Stephenson County Historical Society to stage Lincoln Conference

By John Day
CORRESPONDENT

The Stephenson County Historical Society has begun to make ready for a very special event, the 160th anniversary of the Lincoln – Douglas debates. This year Lincoln will be returning to Freeport. Actually, fifty or more people in the personage of Lincoln will be coming to Freeport for the 2018 Association of Lincoln Presenters Conference. Additionally, Freeport may see several people who look like Mary Lincoln, Stephen Douglas or other memorable characters from our nation's past.

The Association of Lincoln Presenters which is holding its conference April 19 through 22, has scheduled meetings, conferences, lectures and other events. To recognize the anniversary of the debates and acknowledge the Lincoln Presenters, the Stephenson County Historical Society has arranged a special exhibit and private showing of the artifacts in the Society's collection for those attending the conference before opening the display to the public. The exhibit will present artifacts and period photographs that are rare, unique and quirky. Many of the items will offer glimpses into Lincoln the man and the President. Other articles will emphasize the connection between Lincoln and Freeport.

The Historical Society calls the 1857 Oscar Taylor house home and Sharon Welton is the current Director who settled in Lena near 30 years ago and began doing volunteer work for the historical society in that town. In 2014 Welton took over the Directors duties in Freeport with the departure of Dr. Ed Finch. Welton said, "We're looking forward to having the Lincoln Presenters here in Freeport. We've planned to have a private showing for them on Friday afternoon April 20.

In a museum that has well over ten thousand pieces in its collection, most of which is in storage, putting together the exhibit can be a challenge. Welton said, "There has to be some logic to what is put in cabinets or hung on walls. There has to be a theme while at the same time offering a broad range of artifacts for viewing.

"We have a great number of period photographs of Lincoln, his family and contemporaries. There are a lot of pieces that represent the many reenactments of the debates that have been done over the years. There's a lot that let us look into what the world was like during Lincolns lifetime."

Among the treasures that will be put in the exhibit are a rare photo of Lincoln's funeral in Chicago, a rare Lincoln engraving circa 1867, a theater lobby card from the movie Abe Lincoln in Illinois which starred Raymond Massey and a large newspaper page reporting the assassination of Lincoln. Other high points of the display are a chair from the hotel room where Lincoln stayed in Freeport for the debates and a bronze 1865 Peace Medal bearing Lincolns image.

Just recently Welton had received a packet of Civil War letters from a museum in Medford, Oregon. Welton said, "Apparently, someone walked into this museum and gave them the letters. Determining that these were correspondence between an Illinois soldier and his family, the museum offered them to us.

"The challenge for the future is stay modern. That means more family programming, staying relevant and attracting new visitors and members. We also have to think about new acquisitions. Acquisitions do not have to be major finds worth large amounts of money. Often times it can be the stuff found in your grandparent's estate in the form of letters, pictures or documents. We're always open to taking a look at what you've found."

The Lincoln exhibit will open to the public beginning on April 21, and will last for about one month. The Stephenson County Historical Society is located at 1440 S. Carroll Avenue and is open Wednesday through Sunday from 12 to 4 p.m. The museum can be reached at 815-23- 8419 or on Facebook.

Serving others

After reading a short story, called Beatrice's Goat, the third graders in Mrs. Teske's/Ms. Leddy's class got inspired to make a difference in someone's life. The students raised $1, 050 for Heifer International gifting people in need an animal to have a better life. Heifer International's mission is to provide a hand up not a hand out. This project opened many discussions about what it means to serve others in the world and how to truly make a difference.

Lena Library News

By Brittany Gaulrapp
DIRECTOR

It's finally Spring, although nobody told Mother Nature yet, and we are "springing" into this season here at the library. All of our classes made butterflies this past week and the afterschool classes are on display. All of the kids did a great job, so stop by and check them out. We will soon be wrapping up our classes for the year as the kids will be out of school and enjoying their summer vacations before we know it. You know what summer vacation means right, SUMMER READING. As always, sign up will begin the first week of June and we offer classes for children ages third through fifth grade, so please keep us in mind as you make your summer plans. It is a great way to keep kids reading through the summer, and having fun at the same time. The story hour kids have been busy as well. They have all been taking about April showers, May flowers, springtime and butterflies. Both groups made a fun snack they could eat: marshmallow clouds and Fruit Loop rainbows. After crafting their delicious snack, the kids read Little Blue Truck's Springtime, What Makes a Rainbow?, and How Do You Know It's Spring? They sang some springtime tunes as well: "The Rabbit", "Rainbow Rhyme", "It's Spring.", "April Showers", and "I Wish I Was a Little Hunk Of Mud". This past week was all about butterflies. As I mentioned before all of the kids decorated coffee filter butterflies. The story hour kids also made sparkly foam butterflies as well. They read Kitten's Spring, and Billy Bunny and the Butterflies.

Don't forget about our book discussion group. We will be meeting again on April 25, at 9:30. Grab your favorite book and come join us.

News from the Lena Community Park District

By Deb Dietz
LCPD PRESIDENT

As we shiver into a late spring the park is get ready to provide the area with various recreational opportunities. Our 2017 recreation director Shari Staton has turned the reins over to our new recreation director Stephanie Broushous. The rest of the staff will remain pretty much unchanged. We have our registration dates lined up, plus you may also register at the office during regular hours.

LCPD owes a great debt of gratitude to Adkins Energy for the new security system that is currently being installed. Adkins Energy donated $10,000. to the park for a security system and to upgrade computers. This was a wonderful gift and very timely as we have been cutting our spending and lowering taxes. We have had an ongoing problem with certain activities in the parks, but feel certain that knowing that cameras are recording park visitors will quickly change things! We did have vandals break out a large plate glass window at the pool early last winter. It is sad that there are people who would enjoy that type of destructive behavior. Parents need to remind their kids and grandkids that they are the ones who pay the park bills, and that destruction only ends up costing the individual families more to cover the cost of repairs.

The board would like some public input regarding our future plans. We currently have the Damascus Landing and Boat Launch. The park district bought it, built it up to it's current condition (with the help of a state grant covering part of the costs) and currently covers the cost of upkeep and repairs. Since it is on the river, there are expenses for repair, silting in around the launch, etc. The majority of the use appears to be folks from outside the district. The board is considering giving the landing to the county. While our taxpayers have put plenty of district money into the landing, it will never return that with any sort of cash flow, but will always require more district dollars for upkeep. With that in mind, as a district taxpayer, do you support giving it to the county? The county would keep it open for use like the park has. It would be a time and money saver for the park district, allowing us to use the efforts of our staff and the costs for other facilities and programs in the district. So, what do you folks within the district think? Please let the park know if you have strong feelings either way. You can get in touch with the park by phone (815-369-5351), by email (lenapark@aeronic.net), by attending our meetings (3rd Thursday of each month at 6:30) or call me at home at 815-369-4334.

To All Concerned People:

We, the Pearl City Legion Post 1014, are an active post. We are not dissolving. We will continue to be an active legion. We had to quit having meals because of our health issues and many involved. We are not getting rid of a lot of the little things that are very important to the Legion; including the bell flag pole, the sign, pictures, etc.

Thank you, Pearl City Legion

VIEWPOINT

Madigan files action against alternative electric supplier

Attorney General Lisa Madigan today filed a lawsuit against Major Energy Electric Services LLC (Major Energy), an alternative retail electric supplier (ARES), for misleading thousands of Illinois customers about the company's costly electricity contracts using high-pressure sales tactics to push people to enroll without explaining the service or the costs. Madigan was joined by consumer advocates with AARP, the Better Business Bureau and U.S. PIRG to announce her lawsuit.

The deceptive sales pitches have resulted in nearly all Major Energy customers consistently paying higher rates for electricity. Since April 2012, Major Energy customers have paid nearly $2.5 million more in rates and extra fees than they would have paid if they had remained with the regulated utility.

Madigan's lawsuit, filed in Cook County Circuit Court, alleges that Major Energy and its sales representatives used aggressive and deceptive sales tactics to enroll customers in the ComEd territory into expensive contracts for electricity. Major Energy sales agents failed to tell customers critical information, including the price and length of the contracts and that customers would be charged a monthly fee. Madigan alleged many customers were given the false impression they were signing up for a discounted rate from ComEd when in reality, they were switched to Major Energy, where they routinely paid higher prices for their electricity.

"Major Energy's business model is nothing more than outright fraud, and unfortunately, Major Energy is not the only company engaged in this fraud," Madigan said. "But through my lawsuit today, we can put this bad company out of business for good in Illinois."

Madigan's lawsuit stems from Major Energy's sales pitches, delivered mainly through telemarketing calls and door-to-door sales, which misinformed customers that the company would give them a lower rate because of changes to the law due to deregulation. Madigan's suit alleges that company sales representatives made no effort to accurately describe the product in the sales pitch. Instead, Major Energy sales representatives offered to apply a "rate reduction" and spoke in ambiguities to confuse consumers into thinking that Major Energy is somehow affiliated with ComEd. The sales representatives employed the deceptive tactics in order to obtain the customer's account number and then push them into an automated third-party verification to complete the transaction—at times without the consumer even knowing that they had been sold anything.

Madigan's lawsuit also alleges Major Energy sales agents aggressively contacted consumers who had previously canceled Major Energy's service through "win-back" calls in which sales representatives tell people they have been "illegally switched" to a different supplier and then switch them back to Major Energy without fully explaining the terms and conditions. Madigan also alleges that Major Energy sales representatives misrepresented the applicable ComEd rate and failed to inform customers that fixed rates only applied for a certain period of time, after which the customer would be switched to a month-to-month variable rate plan that was far more expensive.

Currently in Illinois, there are at least 98 alternative retail electric suppliers, or ARES, authorized to sell electricity, and data shows their customers generally are paying higher prices than customers with traditional utilities. According to the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC), ARES customers in the ComEd territory as a whole have paid more than $198 million more for electricity than traditional utility customers from June 1, 2016 through May 31, 2017. Statewide, residential and small commercial customers enrolled with ARES have paid almost $400 million more in electricity costs in the last three years.

The lawsuit against Major Energy is Madigan's latest against an alternative retail electricity supplier. Her office previously settled with Ethical Electric Inc. and PALMco Power IL LLC and is in ongoing litigation with Sperian Energy Corp. Madigan is pursuing investigations into other ARES.

Madigan's office is asking the court to provide full restitution of nearly $2.5 million to impacted consumers and to revoke Major Energy's license to do business in the state of Illinois.

Madigan is currently pursuing legislation to require stronger oversight of alternative retail electric and gas suppliers.

Madigan offered the following advice:

NEVER answer the door to a stranger, especially if they are trying to get you to switch your utility service.

NEVER show or share your utility bill or account number with someone who comes to your door.

Do not sign anything!

Be wary of any offer that promises or guarantees savings.

No alternative supplier is affiliated with or endorsed by your utility or the government. If you sign up for service with an alternative supplier, you are entering a new contract with a different company.

Assistant Attorneys General Caitlyn McEllis, Aaron Chait, Anna Crane, Darren Kinkead, Tom Verticchio and Chicago Public Utilities Bureau Chief Janice Dale are handling the lawsuit for Madigan's Public Interest Division.

Recoveries during Attorney General Madigan's tenure top $14 billion

Attorney General Lisa Madigan today announced her office collected $864 million in revenue on behalf of the state through litigation and collection efforts in 2017. Since Madigan took office, her office has collected over $14 billion on behalf of the state.

The revenue collected for the state by Madigan shows that for every dollar of taxpayer funding her office received, she generated $28.01 back to the state.

"Since becoming Attorney General, I have brought in more than $14 billion for Illinois, including nearly half a billion dollars in funding for our state's pension systems as the result of the 2008 financial crisis," Madigan said. "I am proud of my work to generate needed revenue for the state of Illinois especially during difficult economic times."

The revenue collected by Madigan in 2017 included $19.5 million for Illinois pension systems from a settlement with Moody's Investors Service to resolve an investigation into its marketing and sale of risky residential mortgage-backed securities leading up to the 2008 economic collapse. In addition to this settlement, Madigan has reached six other settlements – with Bank of America, Citigroup, Goldman Sachs, JP Morgan Chase, Morgan Stanley and Standard & Poor's – stemming from investments in mortgage-backed securities that resulted in recovering over $450 million for the pension systems.

Madigan's office also collected over $339 million through collections litigation, including cases involving the collection of funds for damage to state property, child support enforcement, fines and penalties. Madigan also collected more than $250 million through tobacco litigation and more than $254 million in estate tax revenues.

In addition to recoveries for the state, Madigan's Consumer Fraud Bureaus mediated nearly 25,000 complaints in 2017 and provided more than $6 million in mediated savings for Illinois consumers.

Bustos: Trump's trade actions hurt hardworking farmers

Congresswoman Cheri Bustos (D-IL), member of the House Agriculture Committee, issued the following statement following China's announcement to impose tariffs on US imports in retaliation to President Trump's plan to place tariffs on Chinese goods.

"President Trump's actions are hurting hardworking families across the Heartland. Now that he's started a trade war, Illinois' pork, soybean, corn and other agricultural producers are paying the price. As I have said many times, I support fighting for fair trade and standing up for American manufacturing, but I expect this Administration to fight just as hard to protect and open markets for our Illinois farmers. Today, farmers across the heartland are now feeling the consequences of an impulsive and reckless president."

Illinois is the nation's largest soybean producer growing 611.9 million bushels annually, of which 25% is exported to China. Illinois is also a top producer in pork and ethanol which face steep tariffs. Illinois pork production contributes $1.8 billion to the state economy and China accounted for one third of pork variety meat exports last year.

Highland Community College seeks nominations for Daisy Faculty and Student Award in Nursing

For many years, The DAISY Award for extraordinary nurses from the DAISY Foundation has recognized the many pressures on nursing faculty, and the profound impact on the future practices of their students.

Highland Community College is seeking nominations now for The DAISY Faculty Award and for the DAISY in Training Award. The award is about celebrating nursing faculty and students for their inspirational influence on nurses of today and tomorrow.

The DAISY in Training Award is designed to remind students, even on the hardest days in nursing school, why becoming a nurse is an enriching career choice. It is for those students who exemplify the delivery of clinical care in a compassionate way to patients and their families.

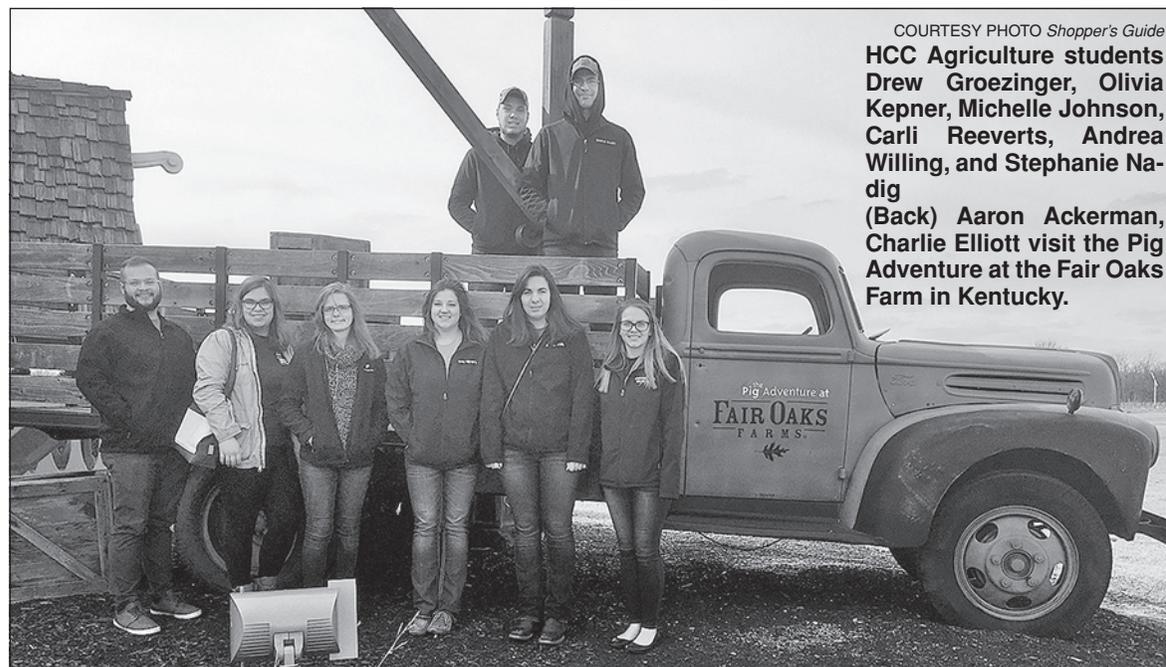

The DAISY Faculty Award was established to provide colleges and schools of nursing, a national recognition program to demonstrate a commitment and influence on their students. The DAISY Foundation recognizes faculty retention; engagement and a positive work environment. The faculty award program is about encouraging nursing faculty to continue teaching.

The DAISY Awards were established in memory of J. Patrick Barnes, who died at 33 from an auto-immune disease. The Barnes Family was awestruck by the clinical skills, caring, and compassion of the nurses who cared for Patrick. They created this national award to demonstrate appreciation to the faculty of nursing students and to say thank you.

Highland Community College believes that by recognizing faculty and students for going above-and-beyond care and compassion shown to patients and their families is what it truly means to be a nurse.

The deadline for nominations is May 1. For questions, contact Jessica Larson, RN, MSN, Nursing Faculty at 815-599-3452 or by email at jessica.larson@highland.edu. Nomination forms can be found at highland.edu.

Orangeville over powered by visiting Clippers

By Chris Johnson
REPORTER

The Orangeville Lady Broncos discovered what many other teams in the NUIC already have this year. The Amboy Clippers softball team registers a lot of hits each time they head out on the field. They also, consistently, get a lot of players involved when they do it.

This past Friday the 13th, luck wasn't with the visiting Broncos. The host Lady Clippers captured the NUIC meeting, 5-1, with nine hits logged into the game-book to support their afternoon's efforts.

Amboy hits a lot of line drive shots. On Friday they found a groove and then shared the wealth in the dug-out, with the results paying off at the plate.

The Clippers plated one in the first and then kept the scoring going through the first third of the game. Amboy built a 4-0 edge, before Orangeville got on the board.

The Clippers shutdown Orangeville in the first and then continued that trend well into the late innings of the game. The Lady Broncos wouldn't break through until the fifth inning. They scored once. Amboy held the 4-1 lead and eventually tacked on one additionally in the bottom of the sixth.

Kenzie Riemer had two hits in the 5-1 loss. She led her Lady Broncos with a double registered for her efforts. As a team Orangeville got on base five times, courtesy of the hit. They were the recipient of one Lady Clipper's miscue.

Hannah Holland was tagged with the loss for Orangeville. She gave up eight hits in her nearly six-innings pitched. She struck-out six and walked one in the game.

Earlier in the week, in the home-and-away series opener with Amboy, the Lady Broncos found just enough offense to hold back the Clippers and secure the Tuesday comeback win 7-6.

The Lady Clippers struck first in the Tuesday loss to Orangeville. Two runs scored before the hosts took their first swings. When the Lady Broncos batted in the bottom of the inning, they cut their opening deficit in half, 2-1.

Amboy was held down in the second, but assured the same task wouldn't occur the next time up. Fortunate swings and advantageous outcomes helped produce two more runs as they held the 4-1 lead, with Orangeville set to bat in the bottom of the third.

The Lady Broncos responded as they did in the first. They got one runner home to set up a possible one swing opportunity. The 4-2, third-inning deficit meant it might have to be a one-on and one-out style, but it did allow for possibilities to develop. They got things back under control in the home fifth where they scored the two they needed.

April opens with eighth-inning win for Panthers

By Chris Johnson
REPORTER

The first full month of games on the baseball diamonds for the Lena-Winslow Panthers began on April 2. It was a dramatic late-inning shut-down by Panthers pitchers that preserved the NUIC-West win over the Orangeville Broncos, 8-7, in eight innings.

There were a lot of concerns that the Panthers offense could run into some early trouble. Pitchers were hitting early strides. The visiting Broncos got the start they wanted and then added to it, before Lena-Winslow had a chance to try to level things out.

In the top of the second, the Broncos plated a single run and then shut-out Lena-Winslow in the bottom of the frame. Orangeville opened a stretch where it would see six runners cross to help pad the early advantage. With Orangeville in front 4-0 in the top of the third, the Panthers' bats got a few things to drop.

Lena-Winslow scored three times and entered the fourth in "one-swing" distance, within one run, down 4-3. Orangeville, led by seniors Brenden Waters and Caden Getz, re-staked its claim on the edge moments later.

Two Broncos crossed in the top of the fourth and the lead was back to three in favor of the visitors, in front 6-3. The led grew a little more in the visitor's fifth.

Orangeville connected for an insurance run and entered the Panthers' home half of the fifth in front four scores, 7-3.

The Panthers took advantage of everything the visitors offered them after that. They plated run-after-run until three had taken permanent position on the game ledger. With the lead cut to one, 7-6, Orangeville was kept away from the plate. The shut-out performance through the final three innings pushed the game into the bottom of the eighth.

Amboy scored once in the sixth and followed up the task in the seventh to tie the game at six. With half an inning of regulation to go, Orangeville completed the comeback attempt by a final score of 7-6.

This week's schedule opened on the road at Dakota on Tuesday, April 17 before turning home a day later to host Durand. Road matches carry the Lady Broncos into an April 27 meeting with Juda.

The Panthers produced the run they needed and completed the comeback attempt with the 8-7, extra-inning decision. Lena-Winslow got a lot of extra help in the NUIC win. Orangeville committed five errors. In comparison, the hosts were only charged with three mishaps.

The Broncos pitching got better results early. Orangeville's offense was able to connect nine times in support of their seven runs scored. Lena-Winslow was credited with three hits in the game. A lot of free passes were also acted upon in the Monday winner.

The April-opening win preceded some days of fairly-unplayable conditions as the Panthers prepared for a stretch that saw them open out of the conference, against Big Northern representative Oregon on Saturday, April 14. A date that saw many games across the area forced to be re-scheduled.

Attention turned to the NUIC this week with an away and home series with the Galena Pirates beginning on Tuesday, April 17 and wrapping up on Thursday, April 19.

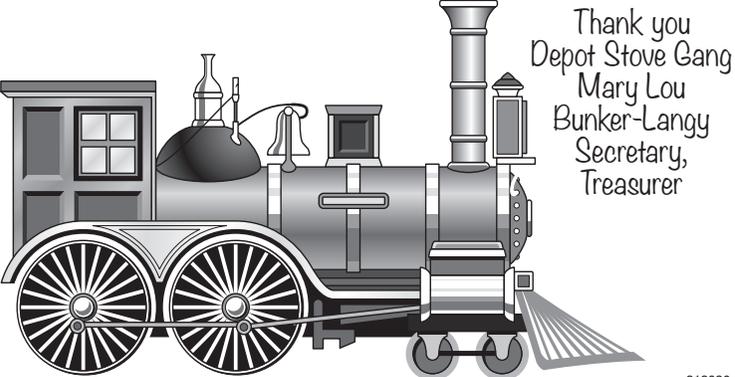

Matches with Dakota and East Dubuque help the spring season move through the later days of April.

Illinois living organ donor seeks to raise awareness, help set Guinness World Record

By Joan Henderson
CORRESPONDENT

My name is Joan Henderson. I am writing you to inform you of an event taking place this week.

More than 250 living organ donors have already registered for an unprecedented event on Saturday, April 21, in Chicago and I plan to be among them.

By doing so, I will help organizers set a Guinness World Record for the largest gathering of living organ donors in history. The meet-up, known as the Guinness World Record Attempt: Living Donor Rally, will happen at Millennium Park's Cloud Gate, the bean-shaped sculpture that is known as "The Bean."

Even more significantly, we are aiming to raise awareness of the significant need for living donors. The event is happening during National Donate Life Month.

So far, donors from nearly 40 states and from as far away as India have registered to come to the gathering. (Others from the area may also be participating in the event, too.)

Although roughly half of all American adults have registered to be organ donors upon their death, it's not nearly enough. According to the American Transplant Foundation, more than 120,000 people in the United States are waiting for organ transplants and on an average day, about 20 people die while waiting for a transplant.

Kidneys are the most commonly transplanted organ—and the most in need.

A little about my story:

I donated my bone marrow in January, 2017 at the university of Madison Wisconsin cancer center to my mother Sue Roberts who was diagnosed with acute leukemia in 2016.

From my perspective, the best part about being a donor is the ability to extend another's life for a day a week a month a year or longer. I enjoyed spending the time we had left together and wished I could have had many years instead of months with my mother. I was very happy my cells could extend her life longer than without the transplant. It's still hard to lose a love one under any circumstances. Cherishing the time together is what gives us strength.

If you are interested in following up with me, please let me know and I'd be glad to answer any questions you may have. My contact information is at the bottom of this email, and I also have photos from my experience that I can share.

Another individual you may wish to contact is Laurie Lee, an organ donor and co-coordinator of the Guinness World Record attempt. Laurie is at laurie@swiftpassport.com and 312-927-7655.

More about "The Bean":

British artist Sir Anish Kapoor's design of the Bean was inspired by liquid mercury and the sculpture's surface reflects and distorts the city's skyline.

"Because the bean resembles the human kidney, it's quite meaningful to those in the transplant community," said event co-organizer Laurie Lee. "What better place to meet than at the world's largest kidney? We want to connect, support, celebrate, and inspire others to consider living organ donation as an option."

Tickets for the event are $10 for donors, $20 for family and friends. Kids are free!

Proceeds from ticket sales will start a living organ donor fund for Northwestern Medicine. This fund will be used to help donors at NM with donation expenses not covered by insurance.

Lena Live Wires meet

By Krista KEENE
CLUB REPORTER

The Lena Live Wires April 9, 4-H meeting was held at St John's Lutheran Church in Lena IL. The pledges were led by Hannah Pecoraro. Madi Schierloh led the roll call and the question was, "What is your favorite cookie?" Madi Schierloh read the Secretary's report, and Sheila Keene gave the Treasurer's report. There was a motion to approve the minutes with corrections made by Krista Keene. Isabella Forbes seconded the motion. Under old business we discussed the Pork Chop Dinner that was held on Sunday April 8. We will be having our archery night on April 27 in Freeport. Under new business we talked about donating a medallion for the fair. For all those interested in public speaking, the sign up deadline is April 20. The next meeting will be May 14, at the Lena Friendship Center and we will be planting flowers. Our snack for the next meeting will be ice cream from the Lena Drive-In. Madi Schierloh did a talk on horses. Isabella Forbes made a motion to adjourn the meeting and Madi seconded the motion.
