McHenry High fundraiser honors Sept. 11 attacks

Nearly $1,000 was raised for the McHenry VFW following a special car wash event Saturday hosted by McHenry High School volleyball and football teams to honor the 20th anniversary of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks. Student athletes and their families joined with coaches to wash cars from noon to 4 p.m. for donations to the VFW. The team car wash fundraiser follows McHenry volleyball's veterans night on Thursday, Sept. 9, when 23 local veterans were honored during the evening. Veterans were invited to come watch volleyball games for free, and players escorted their special veterans on the court and introduced them to the crowd. Each veteran also signed a wooden flag as a keepsake. Both events come as the nation marks the 20th anniversary of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks. "It was such a special night for our players, the fans and especially the veterans," Varsity Volleyball Coach Hilary Agnello said.

The Farm Stroll on Sunday, Sept. 26, offers a chance to view 12 working farms such as the cows at Terra Vitae Farms in Woodstock or pigs at All Grass Farms in West Dundee.

Fatal crash under investigation

On Tuesday, Sept. 14, at approximately 5:40 a.m., the Huntley Police Department responded to a single vehicle traffic crash off the roadway of Charles Sass Parkway, east of the retention pond. The preliminary investigation revealed that a 2007 GMC pickup truck was traveling westbound on Charles Sass Parkway near the curve when it left the roadway, struck a light pole and rolled partially into the shallow retention pond. The sole occupant of the GMC was ejected from the vehicle and found deceased near the water. The driver's identity was not being released as of press time pending further investigation. This traffic crash is currently under investigation by the Huntley Police Department, with assistance from the McHenry County Coroner's Office.

Farm Stroll a chance to see working facilities

Come out for a day in the country Sunday, Sept. 26, when McHenry County will host its annual Farm Stroll, a self-guided tour of the county's diversified family farms. A total of 12 farms will be part of this educational agriculture-centric tour. Fruit and vegetable growers, dairy cows, beef cattle, pigs, sheep, goats, chickens, turkeys, horses, honey bees, perennial plants and more will be featured within these 12 farms. Because this is a family-friendly, free, self-guided tour, there is no beginning or end of the tour—just choose the farms that interest you and visit during the designated timeframe, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Farm Stroll is organized by the McHenry County Farm Bureau and the University of Illinois Extension McHenry County Master Gardeners. Extension Master Gardener and 4-H volunteers will be onsite to assist farm families in accommodating guests and conducting demonstrations and tours. There is no charge for the Farm Stroll, but most farms will be selling food, produce or other farm-related products.

Bring cash to purchase items directly from the farmers. Remember, these are working farms: Dress appropriately and supervise children at all times. No pets, please. A few farms will have toilet facilities, but several do not. Visit McHenry County Farm Bureau for more information at See STROLL, Page 5

High school students can learn about health careers

Northwestern Medicine hospitals in Huntley, McHenry and Woodstock are offering STEM career exposure to McHenry County high school sophomores and juniors who are considering a future in health care. The Northwestern Medicine Discovery Program includes activities to introduce students to a variety of health care career options through speakers, projects and networking with professionals.

The program will also develop professional skills and provide community service and leadership experience. "The Northwestern Medicine Discovery Program gives high school students an up-close look at different health care career options—from physicians and nurses to many other careers students may not have been aware existed," said Anne King, director of community affairs.

"Our goal is to develop the next generation of health care professionals so they will pursue additional education and return to McHenry County to care for our community members." The one-year program is open to high school students who meet eligibility criteria and complete the application process. Meetings are typically from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays once a month at one of the hospitals and may include opportunities to visit other Northwestern Medicine locations. During the COVID-19 pandemic, meetings will be virtual. This year's first session will be in November. "The Discovery Program began in Chicago in 1996 and our participants have gone on to enjoy many different careers in health care," King said. "Some have become nurses or physicians, and others have pursued engineering and architecture. Every student brings a unique perspective to the experience, and we look forward to welcoming more students from McHenry County." Students who are Kane County residents are encouraged to apply for the West Chapter of the Discovery Program in Kane County. More information about the NM Discovery program in McHenry County can be found at www.nm.org/about-us/community-initiatives/northwestern-medicine-discovery-program/discovery-program-northwest. Applications must be received by Oct. 1. Notifications will be emailed by early November. To learn more about Northwestern Medicine, visit news.nm.org/about-northwestern-medicine.html.

McHenry High School's volleyball program held a special event to honor veterans on Sept. 9 then participated in a car wash to benefit the McHenry VFW on Sept. 11, the 20th anniversary of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks.

The kind of church Jesus would join

After receiving Jesus into the head, heart and gut as Lord and Savior, we follow Him by incorporating the red letters—what Jesus said as recorded in the New Testament—into our creeds and deeds as enlightened by the Holy Spirit who never contradicts Jesus by the book. Succinctly, we love Jesus by loving like Jesus; especially punctuated by grace, mercy and forgiveness wrapped in agape love which is praying and working for everybody’s best no matter who, what, where, when, or why without the need or expectation for response, regard, or reward. We don’t/won’t/can’t follow Jesus as Lord and Savior until/unless we have enthroned Him as our personal Lord and Savior. So if you have never invited Jesus into your life as Lord and Savior or need to renew that personal relationship with Him, which we all need to do more often than not, please pray with me right now: “Father God, I know I am lost without You. I am aimless and hopeless and afraid. I need You. Sorry for ignoring You for so long and rejecting Your will for my life in so many ways, I turn to You and declare You to be my Lord and Savior. I invite You into my head, heart and gut and ask You to fill me with Yourself so I may rejoice in the forgiveness that I feel now, the devotion that I pledge to You and the assurance of eternal life in heaven after my last breath through Jesus in whose name I pray. Amen.” Francis of Assisi comes to mind. He was a spoiled brat and rich kid. Then he went off to the horrors of the Crusades and had a Damascus Road experience not dissimilar to Paul. Reborn with Jesus as His personal Lord and Savior, he dedicated the rest of his life to following Jesus and prayed, “Lord, make me an instrument of Your peace. Where there is hatred, let me sow love. Where there is injury, pardon.

Where there is doubt, faith. Where there is despair, hope. Where there is darkness, light. Where there is sadness, joy ... O Divine Master, Grant that I may not seek to be consoled as to console. To be understood as to understand. To be loved as to love. For it is in giving that we receive. It is in pardoning that we are pardoned. And it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.” Before receiving Jesus into his life as Lord and Savior, Francis the spoiled brat rich kid hated lepers and would never visit the leper colony near Assisi. After receiving Jesus into his life as Lord and Savior, Francis would go to the colony and feed lepers, bathe them, clothe them and even kiss them on the lips. When asked how he could kiss them on the lips, he said, “When I kiss a leper, I am kissing Jesus; for He said, ‘As you do it to one of them, you are doing it to Me.’” Read Matthew 25:31-46 for more on that. After we receive Jesus into our lives as Lord and Savior, we follow Jesus as our Lord and Savior.

Pink hearts – for everyone, or no one

If you’re like me and (and the rest of us) you have embraced the world of emojis. You may even be an enamored habitual user. You probably have your favorites. I know I have mine. Emojis enhance and streamline life. They communicate so much with just one click of the keyboard. You know what they say about a picture being worth a thousand words. That goes triple for the brown pile of poop emoji. Am I right? But just like most of the magnificent and wondrous things on the Internet today, emojis aren’t perfect. They promise so much, but fail to deliver on various levels, not the least being the colored heart emojis. Red is agreeably the best-used and best-known color for hearts. It’s the nature of things. Hearts are inherently red. But what color would you choose next as the premiere shade for expressing your

By
JILL PERTLER
Columnist

heartfelt emoji-ness? I’m guessing it wouldn’t be blue, green, orange, yellow, purple, black, white, or brown. The colors I just listed are available as heart emojis. Notice the gaping hole in this illogical great eight. Do you note something obvious missing? I know I do. Pink, people. The answer is pink. There is no pink heart emoji available for those of us who long to connote pink-love versus red-love, which obviously varies greatly in scope, strength, and fortitude – especially and most obviously on Valentine’s Day. Pink is friendship love. Red is “I love you love.” The other colors have their own connotations, but none communicates pink love as well as pink. I can’t tell you how many times I’ve searched through the entire library of heart emojis, looking for that elusive pink one, only to be thwarted into choosing red, yellow, blue, or purple as an alternative. Each color has certain associations and connotations specific to its particular hue. Pink and hearts, aren’t they as closely linked as blue and sky? Green and grass? Yellow and sunshine? White and snow? Black and pepper? Purple and Prince? Orange and oranges? Brown and poop? Speaking of poop, you don’t see the brown poop emoji going all rogue with purple and yellow counterparts. No one’s utilizing creative license with the poop emoji; why go there with hearts? We have a veritable rainbow of heart emojis available for the taking, but no pink. No matter that pink isn’t an official color of the rainbow per se, we are talking in generalities here. Pink is an actual Crayola recognized color just not a color of the rainbow. It should be granted equal time and opportunity in the imaginary world of emojis. Pink deserves our respect. The void in my life caused by the non-existence of the pink heart emoji bothers me significantly. Has anyone else lost sleep regarding the lack of a pink heart emoji? I feel your pain. Sigh. Can my life be complete without a pink heart emoji? It’s possible, but I doubt it.

Emojis were invented for the betterment of humankind. They are here to serve us. And in that, we need a pink heart emoji. Not a kissing pink heart emoji. Not three pink hearts in an emoji. Let’s not get all creative. Let’s just give us the real deal. Please and pretty please, with a pink heart – and maybe a brown poop emoji – on top. *Jill Pertler is an award-winning syndicated columnist, published playwright, and author. Pastor Jim Bell burns the paid-off mortgage note for the First United Methodist Church on Bonus Avenue.

Mortgage-burning celebration at church

By Anne Eickstadt
EDITOR

The First United Methodist Church of Belvidere held a ceremony on Sunday, Sept. 12, to celebrate their financial freedom. They have just paid off the mortgage that allowed them to construct a new church at their present location on Bonus Avenue. The district superintendent, Rev. Fabiola Grandon-Mayor, came to the service to give a special message.

“Paying off a church mortgage is a major accomplishment,” she said. “We are called to generosity and gratitude at all times. This congregation is now debt-free and today is the beginning of a new chapter for this congregation.”

At the end of the service, Pastor Jim Bell set fire to a replica of the actual mortgage note and the Emerge praise team and dance team performed in celebration. Everyone filed out past tables of food and took their brunch outside to eat in fellowship under the shelter of tents. Ken Terrinoni said a few words, kids played and adults chatted or answered trivia questions.

The history of the First United Methodist Church began before Belvidere was a town or even a village. In 1836, Methodists of this area were holding their worship services in the homes of the several pioneers of Methodist faith living in this settlement in the wilderness where Native Americans still roamed the northern prairies.

Early in 1838, these Methodists felt the need of services of a regular pastor and of a church building. The Rev. Jesse Walker was appointed and became the first Belvidere Methodist pastor. Building a church was not easy. Much of the material had to be brought overland from Chicago by team and wagon, making it difficult and costly work. Mr. Samuel Longcor provided financial backing for the erection of the new church, which was finished before the year was out.

Within 10 years, the small building would no longer house the membership of a growing community and plans were made for a larger structure. In 1850, a new brick building was built, located on the corner of North Main and East Perry streets.

In 1866, it was deemed advisable to have a separate church on the south side of the Kishwaukee River. In April of that year, 29 families took their letters and formed a south side congregation, calling themselves the Second Methodist Episcopal Church of Belvidere.

Later that same year, they completed their building, which was located at the

Canine Shep back on the job; tracks, finds missing child

By Bob Balgemann
REPORTER

It didn’t take one of the police department’s two canines, Shep, long to resume earning his keep after an extended time away from the job.

Police Chief Shane Woody was giving the Committee of the Whole his monthly report on activities at the police department, when he mentioned that Shep was back on duty.

“Recently, we had a report of a missing 13-year-old child that Shep was able to track and locate,” he said. “That is a perfect example of why these canines are beneficial to the community.”

Shep had undergone surgery and then follow-up surgery to correct a related problem before he was able to rejoin his handler, Officer Zach Reese, on patrol. Given the medical difficulties, Woody said the dog did have some restrictions attached to his returning to work.

The department now has the full, two-dog complement in its canine division with the addition of Solo. The chief said Solo had graduated from training and would be “going into deployment in the near future.” Solo’s handler is Officer Rich Zaph. He replaced Frank Sinatra, better known as Franky, who retired and was sold to his former handler, Officer Brandon Parker, who also retired earlier this year.

“It looks like we made a good investment in Canine Shep,” Mayor Clint Morris said.

“Yes, he rebounded quite well,” Woody responded. “We were concerned about the infection scare, but he seems to have gotten over that quite nicely.”

The chief also made the following points in his report:

• Since his last presentation to the committee, he said the department swore in four new officers, three laterals and one entry level. He added that he appreciated the aldermen who were able to attend the ceremony.

• The department has equipped about 98 percent of its officers with body cameras. “Just a couple more squad cars need to be equipped with what they need,” he said.

• Another police academy has started at the Public Safety Building. “We are doing it a little bit differently this time,” he explained. “There has been some interest in the Hispanic community. Some members of that community only speak Spanish, or mostly Spanish. So Deputy Chief Matt Wallace has considered how we can accommodate that.”

• Police participated Aug. 3 in the local observance of National Night Out, a nationwide event started in 1984 to enhance the relationship between law enforcement officers and the community. Woody said participation from the community was down a bit this year.

Alderman Dan Snow said he wasn’t aware National Night Out was held that day. He suggested Woody provide more of an advanced announcement when that event was coming, saying that might encourage better attendance.

Woody replied he would do that. But he added some of the lack of participation was for reasons other than the lack of advance announcements.

SWAT rifles

In another police-related matter, the committee voted 8-1 with Alderman Marsha Freeman dissenting to purchase two Daniel Defense 5.56-millimeter, 14.5-inch barreled rifles for the Special Weapons And Tactics (SWAT) team, at a cost of $2,662.

“When I initially requested to purchase these rifles five years ago, my request was to purchase two a year for four years, in order to outfit our eight-person SWAT team,” Woody recalled. “At that time, I also informed the council that the SWAT team was using rifles with a 20-inch barrel and an overall length of 39.5 inches. These rifles made it difficult to traverse terrain inside houses, businesses and other structures found in an urban area. Going to a shorter barreled rifle allowed the team to move through the terrain much easier, while still having the benefits of a rifle.”

If approved, he said, the outfitting of all SWAT operators with rifles conducive to urban environments will be completed.

Freeman said she looked at some videos and found “they’re pretty bad rifles.”

She also looked at reports and the SWAT team was only deployed five times in the last two years. Three of those five times were to serve warrants. “So I’m not sure each eight-member SWAT team needs one of these certified automatic weapons.”

Woody replied, “First of all they’re semi-automatic, not automatic. They fire one round at a time.”

After reiterating what had been stated in the memorandum received by the committee, he added, “Yes, it is important to have all of the officers have one of these rifles. You can’t always count on the same eight officers being at an incident.”

City council at its Sept. 7 meeting voted 9-0 to approve purchase of the rifles.

Cars for CASA back for 2021

By Anne Eickstadt
EDITOR

The Cars for CASA event has been growing steadily since its inception five years ago. It began by being held in the parking lot by Generations Chiropractic and by its second year was held in the lot by the Community Center Complex. It was held there again in its third year in 2019 but 2020 saw it cancelled due to pandemic restrictions.

This year Cars for CASA was held in conjunction with the Buchanan Street Stroll on Sunday, Sept. 12. The show cars filled the Municipal lot in front of City Hall with vendor booths and some parking in the lot next to it. Buchanan Street was blocked off from State St. up to Main St. with food trucks filling the area without dine-in restaurants. Cars for CASA had a DJ playing on the north side of the area and live bands played along Buchanan St. The band Gretta Sweets played from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and Recently Paroled played from 3:30 p.m. to 6 p.m.

“We are the voice of abused and neglected children in the juvenile court system,” said Charlotte Meier of Boone County CASA. “We are currently serving 45 children with 22 advocates. We train volunteer advocates to represent these vulnerable kids. Our goal is to have every child we work with in a safe and happy home.”

CASA Court Appointed Special Advocates, are specially trained citizens appointed by the court to serve as guardians ad litem in cases alleging abuse, neglect or dependency of a child.

“We had 68 cars, trucks and motorcycles at the event. We had a great turnout. Our 50/50 winner won over $1000, which is the highest it has been,” Meier said.

Drug trafficker found guilty

Illegal drugs removed from circulation

On Sept. 14, Terrill Harris Jr., 31, of Duluth, Minn., was found guilty of Possession With Intent to Deliver a Controlled Substance by a Boone County jury after a two-day trial. The charges stem from an incident on July 3, 2020, when Harris was driving from Chicago to Minnesota on I-90 in Boone County.

Troopers stopped Harris for traffic violations and then noticed the odor of cannabis coming from the vehicle. The car was searched and 248 grams of cocaine, along with a small amount of cannabis, were located in Harris' bag.

When interviewed, Harris admitted the cocaine belonged to him and that he was planning to "make money" from it when he got back home. That amount of cocaine would have been worth nearly $25,000 had it ultimately made its way to street level sales.

This case is yet another of many drug trafficking cases

continuing problem. Boone County States Attorney Tricia Smith is appreciative of the efforts by the Illinois State Police and Belvidere/Boone County Metro Narcotics Unit in the prosecution of this case. More importantly, Ms. Smith thanks the jurors of Boone County who continue to serve and perform their duty to enforce the laws of the State of Illinois.

Harris now faces a prison sentence of between nine and 40 years and he must serve 75 percent of any sentence imposed. Harris will be sentenced by Judge C. Robert Tobin on Nov. 10.

united in the south side church in 1855.

In 1891 construction began on a new church building, built of brick in Venetian-style. Two years later, it was finished and dedicated on Feb. 12, 1893. On the cold, bright day of Jan. 12, 2003, the church members held a groundbreaking ceremony at its present location of 610 Bonus Ave. Having purchased 17 1/2 acres of land, construction began soon afterwards. The decommissioning of the Logan and Whitney church was held on June 27, 2004, concluding with a procession to the new church, and the first services at the Bonus Avenue church were held on July 4, 2004. Dedication of that building was Sept. 12 of that year. It has been God's continual direction and guidance that has allowed our Beacon of Light to shine within our community.
