University of Illinois Extension to host Prevented Planting Q&A

Currently, producers have a lot of questions. How much do I get paid for prevented planting? How are eligible acres for prevented planting determined? What happens if you are prevented from planting and there are not enough eligible acres for the crop being claimed? What will crop insurance adjusters need to do for prevented planting claims? Which cover crops will fit into my herbicide program? What is the best cover crop/mix to use for forage? Farmers are looking for answers to these questions to determine how to make their farms more resilient and profitable.

With so many questions that need answering, and regulations seemingly changing as soon as you get a handle on them, where can you go to get some clarity? Fortunately, there is a meeting for that. University of Illinois Extension will be hosting "Prevented Planting: Cover Crops and Forages" on Thursday, July 11 beginning at 6:30 at the Elizabeth Community Building. This meeting will feature a panel with representatives from: Risk Management Agency, Stephenson FS, Agnetic, Compeer Financial, Eastland Feed & Grain Inc., Jo Daviess Soil and Water Conservation District, and more. The goal of this meeting will be to address ANY questions producers may have regarding: prevented planting regulations, agronomy, cover crop selection and availability, and animal nutrition.

The reality is that "prevented plant" is a decision many producers are having to grapple with, but there may be some ways to make the most out of this unpleasant situation by planting beneficial cover/forage crops. This year may be an opportunity to try some things you normally would not feel comfortable doing, incorporating cover crops into the system to boost productivity of your next cash crop. Importantly, talk with crop advisors, Extension field agronomists and insurance providers as soon as possible to gather information to make the best decision. Check your policy or contact your insurance agent as soon as possible for dates and more information about your insurance coverage. Always consider herbicide and harvest restrictions prior to implementation of new practices into your production system. When in doubt, reach out to your local Extension office, we will be glad to help.

Registration is free and can be made online (go.illinois.edu/jsw) or by calling the Jo Daviess county Extension office (815-858-2273). Pre-registrations are encouraged due to limited seating. Refreshments will be provided. If you need a reasonable accommodation to participate in this program, please contact the Extension Office. Early requests are strongly encouraged to allow sufficient time for meeting your access needs. If you would like more information about prevented planting, visit the Illinois Extension website at <https://web.extension.illinois.edu/jsw/lpplanting/>. For additional questions, contact Phillip Alberti, Crop Science Educator with University of Illinois Extension in the College of Agricultural, Consumer, and Environmental Sciences at palberti@illinois.edu, 815-599-3644 or on Twitter (@NorthernILCrops).

Adopt a policy to save our trees

By Terry Ingram
EAGLE NATURE FOUNDATION
PRESIDENT AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

There seems to be a real movement to cut down trees in Apple River and in many other areas as well. Don't people want to continue breathing? Where do they think the oxygen that our bodies need is produced?

When the Apple River school was still in operation all of the trees along the school back fence were removed under the guise of saving our children, as one of those trees may fall on a student during a storm.

Many of these trees are removed with the excuse that they are diseased or dying. Again that statement is coming from people who don't understand trees.

Some say they are saving the trees from Dutch Elm disease. So we kill a tree, so it doesn't die from the disease. With this same reasoning, the next time a human plague develops we should kill all the people, so they don't die from it. Not every person died from the last plagues. Some of them had resistance and their offspring survived to the present time.

Some trees may have resistance to Dutch Elm disease, but we will never find them, if we kill the trees before they die.

A tree only has a living layer around the tree, right under the bark. The outer bark is dead and the center of a tree is dead. So our houses are built from dead wood. Just because a tree has one or two dead branches does not mean the whole tree is dead, only those branches. That tree is able to continue to grow for years and produce oxygen.

Lena United Methodist Church

From the Pastor's Desk: Lazy days of summer? Not hardly! This month there will be lots of fun summer church happenings with Lena UMC! The evenings of July 15-18 our church will be joining with Good Shepherd Church of Lena and Beloved Church to host an exciting Mason Street Vacation Bible School with the theme "Friendship: A Love that Never Ends." We'll learn together the stories of Abraham, Ruth, Zaccheus, and Jesus. Hopefully this year's closing pool party will not get rained out and many joyful shouts of praise will be lifted by splashing VBS participants!

On Sunday mornings we will be exploring the "Unraveled" worship series from A Sanctified Art. We will study Biblical stories of life falling apart or unraveling and see God working evening through those times of uncertainty, slowly weaving things together into a new tapestry. We'll have multiple ways of engaging with this theme and the stories throughout the series.

On nice days, keep your eye out for me around town. I'll be taking my office hours" outside to random locations. If you spot me, stop by for a chat, I even have treats! If you are on Face Book, check our church page where I post clues about my location. I'll be out enjoying God's beautiful creation - although I may send up a few complaints about the gnats. I look forward to having random conversations with those who stop by!

Also keep an ear open for other "outdoor church" opportunities - barbecue worship is in the plans. Summer is a time when we are more likely to see neighbors, so as we are out-and-about this summer, look for opportunities to get to know folks. I'm always surprised how even in a town where "everyone is related" there are still folks who fall through the cracks and could use a friendly word or wave.

July 15 - 18 - Mason Street Vacation Bible School - 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. @ Lena UMC - for Preschool through fifth graders. Dinner will be served at 5:30 p.m. followed by skits, music, crafts, and Bible teachings games. It will be a memorable time for children as they develop friendships with one another as well as the Lord Jesus. This year the VBS offering will help to support Stephenson County's Ramp program.

July 7, 14, 21, and 28 - Sunday church services will focus on "Unraveled" seeking God when our plans fall apart. How do we press onward when our tightly-knit plans unravel into loose threads? July services emphasize: Unexpected Joy and Surprise, Unraveled by Uncertainty, Public Grief that Inspires Action, and Radical Unraveling of Vocation.

Church service is held at 9 a.m. with a fellowship time following. Sunday school is off for the summer. People wanting more information about LUMC should call the church office at 815-369-5291, or stop by the office at 118 W. Main Street, Lena. Website address is www.lenaumc.org. Information is also available on Face book at Lena United Methodist Church. Both the website and Face book page are updated regularly. Need a ride to church? Call church office weekday mornings at 815-369-5291.

On Sunday, July 14, at Salem United Church of Christ, 8491 W. Salem Road, Lena, Rev. Randal Nicholas will present the sermon, "The Worst of Years," preaching from the Old Testament, Amos 7:7-17. Worship begins at 9:30 a.m. Contributions for the Lena Food Pantry for the month of July can be the contributor's choice—non-perishable boxed or canned food items, cleaning products, personal hygiene products, and/or paper products. The Wednesday Morning Breakfast Group will meet at 8 a.m. on Wednesday, July 17, at the Two Eagles Restaurant, 18 E. Main Street, in Freeport.

Let's stop this nonsense and save our trees, not just cut them down and destroy the source of our needed oxygen! Maybe we need to promote the philosophy that for every tree that is destroyed, we need to plant 10 trees to replace it, in the hopes that at least one of them will survive to produce our life needed oxygen.

and Mary Ann (McNabb) Henry. He was raised in Pearl City along with his brother, Jim, and sister, Judy. Steve served in the United States Army during Vietnam, receiving the Bronze Star Medal for Heroism. One of his battalion's trucks carrying ammunition hit a mine and exploded. The Bronze Star Award announcement reads, "With complete disregard for his own safety, Specialist Henry evacuated an injured comrade to safety. Although receiving burns, Specialist Henry continued to help the medics give first aid to the other wounded men. His valorous actions were responsible for saving a man's life." Steve never told this story.

After his military service, Steve settled in Chadwick, Illinois. He began working at Handle Implement in 1971, and remained employed as a mechanic until his retirement from Birkey's in 2015. He was very knowledgeable in the repair and maintenance of International Harvesters.

Steve is will be dearly missed by his son, John (Sharon) Henry of Maxwell, Iowa and several nieces, nephews and good friends. Steve was preceded in death by his parents, his siblings, and a son, Joel Burton Henry.

Are you suffering with migraines?

By Dr. Mike Wampfler DC
PREMIER CHIROPRACTIC

Approximately 38 million Americans suffer from migraine headaches.

Ninety-one percent of people experiencing regular migraine headaches suffer migraine-associated disabilities directly related to their headaches. Millions of dollars pour into the treatment of migraines using medications which only address symptoms yet never resolve the underlying cause.

Chiropractic spinal adjustments provide one of the most effective interventions for people suffering with migraine headaches. The limitations to current pharmacological therapies highlight the need to explore alternative or integrative care for headaches. Newly published research shows the effectiveness of Chiropractic care for those suffering from migraines. Chiropractic adjustments deliver a significant effect that lowers the pain intensity of migraines, the duration of migraine pain, and the number of days migraine sufferers have to deal with pain.

Spinal adjustments improve function in the brain and central nervous system and help balance hormones associated with migraine headache pain.

The purpose of Chiropractic involves gently adjusting misaligned or immobile vertebra with the intention to improve nervous system communication from the brain to the body. The position and movement of the spine intimately connects to the health of the central nervous system. An altered spinal segment causes interference which impacts overall health. Poor vertebral position traces back to a number of traumatic origins ranging from physical injury to the stresses of life.

One outcome manifests as imbalanced stress hormones which produce migraine headaches.

Chiropractors specifically evaluate the alignment and mobility of the spine to ensure proper communication between the brain and the body.

Other interventions known to support the influence of a Chiropractic adjustment in helping migraine sufferers include spinal stabilization exercises, deep breathing techniques, soft tissue massage, stretching, nutrition, and ergonomic modifications.

Many people suffering from migraines believe that medication provides the only form of pain relief. Meanwhile, pharmaceutical medications represent some of the most dangerous drugs on the market due to their toxicity, potency, and potential for addiction and harm. The pain associated with migraines need not be exacerbated by the side effects of an intended treatment. Medicinal side effects from medications intended to treat the pain often complicate the healing process and rarely ever address the source of the pain or provide long term resolution.

Chiropractic provides a drug-free approach to addressing migraine suffering. Nervous system care offers a critical solution that pursues the permanent resolution of migraine headaches. The most up to date research contributes to building evidence which physical pain relief begins with ensuring optimal function exists in the nervous system.

Before experiencing another episode or ingesting another drug, every migraine sufferer deserves the hope of Chiropractic.
