneled well into the trunk. He also told Tony to watch for babies. Well, today while we were checking the new red raspberry bushes for Japanese beetles, Tony saw one of the adults go into the hole in the tree and when we got a little closer we saw a vulture chick had left the nest.

No, sillies not a vulture chick like your emotionally unstable and 1970s love damaged minds are imagining, a vulture chick like a baby vulture.

Curious minds are at work here, so I ran in the house while Tony snapped photos and I Googled, "What do you call a baby vulture" (a chick) and what they look like (something only a mother would love) and how they came to be (ask your parents.) Here's a bit of what I found.

VULTURE TRIVIA

The Male and the Female vulture "couples" will take turns sitting on an egg. Eggs normally hatch in 40-50 days. A group of vultures is called a "Venue". Vultures circling on thermals of hot air are also referred to as a "Kettle", because they resemble the rising bubbles in a boiling pot of water.

Groups of perched vultures are called a wake. Imagine them mourning over something with their heads hung down.

Contrary to popular belief, circling vultures do not necessarily indicate the presence of a dead animal. Circling vultures may be gaining altitude for long flights, searching for food, or playing.

These birds are very light weight (about 3 lbs for an adult) and soar on thermals of warm, rising air. This allows them to best conserve their energy in flight. After rising on the thermal, they glide as far as possible before they need to gain altitude again. They also rely on thermals of warm air to remain aloft while scanning the ground for food.

All vultures find food with their incredible eyesight, but turkey vultures have a keenly developed sense of smell, on which they rely at times when foraging. It is not clear to what extent turkey vultures rely on their sight versus their smell, but in tropical environments, where carcasses may be hidden from view under the forest canopy, it is likely the birds depend more heavily on their sense of smell.

And, yes, vultures WILL turn their nose up at carcasses in advanced stages of putrefaction. They prefer fresh meat, but are the only scavenger that does not kill its prey. With that in mind, if a turkey vulture is disturbed or harassed, it will throw up on whoever is bothering it. Even the vulture babies will do this!

Turkey vultures have been known to live up to 24 years. The average age is guessed to be around 20 years. So, there you go. More information about vultures than you've ever wanted, but Tony and I are excited. We will post his photos here and if we can get more over the next months we will post them too. Enjoy – Millie
