Bridge painting on Bypass U.S. 20 in Freeport began this week

The Illinois Department of Transportation announced that weather permitting, painting of three bridges over Bypass U.S. 20 in Freeport began Monday, July 24. The bridges are at the westbound Business U.S. 20 ramp and Springfield Road at the east end of the bypass, and at Harlem Center Road near the west end. Lane closures with a barrier wall will be utilized during the project. In-roadway work is expected to be completed by Nov. 15.

Motorists can expect delays and should allow extra time for trips through this area. To avoid the work area, when feasible, use of alternate routes should be considered. Drivers are urged to pay attention to changed conditions and signs in the work zones, obey the posted speed limits, refrain from using mobile devices and be alert for workers and equipment.

Lawmakers criticize Pritzker administration's handling of noncitizen health care limits

By Andrew Adams
CAPITOL NEWS ILLINOIS

Members of a state rulemaking oversight committee voiced concerns last week that Gov. JB Pritzker's administration didn't sufficiently seek public input on its plan to cap enrollment in Medicaid-like health care programs for noncitizens.

The controversy centers on the Health Benefits for Immigrant Adults and Health Benefits for Immigrant Seniors programs, which provide health care benefits to low-income noncitizens who would qualify for Medicaid benefits if not for their citizenship status.

During May budget negotiations, lawmakers gave the Pritzker administration authority to cap program spending through emergency rulemaking, and his administration exercised that authority in late June. Those emergency rules froze enrollment in HBIA, which serves noncitizens aged 42 to 64, and set a cap for enrollees in HBIS, which provides benefits to noncitizens age 65 and over. The changes also reduce reimbursement rates for two large public hospitals, institute copayments and co-insurance for some services and transition some enrollees into the state's Medicaid managed care program in an effort to reduce costs.

The Joint Committee on Administrative Rules last week heard from representatives of the state's Department of Healthcare and Family Services, who defended the rules.

The rules are designed, according to IDHFS officials, to limit costs for the program, which they say would be underfunded by hundreds of millions of dollars without the changes. "We have projected liabilities of about $1.2 billion for the program if no changes are made," IDHFS chief of staff Ben Winick said at JCAR's meeting last week in Chicago. He noted the General Assembly allocated $550 million while giving the administration the authority to cap costs.

Pritzker's administration proposed the changes in both "emergency" and "permanent" administrative rules. While emergency rules are generally valid for 150 days, the law authorizing the administration to limit program enrollment also allows it to refile emergency rules once they expire. That means that unless JCAR votes by a three-fifths majority to suspend the rules, they would remain in place as long as the department wants, at least for the next two years.

JCAR—which consists of six Democrats and six Republicans and is responsible for overseeing policy making within the state's executive branch—didn't take action on either the emergency or permanent rules last week, although the committee can still take action at a future meeting.

Both Democratic and Republican members shared concerns with IDHFS officials that mostly focused on the process by which the rules were developed. Sen. Cristina Castro, an Elgin Democrat and member of the Illinois Legislative Latino Caucus, said that the department failed to consult stakeholders in the immigrant advocacy community when developing the rules. "You quickly filed both the emergency rule and permanent rule. There's obviously been no discussions with advocates on either, it seems," Castro told IDHFS officials.

Rep. Eva-Dina Delgado, D-Chicago, also said she wanted to see "immediate action" to engage stakeholders and advocacy groups before moving forward with the process of implementing the department's proposed permanent rules. She particularly criticized the department's plan to issue a 14-day notice before freezing enrollment in HBIS. "I'd like you all to engage with those that are impacted because I just don't know if that's going to be workable," Delgado said. "If you change somebody's health care every two weeks and expect them to follow along, even if they are fully language proficient, I think you're just asking for problems."

On the Republican side, Rep. Steven Reick, R-Woodstock, said that the rules represented an "abdication" of the General Assembly's responsibility and that they should have been considered in legislation, not in administrative policy. "This is another instance of a governor that thinks he can legislate on his own," Reick said. "First he did it with 47 disaster declarations and now he's doing it with emergency rule."

Sen. Bill Cunningham, a Chicago Democrat and co-chair of JCAR, said the committee was frustrated at the lack of stakeholder engagement from several agencies. JCAR also discussed a controversial emission rule change for heavy industries Tuesday, objecting to two state agencies' hurried implementation process. "I think you heard throughout this meeting a frustration from committee members about the lack of engagement between agencies and various stakeholders and that was true across the board," he said in an interview after the hearing.

Cunningham said the committee will "likely" have another discussion about the health care rules next month. "I am hopeful they will act in a good faith effort to collaborate more closely with the stakeholder groups," Cunningham said.

OPINION

Slices of life

Other people's mouths

By JILL PERTLER
Columnist

In a book I'm reading, the author relates a lesson taught by one of his teachers, who told him, "You can't shut other people's mouths."

I found this thought to be genius.

It's a simple, but profound statement.

You can't control what other people say. You physically can't shut someone's mouth. Sometimes you can't even find the gumption to shut your own.

How can you be expected to be in control of one completely outside yourself? Good question.

Still, it's a truth: you can't shut other people's mouths. (No matter how much you wish you could.) You aren't in control of the words someone else chooses to speak.

And some people choose doozies. Especially in our current culture of speaking them from behind a keyboard or screen. It makes our words feel anonymous or maybe even invisible, but they're not.

The ensuing situation is wrought with possibilities for misinterpretation and hurt feelings—too often leading to lost relationships and division—or at the very least an unframing.

Words matter. But as cognizant of this that you may be, you still aren't in control of the words of others. Not even one of them.

And that can be tough. Hard to listen to. Hard to hear. Hard to read. Quite limiting, actually. Unless you take the road less traveled, so to speak.

You can't control what other people say—or write—but you can take charge of what you listen to and—even more importantly—what you choose to hear.

Therein lies the power. The cable news channels, the radio, the Internet, your friends, neighbors, in-laws, kids—all of them, whomever they may be—are free to say whatever they want (or nearly so) and sometimes that might cause discord, anger and even anguish.

But you have freedom as well.

Freedom to choose not to listen. To close them out and to tune into your own truths.

It's like the old childhood trick of plugging your ears with your fingers and singing "la la la la" into your adversary's face. Or, like watching a horror movie and putting a pillow over your ears so you can't listen to the scary music or sound effects.

Be forewarned, however, it isn't easy.

Controlling what you input into your brain takes more than putting your fingers in your ears or a pillow over your face. More likely it involves changing the TV channel or the social media sites you choose to frequent. It may even impact who you spend time with or engage in conversation.

Now we're getting complicated and real, aren't we?

You can't shut other people's mouths. You can't keep them from spouting out loud or posting in all caps. But you can choose not to listen or tune in. Or to allow them into your network. To allow them into your brain time.

It's about controlling your own mind and your own thoughts—either by avoiding the negative messaging or by learning to tune it out. And that starts—and ends—with what information you allow in. Or, better put, what information you seek to allow in.

This can be achieved by not listening in the first place, or by simply refusing to pay attention to negativity that could be detrimental to your state of well-being. As hard as that may be.

And it will be hard—at first. But the rewards are significant and include peace of mind. And you can't put a price on that.

Work first - play later

Growing up on our family dairy farm taught us so many life lessons. One of the biggest lessons that the daily grind of dairy farming taught us was good old fashioned hard work hard day after day. Dairy cows never take a day off or even a milking off for that matter and there always had to be someone there to milk them. I heard stories of some old farmers who never missed a milking of their cows for over thirty years. That seems pretty unbelievable, but it was true some of them really never did leave the farm for years and years. My parents had enough kids that we were able to set up milking schedules so that we got some days off here and there over the years.

I remember when I left the farm and got my teaching degree I wasn't sure about leaving the farm. I started teaching school and even with all its many challenges, it never came close to the challenges of farming. I remember thinking that this teaching was a pretty good career because I could give my energy and love to kids instead of animals and hopefully make a difference in some of their lives. I also realized that my hands never got dirty, I never fought the bone chilling cold weather or the oppressive heat of the summer like I did when I was farming. When I heard teachers complaining about how hard their job was, I just chuckled deep down inside and thought to myself, if they only knew. Even though it was tiring hard work, somehow the love of farming never got out of my system. I thought about it constantly and longed to get back to it.

I was thinking the other day how when I was a kid our summers were dominated by making hay. We started first crop in late May just as school was getting out. Day after day we worked hard on first crop which took us all the way into the summer. Our goal was to have all the first crop hay in the barn by the fourth of July. One summer one of our favorite uncles pulled into the driveway in the middle of June with a boat behind his car. This boat had a 75 horse Mercury outboard motor on the back, and we kids were mesmerized dreaming about getting on the lake. We worked our tails off to get done by the fourth of July that year so we could try out this new toy. When we got the hay done, our uncle took us to the lake and then he patiently helped each one of us learn to water ski. We were hooked after that and every summer for years we lived for that one week between first, and second crops hay when we could get to the lake and ski. We boys got pretty darn good at it and even learned how to jump waves and ski on one ski instead of two. I can't wait to get my own grandkids on the water someday to learn how to tube and ski. In the book of Proverbs 28:19 we read these words of truth, whoever works his land will have plenty of bread, but he who follows worthless pursuits will have plenty of poverty. I love the lessons we learned about working and playing hard. God has designed us to be productive and to enjoy life as well. Until next week, God bless.

The not so skinny cook

What a nice weekend we had. As I write this ahead of the weekend, I am counting on the weather people to be correct in their predictions. I think this nice weather has helped our gardens and flowers. We are finally getting some of that great garden produce. This week's recipes showcase some of those great vegetables that are harvested. Enjoy cooking this week!

Applebee's Spinach Artichoke Dip

You see all the knock-off recipes from restaurants and wonder if they really are good ones. This one is an easy one to try because it uses the jarred alfredo sauce as its base. It is one of my favorites at Applebee's.

- 1 jar (15 oz.) Alfredo sauce
- 4 oz. cream cheese, softened
- ¼ C. grated Parmesan cheese
- ¼ C. grated Romano cheese
- ½ C. shredded mozzarella cheese, divided

- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 1 can (14 oz.) water-packed artichoke hearts, drained and chopped
- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and squeezed dry
- Tortilla or pita chips for serving

Preheat oven to 350. In a large bowl, combine the alfredo sauce with the cream cheese, parmesan and romano cheese, ¼ C. mozzarella, and garlic. Mix well so no large lumps of cream cheese remain. Stir in artichokes and frozen spinach until evenly combined. Transfer to a greased 4 or 5 C. baking dish and sprinkle with remaining ¼ C. mozzarella cheese. Bake, uncovered, until the cheese is melted, and the dip is bubbly, about 20 to 25 minutes. Remove and place on a sheet pan. Position oven rack to 4 to 6 inches from the upper heating element. Broil the dip until the top is golden, about 1 to 2 minutes. Remove promptly and serve with chips.

Three Green Salad

This crisp and refreshing salad uses three lettuces. It is a perfect salad to use with any Italian dish. If you have fresh basil, you can use 3 t. of chopped basil in place of the dried. You can add chicken or shrimp and have a main meal

- too!
- 4 C. iceberg torn lettuce
- 4 C. red or green leaf torn lettuce
- 4 C. torn fresh spinach
- 1 medium cucumber, sliced
- 2 carrots, sliced
- 2 celery ribs, sliced
- 6 fresh broccoli florets, sliced
- 3 fresh cauliflowerets, sliced
- 6 radishes, sliced
- 4 green onions, sliced
- 5 fresh mushrooms, sliced
- Dressing
- ½ C. olive oil
- ¼ C. plus 2 T. red wine vinegar
- 2 T. grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 t. sugar
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- ¼ t. dried oregano
- ¼ t. dried basil
- Pinch of salt and pepper

In a large salad bowl, toss the greens and vegetables. Cover and chill. In a blender, combine all the dressing ingredients, cover, and process until blended. Pour into a jar with a tight-fitting lid; chill for at least 30 minutes. Shake dressing before serving; pour over salad and toss to coat.

Crunch Onion Barbeque Chicken

This is an easy BBQ chicken recipe that tastes as if you were stationed at the grill for a long time. I think you could use boneless chicken thighs also. Enjoy this combination of onions and BBQ flavor.

- ½ C. Sweet Baby Ray's Honey BBQ sauce
- 1¼ C. fresh-fried onions, crushed
- ¼ C. grated Parmesan cheese
- ½ t. pepper
- 4 boneless skinless chicken breast halves

Preheat oven to 400. Place BBQ sauce in a shallow bowl. In another shallow bowl, combine onions, cheese, and pepper. Dip both sides of chicken in BBQ sauce and 1 side in onion mixture. Place chicken, crumb side up, on a greased baking sheet. Bake until a meat thermometer registers 165, about 27 to 30 minutes.

Zucchini Wrapped Chicken Enchiladas

Do you still have zucchini you are looking to get rid of? This dish is a different one, but tasty. You can make it as spicy as you want. It is an easy dish if you use the rotisserie chicken and shred the chicken up. Enjoy this southwestern dish with the seasonal zucchini.

- 1 red bell pepper
- 3 C. shredded cooked chicken
- 2 C shredded pepper jack cheese, divided
- 2 oz. cream cheese, softened
- 3 green onions, thinly sliced
- 1 t. hot pepper sauce
- 2 cans (10 oz. each) red enchilada sauce
- 2 T. tomato paste
- 6 large zucchini (about 4 lbs.)

Cut pepper into small, diced pieces. Place in a large bowl; add the chicken, 1 C. pepper jack cheese, cream cheese, green onions, and hot sauce. In a small bowl, combine the enchilada sauce and tomato paste. Set aside. Slice zucchini lengthwise into 32 strips 1/8 inch thick. Place in an ungreased microwave 9 x 13 baking dish. Cover and microwave for 2 minutes or until crisp tender. Drain excess water and pat dry. Set aside.

Spread half of the sauce mixture into a 9 x 13 baking dish sprayed with cooking spray. Layer 4 slices of zucchini, slightly overlapping on a cutting board. Place 1/3 C. chicken mixture off center on zucchini slices. Roll up the zucchini, starting with the short side. Place into the prepared dish, seam side down. Repeat mixture. Top with remaining cheese and sauce. Bake uncovered until heated through, 35 to 40 minutes.

I have yet another key lime dessert. You can make the crust or buy one. It is easy and tasty.

- ½ C. crushed graham cracker crumbs
- ½ C. unsalted butter, melted
- 5 T. sugar, divided
- 1 C. cold heavy whipping cream
- 1 t. vanilla
- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
- 1 can (14 oz.) sweetened condensed milk
- 2 T. packed lime zest
- ½ C. lime juice
- 2 drops green food coloring
- Sweetened whipped cream
- Slices of limes

Preheat oven to 350. In a medium bowl, stir together cracker crumbs, melted butter and 3 T. sugar. Using the bottom of a measuring cup, press mixture into bottom and up the sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Bake until golden brown, about 10 minutes; cool completely.

In a cold bowl of a mixer, beat cold cream, vanilla and remaining 2 T. sugar on high speed until peaks form. Set aside. In a clean bowl, beat cream cheese until smooth. Add the condensed milk, lime zest, juice, and food coloring and beat on medium speed until blended. Fold in whipping cream. Spoon into prepared pie pan. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate for at least 4 hours or overnight. Just before serving spread with whipped cream and garnish with lime slices.

Peanut Butter Zucchini Sheet Cake

Just because I knew you needed another zucchini recipe, I found this sheet cake that has the great taste of peanut butter. Enjoy this wonderful way to hide zucchini if you have some finicky eaters.

- 1¾ C. sugar
- 1 C. canola oil
- 1 C. creamy peanut butter
- 3 eggs
- 1 T. vanilla
- 2½ C. flour
- 1 t. baking soda
- ½ t. baking powder
- 1 t. salt
- ½ C. 2% milk
- 2 C. peeled and shredded zucchini

Frosting

- ½ C. creamy peanut butter
- 6 T. butter, softened
- 6 T. 2% milk
- 1 T. vanilla
- 4 C. powdered sugar
- Chopped salted peanuts for garnish

Preheat the oven to 350. Grease a 15 x 10 x 1 inch baking pan. In a large bowl, beat sugar, oil, and peanut butter until smooth. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in vanilla. In a separate bowl, whisk flour, baking soda, baking powder, and salt. Add to the batter, alternately with milk, beating well after each addition. Fold in zucchini. Transfer to prepared pan. Bake until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean, 25 to 28 minutes. Cool on a wire rack until warm.

Frosting: in a large bowl beat peanut butter and butter until creamy. Beat in milk and vanilla. Gradually beat in milk and vanilla. Add the powdered sugar gradually and beat until smooth. Spread over warm cake, sprinkle with peanuts.

Final Thoughts

We are looking at some really high temperatures this week. And of course, these blistering days are just in time for the Stephenson County Fair. Either we have bad storms or hot weather; I guess it is something we can count on. I am looking forward to hearing fair stories. My fair days are over because of my limited mobility. I always hope that things go well because people work so hard before and during the week.

This last weekend the Lions Club in Lena sponsored a Bike and Pet Parade. Downtown businesses also had some sales too. It was a busy weekend with sales, food, and fun. We need to take advantage of these activities because soon times will change.

There is Music in the Park on Saturday and Sunday nights. There are a few of these left, so I hope you can take advantage of them. There are also reunions that are happening. I know that they are an old-fashioned concept, but they are a way to see relatives in a celebration other than a funeral.

I received some delicious green beans and some sweet watermelon. They were both delicious treats. I also have had some zucchini treats because there seems to be a bumper crop this year. I know people are still making things with rhubarb too. Soon the sweet corn will be coming in. I don't know about you, but I love having all these great things to eat this time of the year.

Remember that if you have zucchini, you can freeze it for later to make all kinds of breads and cakes. I know people are still using rhubarb too. Blackberries are plentiful if you can find them, and people are picking blueberries. If you have some great summer recipes and would like to share, you can contact us in person, by mail at From Lena's Kitchens, The Shopper's Guide at 240 W. Main St. or email us at scoopshopper@rvpublishing.com.

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test! Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Jo Daviess County Farm Bureau offering $250 towards ROPS purchase

The Jo Daviess County Farm Bureau would like to offer funds to reimburse farmers for purchasing Rollover Protection Structure (ROPS). Fifty-five percent of farm tractors in Illinois do not have a cab or ROPS. Only one in five victims will survive a tractor rollover accident. The leading cause of farm related deaths in Illinois is tractor rollover accidents. They account for more than 30% of farm related deaths. ROPS help protect farmers and family members from being crushed in the event of a tractor turnover or rollover.

Safety Chairman, Dan Robbe, states, "Safety is a priority of the farm bureau, and we would like to encourage our members to install ROPS on their tractors".

Jo Daviess County Farm Bureau members who purchase a ROPS could receive a reimbursement of $250 towards the purchase of a ROPS (there are six rebates available). To receive the $250, members need to bring in their paid invoice to the Farm Bureau office in Elizabeth. Customers are responsible for the cost, freight, and installation which are available through the dealer. If you have been thinking about putting a ROPS on one of your tractors, now is the time! For more information about this program, or to become a member of our organization, contact the Jo Daviess County Farm Bureau office at 815-858-2235 or email jdcfbmgr@gmail.com.

Family Farm Signs

As we are nearing the end of summer, we all start thinking of back to school and the fall weather coming soon. There's still time to do some work around the farm and spruce things up a bit. Why not add a "This is a Family Farm" sign to your landscape? The signs are 17.5" X 23" and cost $30. Stop by our office and pick one up.

Air pollution rule change to move forward, preventing sanctions from federal government

By Peter Hancock
CAPITOL NEWS ILLINOIS

A proposed change in state air pollution regulations will move forward despite an objection from a legislative oversight committee, allowing the state to avoid federal sanctions that otherwise would go into effect next month.

The change, which came from the Illinois Pollution Control Board and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, repeals existing language that allowed factories, refineries, power plants and other facilities to exceed their emission limits during shutdowns, startups, and malfunctions.

The previous rules also gave the owners of those facilities a certain level of immunity from civil lawsuits for exceeding their emission limits during those events. The change was necessary because of recent court decisions that prompted the U.S. EPA to change its interpretation of the federal Clean Air Act, a program that is largely administered and enforced by state and local governments.

Illinois was first informed about that change in 2015 and was told, along with many other state and local governments, to repeal those regulations and submit new state implementation plans, or SIPs. Illinois did not immediately act on that notice, however, and two years later, the then-new Trump administration put the change on hold.

The Trump administration issued new guidance in 2020 saying such provisions were permissible in some circumstances, but when Democrat Joe Biden came into office in 2021, his EPA administrators reversed course again. In January 2022, Illinois was told for a second time to submit a new SIP.

That notice, known as a "SIP call," became effective Feb. 11, 2022. From that date, Illinois and other jurisdictions subject to the SIP call had 18 months to come into compliance before the first set of sanctions would take effect—drastically stricter emission limits on new or significantly altered facilities.

After 24 months of non-compliance, the state's access to federal highway funding would have been tightly restricted. The process by which the state agencies proposed the changes, however, upset many industrial firms as well as lawmakers on the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules, or JCAR, a 12-member bipartisan body that has oversight authority on administrative rules. That's because even though the agencies were told in January 2022 that they needed to make the change, they did not officially publish the

Dehydration takes a toll on oral and overall health

As the summer heat and talk of global warming continue to dominate the evening news, it's time to take a serious look at the effects of dehydration on both your oral and physical health. Dehydration occurs when you aren't drinking enough fluids to replace those you have lost. Since your body weight is 60 percent water, water is crucial to all bodily functions. Even a mild state of dehydration can impact your body's ability to conduct normal functions. Heat can vary in how it affects the body and there is not just one specific symptom that indicates you are dehydrated. Symptoms depend on a number of factors including age, health, climate, elevation, and level of physical activity. For instance, infants can become dehydrated with even slight fluid loss. Dehydration in infants and toddlers may present as irritability, listlessness, excessive sweating, unusual sleepiness, crying without tears, a diaper that hasn't been wet for over three hours, dry mouth, and flushed or sunken cheeks. Adults may feel dizzy, weak, confused, nauseated or faint, have excessive thirst, dry eyes or blurred vision, urinate less, and have dark-colored urine.

being in a car on a sweltering day, especially for these more vulnerable groups. They are also at more risk for both heat exhaustion and heatstroke when it is humid, as humidity makes it harder for sweat to evaporate. Sweat is one of the ways your body cools itself. If you have reached the point where you are no longer able to sweat, you are experiencing heat exhaustion and it is imperative that you cool down immediately. Dehydration causes imbalances with electrolytes and sugar, which can lead to generalized muscle cramping, seizures, loss of consciousness due to low blood volume, heart arrhythmias, and heart attacks. If you are experiencing heat exhaustion, rehydrate with milk to help replenish these electrolytes.

Heat exhaustion can progress to heatstroke. Heat stroke occurs when the body temperature gets above 105 degrees and cooling down safely requires medical intervention. While you wait for the ambulance, get the person out of the sun or into a ventilated cooler room and sponge them off with a cool wet cloth. Do not give someone with heat stroke ice water to drink, as this can lead to further complications.

Dehydration is a serious health concern which can lead to hospitalization. Dehydration can make the body mistake thirst for hunger. It also leaves you feeling weak and increases your cravings for sugar. This excessive snacking and sugar consumption takes its toll on both your oral and systemic health. Since you need water to burn fat and calories, it is no wonder that being dehydrated can lead to weight gain. Without enough water, your body is unable to absorb the nutrients, electrolytes, minerals, and vitamins needed to support all of your organ systems and prevent disease. Chronic dehydration can cause urinary tract infections, kidney stones, and even kidney failure. It also causes brain cells to shrink in size and mass and may lead to "brain fog" or difficulty in performing activities of daily living. This can happen at any age, but is most often seen in the elderly.

In terms of your oral health, dehydration signals your body to conserve the fluid it has. One of the ways it does this is by reducing the production of saliva. Without saliva to remove food, prevent staining, neutralize acids, remineralize tooth enamel, hydrate your oral tissues and decrease plaque formation, you are at an increased risk for tooth decay, periodontal disease, bad breath, oral infections, and systemic disease.

Bottom line, if you want to stay healthy, you need to establish daily hydration habits. Since you do not drink when you are sleeping, begin every day by rehydrating with a glass of fluoridated tap water. This will not only flush toxins out of your system, rev up your immune system, kick in your metabolism, and assist your brain to help you feel "awake and alert," but it will also support your oral health. Water will help wash away the bacteria that have accumulated as you slept, stimulate saliva production, and neutralize acids that cause decay. These actions will protect your tooth enamel, reduce bad breath, and prevent gum disease. The fluoride will fortify your teeth by restoring mineral levels in your tooth enamel, which further protects them from tooth decay. Make it easy to stay hydrated throughout the day by keeping a bottle of fluoridated tap water close at hand. Swishing water after each snack and meal will also help to keep your mouth clean and hydrated. Make sure that your diet contains fruits and vegetables with a high water content (for example, watermelon, lettuce, and spinach are almost entirely water). While nothing beats fluoridated water for routine hydration, choose milk with its electrolytes, calories, fat, and proteins, to rehydrate and prevent muscle soreness after any intense or prolonged physical activity or exercise.

Infants and young children, as well as the elderly and people with chronic health conditions, have more difficulty regulating their body temperature. We all know to take precautions when it is sunny and hot outside, but you should be aware that a hot indoor room without air conditioning or circulating air can be as dangerous, or as fatal, as

After you fill out the necessary documents, you need to electronically file (e-file) them with the court. To e-file, you must create an account with an e-filing service provider. For more information, go to ilcourts.info/efiling. If you cannot e-file, you can get an exemption that allows you to file in-person or by mail. You may be charged filing fees, but if you cannot pay them, you can file an Application for Waiver of Court Fees. It is possible that the court will allow you to attend the first court date in this case in-person or remotely by video or phone. Contact the Circuit Court Clerk's office or visit the Court's website to find out whether this is possible and, if so, how to do this. Need help? Rockford favorite Jim Gill to perform at Discovery Center Museum

Get ready to sing, clap, dance, and spin along during two concerts by award-winning musician and author Jim Gill on Friday, July 28 at Discovery Center Museum. Rockford native Jim Gill is known for celebrating active play. In concert, Jim strums energizing rhythms on his banjo while everyone sings, claps, and dances to his silly and inspiring musical games. Each concert is more than a show to watch – it is an opportunity for family play!

The concerts are based on Gill's newest collection of recordings. The three CDs are called Jim Gill's Most Celebrated Songs and are filled with his best and most active music play. Jim promises, in concert, to share a non-stop selection of sing-alongs, dance-alongs, finger plays and tongue twisters. The concerts will feature Jim's "Silly Dance Contest," his jazzy "One From the Left" finger play and many more opportunities for children, parents and grandparents to sing and play together!

Jim Gill will give two live performances, at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Cost is included with museum admission at $10/person; children age 1 and younger and members are free. Tickets are available the day of the event and are on a first-come, first-served basis.

rule change until November of that year, forcing them to use a "fast-track" approval process that greatly limited the time allowed for public comment and negotiations.

JCAR considered the proposed rule change at its monthly meeting in June but postponed the rulemaking for 45 days to give the regulated industries more time to discuss the issue with lawmakers, the agencies and U.S. EPA.

Meeting again last week in Chicago, the committee voted to issue a formal objection to the rule change based on the agencies' use of the fast-track approval process. That does not stop the rule change from going into effect, but it does require the agencies to submit a response within 90 days. "Recognizing that while we can't go back and address what's already occurred, we are going to ensure that the steps are in place so that the next time there is a rule like this—which there will be because of the nature of our federal implemented programs—that we have a structure that doesn't lend itself to that the type of concerns that brought us here last month," IEPA deputy director James Jennings said in response to lawmakers' questions at the hearing.
