Scales Mound Knights suffer playoff upset

By Trenten Scheidegger
 SPORTS WRITER

As we all know, the Scales Mound football team made the decision to move up into Wisconsin to join the coop of Benton-Shullsburg. The big difference between Wisconsin and Illinois ball is that the football season begins one week earlier in the Dairy State, meaning playoffs begin a week earlier as well.

Scales Mound joined up with the Knights and they had a great season, finishing 7-2 overall. Their offense averaged over thirty points per game and they piled up over two thousand rushing yards and thirty scores on the ground. The high-powered offense was able to earn them the four seed in the Division Six bracket, where they would face off with the five seed in the Darlington Redbirds in level one. Darlington went 6-3 on the regular season.

Early on it was all Knights, as their offense seemed to be putting this one out of reach. Two early pass touchdowns from Kelly to Shetler and Lawrence had them leading 14-0 as they went into the second quarter.

They matched their first quarter in the second, when two rushing touchdowns from Shetler and Lawrence put them up 28-0 with just 1:47 remaining in the half. The Redbirds answered quickly, getting on the board late with a 66-yard touchdown pass to bring them within three scores. The Knights held a 28-7 lead going into the break.

The third quarter was a complete reversal from the first half, however. The Darlington offense went off for three straight scores, two of which were over sixty yards. Scoring 28 unanswered points, they were able to erase the massive deficit and come back to start a whole new game entering the fourth quarter.

The Knights were able to regain the lead with just under three minutes in the fourth when Lawrence ran into the end zone for his second score of the night. They would go for two, which ended up being unsuccessful. That failed conversion would turn out to be the biggest play of the game as Darlington was able to score late and kick the extra point to take a one-point lead with just over a minute remaining.

Darlington was able to force a stop and finish off what has to be one of the most remarkable playoff comebacks of all time. A twenty-eight-point deficit in a game is one thing, but the playoffs are an entirely different atmosphere. They were able to do it, however, which resulted in an absolutely heart-breaking loss for the Knights.

Lawrence was the star with over 130 yards rushing and two scores. The downfall to the Knight's offense was four total turnovers, all of which came by way of interceptions. The Knights defense allowed over 260 yards passing and another 122 yards on the ground as once Darlington found their momentum they could not be stopped.

The postseason loss ended the Knight's season at a 7-3 overall record, while Darlington moves on to level two to face off with Mondovi (WI) on Friday, November 1 at 7 p.m.

Capitol Recap: With few overrides to consider, new proposals to take forefront during veto session

By Capitol News Illinois

For the first time since the General Assembly adjourned its historic regular legislative session in early June, lawmakers will be back at the Capitol for more legislative action next week.

The annual "veto session," so called because it's the Legislature's first opportunity to override the governor's vetoes each year, will convene Oct. 28-30 and Nov. 12-14.

While the session had served as a battleground between former Republican Gov. Bruce Rauner and Democrats in the General Assembly in recent years, this year's installment will feature a Statehouse under complete Democratic control.

And since Democratic Gov. J.B. Pritzker completed virtually his entire first-year legislative agenda earlier this year and vetoed only eight of the 599 bills that passed both chambers, a number of new legislative proposals have surfaced for potential action for the upcoming session.

In recent days, a task force formed by Pritzker recommended the state consolidate 649 suburban and downstate police and firefighter pension funds into just two, saying the move would generate billions of dollars in additional earnings and cut administrative costs over the next 20 years.

The funds would be consolidated into one each for firefighters and police.

Pritzker said this week language for the bill "is being put together now."

Meanwhile, advocates and lawmakers are backing a pair of bills to make it far more difficult to emit ethylene oxide, a cancer-causing gas used in manufacturing and medical supply sterilization processes, in densely populated areas in Illinois.

In her budget address this week, Chicago Mayor Lori Lightfoot called on state lawmakers to authorize the city to increase its real estate transfer tax, to "support a Chicago casino," and to "develop a statewide pension reform package."

Legislation addressing the Chicago casino could be part of a broader package making changes to a massive gambling expansion bill which passed in June.

Democratic state lawmakers have hosted several news conferences in recent weeks calling for a bill to cap out-of-pocket insulin costs at $100 per month for some insurance plans.

Senate Bill 667 (Amendment 1) would create the cap on state-regulated plans, but not for those that are subject to federal regulation.

Despite the session's namesake, there won't be too many vetoes to consider. Four of the eight bills vetoed by Pritzker were "duplicative," "substantially similar" or "identical" language to other legislation passed in the regular session, per his veto messages.

One of the others, Senate Bill 2128, pertaining to court reporters, was vetoed at the request of its Senate sponsor, state Sen. Don Harmon, D-Oak Park, due to unforeseen complications from the bill's language. Harmon's office said he will not take up the bill in veto session, but will rewrite a new proposal in the future.

Another, Senate Bill 2124, pertains to disciplinary options available to schools when a student brings a look-alike weapon into school facilities and causes a panic. The governor vetoed that bill because of language that starts with expulsion for the student but allows the local superintendent to lessen the punishment.

TOBACCO FLAVORS: Vaping and other industry stakeholders opposing legislation banning flavored products said Thursday, Oct. 24, the bill would have negative health and economic impacts.

Democratic Villa Park Rep. Deb Conroy's Flavored Tobacco Ban Act would outlaw the sale or distribution of nicotine products with a "distinguishable taste or aroma." It applies to cigarettes, cigars, hookahs, chewing tobacco, vape pods and other products. The bill is set for consideration when lawmakers return to the statehouse Monday for the fall veto session.

Members of the Smoke Free Alternatives Coalition and vape business owners said during a news event at the Capitol that prohibition would "drive well over 100,000 Illinois adults back to smoking traditional cigarettes" and devastate their businesses.

"We are not big tobacco. We started this business to keep adult smokers off combustible cigarettes, and flavored e-liquid makes up 98 percent of our business because adult smokers prefer flavors," said Tim Teml, co-owner of That 1 Vape in Joliet. "Our biggest fear is that the temptation of easily-available cigarettes will drive them back to smoking without flavored e-liquid options, not the loss of revenue."

Conroy's House Bill 3883 is scheduled for a committee hearing Monday. Fifteen bipartisan lawmakers have signed on in support of the measure.

ROAD & BRIDGE PROJECTS: Lawmakers and Illinois Department of Transportation officials released details of a new $23.5 billion multi-year plan for revamping the state's roads and bridges Monday, Oct. 21, at a bipartisan event in Springfield.

Democratic Gov. J.B. Pritzker stood in front of two orange work trucks and a fleet of yellow-vested construction workers as he and speakers from both parties hailed the plan as one that would stimulate the state's economy and usher in a new era of bipartisanship and effective government in Illinois.

Acting IDOT Secretary Omer Osman, a Pritzker appointee, said slightly more than $9 billion of the $23.5 billion that will be spent from fiscal years 2020-2025 will come from the federal government, about 39 percent of the total funding. He said the passage of the horizontal infrastructure bill this May upped the state's contribution to the multi-year plan from 12 percent to 58 percent.

The money will go toward maintaining 4,212 miles of roadways and 9.2 million square feet of bridges, according to the governor's office. The projects on the list were identified "based on the principles of asset management" to "maximize system performance and minimize lifecycle costs."

Factors that help determine which projects will be completed and the order of construction include crash history, pavement condition, average daily traffic and bridge condition.

"This is a big change from how previous capital programs have done this in the past when the state would let roads and bridges deteriorate so thoroughly that repairs have cost taxpayers far more than if they'd been maintained to a minimum standard," Pritzker said. "Instead, we are embarking on a new regimen of investing on the front end. This is a historic improvement which will save taxpayers potentially billions of dollars over the long run."

According to the governor's office, 75 percent of the funds is allocated to reconstructing and preserving roadways and bridges, while 16 percent is dedicated "to strategically expanding the system in areas where data have shown the investment will be highly effective." The rest will go to "necessary traffic and safety improvements."

In total, $7.58 billion will go toward roadway reconstruction and preservation, $4.99 billion to bridge replacements and repairs, $1.59 billion to "safety and system modernizations," $3.08 billion to strategic expansion of the system and $2.11 billion for system support such as engineering and land acquisition, according to the governor's office.

The road and bridge infrastructure spending is separate from building infrastructure money which will be generated by a massive gambling expansion in the state. The roads and bridges are primarily funded by an increase of the state's gas tax to 38 cents per gallon from 19 cents, with the tax indexed for inflation going forward.

CHICAGO BUDGET: Chicago Mayor Lori Lightfoot laid out her budget plan Wednesday, announcing the city "will need cooperation from Springfield" in order to fill an $838 million operating deficit.

Lightfoot called on state lawmakers to authorize the city to increase its real-estate transfer tax, "support a Chicago casino" and "develop a statewide pension reform package."

The mayor claimed that, "for the first time in our city's history," the budget will include full funding for police and fire pensions "at the level outside experts say we should be paying for them to ensure their long-term financial stability."

The long-term prospects of meeting those responsibilities, however, will depend on the state, Lightfoot said.

"And if we are able to work with Springfield to approve these two measures, Chicago will have all four of our pension funds reach that level and be on the path to structural balance by 2022. That is good news," she said. "But if we don't get the authorization we need, we will be forced to make more painful choices when it comes to new sources of revenue. And we all know what those choices are."

According to Lightfoot's budget proposal, pension appropriations will increase to $1.7 billion from the proposed local fund operating budget in 2020, an increase of $346.8 million from the 2019 budget.

The city has an unfunded pension liability of about $28 billion. That is separate from the state's unfunded liability, which sits at more than $130 billion.

While details of a "statewide pension reform package" remain murky and yet to be negotiated, Emily Bitner, spokesperson for Democratic Gov. J.B. Pritzker, said the governor encourages dialogue on the city's proposals.

Lightfoot is also seeking changes to the existing tax structure that would govern a new Chicago casino among other possible changes.

A feasibility study released earlier this year said the tax structure approved in the gambling expansion bill is "very onerous" and would create an effective tax rate of approximately 72 percent for the casino operator.

Earlier this week, Pritzker Press Secretary Jordan Abudayyeh said the governor was willing to work with the city on that issue as well.

ABORTION LAW CHALLENGED: Illinois' new reproductive health care law is a "blatant violation" of residents' religious and conscience rights, a pro-life law firm official said.

The Thomas More Society, based in Chicago, filed a complaint Monday, Oct. 21, with the U.S. Health and Human Services' Office for Civil

ANN GAIL REED KASER

Ann Gail Reed Kaser's spirit took flight when she died peacefully at home early Tuesday morning, Oct. 22, 2019.

Born July 22, 1941, in Chicago, Ill., she was the daughter of teachers William Frederick Reed and Edith Muriel Baxendale Reed. She grew up in Northfield, Ill. and attended New Trier high School, then Illinois College and the University of Dubuque. She also took classes at Highland Community College including basic auto repair (which especially impressed her children) and many pottery classes, in which she created beautiful bowls and plates.

On Sept. 2, 1983, she married Michael Kaser at the Unitarian Universalist church in Stockton, Ill. They made a life together on their Morningside Farm between Freeport and Lena, Ill.

Her family and friends were most important to her, and she made all feel special and loved. Her life was additionally enriched by her animals, including her 33 year-old-quarter horse, dogs, cats and chickens. She also loved gardening and kept lovely gardens throughout the property and regretted having a back and knees that later prevented her from maintaining them as she wished. She often said that she could be content as long she could sit in her chair, look out at the beautiful view from their hillside and watch the birds. She enjoyed and will be missed at an annual golf outing riding along for the shoot-out at Wolf Hollow. She enjoyed many adventures with her friends that took her on the roads less traveled.

She was warm, gregarious and always interested in other people. She seemed to make serendipitous connections in some of life's brief, everyday encounters. It seems she never went anywhere without making a friend.

She was a life-long learner, artistically talented and curious about so many things. She was incredibly observant and had a wonderful memory for special people and times in her life.

She was an insurance underwriter for many years before she became a full-time building and grounds keeper and animal caretaker at home.

APPLE RIVER - THOMPSON MTAD TRUTH IN TAXATION NOTICE

The Apple River - Thompson Multi-Township Assessment District (MTAD) Board feels that you deserve an explanation to the "Truth in Taxation" notice published elsewhere in The Scoop this week. It alerts you, the taxpayer, to a 112 % increase in the MTAD portion of next year's tax bill.

Upon examination of their books at the close of fiscal year 2015-2016, the Multi-Township Assessment District was carrying a balance which exceeded the needs of the district. The MTAD Board made a decision to do their small part in providing taxpayer relief by decreasing their annual levy (the total amount of money requested from MTAD citizens paying real estate taxes) from $25,500 down to $12,500. The MTAD operated on the cash on hand, in addition to the extra $12,500 last year and is doing the same this year. For example, if you had been paying $11.00 in MTAD taxes annually, you paid approximately $5.00 each of these two years.

The amount of MTAD tax you pay in 2019 should be comparable to that which you paid in 2016.

FROM LENA'S KITCHEN

The not so skinny cook

We finally had the killing frost. I have to decide how long I am going to drag my pots in and out of the garage. It is hard to give up the last vestige of summer, but it is inevitable. The heavy coat thing is one of my least favorite things about colder weather. There are other things that we all have to get used to as we move further into the season—higher gas bills, shorter days, and longer nights are just a few. Fall cooking does have some benefits, and we hope you will find some in this week's column.

The first recipe for this week is a salad that uses carrots and a few "crunchies" to make it really good. This carrot salad has a lot of good and healthy things. Enjoy the sweet carrots from the garden with the sesame, sunflower, and almond crunch.

Sesame, Sunflower, and Carrot Salad

- 6 medium carrots
- ½ C. sesame seeds, toasted
- ½ C. sunflower kernels, toasted
- ½ C. sliced almond toasted
- ½ C. golden raisins

Dressing:

- ¼ C. mayonnaise
- ¼ C. lemon juice
- ¼ C. olive oil
- 2 T. honey mustard
- 1/8 t. salt

Shred carrots with a hand grater or in a food processor fitted with a grating attachment. Place carrots in a large bowl with the next four ingredients. In a small bowl, whisk the dressing ingredients until blended. Pour dressing over the carrot mixture. Toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate for at least 1 hour before serving.

This acorn squash is just a little different than the usual preparation with brown sugar and butter. Remember that if you place a few knife slits in the squash and microwave it for three to five minutes, it will slice more easily. If you can't find fig preserves, you can use chopped dates.

Glazed Acorn Squash

- 2 large acorn squash, sliced ½ inch thick and seeded
- 2 T. olive oil, divided
- 1 t. salt
- 1 t. pepper
- 6 T. fig preserves
- 2 T. balsamic vinegar

Preheat the oven to 400. Line a large rimmed baking sheet with foil. Drizzle 1 T. oil onto prepared pan. Place squash on pan; drizzle with remaining tablespoon of oil and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake until very tender, about 30 minutes. In a small saucepan, bring preserves and vinegar to a boil over medium high heat, stirring frequently. Drizzle onto squash; serve immediately.

This easy beef sandwich makes a great meal without much work. My friend says that Progresso makes the best French onion soup, so try it if you can find it. The hoagie buns or French rolls can be found at Sullivans.

Philly Cheese Steak Sandwiches

- 1 beef top sirloin steak (3 lbs.) thinly sliced
- 2 onions, cut into ½ inch strips
- 1 can condensed French onion soup, undiluted
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 1 pkg. Italian salad dressing mix
- 2 beef bouillon cubes
- ½ t. pepper
- 2 large peppers, cut into ½ inch strips
- ½ C. pickled pepper rings
- 8 hoagie buns or French rolls
- 8 slices provolone cheese

Combine the first 7 ingredients in a 4 or 5 qt. slow cooker. Cook, covered, on low 6 hours. Stir in peppers and pepper rings, and cook, covered until tender, 1 to 2 hours. Place buns on ungreased baking sheets, cut sides up. Using tongs, place beef and vegetables on bun bottoms. Place cheese on bun tops. Broil 3-4 inches from heat for 1 to 2 minutes or until cheese is melted. Serve sandwiches with cooking juices.

Another good broccoli and chicken casserole follows. The Italian vinaigrette gives it a little zip. The Stove Top Stuffing makes for a crunchy top. The cream cheese added to the shredded cheddar makes this a great casserole. Just add a salad and some bread, and you have a great meal.

Cheddar Broccoli-stuffed Chicken

- 6 oz. cream cheese, softened
- 1 C. frozen chopped broccoli, thawed and drained
- ½ C. shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- ¼ C. plus 1 T. Olive Oil vinaigrette, Italian-divided

6 small boneless skinless chicken breasts pounded to ¼-inch thickness

- 1 C. Stove Top Stuffing Mix for Chicken, finely crushed
- 1 T. butter, melted

Preheat the oven to 400. Mix cream cheese, broccoli, cheddar, and 1 T. vinaigrette until blended. Place chicken, smooth sides down, on work surface; spread with cream cheese mixture. Starting at one short end and tightly roll up each breast. Secure with wooden toothpicks.

Spray baking sheet with cooking spray. Pour remaining vinaigrette into a shallow dish; place crushed stuffing in separate shallow dish; place crushed stuffing in a separate shallow dish. Dip chicken roll-ups, 1 at a time, into vinaigrette, then into stuffing, turning to evenly coat all sides of each roll-up with each ingredient. Place seam sides down, on prepared baking sheet; drizzle with butter. Bake 35 minutes or until chicken is done (165). Remove and discard toothpicks before serving chicken.

My father loved butterscotch pudding pie. They didn't have instant butterscotch pudding, so my mother would make homemade pudding. This recipe is much like the one she used to make. Bake a prepared pie shell and fill it with the pudding. He didn't like meringue, so we had real whipping cream on top (or Dream Whip, and yes you can still get it). Enjoy this throw back recipe from 50 years ago.

Homemade Butterscotch Pudding

- 2 C. whole milk
- ¾ C. firmly packed brown sugar
- 5 T. flour
- 2 egg yolks
- 2 T. unsalted butter
- 1 t. vanilla
- ½ t. salt

In a medium saucepan, whisk together milk, brown sugar, flour and egg yolks until smooth. Cook, whisking frequently, over medium heat until thickened and bubbly, 7 to 9 minutes. Remove from heat, and whisk in butter, vanilla, and salt until melted and smooth. Pour into a medium bowl, and cover with plastic wrap, pressing wrap directly on surface of pudding to prevent a skin from forming. Refrigerate for at least 4 hours or overnight.

If you don't want to make a pie with the butterscotch pudding, put it in little glass bowls, and enjoy these great cookies with it. I always tell myself that when you have chocolate cookies with oats and cranberries in them, they are healthy. Enjoy these great cookies with the pudding or with a glass of milk.

Oatmeal Cranberry White Chocolate Cookies

- 1 C. sweetened dried cranberries
- 1 C. boiling water
- 1 C. unsalted butter, softened
- 2 C. firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 t. vanilla
- 2 eggs
- 3 C. flour
- 1 t. baking powder
- 1 t. baking soda
- 1 t. salt
- ½ C. old-fashioned oats
- 2 bars (4 oz. each) white chocolate, chopped

In a small bowl, combine cranberries and 1 cup boiling water. Let stand for 10 minutes; drain. In a large bowl, beat butter, brown sugar, and vanilla with a mixer at medium speed until fluffy, 3 to 4 minutes, stopping to scrape sides of bowl. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well between each addition. In a medium bowl, whisk together flour, baking powder, baking soda, and salt. Gradually add flour mixture to butter mixture beating until combined. Add oats, chopped chocolate, and cranberries; beat until combined. Cover and refrigerate for 1 hour.

Preheat the oven to 350. Line baking sheets with parchment paper. Using a 1½ tablespoons scoop, scoop dough and place 2 inches apart on prepared pans. Bake until lightly browned, about 12 minutes. Let cool completely on wire racks. Drizzle with melted white chocolate if desired. Let stand until chocolate is set.

I have my candy, and I am ready for the onslaught of trick or treaters. I love seeing their costumes, but I think it might be pretty cold. This will mean they will have to bundle up and cover up their costumes. I hope the forecast is right and there is no rain. My lawn people mowed my lawn, probably for the last time. They also collected leaves and got them to the street. The sweeper came along the same day, so they didn't get a chance to blow around. I don't have any leaves in the backyard yet because my tree is gone. Hopefully if any leaves find their way to my back yard, the wind will blow them right on through! With Halloween behind us, we turn to holiday cooking. We are looking for some good holiday recipes for salads, sides, desserts, and of course, cookies.

If you have any recipes you would like to share, send them our way. You can contact us in person, by mail at From Lena's Kitchens, Shopper's Guide at 213 S. Center St. or email us at scoopshopper@rvpublishing.com.

Protect yourself and your family with a flu shot!

Influenza ("flu") isn't anything to mess around with – it can be serious or even deadly for elderly people, newborn babies, and people who have certain chronic illnesses.

Help your body fight off the flu this year by getting a flu shot at one of FHN's flu shot clinics, open to the public at convenient locations across northwest Illinois.

If you are an adult under 65 years of age, you will get a quadrivalent vaccine for $28.

If you're 65 or over, you will receive a high-dose version of the vaccine ($62). There will be no out-of-pocket expense if you are covered by Medicare Part B (please present Medicare card) or a Medicare HMO accepted by FHN (there's a list available at each location; covered persons MUST present the Medicare HMO card instead of the Medicare card for the billing process).

All immunizations not covered by Medicare or a Medicare HMO must be paid for by cash or check payable to FHN. The prices shown here are only available at these flu shot clinics; other rates may apply in FHN offices. No other insurance coverage can be accepted at these flu shot clinics, and per government regulations, no Medicaid cards can be accepted at these locations.

Because of federal guidelines to prevent identity theft, everyone must present a photo ID to receive an immunization. For their own safety, children should be immunized at their regular healthcare provider's office.

You should NOT receive a flu shot at any of these clinics if you:

- Are allergic to eggs or the flu vaccine
- Are ill or have a fever
- Have a depressed immune system

Please contact your healthcare provider or call FHN toll-free at 1-877-6000-FHN (1-877-600-0346) ext. 945 for assistance in finding a provider if you can't receive a vaccination due to the above restrictions.

il Rights alleging an element of the Reproductive Health Act breaches federal law.

The reproductive health care law makes access to pregnancy care, contraception, birth control, abortion procedures and other related benefits a fundamental right, meaning no level of government in Illinois can infringe upon a woman's or man's access to those services.

It additionally mandates private insurance companies regulated by the state cover abortions if they also cover pregnancy-related benefits.

"This provision manifestly violates our good-faith conscientious beliefs and the protections therefor under federal law," according to the Thomas More Society's complaint, because it "contains no exemption for religious persons, religious organizations, or even for churches."

That puts the law firm, and other Illinois employers who have moral, ethical or religious objections, in a "quintessential double bind," Michael McHale, counsel for the Thomas More Society, wrote in the complaint. Either it provides the insurance coverage to its employees and violates its "deeply held" beliefs, or does not and "severely undermin(es)" the benefits it offers to its workers.

State Rep. Kelly Cassidy, a Democrat from Chicago, and Sen. Melinda Bush, a Democrat from Grayslake, were champions of the Reproductive Health Act.

Cassidy said the complaint is "just a speed bump. It will not succeed." * * *

OPIOID DEATHS: Illinois is "showing progress" toward the state Department of Public Health's three-year goal of reducing op

That initiative was set by former Republican Gov. Bruce Rauner's administration in an action plan implemented in 2017, with a focus on prevention, treatment and community response.

Jenny Epstein, director of strategic opioid initiatives, said the number of opioid overdose deaths in Illinois decreased in 2018 for the first time in five years. There were 2,167 opioid deaths in Illinois last year, down from 2,202 in 2017.

"Although any decrease in deaths is something to be celebrated, this decrease was driven primarily by a decline in deaths among non-Hispanic whites," she said.

The rate of opioid overdoses "continued to increase" among black and Hispanic residents during the same time period, highlighting a "persistent disparity."

"IDPH and its partner agencies agree that substance use disorder must be examined through a healthy equity lens, and that evidence-based policies and programs need to be prioritized to increase access to treatment and reduce risk of overdose for this high-risk population," Epstein said.

She presented the information to a special panel of state senators formed to assess Illinois' strategy to tackle the opioid crisis and create bills to address any issues it discovers. Monday was the Opioid Crisis Abatement committee's first meeting.

I love riding in a farm truck

By Just Me, Katie
MORNING AG CLIPS

It's mid morning and the fleet sets out. We are number 2 pulling out of the farm driveway. Hopefully no breakdowns to cloud the day, time is getting tight as we try to beat the hard frost.

The blue sky lies just beyond a halo of orange, brown and red. With the sun sitting lower in the sky now, everything looks different since the mid-summer harvest of hay. Fall is at it's peak, winter is looming; summer has packed its bags and headed south.

Perhaps I like riding in the truck because it gives me a chance to notice things.

Towards the old railroad bed we go, meeting a few cars in a Saturday hurry and other trucks from nearby farms who are beginning their day of harvest too. A feeling of comradery as we pass.

Soon we come to the driveway that will take us to the neighbor's back field. This field always tends to be a wet and muddy mess in the spring...I have heard my dad say.

As the laneway opens up, I see corn stalk nubs butting up against rows of corn that stand 10 feet tall. Soon to be chopped down.

I hear the whirl of the chopper, and there, making it's way down the row, it fills the other dump truck going steady and slow.

Grandpa's big, weathered hand shifts down into 2nd and we creep, trying to guess where our turn is going to land near.

The truck ahead is just about full, we jump in-line so we don't lose any time or waste any feed.

I roll the window up quick to keep the fly away silage out. The truck comes alive while it jumps into action with a bump, bump and a thump,

I am back...and as the season winds down I am thinking about how much I used to love riding in the farm truck during corn chopping season. My kids love it too...

With my lunch in hand, I climb up into the old farm truck, wiping away bits and pieces of corn and stalk from the cracked and worn leather seat. I get settled into my post. Corn between the dashboard and windshield too—feels like home.

thump, as the corn comes blasting out of the chopper's spout.

Grandpa looks to the side in his mirror, intent as he makes eye contact with the chopper driver. I always find it intriguing to watch him keep exact pace with the chopper, never skipping a beat or faltering. It's like a well oiled machine after operating this equipment for so many years.

As we near the end of our fill, Dad pulls in behind, ready to get into place and claim his load.

Back over the stubble we go, heavy with feed, we are careful to go slow.

"Be careful Grandpa to miss the woodchuck holes and the wet spot so that we don't get stuck."

And we creep on until we get to the dirt road. Whining to get up to speed, the truck engine moans with every shift up, burdened with the heavy load of corn in the back.

From my perch, I wave and smile when we pass our other farm trucks headed back to get in line.

It's so fun to be on a mission together.

I take a look behind us, as we head down the road; a flurry of corn debris twirling in the air and falling in our wake.

The sun is warm and the air is crisp. Sweatshirt on, sweatshirt off, I just can't decide today.

The wind is laced with the sweet pungent smell of the freshly chopped load. I ride with my arm out the window, I am quiet, just watching.

Grandpa and I, we pull into the farm driveway, and head for the bunk.

A well of happiness pools inside my chest, I am on top of the world.

With a grin from ear to ear, and a content that has never quite been so pure, I think to myself; this life is the best, riding in the farm truck.
