Wildcats hopeful to make a run on the gridiron in 2023

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The Eastland-Pearl City (EPC) Wildcats are hoping to get back above five hundred in 2023. After going just 3-6 last season, the Wildcats are eager to get back to winning. EPC Head Coach Jared McNutt hasn't experienced a deep postseason run since 2018 when the Wildcats made their semifinals push. McNutt is now entering his seventh season at the helm of the team. After last year's struggles, the EPC head coach saw his career record drop to an even 23-23.

The Wildcats will look very different in 2023, however. After last season, the Wildcats lost a significant number of contributors. Carsen Heeren, Maddux Hayden, Donovan Kuhlemeier, Jon Dinderman, Tanner Perdue, Max McCullough, Cade Monks, and Levi Sheffey all graduated out of the program. The Wildcats return only a handful of returning letter winners and starters. Brady Switzer, Ethan Petta, Jayden Downs, Jaxson Kemple, and Will Burchen will have to step up and lead the way this season.

Losing such a significant group of seniors can be daunting, however there are plenty of opportunities for new players to step up and make a name

Village of Lena happenings

The Village of Lena is pleased to announce that Brooke Baldauf is the newest Village Trustee. Brooke has been a Lena resident for 41 years and has been employed within the Village for 29 of those years. She will be a great addition to the Village Board. Congratulations on your new position, Brooke!

The Village will be doing reconstructive work on several roadways in 2023. There will be reconstruction on Dayton Street, along with widening of the Dayton Street and East Lena Street intersection. Williams Street, Leet Street, and School Street will be reconstructed. Deer Trail will receive the second coat of sealcoat. Shippee Road from Hwy 73 to the end of the Wolf Hollow golf course will be pulverized, recrowned and seal coated. The Streets Department will also be doing regular patchwork, crack sealing and replacing some storm

Membership benefits

Did you know that you don't need to be a farmer to be a farm bureau member? Give me a call at the office and I can tell you how you can become a member. You will be able to take advantage of the many membership benefits that Illinois Farm Bureau and Jo Daviess County Farm Bureau has to offer!

Environmental education program for livestock producers

Illinois' livestock industry works hard to address environmental protection through regulatory programs, industry-led educational initiatives, and publicly funded programmatic approaches. Illinois Farm Bureau (IFB) wants to assist producers with regulatory questions and provide educational opportunities and resources to help meet industry regulations and protect the environment. To do this, IFB has developed an environmental education program for Illinois livestock producers at the farm gate level.

Ages five and six:

- Boys class:
- 1- Gavyn Millerschone, Stockton
 - 2- Jaxon Scott, Morrison
 - 3- Weston Lehman, Hanover
- Girls class:

Cover Crop Field Day

We couldn't have asked for a better day for our Cover Crop Field Day. About 85 people came out to learn more about the benefits of cover crops. We plan to continue this effort, so be sure to

By participating in the program, producers can access a free toolkit of resources to help meet environmental regulations on their operations and schedule an on-farm visit with an IFB-sponsored expert, aimed at helping highlight opportunities for improvement on the operation. Participation in the program is free and confidential. Topics covered include current regulatory compliance requirements, mortalities management information, and science-based performance metrics for environmental protection.

COVID unemployment surge led to $5.2 billion in overpaid benefits in Illinois, including fraud

By Hannah Meisel
CAPITOL NEWS ILLINOIS

Illinois overpaid unemployment benefits to the tune of $5.2 billion during the first 18 months of the COVID-19 pandemic, with much of it paid to fraudulent claimants, according to a comprehensive new audit. Included in that sum was $6 million paid to 481 dead people and $40.5 million in unemployment checks written to incarcerated individuals. And, the audit warned, those numbers could be a significant undercount.

The audit, published Wednesday by the state's auditor general, harkens back to the chaotic early weeks of the COVID-19 pandemic, when Illinois Department of Employment Security phone lines and the agency's website couldn't handle the sudden spike of individuals trying to file for unemployment benefits. To respond to the unprecedented demand, state officials scrambled to contract with outside entities to both increase staff and stand up a new federally funded program for people traditionally ineligible for unemployment insurance.

But it was this rush that created weaknesses that fraudsters and identity thieves would go on to exploit, the audit noted. "Timely payment of benefits and preventing fraud are competing concepts," the audit said. "Preventing fraud, especially in new programs with evolving guidance and guidelines, likely would require additional processing time and a possible delay in benefit distribution to claimants. Conversely, paying claims quickly, especially when certain crossmatches and controls were suspended, increased IDES' risk of making improper payments."

Before COVID hit, IDES crossmatched active unemployment insurance claimants against five other databases to verify eligibility for benefits. Those included state prison and county jail registries, the Social Security Administration and the State and National Directory of New Hires. However, the crossmatching process takes time and "constricted the processing system severely," the audit said.

So in March 2020, IDES temporarily suspended some of that crossmatching in favor of getting benefits out the door more quickly. "This allowed IDES to better handle the increase in claims processing traffic; however, this left the unemployment programs more susceptible to fraud," the audit said.

The audit noted that Illinois failed to follow federal recommendations issued in May 2020 to prevent some of the fraud. It wasn't until September 2021 that IDES implemented the use of a multi-state crossmatching tool called the Integrity Data Hub, according to the audit.

Illinois is far from alone in its experience of massive unemployment fraud, though it's difficult to compare the extent of the fraud among states due to a lack of comprehensive federal data.

At an unrelated news conference in southern Illinois on July 27, Gov. JB Pritzker acknowledged the findings of the audit, but pointed to other large states that saw even bigger COVID-era unemployment fraud, like $20 billion in California and $8 billion in New York. "I think we all would say that we would have preferred if we didn't see that kind of fraud," Pritzker said. "But remember, the moment that this happened in, it was a global emergency. We were trying to get money out the door to people who had lost their jobs because, frankly, people were getting sick and dying. We wanted to make sure they could survive so we could have jobs for them at the end of the pandemic."

Republicans, who have been beating the drum on pandemic-era unemployment fraud for the better part of three years, took the opportunity to renew their criticism of Pritzker's administration.

"The people who were supposed to serve as stewards of their resources completely failed [Illinoisans], and their ineptitude served to embolden and help criminals to abuse the system and steal benefits," state Sen. Chapin Rose, R-Mahomet, said in a statement. "I have constituents who were lawfully entitled to benefits that they never received, and then now they have to read about billions that are missing."

PUA uniquely vulnerable

The majority of overpayments stemmed from the Pandemic Unemployment Assistance program, which was set up federally to support people who are traditionally ineligible for unemployment benefits, like freelance or "gig" workers. While overpayments in "regular" unemployment insurance accounted for a little over $2 billion, overpayments in the PUA program amounted to $3.2 billion, according to the audit. "Considering gross benefits associated with regular UI claims were 2.5 times higher than gross benefits associated with PUA claims, it shows the magnitude of fraud experienced in the PUA program," the audit said.

Identity theft accounted for nearly $511 million—roughly a quarter—of the $2 billion in overpayments within Illinois' regular unemployment benefits system. In contrast, identity theft accounted for the majority of overpayments in the PUA system; $2.3 billion in PUA benefits were paid out in this manner.

The remainder of overpayments are due to what the audit narrowly defines as "fraud"—overpayments resulting from unemployment recipients filing knowingly false information—and "non-fraud," which is the result of genuine mistakes. IDES has taken steps to stop or claw back these sorts of overpayments, though there are hardship waivers available.

But recovery of that money is only possible because those overpayments were sent to the true claimants of unemployment insurance, because the state's system is designed and integrated with vital crossmatching and identity-proofing capabilities."

Illinois contracted with management consultant Deloitte to build the technology to stand up its PUA program, as IDES didn't have the capacity to build out the program from its existing infrastructure. Deloitte's "uFACTS" system debuted in May 2020—two months into the pandemic—but it would be another two months until that system even began interacting with IDES' "regular" unemployment insurance system, according to the audit. That was a problem because PUA applicants were supposed to have first been denied traditional unemployment benefits; the siloing of the two systems meant that uFACTS didn't check with IDES to verify that an applicant had already filed a claim for regular unemployment insurance. The PUA program officially ended Sept. 4, 2021.

Slices of life

Not everyone can be a rose

By JILL PERTLER
Columnist

Roses are often thought of as the epitome of floral perfection. The allure of their blooms is undeniable. They grow on long stems – perfect for vases and display. They are fragrant and come in a variety of colors.

Roses can stand on their own, looking glorious as a single bloom in a bud vase. Their brilliance is multiplied in big bouquets. They are a symbol for love and the favorite floral gift to give by the dozens. They even have a whole parade named after them.

Certainly all the other flowers must envy the rose for her many, many favorable traits.

Perhaps.

But I hope not.

Because not every flower can be a rose.

There are tulips and marigolds, lilies and peonies, iris and pansies, lilacs and hydrangea, sunflowers and dandelions. Yes, dandelions. Even dandelions.

All grow and bloom, just like the rose.

Except they aren't a rose. They never will be.

That is the truth of life.

But here's another truth. The world needs a variety of blooms. Think how boring it would be if every flower was a rose – if every one of us was a rose.

We wouldn't know the fragrance of lilacs or carnations. The spring delight of tulips and daffodils. Seeds eaten from sunflowers and wine made from a flower labeled as a weed commonly known as the dandelion.

Not everyone can be a rose. Because that's how it was designed to be. Because we all have important roles to fulfill.

Some plants are the stars in the garden. Others are ground cover. Some are tall and provide a backdrop. Some are medicinal or herbal. Some provide food. Others fragrance. There are plants that attract pollinators and end up benefitting other plants and the world. Some grow anywhere and everywhere and are so prolific they are deemed weeds.

And some plants produce flowers that are simply fragrant, long-stemmed and beautiful.

Roses have a certain charm – a certain status – that many other flowers don't have.

But roses need a specific amount of sunlight and water and fertilizer and air flow and the correct soil conditions. Roses need to be pruned – in a specific manner – to ensure proper growth and desired long-stemmed blooms. They may be susceptible to disease.

In short, roses are high maintenance.

Dandelions, on the other hand, grow anywhere and everywhere. Dandelions are the opposite of high maintenance. They grow in the cracks in the sidewalk. They are prolific, and weedy.

Crime news

Shots fired incident

In the early hours of July 23, at around 3:20 a.m., Freeport Police Department officers responded to the 700 block of S. Kenwood Avenue in reference to multiple shots fired. During the investigation, officers learned that a group of subjects had congregated in the area when shots were fired at subjects in the group. Shots were also fired at a vehicle in the street.

A male victim, aged 20, was struck by gunfire and received non-life-threatening injuries. He was transported to FHN by a private vehicle where he was treated and discharged from the hospital. Additionally, a female victim, aged 34, was also struck by gunfire and received a non-life-threatening injury. She was later treated by ambulance and released. During this incident, three vehicles were damaged, and one residence was struck by gunfire.

Later that morning, at about 5 a.m. on July 23, officers responded to the area of State and Iroquois Street for shots fired. Officers did not locate any victims or damage from this incident.

These incidents are believed to be gang-related and are being investigated by the Freeport Police Department. Anyone who has information is asked to contact the Freeport Police Department at 815-235-8222 or submit an anonymous tip through the Stateline Area Crime Stoppers at 866-TIPSNOW or through texting Tip411.

Arrest made

An arrest warrant was issued on July 24, for 38-year-old Freeport man, Brandon Shorter for Aggravated Discharge of a Firearm-Occupied Vehicle, Unlawful Possession of a Weapon by a Felon, and Reckless Discharge of a Firearm in connection with the shots fired incident on Sunday, July 23 in the 700 block of S. Kenwood.

On July 25, officers of the Freeport Police Department attempted to conduct a traffic stop on a vehicle being driven by Brandon Shorter in the area of West Avenue and W. Stephenson Street. After a short pursuit, the vehicle struck a parked car on Apple Avenue, and Brandon Shorter was taken into custody. After placing Shorter into custody, officers located a large bag of cannabis in the vehicle and he was additionally charged with manufacture/deliver 30-500 grams of cannabis.

Shorter is being held at the Stephenson County Jail on $1,000,000.00 bond. The public is reminded that the defendant is presumed innocent and is entitled to a fair trial at which the government has the burden of proving guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

FHN offering healthcare career scholarships

Pursuing a career in healthcare begins with passion and education. In continuing to encourage ambitious students in our community, FHN is proud to offer multiple scholarships for students in the FHN service area who are pursuing careers in healthcare.

Several scholarships will be offered this year, each with different application criteria:

- Healthcare Career Scholarship Program for up to three $1,000 scholarship
- Diversity Healthcare

Career Scholarship Program for one $1,000 scholarship

• Volunteer Resource Scholarship Program for one $1,000 scholarship to an active member of the FHN Student Volunteer Program with a minimum of 40 volunteer hours

The deadline for all applicants is Friday, Sept. 1. For more information and application forms for each scholarship, visit www.fhn.org/scholarships.

But dandelions produce pretty yellow blooms. They can be used to make wine and tea. The entire plant (sans stem) is edible. They have medicinal uses that treat a plethora of skin, infection, liver and digestive problems. They are a great source of nectar for spring pollinators.

Dandelions may not have the allure of a rose.

They may not be as fancy or fanciful, but they are useful. They are easy. They are non-demanding. They are even pretty, when viewed through the right lens.

As a bonus, once it goes to seed, the dandelion is a source of wishes fulfilled.

Not everyone can be a rose.

Some of us are born daisies, dahlias, delphiniums, daffodils, dianthus and even dandelions. And, while perhaps not as flashy as a rose, dandelions grow where roses never could. Dandelions make tea and wine. They are prolific in ways a rose could never hope to be. Dandelions and simple and upfront. They are unassuming and humble. They give more than they take.

Not everyone can be a rose.

I, for one, am happy to be a dandelion. Wish on that, please do.

Highland Trustee Shawn Boldt elected to a second term as ICCTA Board Treasurer

The Highland Board of Trustees is proud to announce Trustee Shawn Boldt has been elected to serve as treasurer for a second term on the Executive Board for the Illinois Community College Trustees Association (ICCTA). Boldt was reelected in June. "Being able to serve on the Executive Committee as Treasurer of the ICCTA allows me to bring large amounts of helpful information directly back to Highland," Boldt said. "This includes legislative updates from Springfield that may affect HCC, best practices for financial management and enrollment growth from the other 47 Illinois community colleges, and information about available grants, programs, and incentives."

Community service is at the core of Boldt's sense of service. He was elected to the Freeport City Council in 2001 and re-elected in 2003, 2007 and 2011, serving a total of 14 years. During this time, he was Chair of the Public Works Committee, Finance Committee and Committee of the Whole. Boldt recently completed seven years as Chair of Immanuel Lutheran School and Immanuel Lutheran Church - overseeing all budgeting, policy, procedure creation and implementation, hiring, discipline, terminations, communication and public outreach.

In addition, Boldt is currently in his eighth year serving as Immanuel Lutheran School's Athletic Director and serves on the accreditation committee. Other previous public service includes serving on the Board of Directors for Big Brothers/Big Sisters, the former Stephenson County Convention and Visitors Bureau, the Northwestern Illinois Community Action Agency and the former Northwest Illinois Development Alliance (NIDA).

Since being elected to the Highland board, Boldt has attended the Association of Community College Trustees' (ACCT) Annual Leadership Congress and National Legislative Summit and eagerly shares what he has learned. Most recently, he was appointed to ACCT's Finance and Audit Committee, having previously served a one-year term on their Member Communications and Education Committee.

State driver services facilities to require appointments in more than 40 locations

Facilities will operate Monday through Friday across Illinois; 16 locations to have Saturday hours

By Andrew Adams
CAPITOL NEWS ILLINOIS

Drivers who need to renew their license at a secretary of state facility will likely have to make an appointment starting this fall.

Starting Sept. 1, 44 driver services facilities in medium- to large-sized cities around the state will require appointments for driver services - things like renewing a license, updating a license to meet Real ID requirements or taking a driving test. Vehicle services, like title registration, will still be offered on a walk-in basis.

The facilities impacted by the move to appointment-based service are in some of the state's most high-traffic locations. These include all but one of the locations in Chicago as well as locations in Aurora, Deerfield, Naperville, Waukegan, Champaign, Decatur, Bloomington, Peoria and more.

The Freeport location at 1054 N. Riverside, Freeport will have walk-ins available Monday through Friday only.

The Galena location at 987 Galena Square Dr., Galena will have walk-ins available Monday through Friday only.

The change in policy is accompanied by a standardization of hours at driver services facilities. All driver services facilities will operate

Pearl City Lady Wolves prepped for 2023 volleyball season under new head coach

By Trenten Scheidegger

It's the start of a new era for the Pearl City Wolves' volleyball team. After finishing just 10-24 overall in 2022, the Wolves are under new reigns in 2023. Tammy Stephan, who previously coached at the junior high level for two years, is hopeful for a quick turnaround for Pearl City Volleyball. Just two years ago, former Pearl City head coach Jane West helped lead the Wolves to a Regional Championship and a 10-4 conference record. The 2022 season was a down year, however, as the Wolves went 0-13 in conference play. That squad also lost a pair of key contributors in Brea Musser and Jordan Johnson.

The good news is that Pearl City returns a large group of players with varsity experience. Mattie Schauer, Fallyn Endress, Anna Dampman, Jorja Johnson, Kylie Campbell, Sylvia Schnoor, and Kendra Kuhlemeier all return as letter winners from last season. Schauer leads the way as the only senior from that group and she will be joined by fellow senior Olivia Williams. Regarding expectations for next year, Stephan stated, "Williams has really improved and could be a key player." Stephan also mentioned that although Schnoor and Dampman "may not have had as much playing time last year, they will be a crucial part of our team this year."

Early on, Stephan likes what she sees from this Pearl City squad. The program has good numbers this year, with 38 players going out. The deep numbers should create a competitive environment for the Wolves. "There is strength in numbers because they all have to work for their position. Everyone is right on each other's tail pushing each other. Nothing is given to them."

The Wolves' head coach calls the team "fierce and persistent." Stephan believes that is the team's biggest strength as she states, "They would work every day possible until they get it right." That hard work ethic has Stephan excited for the team's offensive abilities. Stephan complimented their offensive tactics saying, "Passing is very strong, even the ones who don't play in the back row are very good in the back row." Stephan also said the team has "a lot of extremely good hitters who can see the other side of the court well."

The Wolves will have to establish some mental fortitude if they want to find early success. Stephan explained the team's biggest need for improvement is mental toughness stating, "They get down on themselves so easily. Communication falls apart very quickly." Stephan believes the team chemistry will need to improve to get to where they want to be. "They need to believe in themselves, so many of them doubt their every move. We are working hard on that aspect. I want them to believe in themselves as much as the coaching staff believes in them," the new head coach shared.

In a lot of ways, sports have a way of preparing young student athletes for life after graduation. Stephan's main goal in her first year as a head coach is to make an everlasting impact and help the team improve in all aspects of life. "My biggest goal is to help shape them into good human beings that play as a team and encourage each other. You could be the best player on the court, but if you don't care about your teammates and play for each other, nobody will win in the end. We want to prepare them for life after high school. Yes, we are on the volleyball court, but there is so much more to life than this game. Some things like responsibility, discipline, teamwork, and leadership, those things can all be used long after they are done playing volleyball. Winning is definitely a goal, but a winning atmosphere is more like I would put it. Be positive, encourage, and lead. The on-paper wins will come when those things stay at the forefront," Stephan explained.

The first-year head coach knows things won't be easy in the NUIC, however. "We have a strong conference, no doubt. With Aquin and Lena always being strong teams, Dakota, Durand, and Orangeville are also tough. They all have great programs and that's what we are working on to build. I think we could play with any of those teams, if we stay out of our heads. With the talent we have, we could be at the top end of the conference, but if we break down mentally and let other stuff in, we will struggle." All the while, Stephan wants to keep things upbeat for Pearl City stating, "I want them to have fun. They have four years of high school, and I don't want them to look back hating it."

It will be fun to watch the 2023 Wolves establish their new identity under their new coach. With opportunities all around, several athletes will have a shot to prove themselves and leave their mark at Pearl City. The Wolves open their new season on Monday, Aug. 21, when they host the Warren Warriors. They will be on the road to close their opening week with away games against Forreton and Stockton on Wednesday, Aug. 23, and Thursday, Aug. 24.

Lena Lions Pet and Bike Parade

The first Lena Lions Pet and Bike Parade was held on July 22 and proved to be a huge success! The Parade and activities highlighted the idea of physical activity as part of diabetes awareness. It was a fun day for families and pets, and a wonderful educational opportunity.

Lena Lions would like to thank Lena and surrounding communities for their outstanding response as well as the Village of Lena for their support. Many thanks are extended to FHN and Megan Christensen for providing enthusiastic and passionate information on diabetes and to Brad and Angie Strong for leading the parade and supplying water for the pet obstacle course. Thank you to Mrs. Sue Amendt and the elementary art students who created some of the best marketing posters and signs, Sports and Wahl Clippers Corporation for their donations used for prizes and the Boy Scouts for manning the hot dog stand, Citizen's State Bank for use of their parking lot and Rafter, and Lena Business and Professionals Association for donating advertising on their electronic billboards, as well as Hilary Fiene and Stateline Solar for help with so many details as well as online promotions.

SOS+ to host 'Pleasant Hope'

SOS+ welcomes the Mai family, known as Pleasant Hope, to the Aug. 10, Senior Outreach event to be held at Calvary Church of Stockton, Stockton, IL at 2 p.m.

Ava, Vivienne and Oliver Mai named their group after a town in southern Missouri where they lived when they were younger. Their mom said that this is where they picked up their love for bluegrass music. But that isn't the only kind of music they love. This will be an afternoon of bluegrass, country, and gospel music. The Mai kid's motto is "whatever ye do, do all to the glory of God," 1 Corinthians 10:31.

Ava Mai is 18 and primarily plays the fiddle. She also plays a little banjo, guitar and the mandolin. Ava mainly sings harmony. Her sister, Vivienne Mai, is 15 and primarily plays guitar. She typically sings lead vocals. And her brother, Oliver Mai who is 13, loves playing the mandolin. He also plays bass and a little banjo. All 3 of the Mai kids play the piano as well.

Residing in the Galena Territory with their parents,

Dan and Susie Mai, in addition to their music and performing for others, Ava and Vivienne are very much into horseback riding and Oliver is an avid fisherman. Please join in welcoming the Mai Trio to the Senior Outreach program. Following their musical entertainment, all are welcome to stay for fellowship and light refreshments.

Experienced Scales Mound volleyball team ready to hit the court in 2023

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The Scales Mound Hornets open their 2023 volleyball season on Thursday, Aug. 24 when they play host to the Orangeville Broncos. Just two days later, the Hornets host the Scales Mound Invite.

This year, experience is the name of the game for the Hornets. Not only will they be a team loaded with upperclassmen, but a familiar head coach is back in control in Kerri Werner. Last year, the Hornets finished with an overall record of 13-18. However, the reigns in Werner held the reins in 2021 they finished 11-24.

Despite losing four seniors from last year's team, the Hornets return yet another senior-filled squad. They will have to replace the likes of Sydney Driscoll, Gwen Hesselbacher, Garrett Pickel, and Hanna Reddington. This year, the Hornets bring back a very experienced group in Brooklyn McCartney, Rylee McCartney, Emily Wiederholt, Amanda Withington, Anna Wentz, and Anniston Werner.

The Scales Mound head coach acknowledged the fact that experience will be their strong suit, noting that the team is mostly seniors. However, Werner explained that there is still work to be done. Communication and tempo are two of the things the Hornets' head coach hopes to improve early on.

Scales Mound hopes to keep things simple in 2023. Werner shared their goal is to simply "finish in the top half of the conference." That can be easier said than done, however. Last year, the Hornets finished just 4-8 in an extremely tough NUIC. Regarding the challenge Werner stated, "The NUIC is loaded with talent, so every match is competitive."

Just last year, there were three undefeated teams in conference play in Galena, Aquin, and Forreton. Behind them were a pair of 10-win teams in Fulton and West Carroll. Lena-Winslow, Dakota, and Durand each finished with eight conference wins as well. With so many tough opponents on the schedule, a 4-8 conference record doesn't look so bad all things considered.

Scales Mound will close out the 2023 regular season with a pair of tough matchups as well. On Tuesday, Oct. 17 the Hornets are set to play host to the Galena Pirates who are expected to be one of the top teams in the NUIC once again. Then, their final regular season matchup is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 19 when they travel to faceoff with the Warren Warriors. Last year, the Hornets swept the Warriors in a two-game series.

While the Hornets will have a lot of questions to answer in 2023, the girls have the experience it takes to win at the varsity level.

JDCF upcoming events

Meteors on the Mound

The Jo Daviess Conservation Foundation (JDCF) invites everyone to Meteors on the Mound for a glimpse of the Perseid meteor shower from atop Horseshoe Mound Preserve on Saturday, Aug. 12 from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Horseshoe Mound is one of the highest points in Jo Daviess County and offers spectacular views of the tristate area from several different outlooks. This is the only time of the year that the preserve is open to the public after dark. Donations of $10 per person are suggested. RSVPs are not required.

There will be family-friendly activities for people of all ages as well a presentation by expert astronomer, Walter Trentadue. Amateur astronomers will have telescopes onsite so that participants can view various heavenly bodies. If you have a telescope, please bring it along. Horseshoe Mound Preserve is located at 1679 N. Blackjack Road, Galena. This program is weather dependent so if it is raining, please visit the JDCF website or Facebook page for updates.

Free Wildflower Walk

The JDCF will host an early evening wildflower walk at the Wapello Land & Water Reserve on Tuesday, Aug. 8 from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Along with JDCF staff, the walk will be led by an area wildflower expert from the Northwest Illinois Prairie Enthusiasts. This restored prairie is the best of its kind in the area, and the blooms will be at their peak for viewing. The hike will take place on mowed trails over flat terrain. This event is free and RSVPs are not needed. The Wapello Reserve is located at 8642 RT 84 South, Hanover, IL. This event is subject to weather related cancelations.

Guided tours of Casper Bluff

Back by popular demand, tours of the Jo Daviess Conservation Foundation's Casper Bluff Land and Water Reserve by trained volunteers are up and running. Tours will be held on Saturday, Aug. 5 and 19 beginning at 9 a.m. with an evening tour scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 15 at 7 p.m. The cost is $10 per person and space is limited. RSVPs are required at www.jdcf.org/events.

If unable to attend a tour, Casper Bluff is open daily dawn to dusk and free of charge at 870 S. Pilot Knob Rd., Galena.

for themselves on the Wildcats. McNutt listed a strong group of newcomers, including Zy Haverland, Peyton Spears, Draven Zeir, Brody Voegeli, Jacob Runkle, Robert Rodrigues, Jaidyn McKinney, and Tanner Stern.

Once again, the Wildcats and McNutt are hopeful to display and rely on their athleticism on the football field.

McNutt believes the team's speed and talent at running back will give them an advantage in 2023. A big part of the running game will be how the younger kids can develop, especially along the offensive line. McNutt explained, "We will be young up front, but I think we are talented."

The Wildcats will have to set the tone early on if they want to be successful each week. McNutt stated, "Our goal is to compete and set the attitude and physicality every game." On top of that, the EPC head coach is hoping the Wildcats can reach the playoffs and make another run when they do.

As always, things won't be easy in a very tough Northwest Upstate Illini Conference. McNutt expects Lena-Winslow, Durand-Pecatonica, and Fulton to be amongst the top teams in the conference, this year.

The Wildcats open their 2023 season in Eastland on Friday, Aug. 25 when they play host to Galena. In week two, EPC will play host to DuPec. Things won't get much easier as in week three when the Wildcats travel to face off with Fulton. If the Wildcats can survive a tough first few weeks, they might be able to make a run at the postseason in the second half.

Careers in Dentistry

As the calendar edges closer to the beginning of a new school year, students may be focusing on their future careers. Those who enjoy working with and helping people may wish to consider one of the variety of positions in the field of oral health.

A registered dental hygienist (RDH) works under a licensed dentist to provide preventive dental care and individualized education on effective daily oral hygiene practices for their patients. They must be able to take, review, and maintain records of their patient's oral and overall health history. In addition, they must understand the bi-directional influence of the patient's oral and overall health. To this end, working as a dental hygienist requires the completion of a high school diploma, followed by a dental hygiene degree from an accredited university or college. All dental hygienists must take and pass the National Board Dental Hygiene Examination (NBDHE) in order to achieve licensure. In addition, to maintain their license, they must meet their state's individual continuing education requirements.

The medical biller in a dental office has the responsibility to bill all treatments and procedures performed by the dentist and other staff accurately and quickly. The primary duties include updating patient information, understanding what each different insurance company and individual policy covers, and assuring that the patient understands this information. Medical billers calculate invoices, submit bills to insurance companies, collect payments, investigate disputed insurance claims, and apply insurance payments to patient accounts. Medical billers must have a minimum of a high school diploma, and some dental offices require those in this position to have at least a few years of experience in medical billing. A bachelor's degree in a related field may also be required, such as business, accounting, or health care administration.

A dental assistant works alongside a dentist to perform patient care and assist with any needs the dentist has while performing procedures, treatments, and exams. Dental assistants ensure a clean and safe working environment by sterilizing instruments and preparing the dental operatories to meet OSHA standards for safety. They must understand each dental procedure so they can anticipate and set up the proper instruments and materials that will be required. They greet and prepare patients for treatments by taking and/or updating their medical records, answering patient questions, reducing their anxiety, and providing patient education. Dental assistants may be trained through an internship at the office, but most will complete a dental assisting program through a community college, vocational school, university, dental school, or technical institute. An Expanded Function Dental Assistant is a dental assistant who has received advanced training and additional licenses or certification to perform coronal polishing, take impressions, and apply sealants or topical anesthetics.

A dental receptionist manages clerical tasks in a dental office. These tasks include answering phones, scheduling appointments, greeting, and checking in patients when they arrive, maintaining the dental office's appearance, and keeping patient data private and confidential in accordance with local and national laws. They must have a minimum of a high school diploma, and some dental offices require those in this position to have at least a few years of experience in a healthcare setting.

Dental laboratory technology is both a science and an art. Since each dental patient's needs are different, the duties of a dental laboratory technician are comprehensive and varied. If you enjoy gaming and have developed good manual dexterity and strong computer skills, you may enjoy a career that utilizes technology such as CAD/CAM. Dental laboratory technicians can go through an accredited program or be trained on the job.

A dental office manager is responsible for overseeing the operation of a dental office. Duties include understanding, communicating, and implementing all Occupational Safety and Health Administration compliance standards, hiring, and training new employees, financial and marketing management, assuring quality patient care, and keeping patient data private and confidential in accordance with local and national laws. Although the minimal educational requirement is a high school diploma, and at least one year of experience in a dental office, many offices require an associate or bachelor's degree.

Becoming a dentist requires a love of learning. To stay on the leading edge of disease prevention, intervention, wellness promotion, and ever-advancing dental technology, means embracing the challenge of lifetime learning. While challenging, choosing a professional career as an oral physician is also incredibly rewarding.

Ideally, aspiring dentists should begin their career path as early as high school by taking advanced courses in chemistry, physics, math, and biology. Having a strong foundation in these areas will help prepare you for college, as undergraduate dental students will need to take premedical courses in mathematics, chemistry, and biology. You will also need to maintain top grades in undergrad to obtain letters of recommendation to get into dental school.

The next step is to take the Dental School Admissions Test. Most dentists take the DAT by their junior year in college. Getting into dental school is competitive, so scoring well on the DAT is crucial. Once you have completed dental school you will need to take the Integrated National Board Dental Examination. To practice, dentists are required to pass the exam and obtain state-specific licensure. To maintain their license, Oral physicians must meet their individual state's specific continuing education requirements to keep up with changes in dental medicine practice standards and technology.

After completing dental school, some oral physicians will choose to specialize in one particular area of dentistry. This requires being accepted into a residency program. While most residency programs last one to two years, becoming an oral and maxillofacial surgeon requires a six-year residency.

"Our goal is to change the stereotype of dealing with government offices," Secretary of State Alexi Giannoulias said on Thursday, noting that he hopes customers have a "positive experience."

Appointments can be made by visiting the secretary of state's website at ilsos.gov or by calling 844-817-4649.

Giannoulias said that the cost of implementing the changes falls within the existing secretary of state's budget.

"This is sort of the first major step in implementing the rest of our modernization goals," Giannoulias said.

Giannoulias also encouraged Illinoisans to make use of online services when possible, including driver's license renewal and ordering license plate stickers. The secretary of state's office also received more than $75 million in this year's budget for its IT modernization efforts, which have already resulted in an overhaul of the office's website, ilsos.gov.

"The revamped website is more intuitive and prioritizes our most popular programs and services so customers can find the information they want and need faster and more conveniently," Giannoulias said in a July 12 news release.

It's a continuation of several pandemic-driven shifts toward modernization for the secretary of state's office. That process began under former secretary Jesse White, who held the office for more than two decades before Giannoulias took office in January.

These pandemic-era modernizations included piloting appointment-based service and offering expanded online services for drivers.

SUDOKU Fun by the Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test! Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Pritzker signs bill aimed at ending homelessness

Task force brings multiple agencies together to focus resources

By Peter Hancock
CAPITOL NEWS ILLINOIS
Gov. JB Pritzker signed legislation last week that seeks to effectively end homelessness in Illinois by marshalling the resources of multiple agencies into one effort.
House Bill 2831 codifies an executive order Pritzker signed in 2021 that established the Illinois Interagency Task Force on Homelessness and the Community Advisory Council on Homelessness. It centralizes programs across 17 state departments and agencies to develop and implement a comprehensive plan to combat homelessness.

At a bill-signing ceremony at Featherfist, a homeless services organization in Chicago, Pritzker said the goal of the initiative is to bring homelessness in Illinois to “functional zero.”

“For those who don’t know and who may be listening, it’s a measurable metric of success that reduces homelessness to something that’s brief and rare and nonrecurring,” Pritzker said. The Chicago Coalition for the Homeless estimates that more than 100,000 people in Illinois experienced homelessness for all or part of 2020. That included people who were temporarily staying in someone else’s home, or “doubling up.”

Christine Haley, the state’s current chief homelessness officer and chair of the inter-agency task force, said black people and other people of color are disproportionately affected by homelessness. “We stand here in one of the few black-led homeless services organizations in our state. And as we stand here, we know that this housing crisis before us is rooted in housing injustice, is rooted in segregation, is rooted in racism,” she said. “We know this because in our city of Chicago, where now less than a third of its residents are black, 73 percent of individuals and 90 percent of children and their parents who are experiencing homelessness are Black.”

State Rep. Lindsey LaPointe, D-Chicago, who was the lead sponsor of the bill in the House, said that on any given night, an estimated 4,500 people in Illinois are without shelter and the average wait time for someone to receive housing services is 802 days. She also noted that in Fiscal Year 2022, 9,800 people were turned away from emergency shelters. “Ending homelessness and ensuring every neighbor has access to shelter and supportive services has long been possible in Illinois and across the nation, but we haven’t had the collective political, economic—and I say this with love—bureaucratic will to make it happen until now,” she said.

In his State of the State address in February, Pritzker highlighted the state’s “Home Illinois” plan, which calls for increased spending for homelessness prevention, crisis response, housing units, and staffing. Last week, he noted that the budget lawmakers eventually passed this year includes more than $350 million for homeless services, an $85.3 million increase over last year. That includes, among other things, $50 million in rapid rehousing services for 2,000 households; $40 million to develop more than 90 Permanent Supportive Housing units that provide long-term rental assistance and case management; and $37 million in Emergency Shelter capital funds to create more than 460 non-congregate shelter units. “No stone is going to be turned in this endeavor,” Pritzker said.

literary journal. Together they discover a powerful secret that alters their lives. Bright Star makes its TLP debut with this entertaining musical of enduring love, family ties, and the light of forgiveness that shines from a bright star.
Bright Star is directed and choreographed by Amy Marie McCleary. She comes directly from Circa 21 where she directed and choreographed their production of Escape to Margaritaville. She has also directed their productions of Saturday Night Fever, Disaster and We Will Rock You. Music direction is by Oliver Townsend, scenic designs are by Dan Danielowski, costume designs by Maya Faye Gordon, props design by Sydney Vega Pauley, lighting design by Frey Bendele, wig design by Josh Medina, and sound design by Dillon Allen. The Production Stage Manager is Elaina Veasey.
TLP’s production features two long-time TLP favorites are returning to the Playhouse for Bright Star. In the role of Daddy Cane is Jim Blanchette. Blanchette appeared in several shows at TLP in the 80’s and 90’s. John Chase (King Arthur in Spamalot, Sunset Boulevard, Buddy Holly Story, Inspector Calls) returns in the role of Daddy Murphy. Other cast members include Isabella Andrews (Alice Murphy), Bryant Howard (Jimmy Ray), Keaton Miller (Billy), and Olivia De Jager (Margo).

Inspired by a real event and featuring the Grammy-nominated score, Bright Star tells a sweeping tale of love and redemption set against the rich backdrop of the Blue Ridge Mountains in the 1920’s and 1940’s. An uplifting theatrical journey that holds you tight in its grasp, Bright Star is as refreshingly genuine as it is daringly hopeful.
Information and tickets for all Timber Lake Playhouse events are available online at www.timberlake-playhouse.org or by calling the Box Office at -815-244-2035. The Box Office is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. and show days until intermission.
