A new suit for the wedding

The first suit I ever bought was in my freshman year of high school back in the fall of 1976. It was a baby blue leisure. I had been voted to be the freshman rep for the homecoming court at my high school, so my mom took me to town and got me a suit. It had long lapels and my long navy-blue shirt collar hung over the lapels on each side. Those leisure suits were in style for about two years and then disappeared off the face of the earth for good. Usually, styles make a return after a decade or two, but not the leisure suit. Like very few things in this world, they have never come back around.

The only other time that I had bought a new suit was in 1997 for one of my uncle's funerals. I remember showing up with a shirt and tie and one of my older brothers took me to JC Penny and bought one for me. He even bought me a new shirt and tie to go with it. I was a very poor schoolteacher at the time with four kids and he had just begun a new higher paying job. It was very generous of him, to say the least. Anyway, that black suit has been my "go-to" for the past 27 years. During that time, I have officiated about 40 weddings and another 50 or 60 funerals, all while wearing that same black suit.

Well, our last child is set to get married very soon and

By SCOTT CERNEK
Columnist

my wife was wondering if I was going to rent a tux for the wedding. Since I have been thinking about purchasing a new suit for several years, I decided to take a look at what my options were. After looking at about ten different styles and colors, we decided that it was time to bite the bullet and buy a new gray one. It actually isn't all that much more than renting a tux when you compare the prices, and it will be nice to have a new one to wear for future funerals and weddings that I may officiate. The nice man in the shop advised that all I would have to do is pick out a new shirt and tie and it would make each occasion special.

Speaking of weddings, we now have all four of our kids married off. To date, the first three have blessed us with 12 grandchildren and two more on the way. Each family is so unique and provides such a blessing to my wife and I whenever we get together. It's especially fun when all of the families get together at the same time. The only difference in getting together one family at a time or when we all get together is that the grandkids have so much fun playing with their cousins that they kind of forget about Grandpa and Grandma, unless I get out the whiffle ball and bat. They love baseball and they all come running. The older ones especially are really starting to spank the ball good. There are always some great opportunities for a little character building as we play. It's a lot like teaching my gym classes at school. I tell my classes that I have three rules, respect, respect, and respect. Respect for others, respect for themselves and respect for the rules of whatever game we are playing. I guess once a coach, always a coach.

Jesus did a lot of coaching when He was on this earth. He started out with a team of 12 disciples whom He guided and challenged each and every day. In Luke 9:22-23 we read, "And He said to all, 'If anyone would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me. For whoever would save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will save it.'" I'm sure Jesus went on to tell them how to do these things.

"Come after me" means to become a disciple and requires them to first of all deny himself. This means not simply denying certain things but denying personal control of one's life. Number two shows true commitment. Jesus said to take up his cross and make a commitment that will lead to rejection and possibly even to the point of death. Number three, Jesus said to "follow me." In Jesus' day, "follow me" also meant joining the company of his disciples who traveled in ministry with Jesus around Palestine. Today, we have the same choices to make if we are going to become His followers. Giving our hearts to Jesus means He owns us and that leads to eternal life.

Until next week, God bless!

Important safety information from Nicor Gas

Every day, underground pipelines safely transport natural gas – one of the most efficient, reliable and environmentally friendly fuels – to homes and businesses throughout the country. Nicor Gas operates, secures and maintains the pipelines in our service territories. We adhere to state and federal pipeline safety regulations, perform extensive quality-control checks, educate the public on how to recognize and prevent natural gas leaks, and work closely with officials to develop emergency response plans.

Call before you dig

Before digging on your property, state law requires you call 811 to have your utility lines professionally marked – for free! You must wait the required amount of time before you begin your project. Pipeline markers indicate the general area of the pipeline, but not its exact location or depth. A pipeline may not always be marked in all areas, so it is important to always “Call Before You Dig.” If a pipeline right of way is adjacent to your property, you have a responsibility to ensure no new installations of landscaping or physical structures are placed in the right of way, which interferes with our ability to keep the pipeline safe through routine monitoring and maintenance.

Information about transmission pipelines operating in your community can be accessed online at npms.phmsa.dot.gov, courtesy of the National Pipeline Mapping System (NPMS).

Water heater safety

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission urges all users to lower their water heaters to 120 degrees Fahrenheit.

Carbon monoxide

Incomplete combustion of any fuel produces carbon monoxide. Carbon monoxide is poisonous and has no odor, taste or color. Carbon monoxide detectors are helpful, but they are no substitute for using equipment safely. This includes having your appliances inspected once a year by a certified contractor.

Appliance safety

According to the Federal Emergency Management Agency:

- It is important that you have your furnace inspected by a qualified specialist.
- Be sure all furnace controls and emergency shut-offs are in proper working condition.
- Keep trash and other combustible materials away from your air, heating and water heating systems.

Pipeline integrity management is a process for assessing and mitigating pipeline risks to reduce both the likelihood and consequences of incidents. We have a comprehensive plan that fully addresses these processes, especially for locations deemed high-consequence areas.

To learn more, visit nicorgas.com/integritymanagementplan.

If you smell gas, act fast!

Although natural gas pipeline incidents are uncommon, you can help prevent emergencies by knowing the signs of a potential problem. Even though you may not currently be a Nicor Gas customer, you can play an important role in natural gas safety. Below are some tips on how to identify a possible natural gas leak, and what to do in such a situation.

LOOK for blowing dirt, discolored vegetation or continued bubbling of standing water.

LISTEN for a hissing or roaring noise near a natural gas appliance or line.

SMELL for the distinctive, rotten-egg odor associated with natural gas. Natural gas is colorless and odorless, so we add a chemical odorant called mercaptan for easy detection of a suspected natural gas leak. This odorant has a distinctive “rotten egg” type odor. You should act any time you detect even a small amount of this odor in the air.

Note: Be aware that “odorant fade,” while uncommon, can occur. Odorant fade occurs when a physical or chemical process causes the level of odorant in the gas to be reduced. This can happen in both existing gas pipe and new installations. Some individuals may not be able to detect the smell of the natural gas odorant because they have a diminished sense of smell, because the scent is being masked by other odors in the area or because the odorant has diminished so that it is not detectable. Some gas lines, due to their unique function, may not have odor at all.

If you detect even a small amount of this odor in the air:

DO NOT try to identify the source or to stop the leak yourself.

LEAVE the area immediately and move a safe distance away from the potential leak, while avoiding any action that may cause sparks.

AVOID using any sources of ignition, such as cellphones, cigarettes, matches, flashlights, electronic devices, motorized vehicles, light switches or landlines, as natural gas can ignite from a spark or open flame, possibly causing a fire or explosion. Natural gas is nontoxic, lighter than air and displaces oxygen. In severe cases, if not used properly, it can also lead to asphyxiation.

CALL Nicor Gas at 888.Nicor4U (642.6748) or 911 once you are out of the area of the suspected leak and in a safe place. Stay away until Nicor Gas or emergency personnel indicate it is safe to return.

For more information, visit nicorgas.com/safety or call 888.Nicor4U (642.6748).
