Illinois soybean field.

Illinois acreage shift toward soybeans would be first in nearly 40 years

By Daniel Grant
FARMWEEK

Illinois appears well positioned to maintain its recent run as the top soybean producing state in the nation.

While soybean plantings fell more than 2 million acres short of expectations in USDA's June 30 acreage report nationwide, the Ag Department raised soybean plantings by 200,000 acres in Illinois compared to the March estimate.

The current projections place Illinois plantings at 11.2 million acres of soybeans, up 600,000 from last year when it produced 672.6 million bushels—the most of any state in the nation. USDA estimates Illinois farmers planted 10.7 million acres of corn this season, down 300,000 from last year.

"If realized, it would be the first time since 1983 that soybean acres would be greater than corn acres in Illinois," said Illinois state statistician Mark Schleusener.

It not only would buck a longtime state trend, but the acreage shift in Illinois was the opposite of the national trend. The U.S. soybean planting estimate declined 2.6 million acres from March to June to just 88.3 million acres. The national corn acreage estimate increased 400,000 acres to 89.9 million last month.

University of Illinois Extension ag economists Scott Irwin and Joe Janzen discussed the shift during a recent webinar hosted by farm-

"With soybeans we had some delayed planting and less-than-ideal conditions this spring," Irwin said. "When push came to shove, farmers in the U.S. faded toward corn and away from soybeans."

"Illinois stood out as increasing soybean acres (from the March intentions to the June planted acreage reports) as did Kentucky."

Overall, the total of U.S. principal crop acreage decreased from 317.4 million in March to 316.3 million in June, which helps explain the soybean acreage decline outside of Illinois.

"It's not that the acreage pie shrunk. We moved a bit more than 1 million acres from principal crops into prevented plant," Irwin said. "That's primarily in North Dakota and to a lesser extent South Dakota and Minnesota."

Estimates suggest prevented plant acreage could grow from 4.2 million acres last year to 5.3 million nationwide this season. However, the first official data on prevented plant area won't be available until August.

Meanwhile, after a spring buildup, crop prices continued a downward trend following the June 30 report and the Independence Day holiday.

"We've seen some of the high price action drop off," Janzen said.

Slices of life

Don't hold back (Anniversary thoughts)

"Tell them you love them over and over again. Tell them too much, and never too little, for the time we have is short, but the love we have is endless." - Dane Thomas

By JILL PERTLER
Columnist

This week would have (should have) been my 35th wedding anniversary. I guess it is my 35th wedding anniversary. I'm still married, albeit without a husband. A widow (deep heavy sigh). He died shortly after our 33rd anniversary. But still, I remember, and I celebrate. No, I just remember.

We'd planned to do something "big" on this anniversary. We never felt like we had the chance before. Fifteen, 20, even 25 - we let them all pass us by.

We were always too young, or too poor, or too busy raising kids to spend the time or money for anything for just the two of us. It seemed too extravagant.

We took lots of family vacations, but they were planned around our four kids.

We always spent time together, but it typically involved practices, games or performances (of the childhood variety). We spent many weekends away from home in hotels - for tournaments and supervising kids in the pool.

They were good years - building a family, raising children. We were happy to put special times for just the two of us on hold because we had all of our future for us as a couple. We married young. We were young. There'd be plenty of time.

Or so we thought.

We thought we'd do something big this year. He'd always promised to take me to Europe. But it could have been so many things: a long weekend in Las Vegas, a trip to a secluded cabin in the mountains, the beach. Anything - something. It didn't matter what. It would be a rare splurge on just the two of us.

Instead, now, it's just me. And I have some advice.

Don't wait. Don't wait.

Don't wait.

Please.

Don't. Wait.

There are always logical reasons to wait. To put off the things you really want to do with your spouse because don't have enough money or time or whatever you think you need to do all the things you want to do. Please take note of my circumstance.

You never know when your own later may no longer exist. Take the trip. Go on the vacation. Fish for salmon in Alaska. Cruise the Mediterranean. Hula in Hawaii. Surf in South Africa. Volunteer in to build a school or a church. Go on safari. Visit a nude beach. Buy that hobby farm. Plan an extravagant night out on the town. Buy her the diamond. Get him those golf clubs. Do it now.

My husband and I passed by anniversary number 30 and thought we had to wait until number 35 to celebrate something grand because 35 was the next big number.

Take it from me: numbers don't matter. Life matters. Now matters.

Celebrate now. Celebrate this year, next year and the year after. Heck, celebrate more often than that. Celebrate always. Every day. Unabashedly.

Because, at then end of it all, not too many of us regret all the good and joyous things we did in life. We don't regret the happy memories or songs we sang together.

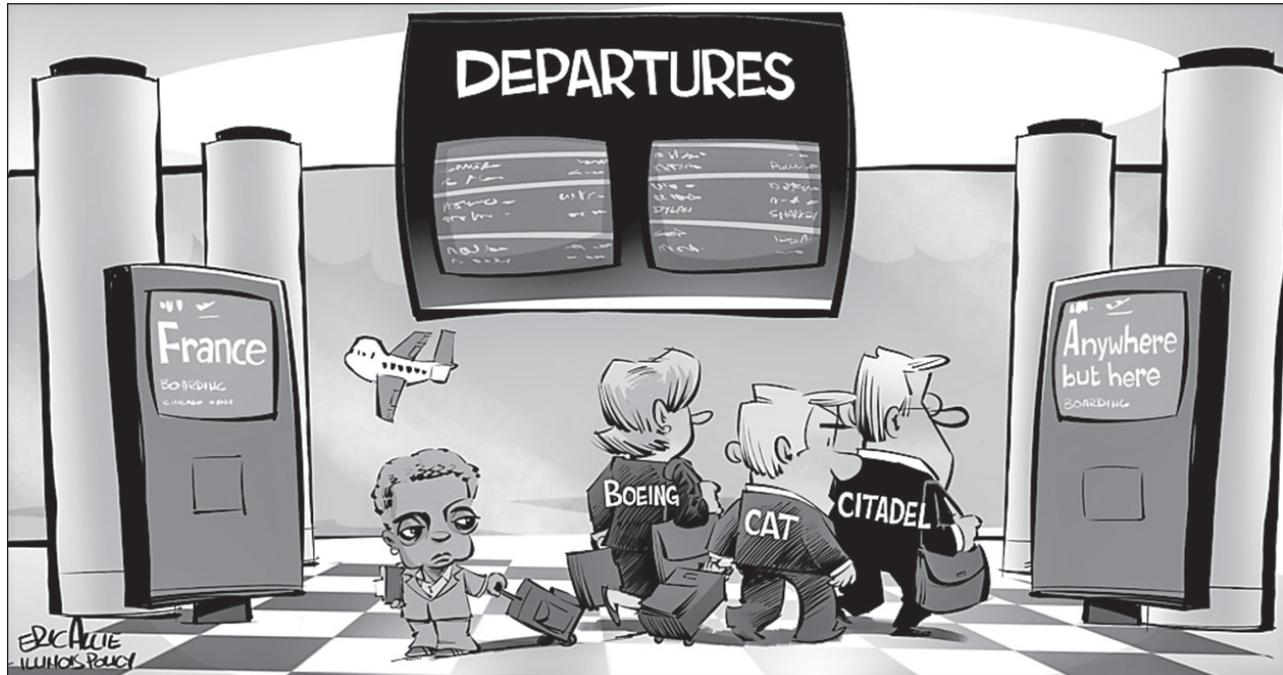

What we might regret, and often regret, are the spectacular things we didn't do. Even the mundane things we didn't get a chance to do. Those that we thought we'd get to - some day - but didn't because time ran out.

My best advice? You never know when time will run out. So do it now. Experience to the fullest. Enjoy. Love. Create a memory worth keeping. Let your husband (or wife) take you to Europe.

Make it spectacular.

Let me know how it goes. I'm rooting for you.

In my opinion

CAT's Illinois departure erodes public trust

Editor's note: This op-ed was distributed by Capitol News Illinois on behalf of the Paul Simon Public Policy Institute. The opinions expressed in this article are the author's own.

By John T. Shaw

Like many Illinoisans, I was saddened to learn that Caterpillar Tractor Company is moving its world headquarters from our state to Texas.

CAT has been an important company in Illinois. It has been especially vital to my hometown of Peoria, where its world headquarters were located for nearly nine decades. My dad was a civil engineer who spent his entire career at CAT and working there allowed my parents to put six kids through college. I have always been grateful to the company and admired its deep commitment to Peoria. It was the pillar of the community and appeared to relish that role.

But it's not for solely personal reasons that I find CAT's decision to leave Illinois troubling.

First, when a company moves its global headquarters, its active commitments shift, which has a profound effect on the community left behind.

People's lives are changed, and communities are altered forever. This is especially true for Peoria, which built its economic and cultural life around CAT. Peoria is welcoming new firms and industries, but the path ahead is daunting. The city will never be the same.

Second, I have been troubled by some of the reaction to CAT's decision. I have read several articles that have been full of recriminations and finger pointing. Several analysts have seized on CAT's decision to reprise familiar arguments about Illinois' unfriendly business climate.

While we must do more to address our state budget and improve our worker's compensation system, Illinois continues to attract scores of new firms and remains the global home for dozens of major companies. I see no credible evidence that Illinois' overall business climate was a major factor in CAT's decision.

Third, I am especially disappointed in public comments made by CAT's senior executives over recent years that have been confusing and contradictory, edging toward disingenuous.

In February 2015, CAT CEO Doug Oberhelman announced plans for a magnificent new global headquarters in Peoria. He brandished a video with a striking architectural rendering of a gleaming new complex with three towers and offices for more than 3,000 employees on 30 riverfront acres. "We're here in Peoria to stay. Our long-term future is here,"

Mr. Oberhelman declared at a public event attended by cheering business, civic, and political leaders, including then-Gov. Bruce Rauner. "Caterpillar will stay in Peoria. I repeat, we will stay in Peoria," CAT's leader pledged.

Less than two years later, CAT issued a press release saying it would "locate a limited group of senior executives and support functions in the Chicago area later this year."

The company "reaffirmed the ongoing importance of its presence in Peoria and Central Illinois."

ROPS help protect farmers and family members from being crushed in the event of a tractor turnover or rollover.

Jo Daviess County Farm Bureau members who purchase a ROPS could receive a reimbursement of $250 towards the purchase of a

ROPS. Six rebates are available. To receive the $250, members would need to bring in their paid invoice to the Farm Bureau office in Elizabeth. The Impact of oral health on school performance

It is almost August and parents across America are preparing their children for the upcoming school year. One of the most important things that should be on your to-do list is to schedule a dental exam. Every child deserves to enter school free of dental disease and pain, but the reality is this is not the case. Dental emergencies still rank as the number one reason for school absenteeism. Tooth decay and gum disease are infections. Attending school while your immune system is fighting an infection and you are in pain takes a toll on your child's academic performance. Statistically, children with poor oral health are much more likely to maintain a lower grade point average. Untreated dental disease also takes a toll on a child's feelings of self-esteem and self-confidence.

Dental disease is not inevitable. In fact, it is completely avoidable. Unfortunately, 51 million school hours per year are lost because of oral disease.

Parents lose countless work hours as well, as they transport their children from school to an emergency dental appointment.

The purpose of a dental exam is to detect and treat any dental disease before it affects a child's health. While all children should receive routine dental exams, many will only see the inside of a dental office when their dental disease becomes an emergency. Since oral health directly impacts overall health, the state of Illinois requires that children entering kindergarten, second grade, sixth grade, and high school have a dental exam performed by a dentist.

Flossing and brushing your teeth for two minutes, twice a day is the most effective way to promote dental health. Watch your child brush and floss, so you can see where they need guidance. If you need any assistance with teaching them a more effective technique, your dental team is happy to collaborate with you.

More teachers are recognizing the importance of dental care and will schedule time for their students to brush their teeth after lunch. If this is not the case in your child's class, teach them to rinse their mouth out after lunch. Make sure to pack a healthy lunch with crunchy vegetables, fresh fruit, cheese, and a reusable water bottle filled with fluoridated tap water. Do not pack juice drinks, soda, or sugary snacks that promote obesity and provide sugar for bacteria to feed on.

Many of our children go from school to extra-curricular activities or daycare. Teach your child to stay hydrated by drinking fluoridated water. Dry mouths breed harmful bacteria. Dehydration also leads to fatigue and irritability, neither of which contributes to academic or athletic performance. Staying hydrated with fluoridated water is one of the body's most reliable defenses against tooth decay and gum disease. Chewing sugarless gum and rehydrating with fluoridated tap water does not take the

State police broaden use of 'clear and present danger' reports

Administrative rule change seeks to close gaps identified with alleged Highland Park shooter

By Peter Hancock
CAPITOL NEWS ILLINOIS

The Illinois State Police announced last week they will start using a broader definition of what constitutes a "clear and present danger" when reviewing a person's Firearm Owners Identification card.

That's a factor ISP considers when deciding whether to grant someone a FOID card or to revoke or suspend a card that has already been issued.

The change is meant to address gaps in the process that were identified in the wake of the July 4 mass shooting in Highland Park. The alleged shooter in that case had been the subject of a clear and present danger investigation, but under standards used at that time, ISP determined there was insufficient evidence to support such a determination.

"These changes will immediately allow ISP to see a fuller picture of an applicant's history and keep the people of Illinois safe from those who should not be in possession of firearms," Gov. JB Pritzker said in a statement.

Under current law, known as the Firearm Owners Identification Card Act, ISP can deny a FOID card application or suspend or revoke an existing card for any person deemed to be a clear and present danger of harming themselves or someone else.

Under that statute, a physician, clinical psychologist or other qualified examiner can classify someone as a clear and present danger if he or she "communicates a serious threat of physical violence against a reasonably identifiable victim or poses a clear and imminent risk of serious physical injury to himself, herself, or another person."

A person can also be classified as a clear and present danger if they demonstrate "threatening physical or verbal behavior such as violent, suicidal, or assaultive threats, actions or other behavior, as determined by a physician, clinical psychologist, qualified examiner, school administrator, or law enforcement official."

That law requires physicians, clinical psychologists, law enforcement officers and school administrators to promptly report any such behavior to ISP.

In 2013, however, ISP filed administrative rules that provide a stricter, more limiting definition. Those rules defined a clear and present danger as someone who poses "an actual, impending, or imminent threat of substantial bodily harm to themselves or another person that is articulable and significant or who will be likely to act in a manner dangerous to public safety or contrary to the public interest if they were granted access to a weapon."

ISP said the new rules announced will revert to the original, statutory definition, allowing them to consider a broader range of information when determining whether someone poses a clear and present danger.

The 2013 rule also prohibited ISP from maintaining report records of people who are not determined to be a clear and present danger. The new rules would require ISP to maintain those records.

ISP adopted the new definitions through what are known as "emergency rules." That's allowed under state law when an agency determines it needs to take swift action to protect public interest, safety or welfare. But those rules are still subject to review by the General Assembly's Joint Committee on Administrative Rules, or JCAR, whose next scheduled meeting is Aug. 17.

ISP said it also plans to submit the changes to JCAR in the form of permanent rules through the regular rulemaking process as well.

ISP took the rulemaking action in response to the July 4 shooting in Highland Park after authorities announced the local police department had several interactions with the alleged Highland Park gunman that predated his application for a FOID card. ISP did not judge any of those interactions as disqualifying for firearm ownership under the previous administrative rules.

In September 2019, according to ISP, the Highland Park Police Department filed a clear and present danger report regarding the man who is now the suspect in the July 4 mass shooting, Robert Crimo III. The report indicated Crimo had made threats to his family.

When police went to Crimo's house, both he and his mother denied there had been any threat of violence and Crimo told police he did not feel like hurting himself or others. The reviewing officer concluded there was insufficient evidence, under the standards in place, to support a clear and present danger determination.

At the time of that incident, Crimo had not applied for a FOID card. Roughly three months later, however, he did apply for a FOID card and, because he was only 19 at the time, his father sponsored his application.

When his application was reviewed in January 2020, according to ISP, there was insufficient information to deny his application on the basis that he posed a clear and present danger.

Public health officials announce 32,268 new cases of COVID-19 over the past week

The Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH) reported 32,268 new confirmed and probable cases of coronavirus disease (COVID-19) in Illinois, including 52 deaths since July 15.

According to the CDC, 58 counties are now rated at High Community Level for COVID-19, an area that includes most of the counties in northern Illinois as well as counties around Peoria, Champaign, Metro East and Quincy. An additional 36 counties in Illinois are now rated at Medium Community Level.

Currently, IDPH is reporting a total of 3,528,282 cases, including 34,309 deaths, in 102 counties in Illinois since the beginning of the pandemic.

As of July 21, 1,453 individuals in Illinois were reported to be in the hospital with COVID-19. Of those, 145 patients were in the ICU and 46 patients with COVID-19 were on ventilators. The preliminary seven-day statewide case rate is 25.13 COVID-19 cases per 100,000 Illinoisans.

"The data tells us that COVID-19 is still with us and still spreading," said IDPH Acting Director Amaal Tokars. "The most important thing you can do to protect yourself and your loved ones from the virus is to be up-to-date on vaccines and booster shots. If you have been waiting to get a vaccine, booster or a second booster, please don't wait any longer. Get up to date. Safe and effective vaccines are widely available at no cost for everyone in Illinois who is at least six months old. This is especially important for people who are vulnerable to serious medical outcomes. We also recommend that you wear your mask in indoor public places and avoid indoor crowded spaces at this time. If needed, contact a healthcare provider promptly to discuss what treatment is right for you."

Tokars is urging parents and guardians to take the steps necessary to get children vaccinated, especially small children under 5 for whom COVID-19 vaccines were recommended by the CDC on June 18. Tokars said that IDPH is supporting an education and outreach campaign by the Illinois Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics to educate healthcare providers and parents about the effectiveness and safety of the newly authorized vaccines for children under 5.

The counties listed at High Community Level are Cook, DeKalb, DuPage, Grundy, Kane, Kendall, Lake, Lee, McHenry, Stephenson, Whiteside, Will, and Winnebago in northern Illinois; Adams, Champaign, Clark, Coles, Cumberland, Douglas, Edgar, Ford, Fulton, Hancock, Henderson, Knox, Marshall, Mason, McLean, Peoria, Pike, Tazewell, Vermillion, and Warren in central Illinois; and Alexander, Bond, Calhoun, Clinton, Crawford, Franklin, Gallatin, Hardin, Jackson, Jersey, Johnson, Lawrence, Macoupin, Madison, Massac, Montgomery, Perry, Pope, Pulaski, Randolph, Saline, St. Clair, Union, Wabash and Williamson in southern Illinois.

Highland's Upward Bound program awarded a federal grant

Highland Community College's Upward Bound program has received a grant from the U.S. Department of Education to help more low-income students who will be the first members of their families to attend college. The federal grant for $287,537 will go toward adding staff positions and growing programming that prepares local students to enroll in college after graduation from high school and persist through earning a degree.

Highland's Upward Bound programs provide student instruction in literature, composition, mathematics, science, and foreign language — both during the school year and the summer. The program also provides intensive mentoring and support for students as they prepare for college entrance exams and tackle admission applications, financial aid, and scholarship forms.

FROM LENA'S KITCHEN

The not so skinny cook

July is coming to a close and summer seems to be racing by. We had some warm summer temperatures, and the weather people are predicting a cooler end to July. The weather will be better if it is cooler for the Stephenson County Fair. This week's recipes are using a lot of summer vegetables and fruits. Enjoy cooking this week and keep cool, calm, and collected!

Nancy's Tangy Salad

Nancy Albrecht sent this salad recipe. Many of you will remember Nancy from her days as a hairdresser in Winslow. I know I have used several of her recipes from the Winslow Cookbook in the past. She now lives in Lena, and we are grateful for her sharing the good things she cooks. This salad is a great one for picnics or potlucks because it won't spoil in hot weather.

Dressing:

- ¾ C. cider vinegar
- ½ C. corn oil
- 1 C. sugar
- 1 t. salt
- 1 t. pepper

Combine ingredients in a saucepan. Bring to a boil and then allow to cool.

Vegetables:

Combine any or all of these vegetables

1 can whole kernel corn or equivalent of freshly cut off the cob

1 can green beans, cut or French style

1 can yellow beans

1 can peas or frozen (cooked and cooled)

¾ to 1 C. celery chopped

½ to ¾ C. chopped onion (use white, yellow, red or all

- 3!) ¼ to ¾ C. green pepper, chopped
- ½ to ¾ C. red pepper, chopped (or use a yellow pepper or a combination)
- 2 oz. jar of pimento, chopped

Place vegetables in a large bowl. Pour the cooled dressing over the veggies. Cover tightly and refrigerate. Nancy varies the vegetables with whatever she has in her pantry or refrigerator. If she uses red peppers, she doesn't usually use the jarred pimentos. This salad keeps for quite a while. Thank you, Nancy, for sharing this summer vegetable salad.

Bacon Pea Salad

This combination of peas, bacon, some cabbage for crunch and a zippy dressing is a great summer salad. You can use it as a side for a picnic or a regular meal. You can use fresh peas (cook them first and drain) or thaw some frozen ones. You can use sweet onions for the second green onion addition if you want.

- 4 C. peas, thawed if frozen
- ¼ small red cabbage, thinly sliced

- 3 radishes, thinly sliced
- 2 green onions, thinly sliced
- ¼ C. fresh parsley, chopped
- ½ t. salt

4 strips bacon, cut into 1-inch pieces

4 green onions, sliced (include some green tops)

3 garlic cloves, minced

3 T. red wine vinegar

2 T. Dijon mustard

¼ t. crushed red pepper flakes

Pepper to taste

½ C. crumbled feta

In a large bowl, toss together peas, cabbage, radishes, green onions, parsley, and salt. In a large skillet over medium heat, cook bacon until crispy, about 10 minutes. Using a slotted spoon, remove bacon from pan and place on a paper toweled plate. Return skillet to heat and add green onions and garlic. Cook until onions are soft, 5 minutes.

Add red wine, then whisk in mustard. Season with red pepper flakes, salt, and pepper to taste. Pour warm dressing over pea mixture and top with bacon and feta before serving.

Five-Cheese Ziti

If you have had the Five-Cheese Ziti at Olive Garden and liked it, you will like this recipe also. It is a meatless but really filling main dish. Serve with a salad and bread sticks, and you have a winner.

1½ lbs (7 ½ C.) uncooked ziti or small tube pasta

2 jars (24 oz. each) marinara sauce

1 jar (15 oz.) Alfredo sauce

2 C. shredded mozzarella cheese, divided

½ C. ricotta cheese

½ C. shredded provolone cheese

½ C. grated Romano cheese

Topping

½ C. panko breadcrumbs

3 garlic cloves, minced

2 T. olive oil

Fresh basil and parsley, minced for garnish

Preheat the oven to 350. Cook pasta according to the directions for al dente. In a large saucepan, combine the marinara sauce, Alfredo sauce, 1 C. mozzarella and the ricotta, provolone, and Romano. Cook over medium heat until sauce begins to simmer, and cheeses are melted. Stir in cooked and drained pasta; pour mixture into a greased 9 x 13 baking dish. Top with remaining cup of mozzarella cheese. In a small bowl, stir together the Parmesan, breadcrumbs, garlic and olive oil, sprinkle over pasta. Bake, uncovered, until mixture is bubbly, and topping is golden brown, 30 to 40 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before serving. Garnish with fresh parsley or basil.

Cheesy Artichoke Chicken

Artichokes are making the cooking rounds these days. This recipe uses them to make a delicious chicken dish. This dish can be used as a week-night dinner or save it for the weekend for guests. Any combination of artichokes and cheese gets my vote.

1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened

½ C. mayonnaise

1 t. Italian seasoning

½ C. grated parmesan cheese

30 butter crackers (1 sleeve of Ritz), crushed

1 t. chopped fresh rosemary

¼ C. parsley, roughly chopped

2 T. butter, melted

6 boneless, skinless chicken breasts, pounded lightly to an even thickness

1 can (13.5 oz.) artichoke hearts, drained, patted dry and quartered

Preheat the oven to 400. Coat a 9 x 13 baking dish with cooking spray. In a medium mixing bowl, combine the cream cheese, mayo, Italian seasoning and ¼ C. grated parmesan and mix well. Season with pepper. Combine the cracker crumbs with the rosemary, parsley, remaining parmesan, and melted butter in a separate medium bowl and mix well. Season with pepper. Sprinkle about one third of the cracker mixture in the bottom of the baking dish.

Place the chicken on top of the crumb mixture in the dish and season lightly with salt and pepper. Scatter the artichokes over the chicken. Top each chicken breast with about 3 T. of the cream cheese mixture and spread evenly with a rubber spatula. Sprinkle the remaining crumbs all over the cream cheese mixture. Bake until the chicken is cooked through, the cream cheese mixture is bubbly, and the crumb topping is well browned, about 25 minutes. Let sit for 5 minutes. •CAT's (Continued from page 3)

When the statement was fully unpacked, it was clear that CAT was moving its global headquarters to suburban Chicago. "Locating our headquarters closer to a global transportation hub, such as Chicago, means we can meet with global customers, dealers, and employees more easily and frequently," said Jim Umpleby, CAT's new CEO. He added: "We value our deep roots in Central Illinois and Peoria will continue to be our hometown." Then last month, Mr. Umpleby announced that CAT was leaving Deerfield for Irving, Texas. "We believe it's in the interests of the company to make this move, which supports Caterpillar's strategy for profitable growth as we help our customers build a better, more sustainable world," he said opaquely. Pressed for a fuller explanation, a CAT spokeswoman said the Texas location "will give us the ability to attract new talent and provide additional career opportunities for our current employees to aid in retention." How would this help CAT retain its workers? Is CAT moving to Texas so that its workers will find "additional career opportunities" with other firms in that state? CAT has every right to locate its global headquarters where it wishes, and I appreciate that circumstances change. CAT still has more than 17,000 employees in Illinois and about 12,000 in the Peoria area. I believe that CAT has a responsibility, as a good corporate citizen, to explain honestly and clearly why it is making its decisions. That does not seem too much to ask of a firm that referred to itself as a "great American company" in a U.S. Senate hearing.

It is deeply disappointing that CAT has failed to honor commitments and offers empty rhetoric instead. This behavior is unworthy of a "great American company" and is unfair to the people of Illinois. The Pew Research Center periodically publishes a study that measures Americans' declining distrust in various institutions. Not surprisingly, the least trusted group is our elected officials. The next least trusted group is America's business executives. Unfortunately, the current leadership of CAT has given us additional reasons not to trust the words of corporate America. John Shaw is the director of the Paul Simon Public Policy Institute at Southern Illinois University Carbondale. Shaw's monthly column explores how Illinois can work toward better politics and smarter government.

½ C. unsalted butter, softened
¾ C. seedless raspberry jam
Preheat oven to 350. Line an 8-inch square pan with foil, leaving a 2-inch overhang; lightly coat foil with cooking spray. In a mixer, mix oats, flour, brown sugar, baking soda, and salt. Cut the butter into the oat mixture using a pastry blender or a fork to make a crumbly mixture. Press 2 C. of the mixture into the bottom of the prepared pan. Spread jam over pressed mixture to within ¼ inch of the edges. Sprinkle remaining crumb mixture over the top; lightly press into jam. Bake until lightly browned and slightly firm to the touch, 35 to 40 minutes. Cool in pan on a wire rack for 1 hour. Using the foil overhang as handles, lift cookie bar from pan. Transfer to a cutting board; discard foil and cut into squares. You can dust the bars with powdered sugar if you want.

Very Berry Cheesecake

Since berries are in season, this dessert is a good one to try. The use of cottage cheese makes for a creamy cheesecake. You can substitute orange juice or thinned berry jam for the cherry brandy.
1½ C. vanilla wafers crushed (about 40)
¼ C. butter, melted
2 pkg. (8 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
¾ C. sugar and 1 T. for topping
2 T. flour
2 t. vanilla
1 C. cottage cheese
¼ C. cherry brandy, plus 1 T. for topping
3 eggs
¾ C. fresh blackberries and/or raspberries
Preheat the oven to 375. Stir together the wafer crumbs and butter in a bowl. Press into the bottom and 1¾ inches up sides of an 8-inch spring-form pan. In a mixing bowl, stir together the cream cheese, ¾ C. sugar, flour, and vanilla with a mixer until smooth. Process cottage cheese in a blender or food processor until smooth. Stir into cream cheese mixture, along with ¼ C. of brandy. Beat in eggs on low speed until just combined, being careful not to incorporate much air into the batter. Pour half of the cream cheese mixture into crust-lined pan. Sprinkle with 1 C. berries. Top with remaining cream cheese mixture and ½ C. more berries. Set pan in a shallow baking pan; bake until a 2-inch border around the outer edge appears set when gently shaken, 35 to 40 minutes. Transfer pan to a wire rack and let cool for 15 minutes. Loosen sides and cool completely. Remove sides and transfer to a serving platter. Chill, covered, at least 4 hours before serving. Topping: combine remaining 2 C. berries, 1 T. sugar and 1 T. cherry brandy. Chill, covered, up to 2 hours. To serve, cut cheesecake into 10 slices. Top each serving with berry brandy topping. Final Thoughts

The summer concerts by the Freeport Concert Band are over for the year. A group of us went to the last one and had an enjoyable evening under the stars. It thundered to the north, but we were spared. It is funny how the rain just circles around us sometimes.

I had a great time this past week at the new store next to Rafters. It is called The South Door. There are accessories for the home, good food mixes, some coffee and tea, and a lot of gift items. Be sure to keep this place on the radar for gifts for the fall and Christmas. One of my delights since retiring from teaching has been working part time at DeVoe Floral. I know I am prejudiced, but I think it is one of the finest floral shops in our area. We have done beautiful weddings, birthday celebrations, all the holidays, and provided for those who have lost loved ones. If you are a member of Facebook, you saw that DeVoe Floral has been given a prestigious award by FTD. It is one of the top 1000 flower shops in the United States. Stop by and congratulate Paris and her staff for the wonderful recognition. Besides beautiful floral arrangements, there are lots of gift items and memorial items for any occasion. I guess that is my public service announcement for the week. Remember to shop at our local places—you won't use much gas, you help keep people working, and you invest in your local community. I live in Lena, but there are a lot of wonderful small businesses in our surrounding towns. Please support our local places and tell others about them too. As we begin the last full month of summer, remember that we continue to seek good farm stand recipes. Remember if you have some good vegetable or fruit recipes for the season, send them our way. You can contact us in person, by mail at From Lena's Kitchens, Shopper's Guide at 240 W. Main St. or email us at scoopshopper@rvpublishing.com.

Jesse White extending driver's license and ID card expiration dates until Dec. 1

Encourages the public to conduct business online at ilsos.gov, Illinois Secretary of State Jesse White announced that expiration dates for driver's licenses, ID cards and learner's permits are being extended until Dec. 1.

The previous extension was set to end on July 31.

As a result, expired driver's licenses, ID cards and learner's permits will remain valid until Dec. 1, so customers do not need to rush into driver services facilities.

This extension does not apply to commercial driver's licenses (CDL) and CDL learner's permits.

White's office expanded online renewals for expired driver's licenses and ID cards and continues to mail letters to eligible customers. The letter provides driver's license and ID card holders with a unique PIN needed to renew online instead of visiting a facility and waiting in line.

Customers may call 217-785-1424 to confirm their eligibility for online renewal or to obtain their PIN.

They may also visit <https://apps.ilsos.gov/renewalld/eligible.jsp> to look up their eligibility status. Customers who must visit a facility include first-time driver's license or ID card applicants, first-time REAL ID applicants and drivers ages 75 and older who are required by state law to visit a facility when renewing their license.

White continues to encourage people to conduct other business online at ilsos.gov. In addition to driver's license and ID card renewals for those who qualify, online services include obtaining a duplicate driver's license or ID card, ordering a driver record and purchasing license plate stickers.

White noted his office is also extending the expiration dates of restricted driving permits (RDPs) to Dec. 1 for those that expired on or after Dec. 1 through Dec. 1. As a reminder, the U.S. Department of Homeland Security has extended the federal REAL ID deadline to May 3, 2023.

Instruct your child not to chew on pencils or their nails when they are nervous, as this can lead to lacerations and chipped teeth. If your child is participating in sports, make sure you prevent oral trauma by providing them with a mouthguard.

August finds many of our area students preparing for life in a dorm. Starting college is one of life's big steps towards autonomy or being fully on your own. In all of the excitement and change, it can be easy to overlook your dental health. Being diligent about routine dental exams, daily oral hygiene, and eating a healthy diet will serve you well as you enter this new stage and throughout adulthood. You do not get a second chance to make a first impression. Make sure your first impressions on campus, whether with roommates, new friends, professors, or potential dates, involve a bright, healthy smile and good breath.
