New Apple River market opens in celebration of family and community

By Tony Carton
EDITOR

The thistle is beautiful, fierce and robust making it a perfect native born icon for Jo Daviess County with its stunning landscapes, tumultuous history and resilient people. And, the plant is ideally suited as a name for a new business in Apple River called The Thriving Thistle Market.

"The thistle really is kind of an analogy for lots of things in life," said Liz Stocks who owns and operates the new market with husband Geoff, their two little people and a new puppy. "Starting with the roots, having a strong foundation, having a strong sense of community whether that's the Apple River community or the Jo Daviess County community or your family and then coming up to find the thorns on the stem representing the twists and turns in life or the harder edge, but if you can look past the harder edge and continue on your journey you find a beautiful, soft and downy flower which is also known for having medicinal healing properties."

She said not many people want thistles, but the Stock family does; The Thriving Thistle Market that is.

"This all came about as Geoff's big heart saw a need in the Apple River community," Stocks said. "The old gas station has been closed for quite a while now as has the grocery in the village, so we just saw the need and started working to make it happen."

The market will be a full service gas station offering both premium and regular gas and the premium will not have ethanol making ideally usable for boating on the nearby Apple Canyon Lake and more.

"We will also offer diesel," said Stocks. "We will have a "made to order" kitchen for breakfast and lunch as well as a full service coffee bar and a complete convenience store. We will carry local products too."

She lists products from nearby Arnold's Farm known for its grass fed beef and plump chickens, Dee's Delights with her homemade jams and salsa, products from Galena Garlic, Molitor's chickens, honey from Master Beekeeper Terry Ingram and his Apple Creek Apiaries.

"We want this all to be kind of a celebration where folks could come to one place and find products that are produced locally," Stocks said. "During the summer we're going to have a Farmer's Market on Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings. And, we are looking for area farmers regardless of the size of their operations to participate in that market. Contact us if you are interested."

She said the new enterprise is not at all what they expected life to look like, but it is exciting and they are ready to go.

Geoff Stocks said they've had

Stockton Police report for week ending March 2

On 2/24 at approximately 12:29 a.m. an officer of the Stockton Police Department was dispatched to assist the Jo Daviess County Sheriffs' Office with a reported lighting strike to a residence and to the resident. However it turned out the female complainant was not, in fact, struck by lightning, nor was her residence. The complainant was in need of medical intervention and an ambulance was summoned to the scene. The complainant was taken to the hospital for evaluation. No further police assistance was required.

On 2/24 at approximately 6:35 p.m., an officer of the Stockton Police Department was dispatched to an address on South Simmons Street in reference to a phone scam. The complainant stated that a "John Goodman" called her requesting her to send $190.00 via money order to Michael Tullard, 1136 Loulson Ave., Pittsburg PA 15206. In return for the $190.00, the complainant would receive 2.5 million dollars, a Mercedes 80 2017, plus an $800,000 bonus. The complainant, thankfully, did not fall for this scam and did not send any money. The complainant did request that the police publish this scam to inform others about the scam.

On 2/24 at approximately 10:09 p.m., Stockton Police were dispatched to a parking lot on Benton Street, in reference to a private property hit and run accident. The complainant had her white 2005 Chevrolet Carryall with Illinois registration, legally parked in the parking lot, when an unknown vehicle struck the complainants' vehicle, tearing off the front bumper. This accident is under investigation by the Stockton Police Department. Anyone with information regarding this accident is requested to call the Stockton Police Department.

On 02/25 at approximately 12:31 a.m., an officer of the Stockton Police Department was on routine patrol in the area of the 100 Block of east Front Street. At this time, the officer conducted a check of the businesses located there, which included the Red Knight Tavern. While at that business, the officer observed a male subject whom he recognized as a person wanted on a warrant. The officer confronted the individual and it was determined that the subject was, in fact, wanted for a Failure To Appear on a charge of Theft, and an active warrant through Stephenson County for Reckless Conduct/Reckless Driving. He was then taken into custody for the warrants and was transported to the Jo Daviess County Jail for processing.

On 02/25 at approximately 6:42

p.m., the Stockton Police were dispatched to the Shell Gas Station/Trailways Bus Station in reference to an unruly passenger who has been kicked off the bus. The complainant stated that the suspect was creating a disturbance at the Shell Gas Station by yelling obscenities in front of other patrons. Upon arrival, the officer was directed from bystanders towards a very large male subject. The officer observed the suspect to be pacing back and forth while smoking a cigarette. The officer questioned him as to his actions, and his demeanor became very aggressive, and he yelled "I didn't do nothing, they put stuff in my bag!" Due to his aggressive behavior, the officer placed him into custody for everyone's safety until it could be determined what had taken place. The Jo Daviess County Sheriffs' Office also responded to assist the Stockton Police. Once the subject was secured in a squad car, a computer check was performed. A warrant check confirmed that he had multiple active warrants issued by Kankakee County, LaSalle County, and Grundy County for Failure to Appear for Driving under Suspension. The officer then informed the subject that he was under arrest for his active warrants, and he was transported to the Jo Daviess County Jail for Processing.

On 2/26 at approximately 12:29 a.m. the Stockton Police assisted the Jo Daviess County Sheriffs' Office with a suspicious person, who was walking along US 20. The subject looked like he was in a car accident due to his dirty and disheveled appearance. At first, the subject refused to provide any information to police. The subject was detained and transported to the Stockton Police Department, while deputies looked for a possible car crash. While at Police Department with the subject, he stated that he wrecked his vehicle, a red 1997 Chevrolet coupe with Illinois registration, just north of Woodbine, Illinois and then also confessed that he had been driving that vehicle earlier in the evening when he fled from a traffic stop by County Sheriffs' while driving at a high rate of speed. The incident is currently under investigation by the Jo Daviess County Sheriffs' Office.

On 02/26 at approximately 8:27 p.m. Stockton Police were dispatched to an address on East North Avenue in reference to a call of suspicious circumstances. Upon arrival, the Officer met with the witnesses who stated they observed a white Honda two door passenger car traveling east bound on East North Avenue. The female passenger in the white Honda car had her passenger door open and was screaming "Stop, let me out". The witnesses, concerned for the woman's safety, immediately notified police. The officer then patrolled the area in an attempt to locate the vehicle. While checking the Citgo parking lot for the vehicle, The Officer made contact with a motorist who had further information about the incident. The motorist stated that her friend and her friends' boyfriend had a domestic altercation at a bar in Stockton. The motorist stated that the boyfriend came to pick up his girlfriend; he physically re-moved her from the bar and put her into his vehicle. The girlfriend apparently did not want to leave the bar and as the boyfriend was driving away, the girlfriend opened the door of the vehicle and was hanging out and screaming. This is what the witnesses observed that caused them to notify Police. While speaking with the motorist, she pointed towards the parking lot entrance from E. North Ave, and stated that the vehicle in question was coming into the lot. The officer then made contact with the occupants of the vehicle. Due to the unknown nature of the circumstances, the officer ordered the driver from the car in an attempt to place him into custody until the situation could be sorted out. The driver was advised he was not under arrest at this time but he was being detained for investigation of the incident. At this time, as the officer was attempting to place handcuffs on the driver, a female subject who exited the passenger door and ran over towards the officer. She pushed and shoved the officer as he was attempting to secure the driver. This female refused to obey commands to back away. At this time, an off-duty Police Officer from Elizabeth, Illinois, happened to be driving by in his personal vehicle. This officer came to the aid of the Stockton Officer. Both subjects were secured at this time. When the subjects were secured, the driver was found to be in possession of Drug Paraphernalia and was placed under arrest for The Drug Paraphernalia and the female was placed under arrest for Disorderly Conduct and Resisting or Obstructing a Peace Officer. Both Subjects were transported to the Jo Daviess County Jail for Processing.

On 2/27 at about 12:50 p.m., the Stockton Police were dispatched to an address on Summit Street in reference to a domestic altercation. Upon arrival, officers met with the complainant and the offender. During this time, the offender was slurring his words, appeared to have difficulty keeping his eyes open and smelled strongly of an alcoholic beverage. The offender kept repeating that he had only drank a pint and he didn't put his hands on anyone. In speaking with the complainant/victim, Police learned that the offender had just left a hospital in Dubuque, IA. The offender apparently stopped somewhere on the way home and purchased vodka. The offender drank the vodka before getting home and had only been at the residence for about 45 minutes. It was learned through investigation that the subjects had argued over the offender drinking. The offender then allegedly physically pushed the victim causing minor injury. The offender was placed under arrest for Domestic Battery and placed into a squad car. It was determined that the victim did not need medical assistance at this time. The offender was then transported to the Jo Daviess County Jail for processing.

On 02/28 at approximately 5:40 p.m., the Stockton Police were dispatched to the area of the Citgo Travel Center in reference to a suspicious person. Upon arrival, the officer was advised that a woman was wandering around the truck parking area and seemed to be confused or incoherent. The woman was located by police and it was determined that she worked in the area and had been injured earlier in the day but was now feeling dizzy and sick. The Stockton Ambulance Service was called to the scene. The woman was examined by ambulance personnel, and at this time the woman refused treatment. The woman was able to secure a ride home and she was released. No further assistance required.

On 02/28 at approximately 10:05 p.m., The Stockton Police were dispatched to the area of the Country Inn and Suites in reference to a dis-

And another thing

By Tom Fore
OBSERVER OF LIFE

Remember the good ol' days? Those golden-hued times when everyone was happy? When we were all employed in well-paying jobs we loved, when disease was all but wiped out, when schools were routinely graduating everyone who came through their doors, when crime and other social maladies were practically non-existent, and when everyone always said please and thank you?

Do you remember these times? Yeah, I don't either.

I'm about midway through my seventh decade on this planet (that means I'm in my 60s, but who's counting?), so I've been around long enough and witnessed enough and survived enough to categorically say that the "good ol' days" weren't that great. They weren't that bad, either. They were good and bad. They were . . . days.

There's something about the past that causes us to romanticize and feel nostalgic over decades-old mundane events that we thought little of when they happened. But through some filtering process that psychologists can explain better than me, we remember the good and leave the bad behind. Most of the time, anyway.

Perhaps you recall a trip to the beach many years ago when the sky was a deep azure blue which was reflected on the calm, still water, water so warm it felt as if you were reclining in a bath tub, and the sun was a golden ball in this deep blue sky which provided just enough rays to give you a golden tan that lasted all summer and was the envy of your many, many friends.

What you may not recall was your dad griping about the traffic on the way to the beach, the car's lack of air conditioning on this sweltering day, the hassle to find a place for your beach towels and other items because everyone else in three counties had the same idea, the flies buzzing around your food, and the sunburn so intense you couldn't sit back in a chair for two days.

But, you filter out the bad and keep the good and, presto, a good memory you can add to your Good Memory Account that is safely tucked away at the Good Ol' Days Bank and Trust.

Eventually, this account grows until it's brimming with enough memories to provide material for a feel-good Disney movie and two sequels. There is, though, one little problem. These golden memories of ours must be put into the context of the era in which they were created.

Like others of my vintage, I remember things big and small from my late-50s, early-60s childhood. And, like anyone else, I filtered out much of the bad and kept much of the good. I remember the good days and filter out the bad because there were, to me anyway, more good than bad, so the task was easy. The Cuban Missile Crisis and the beginnings of the Viet Nam war didn't mean too much to a 10-year-old. But, what happens when the bad outweighs the good? What happens when day-to-day existence is so terrible, so stressful, so horrid that very little, if anything, can be remembered with the golden light of nostalgia?

Folks currently in their early 80s may remember the early 1940s as a wonderful time because they were small children then. To them, life was blissful and simple and filled full of the usual childhood joys that we all experienced. But to an adult back then, the time was not so ideal, nor was the decade that preceded it, the decade of the Great Depression. Memories of war, hunger, unemployment, and the poverty that touched so many lives then were so pervasive, that when these people approached old age, it is highly doubtful that they considered the 1930s and 40s as the golden age of their lives. Not with all they had to go through.

So when would these people who are now in their 90s and older consider their Good Ol' Days to have been? Perhaps the 1950s, a decade that by comparison to the previous two, must have seemed like bliss. As described by historian David Halberstam in his aptly-titled book, The Fifties, the decade of the Eisenhower administrations was anything but stagnant, as some have said. Many of the people that had suffered danger and privation during the preceding twenty years now found themselves in a stable environment with their own home in a new neighborhood, their own new car, their own appliances, and an overall idyllic lifestyle that allowed them to make money (and babies). NBC newsman Tom Brokaw called this group of people The Greatest Generation for good reason. After what they went through, they are rightly entitled to their Good Ol' Days.

But to you, the reader: what are your Good Ol' Days? Are they just a few sunny days at the beach when you were kids, a complete decade that offered a respite after twenty years of suffering? Perhaps they're when you're just entering adulthood and you got that first good job right after marrying your high school sweetheart and then before you know it, you're reading Good Night Moon to that precious little baby who has no idea what you're saying because she's just a baby, but that doesn't matter because she's your baby and she's perfect.

Yeah, maybe these will be your Good Ol' Days someday. You won't remember the jabs to your ribs at 3 AM and then hearing those six little words you really didn't want to hear: "It's your turn to feed her." Well, most of those times, anyway. But, you will remember, "Goodnight stars, goodnight air, goodnight noises everywhere."

Trippin' Midwest Mama transports readers to big destinations with small price tags

"You should be a travel agent!" If Lena resident Tabitha Engel had a nickel each time she heard that suggestion, she could fund a trip around the world. But since she doesn't have a mountain of nickels, Engel opted to launch a blog, trippinmidwestmama.com, instead.

"I love helping my friends find great deals on travel, but I don't have the patience to be a travel agent. However, I'm a writer by trade," she said.

Engel has over 20 years of writing experience. Since working for her college newspaper and earning a degree in public relations in 2000, she went on to be a journalist for Sauk Valley Newspapers, a freelance features reporter for the Freeport Journal Standard, a public relations specialist and a marketing writer. She even enjoyed a recent 2-year stint as a travel scout for Midwest Living. Some people may remember her years writing "Engel's Angle," a weekly humor column that appeared in the Freeport Journal Standard.

"I figured it was time for my writing skills and passion for travel to get married. The product of that union is a baby named Trippin' Midwest Mama," Engel explained.

After input from friends, she selected the name to best reflect her distinct voice: A wife and mother living in the Midwest. As for the "Trippin'" part?

"It's really two-fold. I'm obviously writing about trips, trip deals, trip itineraries, my trips and other people's trips. It's a really trippy blog. The second meaning is that I've been told more than once that my obsession for travel and travel deals is a bit much. Folks say things like, 'You have a problem' or 'You're nuts.' And maybe I am. So why not funnel that all that crazy into a labor of love?"

Since launching her blog on Valentine's Day, Engel has poured herself into the project. She began with a series that featured "5 family spring breaks under a day's drive." She is working on a special series for March, "Celebrating the Emerald Isle."

Participants at Science Siesta get involved in hands-on learning activities that encourage their interest in science!

Science Siesta! girls + science = fun!

Have you ever dreamt of spending the night in a museum? No, this is not a movie, it's Science Siesta! Hosted by University of Illinois Extension, this annual event for fourth-sixth grade girls will take place on April 21 and 22. Once again, this program will be held at the Discovery Center Children's Museum in Rockford. This action-packed overnight will combine the fun of a pajama party with hands-on science experiences. "This is our sixteenth year of conducting Science Siesta, we have reached over 2,400 girls so far and we are excited to continue to offer this fun, interactive event to encourage girls to consider science-related career fields," said Johnna Jennings, University of Extension 4-H Youth Development Educator.

At Science Siesta, girls have the opportunity to meet females in actual science career fields from throughout northern Illinois. The scientists will share information about their background and involve the girls in activities much like they complete in their work every day.

Following the face-to-face interaction with female scientists, youth participate in activities based on the "Wonderwise" curriculum developed by the University of Nebraska. This curriculum highlights the work of female scientists and then translates their work into hands-on science based activities, which are fun and engaging. Participating girls may choose one of three workshop tracks for breakout sessions. Their choices include activities from "Vet Detective", "Parasite Sleuth" and "Urban Ecologist".

Statistics show that girls are less likely to pursue degrees and careers in science and mathematics than boys. Researchers agree that this is a complex problem with no easy answers, but believe that there are things that can be done. They suggest that having role models that girls can look up to, as well as making science fun and interactive will encourage girls to stay involved and interested in science. Events such as Science Siesta are designed to help bridge the gap for girls at a time when many may start to lose interest in science or question whether science is a field they should choose.

Science Siesta for Girls will begin with registration at 5 p.m. on Friday, April 21 and will conclude with check-out at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, April 22. The registration fee is $40 per girl. The registration fee covers pizza, snack, breakfast, admission to the Discovery Center Children's Museum and all hands-on activities. For additional information, as well as to register for either one of these Science Siesta events, go to the University of Illinois Extension website at <http://web.extension.illinois.edu/bdo/> or call (815) 758-8194. The registration deadline for this event is Friday, April 7

FROM LENA'S KITCHEN

The not so skinny cook

One day it is warm, and the next day it is freezing. My tulips are confused! Sounds as if this week will be no different than the past several weeks have been. And as they say, time marches on (a little pun on March there). Lent is in full force, so there are a couple of meatless recipes. St. Patrick's Day is coming up—Sullivan's has a lot of corned beef in the meat case. Today the column features two recipes for the Irish in all of us.

Slow Cooker Corned Beef and Cabbage Stew

Stew:

- 1 T. oil
- 2 large onions, chopped
- 2 large garlic cloves, finely chopped
- 4 C. sliced cabbage
- 3 C. sliced red potatoes
- 1 carton (32 oz.) chicken broth
- 2 C. water
- 2 dried bay leaves
- 1/3 C. chopped fresh parsley
- 1/2 t. pepper
- 1 corned beef brisket (3 lbs.) with spice packet

Spray a 6-7 quart slow cooker with cooking spray. In a large skillet, heat the oil over medium-high heat. Cook the onions and garlic in oil for 4-5 minutes, stirring occasionally, until softened. Add the cabbage and cook 2-3 minutes until slightly wilted. Spoon the mixture into the slow cooker.

Add the potatoes, broth, water, bay leaves, 1/3 cup parsley and the pepper to the slow cooker; stir. Top with corned beef and sprinkle with the contents of the spice packet. Cover and cook on LOW heat setting for 6 hours.

Remove beef from slow cooker. Discard the bay leaves. Chop beef, discarding fat. Return the beef to slow cooker and stir other ingredients. Serve with the horseradish sauce.

Horseradish Sauce

- 1 C. sour cream
- 3 T. prepared horseradish
- 1 T. chopped fresh parsley
- 1 t. grated lemon peel.

In a small bowl, stir together the ingredients. Refrigerate until serving time.

Slow-Cooker Irish Soda Bread

- 1 egg
- 1 container (16 oz.) sour cream
- 1/4 C. butter, melted
- 1/4 C. packed brown sugar
- 3 3/4 C. flour
- 1 t. baking soda
- 1/2 t. salt
- 1 C. raisins

Mix the egg, sour cream, butter and sugar in a bowl until blended. Combine the flour, baking soda and salt in a large bowl. Add the sour cream mixture and raisins; stir just until mixture forms soft dough. Place on a lightly floured board; knead 10 times or just until dough is smooth and no longer sticky. (Do not over mix.) Shape dough into a ball and place in a 4-qt. slow cooker sprayed with cooking spray. Use a sharp knife to cut 1/4-inch-deep "X" in top of dough. Cover with the lid.

Cook on HIGH 2 3/4 to 3 hours or until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean. Turn off the slow cooker; remove the lid. Let bread stand 10 minutes. Run a knife around the edge of the slow cooker to loosen bread. Transfer the bread to a wire rack to cool. If you have some leftover bread, it is great served toasted and spread with butter or your favorite jam.

Congratulations to the Le-Win-Stockton Wrestling team on the first in state finish. We are proud of all of their hard work. I can't think of a sport that does more traveling than the wrestling team. They put in a lot of miles to compete, they return late at night, get up and go to school, and manage to keep their grades up. Most tournaments are all day Saturday affairs far away. These young people are truly dedicated, and their finish couldn't happen to a nicer coach and team. We are really proud of you! Baseball, softball, and track have started, so we move into a new season. I know the quarter ends this week, so there isn't much school left. The high school musical at Le-Win is this weekend. It is the DROWSY CHAPERONE. I am not able to make it to the production, but got a sneak preview this past week. It is genuinely funny, and it makes you think about times past. I had not heard of this musical, but it is a rare treat that I hope you get to see. The musical staff and Le-Win musicians not only have the weekend musical, but they also had Solo and Ensemble Contest this past weekend. Talk about busy kids!

As we go towards Easter, we continue to look for Lenten recipes. If you find some great seafood or meatless recipes or have some good brunch and ham recipes for Easter, you can contact us in person, by mail, or email us at From Lena's Kitchens, Shopper's Guide at 213 S. Center St. or email scoopshopper@rvpublishing.com. Have a great New Year's celebration.

Postal Service celebrates National Consumer Protection Week

National Consumer Protection Week (NCPW) runs March 5 to March 11. This coordinated, consumer-education campaign is sponsored by the Federal Trade Commission and encourages individuals across the country to take full advantage of their consumer rights.

The Postal Service and the U.S. Postal Inspection Service are playing an important role by drawing attention to the continuing consumer fraudulent schemes, and building on a national outreach effort to help protect consumers against identity theft. "The Freeport Post Office is proud to work with a broad coalition of groups to share tips and information to protect consumers against fraud," said Postmaster Deborah Graves. "As the most trusted government agency, consumers have a high confidence in the mail and expect the Postal Service to protect the privacy of their personal information."

This year's theme educates the general public about scams to which older Americans are increasingly susceptible. "Anyone can be a victim of a scam, but scammers often target individuals whom they perceive as vulnerable, so older adults tend to be targeted again and again," said Graves. "These crimes take a toll, both financially and emotionally. Financial exploitation can seriously affect the lives of seniors and their families, who are often unaware until it's too late," added Graves.

Persons who expose themselves to sales situations, even legitimate ones, are more likely to be victimized by fraud. Consumers of all ages should start doing this today:

Get a non-published number and install an answering machine with a large caller ID display. Screen all incoming calls. Pick up only if you recognize the caller. Otherwise, let the call roll to the answering machine.

It is a daily challenge to maintain health in our modern world

On a regular basis we eat, drink, breath & apply to our skin a varied amount of toxins. While it doesn't seem to kill us immediately, we enjoy whatever effect "it" has had on us, so we continue going with it. That "It" can be a number of things. The "it" we are referring to is "Toxins" within our cells, therefore the application or consumption of the negative things to or in our bodies would be better referred to as "Poisonous Substances".

Our bodies were created with the amazing ability to defend itself, that is called your Immune System. When the Immune System is working, we don't often realize how many times we were saved from bacteria, viruses, etc.. The addition of more foreign substances "Poisons", only cause our Immune System to work harder. In some cases the Immune System isn't able to deal with the "Poison" and can create a "Toxic Overload", causing the body to act in an abnormal manner.

Understanding and responding to dementia-related behavior

The Alzheimer's Association, Greater Illinois Chapter's educational program, Understanding and Responding to Dementia-related Behavior, will take place at 1 p.m. on Thursday, March 9, at Lena Living Center, 1010 S. Logan in Lena, IL.

Behavior is a powerful form of communication and is one of the primary ways for people with dementia to communicate their needs and feelings as the ability to use language is lost. However, some behaviors can present real challenges for caregivers to manage.

Join us to decode behavioral messages, identify common behavior triggers, and learn strategies to help intervene with some of the most common behavioral challenges of Alzheimer's disease. Program specialist Sue Sklar will present and take questions following the program.

The end of Alzheimer's disease starts here. To register for this program offered at no cost, call 815-484-1300 or register online at www.alz.org/illinois.

Symptoms of "Toxic Overload" Include, but not limited to:

- Consistent Fatigue (Even with plenty of sleep).
- Stubborn Weight Gain
- Bad Breath
- Constipation
- Sensitivity to Scents
- Muscle/Joint Aches and Pains
- Skin Reactions
- Irregular Bowel Movements (Increase or decrease)

The "AMJ Clin Nutr 2004; 80:1611-7", found children with Autism compared with "normal children" (children with no diagnosed diseases) had much lower ability for Methylation. Methylation is summarized as, the addition of a single carbon and three hydrogen atoms (called a methyl group) to another molecule.

The removal of methyl group is called demethylation. Imagine billions of little on/off switches inside your body that control everything from your stress response and how your body makes energy from food, to your brain chemistry and detoxification. That is demethylation and methylation.

Methyl groups control:
Stress (fight-or-flight) response
The production and recycling of glutathione – the body's master antioxidant

The detoxification of hormones, chemicals and heavy metals

The inflammation response

Genetic expression and the repair of DNA

Balancing of brain chemistry

Energy production
Repairing of cells damaged by free radicals

The immune response, fighting infections and viruses and regulating the immune response

If you have a shortage of methyl groups, or methylation cycle is interrupted, all of these processes can become compromised, and you could become ill. Research has clearly linked impaired methylation with autoimmune conditions.

Methylation and Glutathione:

Improving methylation is important for everyone, but it's especially important if you have an autoimmune condition. One of the reasons is the role of methylation in the production and recycling of glutathione, the body's master antioxidant and master "splinter" remover. Glutathione directly neutralizes free radicals, reduces inflammation and assist in the role of other antioxidants like vitamin C, E and lipoic acid.

Glutathione contains sulfur groups, which are sticky compounds that adhere to toxins and heavy metals which carry them out of the body. This is a good thing and you want lots of it!!! None of us (including me) with any type of autoimmune condition have adequate methylation and levels of glutathione.

Since we don't live in a "Perfect World" there are consequences to what we put on or in our bodies via: mouth, skin, or directly into our blood stream. Because we will continue to add Poison/Toxins to our bodies, what can we do??

1st Stop Adding the Poison!!!
2nd Attend our Workshop on April 11th

3rd Add Good Foods to help your body to start the Purification process.

Eat healthy greens
Take non synthetic B-vitamins
Probiotics, research foods & supplements that Increase Glutathione.

CTE Academy National Art Honor Society Library Print Show returns

We're back with a brand-new theme and amazing prints. Artwork will be coming to a library near you the week of March 16 and will be on display until the week of April 17. This year's theme is Cryptids. A Cryptid is defined as a being that can neither be proved nor disproved to exist, although their existence is questionable and often disputed. Typically, Cryptids are rooted in folk lore and fantasy. The NAHS members had a lot of fun making art around this very creative theme.

Work will be on display at the following locations: CTE Academy, Elizabeth Public Library, Galena Center for the Arts, Galena Public Library, Hanover Public Library, Mt. Carroll Public Library, Regional Office of Education (Freeport office), Savanna Public Library, Scales Mound School Library, Stockton Public Library, Warren Public Library, York (Thomson) Public Library, Youth Art Festival at Chestnut Mountain Resort.

All prints are on sale for $15 or 2 for $25. All proceeds go directly back to the National Art Honor Society. Exhibit brochures at each location will include an order form and instruction. For more information, contact chapter sponsor Irene Thraen-Borowski at irene@cteacademy.net or 815-858-2203 ext. 8.

Managing Early Grief: The First Nine Months After a Loss is an eight-week group that will meet from 6 - 8 p.m. Thursdays beginning March 16 at FHN Hospice, 773 W. Lincoln Boulevard, Suite 403 in Freeport.

The group is designed for anyone who has lost a loved one in the past nine months. Participants will learn about and share their grief with others who have also recently lost a loved one. This supportive environment will help participants to better understand their grief experience.

Topics to be discussed include how grief affects us; the physical side of grief; moving through grief; coping skills; growing through grief; coping with holidays and special days; and looking ahead to the future.

There is no charge to participate in the Managing Early Grief group, but registration is required. For more information or to register, call FHN Hospice at 815-599-7240.

FHN also offers two ongoing grief support groups, open to anyone in the community who has lost a loved one:

First Steps Grief Group, a bereavement group for anyone who has experienced a loss, meets from 9:30 - 11 a.m. on the third Tuesday of each month. The group offers support as the first steps are taken in dealing with a loss.

Living Through Grief (formerly called Grief Recovery Group) meets from 7 - 8:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. This group uses videos, books, speakers and discussions to help participants learn more about the grief process, share their stories of loss and regain hope for healing. This group provides a confidential place to talk about thoughts and feelings as well as to learn about grief.

Both of these ongoing groups are open-ended and new members are welcome at any time. Both groups meet at FHN Memorial Hospital, 1045 W. Stephenson Street in Freeport. There is no charge to participate and registration is not necessary.

their eyes on the building since it closed nearly five years ago.

"It sat empty for years until a company called Optimum Ventures bought it, removed the underground tanks and did all the remedial work," he said. "I thought we should buy it when it came back on the market, so we did."

He said they sat on it for a while thinking about what to do with it until they came up with the idea to open a market.

"We weren't sure we could have it as a gas station again with the tank regulations and all, but once we did the leg work it all came together," said Stocks. "We knew the community needed a market and it all just kind of evolved until we had The Thriving Thistle Market."

The family would like to see their idea grow.

"We're excited about the prospects here and expect it all to grow," he said. "We see the Farmer's Market as a positive asset, but intend to keep that seasonal. We also expect to add some outside seating for our kitchen traffic. We are already seeing a lot of interest from the community and we are looking forward to making our plans into reality."

The Thriving Thistle Market will open daily at 5 a.m. with a full kitchen, coffee and much more. Drive up to Apple River and see for yourself.

made lasting and important impacts in JDCF's service area for the past 20 years. This includes Barbara's role as founder of the Natural Area Guardians, an achievement that gave people in this county interested in conservation issues an organization through which to work. John was a founding member of JDCF and The Northwest Illinois Prairie Enthusiasts and served both as a board and committee member. He also represented the Jo Daviess County Board on the Savanna Army Depot Local Redevelopment Authority Board, pushing for preservation of Lost Mound, now part of the Upper Mississippi National Wildlife and Fish Refuge. Additionally, the Rutherford's share a passion for natural area restoration and have worked to return some 30 acres of their own property to habitat that supports native plants and wildlife, particularly migrating water fowl.

The Nancy Hamill Winter Conservation Leadership Award is named after JDCF's long-time board member and past Board President and Vice President, former Stockton resident Nancy Hamill Winter. JDCF's Executive Committee seeks nominations for the award annually beginning in October each year. Criteria can be found at www.jdcf.org. Nominations are due by Dec. 15, 2017. Current staff and board members of JDCF are not eligible.

The Jo Daviess Conservation Foundation is a local non-profit whose mission is to preserve land for the lasting well-being of people and wildlife. JDCF owns several beautiful and unique preserves that are open to the public for hiking, wildlife viewing, and picnicking.
