CHRISTINE HARTUNG

bon and learned even more about the birds and bees and their needs. She loved people and made friends as a teacher and as an Audubon member. In later years she became a weaver and ardent student of the fiber arts. She also met folks at the Monroe YMCA aquacise classes and loved the friends she made there.

Christine had a deep spiritual interest. She read deeply and widely as she learned traditions in addition to Christianity. She was also fascinated with astrology and meditation, but she kept her beliefs and spiritual side to herself so that she might not put off or offend others.

She was predeceased by her parents, Bruno and Lottie, and her brother, Teddy. She is survived by her husband, her (step)sons, Graham (Heather) Hartung now of Crete Illinois, and Garth (Mary) Hartung residing in Earlville IL. She also leaves behind her beloved (step)grandchildren (4) and cousins all over the country as well as friends she made everywhere in life.

Christine Hartung gently passed away Aug. 27, 2023, at Freeport Memorial Hospital. She was born June 14, 1952, to Bruno Silkowski and Lottie Skalon in Chicago. She excelled in high school, loving ballet and cheerleading, and graduated as valedictorian of her class at Wells High School. She went on to a career as an RN, eventually leaving that career as a charge nurse at a busy city hospital in 1991 to live in the country in Stephenson County, IL. She never forgot her early years in the city with numerous cousins and her first family. Holidays especially would re-open those early life memories.

She married Tom Hartung on Aug. 14, 1992, and began to put all that behind her and learn rural ways. She became a substitute schoolteacher in districts in Illinois and Monroe, Wisconsin, retiring from that career in 2006.

She became passionate about the land and nature when she settled into country life. She and her husband planted hundreds of trees on their patch of land, and in later years became devoted to making native plant communities to nurture the littlest creatures. She joined Audu-

In a moment things can sure change

I was driving down our county highway the other night on my way to church for music practice and prayer meeting when my peaceful ride was turned upside down in an instant. It was pitch black when suddenly out of nowhere a great big doe was right smack in front of my car streaking across the road. An instant later the doe smashes into the right front corner of my car knocking out the headlight, buckling the hood, smashing the bumper and grill, and killing the animal

By SCOTT CERNEK
Columnist

instantly. It all happened in a moment with no warning whatsoever. I still can't believe how incredibly fast it all happened. Two other times in my life I have hit and killed deer. Once about thirty years ago, we were driving in Richland County on our way to a camp in Tomah with the family. At that time a big deer came up out of a field and I slowed down as it started running alongside my van. All at once the deer turned and ran right into the side of our van. If I remember right, it broke its neck instantly and died in the ditch. The third time was just a couple years ago when a tiny little fawn jumped up out of the tall grass on the side of the road and ran across the road right in front of me. Once again, I had no chance. It only damaged the right front quarter panel but was killed as well.

A friend of mine told me the other day that he has hit twelve deer over the course of his lifetime. I have had numerous near misses over the years, and I can't tell you how many times my wife has yelled, "deer" while we are driving somewhere. I always get a little confused when she yells "deer" when I'm driving because there are many times when we are together in the house when she calls out "dear" and it doesn't have anything to do with the four-legged creatures running across a field. That word dear usually is followed by, "can you help me with this or that?" I especially hate it when she says, "dear", when we are driving and then adds something like, "did you hear about such and such". Yes, it can be pretty confusing.

The worst thing about my deer accident last week is that I don't have comprehensive insurance on my car, so I am out of luck. I decided to try my hand at bending the hood back into shape and pulling the dents out of the door. I was amazed at how easily I could bend the metal. Then I got out the flex tape and started getting things straightened up. I pulled the bumper up and taped it into place in about four places where it was busted up. I felt a lot like Red Green who fixed everything with his rolls of duct tape. All I need is a new lens and headlight on the right side and my little beater car with over 210,000 miles will be back in business, sort of.

It was the speed of the accident that really took my breath away. In I Corinthians 15:51-52 we read about an event that every Christian should be getting ready for. It's the time when Jesus returns in the clouds to "snatch up" those who love Him and believe in Him for eternal life. In the passage Paul says this, Behold, I tell you a mystery, we will not all die, but we will be changed. In a moment in the twinkling of an eye at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised imperishable, and we shall be changed.

Maintaining the personal in an impersonal world

By definition, I am an introvert. I'm usually OK with time alone and minimal interactions with other humans. I enjoy conversations within my own head and maybe, perhaps have a significant relationship with both my phone and my laptop.

However, lately I've noticed the world has sort of taken this concept and injected it with steroids. In just the last decade or so, things have changed. COVID fueled these changes, but they were occurring even before the pandemic. Gradually—or perhaps not so gradually—we are losing our day-to-day human connections. Our world is becoming more and more impersonal.

For most of my lifetime friendships used to involve actually meeting in-person—for lunch, happy hour or play dates.

Now I have friends online whom I've never met. They live in different cities and different states than me. Sometimes I forget who they are and wonder how we ever became "friends" in the first place. But I feel close to quite a few of them; I just don't know if we'll ever meet in person.

Speaking of meetings, how did we exist before the likes of Zoom?

These next few are going to date me (and not like going out to the Steve Martin movie called "The Jerk" with a cute guy in high school).

My mom never learned how to pump her own gas. She grew up and grew into adulthood having someone pump it for her, and she liked it that way. When the gas guy left his post, he was replaced by a new gas guy - my dad, who made sure my mom's tank was also at least half-full.

Remember standing in line for concert tickets? Sometimes we'd sleep on the sidewalk. Lordy, lordy, what we'd do to see REO Speedwagon, Styx or Journey live.

Now we have the privilege of picking our exact seats without ever leaving the comfort of our living rooms—until concert day. They haven't been able to figure out how to provide us with the true concert experience from our homes. Not yet, but I'm sure it's coming.

My daughter and her family haven't been to the grocery store in more than a year. There is no need. They order online and do a pick up at the store without ever leaving their car. There is no need for human contact—just a credit card.

Shopping in general has changed. I recently furnished

Harvest, wheat planting running ahead of average pace

By Daniel Grant
FARMWEEK

Illinois farmers continue to cut soybeans at a furious pace between rain showers.

Soybean harvest was 61% complete statewide as of Oct. 15, which was 8 percentage points ahead of the average pace, according to the National Agricultural Statistics Service Illinois field office.

"We completed beans before the rain (the first half of the month)," said Megan Dwyer, a fourth-generation farmer from Henry County and director of conservation and nutrient stewardship for the Illinois Corn Growers Association. "Corn has been off to a slow start, but a lot of farmers got in the field (Oct. 16). I think there will be a strong push."

Corn harvest was 52% complete as of Oct. 15 statewide, which is spot on with the average pace.

Meanwhile, farmers planted nearly half of the winter wheat crop (47%) in the state as of the same date, which was 2 points ahead of the average pace and 11 points ahead of last year's pace.

"I finished wheat planting and fertilizing and am looking forward to the green-up in those fields as the season comes to a close," said Marshall Newhouse, FarmWeek CropWatcher from Boone County.

The weather pattern for remaining fieldwork could shift for the week ahead with a possibility of warmer and wetter conditions.

"We've had some cooler conditions and even some frost across the state," John Baranick, DTN ag meteorologist, told the RFD Radio Network. "But (this) week we're going to pump up the heat."

An active storm track could also set up over the central U.S. and delay fieldwork in some areas.

"Whether or not that makes it into Illinois much is still to be determined," Baranick said.

As farmers continue to harvest corn, stalk quality remains a key consideration. They should plan to harvest fields with any potential issues as soon as possible to avoid potential lodging problems.

Overall, late-season plant health is critical to a smooth harvest and maximizing yield potential, according to Jeff Morey, AgriGold agronomist. It's not something that just "happens." Keeping your corn crop healthy all the way to harvest takes planning, hybrid selection, fertility management and fungicide.

"It's an investment that pays off, especially in challenging years," Morey said. In years when drought and heat stress the crop, he has witnessed a 10- to 20-bushel-an-acre advantage.

Plant health should influence farmers' corn hybrid decisions for next season.

"Farmers with a lot of acres to combine need that corn plant standing well into October. They should look for genetics with good late-season plant health, stalk quality and standability," Morey advises.

"A fungicide application is a must for hybrids with lower plant health ratings and on disease-prone acres," he said.

"You'll also want to make sure you have good fertility, including getting nitrogen into those plants when they need it."

Morey encourages farmers to keep a notepad handy throughout harvest.

"Keep a record of how products fared in terms of plant health," he said. "When harvest wraps up, talk with your agronomist and see if your experience matched what they heard from other farmers. Then use that to make decisions that work well for your farm next season."

an entire house online. The same goes for kitchen appliances. I live in a rural area, so my experience may be different from someone in a big city, but my appliances weren't even available to see at the appliance store that's more than an hour's drive from my home. So I read the online descriptions about features, picked out the models of my choice, measured carefully and had them delivered. I'm happy to say they all fit!

Remember when banking was in in-person thing? A few months ago, I needed a document notarized so had to visit a real, live brick and mortar bank. I hadn't been in one for at least a year.

I recently bought a new home and had the option to do the closing online. I wonder how long it will be before we can get something notarized online. Or perhaps get married online?

Why meet the person in-person when you can marry them first?

How far are we going to take this? I'm almost afraid of the answer to this semi-facetious question.

I think we, as humans, crave real-alive connections, and there is nothing the Internet or our phones can ever do to replicate that. And whether we realize it or not, they just might be contributing to our loneliness.

How sad, and lonely, is that?

My advice? Close your laptop. Put down your phone. Go outside. Say hello to your neighbor. Start a conversation.

Even if you are an introvert. Especially so. Take it from me. We all need each other.

He writes more about this event in I Thessalonians 4:16-18 For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first. Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so we will always be with the Lord. Therefore encourage one another with these words. I've been studying and teaching about this event for many years in my churches. The Bible makes a great case that before the final seven years of great Tribulation that Jesus talked about coming to the earth there will be this great snatching up of all believers that happens in a flash and in the process, we will receive brand new bodies that will be just like the body that Jesus received when He was raised. Paul says we will be changed.

Remember when Jesus was raised, His body was transformed into a new resurrected body which was able to change locations in an instant, He could also walk through walls, and He even enjoyed eating with His disciples in His new body. Remember some of Jesus' last words before He ascended into heaven after His resurrection. John 14:3 I go to prepare a place for you and if I go, I will come again and receive you to myself, that where I am there you may be also. Now that sounds like a great "snatching up" if ever I heard one. Remember we are Jesus' bride, and He is coming to take us to a wedding supper that will last seven years. It's all very clear in scripture. Please don't be afraid to do some Bible fact checking for yourself, and you will see. In the meantime, God bless!

Apple River's Adriana Curtiss led Augustana College Symposium Day public health focus group

Adriana Curtiss, a Biology major from Apple River, was one of 30 students to lead a public health focus group during Augustana College's Oct. 11 Symposium Day. Symposium Day included invited speakers, alumni, advising sessions and other events on this year's theme of transformation.

More than 50 Augustana students attended one of the seven public health focus groups, which sought to gather insight on suggestions on how to transform health and well-being on Augustana's campus and in the surrounding community.

Curtiss's focus group topic was Mental health stigma among college students. All focus group leaders are enrolled in Prof. Rebecca Arnold's health behavior and promotion class this fall.

Downey reflects on first season as head coach of the Stockton Blackhawks

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The Stockton Blackhawks entered the 2023 football season with high expectations. After going a combined 6-12 over the prior two seasons, the Blackhawks turned the page to a new chapter as Sean Downey took over as head coach. Although it wasn't the picture-perfect ending the Blackhawks had hoped for, they took a step in the right direction in 2023.

Stockton's playoff chances lasted nearly the entire season. Entering week nine, the Blackhawks were in a must-win situation as they held a record of 4-4. With one quarter left in the regular season, the Blackhawks held a 24-12 lead over the Galena Pirates. That's where everything went wrong for the 2023 Blackhawks. The Pirates managed to pull off a massive comeback as Stockton fell by a score of 24-27, ultimately causing them to miss the playoffs.

Despite all that, there are plenty of reasons to consider Downey's first season at the helm a success for the Stockton football program. 2023 was a chance to set the program in the right direction with a fresh start. The Blackhawks not only improved on their total wins, but they set the standard for the program going forward.

At the conclusion of it all, Downey detailed his overall thoughts as a first-year head coach and discussed the final game of the season. "I thought that we played with great effort all season," Downey shared before explaining, "There were multiple games that we had opportunities to win and just weren't quite able to get over the hump. In regard to the final game of the season at Galena, we really controlled the game up until about eight minutes to go. Galena made a couple great plays in the passing game, including a fourth-and-twenty conversion. After that, Galena started to get momentum and we never made a play to get it back. Couple that with some mistakes on our end, and that's how we let that game get away from us."

One thing that continuously stood out for the Blackhawks this year was their senior class. Tanner Gile, Colby Tucker, Brady Haas, Carson McPeck, Karl Hubb, Wesley Logemann, Michael Haas, Logan Breed, William Westaby, and Drake Offense each played a role in ensuring the future of the program. Downey took the time to speak about the class and how they made his first year special. "I'm awfully proud of this group of seniors. They bought into a new program going all the way back to last winter. They played tough, physical football all season long. We talked a lot about bringing Stockton football back to where it belongs. Even though we ended short of our goal of making the postseason, I think this group played the type of football we want to play. I think they were great leaders for the underclassmen, and really brought excitement back to the program. You will see the effect of this group of seniors in the coming years, and I can't thank them enough for their effort," the Stockton coach said.

For Downey, it was a chance to reflect on his personal thoughts as well. "I learned that this group of seniors, and varsity [as a whole], has a tremendous amount of heart. We played the entire season with 12 true varsity players. We relied on a lot of underclassmen to fill spots and the moment was never too big for them. Lots of guys were asked to play both ways and never come off the field. They set the tone as far as work ethic goes during the season and the offseason," Downey shared.

It will take another impressive offseason of hard work for the Blackhawks to get where they want to be. Downey should return as a more comfortable coach with experience in the program. Stockton will have to replace a significant senior class, many of whom played multiple years at the varsity level. For Downey and the Blackhawks, year two looks to be another exciting challenge for the program.

Stockton FFA attends Leadership Training School

On Oct. 19 chapter officers of the Lena-Winslow FFA chapter attended Section 1 Leadership Training School (LTS). During this event, officers gained vital leadership skills through workshops led by section officers. One such workshop included learning how to give proper instructions in order to successfully make a peanut butter and jelly. Another focused on clearly communicating goals by having to create a shape blindly with a rope. The event concluded with a keynote speech given by State FFA President Thaddeus Bergsneider. LTS was a fun event that allowed the Lena-Winslow officers to grow within their leadership skills and create connections from across the section. Pictured are members (left to right, back row) Luke Stabenow, Avery Baldauf, Odin Stabenow, Madalyn Schierloh, Mika Schoger, Morgan Gerber, (front row) Kegan DeZell, Ava Fiedler, Chloe Mader, Hannah Pecoraro, and Lillian Schoger.

Stockton FFA takes second at sectionals

The Lena-Winslow FFA Ag Sales team had great successes this year. The team placed second at the Section 1 competition and proceeded to place sixth at the District 1 event, which took place at Blackhawk East Campus in Galva, IL. During this event, members had to successfully market and sell Pioneer corn and soybean seeds to a prospective customer. They needed a strong knowledge of the given product and be able to build rapport with customers. Contestant Mika Schoger said that her favorite part of this event was working with her teammates. # Recent felony arrests

The first arrest was made on Oct. 24, 2023, where officers of the Freeport Police Department conducted a search warrant at an address in the 600 block of N. Brewster Avenue in Freeport. During the execution of the search warrant, officers seized more than 15 grams, but less than 100 grams of a substance that field tested positive for the probable presence of cocaine. Officers also discovered packaging materials that led them to believe the cocaine was possessed with the intent to deliver to another person.

Michael Huenefeld, a 45-year-old Freeport resident, was inside of the residence at the time of the search warrant. He was charged with the felony offense of Possession with the Intent to Deliver a Controlled Substance. Michael Huenefeld was taken to the Stephenson County Jail pending the outcome of a detention hearing.

The public is reminded that the defendant is presumed innocent and is entitled to a fair trial, at which the government has the burden of proving guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

The second arrest occurred on Oct. 25, 2023, where officers of the Freeport Police Department arrested Issac Wade, a 23-year-old Freeport resident, on a felony warrant for two counts of Aggravated Unlawful Use of a Weapon and Unlawful Use of a Weapon by a Felon. The complaint alleged on April 21, 2023, Wade was in possession of a semi-automatic pistol that was equipped with a high capacity drum magazine. Issac Wade was taken to the Stephenson County Jail pending the outcome of a detention hearing.

The public is reminded that the defendant is presumed innocent and is entitled to a fair trial, at which the government has the burden of proving guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

Stephan reflects on first year coaching Pearl City Volleyball

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The Pearl City Wolves and their first-year head coach Tammy Stephan had to battle their way through the 2023 volleyball season. After picking up an early season win over Warren, the Wolves suffered through a five-game losing streak. Back-to-back victories broke the skid, but another five-game losing streak ensued. In the end, the Wolves finished the regular season with an 8-25-2 overall record. A tough matchup with the Durand Bulldogs in the opening round of regionals brought an end to Stephan's first season as head coach. Following the season, Stephan took the time to look back on her first year, share what she learned, and discuss this year's senior class.

"Winning isn't always the final score on the paper," Stephan said before explaining, "Winning is also creating a team atmosphere where the girls have fun and want to work. Winning is having a breakthrough with a player that was never really recognized in the past. Winning is when the team starts putting 'We' before 'Me'."

This year, the Wolves players met Stephan's standards for work ethic and then some. "I've also learned, the more you push them and expect of them, the harder they will work. None of them want to let you down," Stephan said. After going through so much together on the court, Stephan found their relationship strengthened off the court. "Girls are extremely emotional and, as a coach, it's just as effective to be there for them as a person, not just a player," Stephan added.

One thing that many first-year coaches seem to agree on is that you can't please everyone. It's a common theme in all team sports, across the board. Stephan experienced the same stating, "The biggest thing I've learned, I'm never going to make everyone happy. So, I just need to keep working with what I believe in and want for the girls."

Hindsight is always 20/20

but following the season, Stephan was asked if there was anything she could go back and change. "I wish I had more coaching staff on hand. Running practices just Jordy and myself, and Marsha Butson is a lot with 30-plus girls, and next year there is a possibility of 16 or more coming into the program. We can't see or correct everything without taking valuable time out of practice for everyone else and oftentimes things get missed because you just can't watch everything at once," Stephan shared.

For Stephan, this first season is always going to stand out. Especially the seniors who led the way will be remembered. "This group is very special to me," Stephan said, "Every single one of them is amazing and I love them like they are my own daughter. I don't cry often, but our last huddle was very emotional, realizing they wouldn't be a part of it next year." Stephan shared that she wasn't prepared for that emotional moment with the team stating, "It didn't really hit me until that point because I believed in them so much and that was kind of a smack in the face, like this is it. It's over now."

"Those four [Mattie Schauer, Olivia Williams, Lisa Baker, and Ava Bremmer] really were so supportive to everyone. They were able to come and talk to me easily and they responded so well to me. I think they all have been overshadowed in the past and there is so much in them yet, knowing I don't get to work with them again is hard because they were really just starting to use some of that fire they had inside them. There's so much we didn't get to see out of them, but I really hope they come back and watch and cheer us on in the future because they are a very important part of this team. I went back and sat with them for a bit on the bus ride home after that final loss and those girls just left their hearts out on that court. So, I'm proud of them and what they have overcome, and I can't wait to see what they do in the future. Maybe even come back and help with Pearl City Volleyball," Stephan shared to a special group of seniors.

If those seniors do come back in the future, they should get to see an improved, exciting Wolves squad. This year, the Wolves got plenty of varsity experience for some impressive underclassmen. Pearl City will return a majority of this year's squad for next season.

In conclusion, Stephan also spoke about the future of the team saying, "It is very exciting what is in store for the future of the program. We have a lot of young girls who were able to get the varsity experience this year. The biggest thing is the younger ones want to be pushed, they want to work. This even goes into our junior high program. These girls coming up are fighters and have an extremely competitive side to them. We plan to work hard in the offseason and even harder next season. We were able to establish our foundation and lay out our expectations this year. Some stuff we had to teach this year will not need the time next year because they already know, so we can focus in other areas. As always, we believe in them so much. Now, just to get them to believe in themselves and then we are going to be a contender."

Lady Panthers claim regional title over Orangeville

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The Lena-Winslow Panthers set a new school record when they picked up their thirty-sixth victory of the 2023 volleyball season. The new record came after the Panthers faced off with the Orangeville Broncos in the Regional Championship on Thursday, Oct. 26.

The single season win record and the regional title come as part of a magnificent winning streak that has propelled the Panthers through the early parts of the postseason. Before bringing the regular season to a close, Le-Win took the championship in this year's Stillman Valley Tournament. That improved Le-Win's win streak to 21 games before entering post-season play. The Panthers improved that number to 24 when they beat Warren, Stockton, and Orangeville on their way to their most recent regional title.

The Panthers opened the 2023 postseason by facing off with the Warren Warriors. Both teams found themselves in the River Ridge regional. Le-Win put on a dominant performance as they beat Warren in straight sets with scores of 25-8 and 25-7. That was just the start for the Panthers.

Le-Win kept the train rolling when they faced off with the Stockton Blackhawks just two days later. Somewhat surprisingly, this was the first time the Blackhawks and Panthers faced off in 2023. Stockton came on strong at the end of the regular season and they proved to be a formidable opponent for Le-Win.

The Panthers got off to a hot start, however. Midway through the opening set, Le-Win jumped out to a 13-8 lead. A crafty kill by Molly Amendt helped the Panthers take a six-point advantage. After the Panthers went up 22-15, a late run by the Blackhawks made it a game again. At one point, the Blackhawks cut the Le-Win lead down to just two points. It would have been down to one, but a net violation helped the Panthers take a 23-20 lead. That violation proved fatal for the Blackhawks as the Panthers took set one by a score of 25-21.

The Panthers suffered a pair of injuries on the night, one of which came at the end of the opening set. The loss of Mia Diffenderfer, coupled with the Blackhawks established momentum in the first set, opened the door for a Stockton comeback. In the second set, Stockton proved they belonged as they pulled off a 27-25 victory to even the series at 1-1.

In the end, it all came down to that third and final set. When it's time to lock it in, there are few teams better than the Panthers. In the clutch, Le-Win went on an early run. Grace Groezinger delivered a powerful kill between two Stockton defenders that helped the Panthers go up 8-4. Later in the set, back-to-back aces by Kaidynce Lynch gave the Panthers a massive 15-6 lead. Eventually, Le-Win went up by double digits with a 16-6 lead. It was a deficit the Blackhawks had no answer for as Le-Win eventually clinched the victory with a score of 25-16.

Amendt and Groezinger put on a show in the regional semifinal. They combined for 41 kills as Amendt led the team with 26 and Groezinger added 15. Lynch added another eight kills. Isabelle Paulsen led the team with 20 kills, and Alyssa Daughenbaugh racked up a season high of 50 assists.

The next night, the Panthers were set to face off with the Orangeville Broncos in the regional championship. Orangeville picked up victories over Pearl City and West Carroll on their way to the championship round. Two extremely familiar teams faced off as the Panthers and Broncos met up three times previously. Le-Win came out victorious in each of those matchups as Orangeville won just one set against the Panthers.

The championship round proved those three previous matchups were no fluke as Le-Win quickly ran away with things. After taking the first set by a score of 25-10, the Panthers completed the sweep with a 25-16 victory in set two.

Lynch led the team with 11 kills, while Amendt had eight and Groezinger added six. Groezinger also had two blocks on the day. Rachael Setterstrom tied Lynch for the team lead in digs with nine. Daughenbaugh finished the day with eight digs and 28 assists.

The regional title pushed Le-Win into the Eastland Sectionals where they faced off with Fulton earlier this week.

Smash your pumpkin at the museum

Not sure what to do with that jack-o'-lantern after Halloween? Don't trash it, smash it! Take it to a smashin'session at Discovery Center on Sunday, Nov. 5 and let it fly during the museum's annual Smashing Pumpkins event.

Newton's laws of motion take on new perspective as jack-o'-lanterns turn into exciting science. Send the big orange gourds hurling through the air with a giant trebuchet, a counterweight catapult used in medieval times, or surrender them for target practice. Children can create their own miniature catapult and celebrate with autumn crafts and activities. At the end of the event, pumpkin pieces are collected and fed to local livestock, so everyone wins.

Special activities are outside from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., but the museum is open 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Admission includes all activities and is $10 per person for the general public and free for members and children ages one and younger. Parking is free. The event is sponsored by Sjsotrom & Sons, Illinois Bank & Trust, Rockford FiberCity, LaLoggia Investment Group and the Illinois Arts Council Agency.

Village of Lena happenings

As previously communicated during a townhall meeting held May 17 at the Lena Community Center, our Village has identified the following priorities in need of investment.

Storm Water/Flooding issues

Sewer Pipe Reline – Reline miles of pipe under the Village to prevent storm water infiltration during major rain events that overwhelm the system and cause it to back up in residents' basements.

Townline Road Flooding – The road will be torn up and lowered to allow spillover. The culverts under the road will be resized to handle additional flow. The path of water south of Townline Road will need to be rerouted and expanded to handle additional flow. This will need to be routed under the service entrance to the Waste Treatment Plant and be diverted around the plant to the east.

Sherwood/North Freedom Street (The Lena Drive Inn parking lot) – Replace undersized drainage pipe through the Lena Drive Inn and out to Lake Road.

Waste Treatment Plant Issues

Influent/Screening – The screening, flow metering, pumps, and building structure need to be repaired/replaced.

Clarifier – The clarifiers need new equipment and the actual concrete holding tanks need modification.

This infrastructure investment totals about $7.7 million dollars for the items listed above. This will impact two capital fees on your utility bill. The Storm Drainage Fee labeled (SD) will go up $4 per month and the Sewer Capital Fee labeled (CS) will go up $25 per month for a total increase of $29. This is to pay for the 20-year loan needed to make these improvements. You will see these rate increases on the January utility bill.

We understand that this is a very significant increase, however, our sewer and drainage infrastructure has degraded and has not been adequately invested in over the years. Residents should expect the Village to work on their behalf to mitigate flooding issues and to have a safe sanitary sewer system for our community. This investment puts us on the right path so that Lena continues to be a great place to live.

Slides from the May meeting can be found at www.villageoflena.com under village information.

FROM LENA'S KITCHEN

The not so skinny cook

My front yard is full of leaves, and they are being dragged into my house and blowing into my garage. I am waiting for the leaf rakers to come and rescue me. The trick or treaters will have a field day walking through them! This week we have some more fall recipes. Have a good cooking week.

Spinach Artichoke Mushrooms

These mushrooms are rich and creamy. They are also easy to make. I have made stuffed mushrooms with sausage and cheese, but the artichokes and spinach make for a more elegant appetizer.

3 oz. cream cheese, softened
 1/2 C. mayonnaise
 1/2 C. sour cream
 3/4 t. garlic powder
 1 can (14 oz.) water packed artichoke hearts, rinsed, drained and chopped
 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen, chopped spinach, thawed and squeezed dry
 1/3 C. shredded mozzarella cheese
 3 T. shredded Parmesan cheese
 30 to 35 large fresh mushrooms, stems removed Additional shredded Parmesan
 Preheat oven to 400. Mix the first 4 ingredients. Stir in artichoke hearts, spinach, mozzarella and 3 T. Parmesan cheese. Place mushrooms on foil-lined baking sheets, stem side up. Spoon about 1 T. filling into each. Top with additional Parmesan. If you want a crunchy topping, add melted butter to Panko breadcrumbs and sprinkle on mushrooms. Bake until mushrooms are tender, about 25 to 30 minutes.

Italian Herb Salad

This refreshing green salad is great with any pasta. The dressing is fairly light, and the additions of the onions and tomatoes add just the right amount of veggies. You can use any kind of deli meat; it makes it almost like an Olive Garden Salad! Use any kind of croutons to help dress up the salad.
 1/2 C. extra virgin olive oil
 1/2 t. Italian seasoning
 1/8 t. pepper
 3 T. red wine vinegar
 1/4 t. salt
 1/2 small red onion, thinly sliced

 1 pint cherry or grape tomatoes, halved
 3 Romaine hearts, chopped
 4 oz. provolone cheese, sliced
 1/4 lb. sliced salami
 Giardiniera roasted red peppers, marinated mushrooms, marinated artichokes and pickled pepperoncino
 Grated parmesan cheese for topping
 Croutons of your choice
 Whisk together the olive oil and Italian seasoning, the vinegar, and salt and pepper in a medium bowl. Toss the red onion and tomatoes in two separate bowls with 1 T. of the dressing in each. Place romaine in a serving bowl and toss with remaining dressing. Add the red onions and tomatoes, croutons, and Giardiniera to taste. Top with grated parmesan

Crescent Roll Taco Bake

I have been blessed with a lot of Pillsbury rolls and biscuit recipes, so you get the benefit of them too. They are easy to make, and the Pillsbury breads in the can are often on sale. You can substitute the store brand canned breads too. Enjoy this easy supper meal.
 1 tube refrigerated crescent rolls
 2 C. crushed corn chips, divided
 1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
 1 can (15 oz.) tomato sauce
 1 envelope taco seasoning
 1 C. sour cream
 1 C. shredded cheddar cheese
 Chopped tomatoes, shredded lettuce, chopped cilantro, cubed avocado for topping.

Preheat the oven to 350. Unroll crescent dough into a rectangle; press onto the bottom and 1 inch up the sides of a greased 9 x 13 baking dish. Seal seams and perforations. Sprinkle 1 C. corn chips; set aside.

In a large skillet, cook beef over medium heat until no longer pink. Stir in tomato sauce and taco seasoning; bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer, uncovered, for five minutes. Spoon over chips. Top with sour cream, cheese, and remaining chips. Bake, uncovered, until crust is lightly browned, 25 to 30 minutes. Garnish with toppings.

Broccoli Chicken Casserole

There are many chicken and broccoli casseroles out there. I like this one because it only has a few ingredients. Look for the chicken stuffing mix. I believe Pepperidge Farm has a good one. Use rotisserie chicken and a can of broccoli creamed soup by Campbell's, and in no time, you have supper ready for the oven.

1 pkg. (6 oz.) chicken stuffing mix
 2 C. cubed cooked chicken
 1 C. frozen broccoli florets, thawed
 1 can (10 3/4 oz.) broccoli cheese soup
 1 C. shredded cheddar cheese

Preheat the oven to 350. Prepare stuffing mix according to package directions, using only 1 1/2 C. water. In a large bowl, combine chicken, broccoli and soup; transfer to a greased 11 x 7 inch baking dish. Top with stuffing; sprinkle with cheese. Bake, covered, for 20 minutes. Uncover; bake until heated through, 10 to 15 minutes longer.

Slow Cooker Praline Apple Crisp

There are still a lot of apples around; this recipe makes for a great dessert that you assemble, turn on the slow cooker, and walk away. Serve it warm with ice cream, and this apple crisp is my kind of easy dessert.

6 medium size crisp tart apples, peeled and cut into 1/2 inch thick slices (6 C.)
 1 t. cinnamon
 1/2 C. quick cooking oats
 1/3 C. packed brown sugar
 1/4 C. flour
 1/2 C. cold butter, cut into small pieces
 1/2 C. chopped pecans
 1/2 C. toffee bits
 Vanilla ice cream

Spray a 4-quart slow cooker with cooking spray. In a large bowl, mix apples and cinnamon to coat. Place in slow cooker. In a medium bowl, mix oats, brown sugar, flour and butter with a pastry blender until crumbly. Stir in pecans and toffee bits. Sprinkle crumb mixture evenly over apples. Cover and cook on low setting 4 to 6 hours. Serve apple crisp warm topped with ice cream.

Pumpkin Sugar Cookies

One of my friends said enough apples, she needs pumpkin recipes. The next two recipes use canned pumpkin. The first one is easy, and the second one is more complicated. Pumpkin recipes will continue to make their way into the column!

1 roll (16.5 oz.) refrigerated Sugar Cookie dough
 2 T. pumpkin pie spice
 1/2 C. canned pumpkin
 1 pkg. cream cheese
 3 C. powdered sugar
 Preheat oven to 350. In a large bowl, break up cookie dough. Add pumpkin pie spice and pumpkin. Beat with a mixer on medium speed until well blended. Drop dough by rounded tablespoonfuls 2 inches apart on an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 14 to 16 minutes. Cool on pan for 5 minutes; remove to cooling rack. Cool completely, about 30 minutes.

In a medium microwaveable bowl, microwave cream cheese, uncovered on high for 40 to 60 seconds, stirring every 30 seconds, until softened. Stir in powdered sugar until smooth. Spread on cookies. Sprinkle with cinnamon.

Pumpkin Cheesecake Bars

27 graham cracker boards
 1/4 C. pecan pieces, chopped
 10 T. unsalted butter, melted
 3 T. plus 1/2 C. packed brown sugar
 2 t. pumpkin pie spice
 1/4 t. cinnamon
 1/4 t. salt
 3 (8 oz. each) pkg. cream cheese at room temp.
 3/4 C. sugar
 3 T. cornstarch
 4 eggs, room temp.
 1 C. plain Greek yogurt
 1 C. pumpkin
 1 t. vanilla
 1/2 t. lemon extract
 1/4 t. nutmeg

Preheat the oven to 350. Grease a 9 x 13 baking pan with parchment, securing with metal paper clips. Reserve. Place pan with hot water on lower oven rack. Crush grahams in a food processor. Mix in nuts, butter, 3 T. brown sugar, 1 t. pumpkin pie spice, 1/2 t. cinnamon and 1/8 t. salt; process until blended. Reserve.

Place cream cheese, sugar, remaining brown sugar and cornstarch in a mixing bowl and mix on medium speed until blended. Press crust in pan. Bake 15 minutes. Set aside. Reduce oven temperature to 325. Pour filling into crust. Bake on middle rack until center jiggles slightly, 45 minutes. Turn off oven; crack door and let stand 1 hour. Cool to room temperature. Chill 6 to 8 hours. Cut into squares.

Final Thoughts

Halloween is over. The residents of Mason and Oak Streets are grateful to the Village of Lena for closing our streets. We have a lot of little tricksters, parents, and pets who dress up and roam our streets. It is so much safer now that the streets have been closed. I know it is extra work, however, it keeps our streets safe.

Leaf pick up began around the village; some people want us to leave the leaves for the winter and do it in the spring. If you have knee deep leaves and sidewalks covered, it is easier to rake and have them be picked up. I am grateful for this service.

I heard a rumor that our new fence is going up at the parking lot by the railroad tracks. It is going to finish off the downtown. Our gazebo is great looking. I know they are making plans for the manger scene being somewhere very visible. Hats off to the village and beautification committee for making our town look really nice. The Lions Club members will soon be putting up decorations for Christmas.

One of my friends tried the Harvest Casserole. She said the next time she made it she would cut down the potatoes and add more sauerkraut. She also added additional brats. Her family liked it, but they are lovers of sauerkraut, so they wanted more. Another friend tried the apple cookies, and everybody loved them. Thanks for the feedback.

I mentioned last week that it is time for Veteran's Day celebrations and Thanksgiving. I know the school and the local Legion and Auxiliary are planning some activities. It is a good time to remember those people who made sacrifices for all of us. We are looking for some Thanksgiving favorites. I have started to feature a lot of pumpkin recipes. If you have some fall recipes you would like to share, you can contact us in person, by mail at From Lena's Kitchens, The Shopper's Guide at 240 W. Main St. or email us at scoopshopper@rvpublishing.com.

The MADDMEN, a rock group, will be playing a concert at the Masonic Event Center in Freeport on Saturday, Nov. 11. The event is a fundraiser hosted by the Greater Freeport Partnership, along with generous support from local sponsors, to raise funds for the beautification efforts in downtown Freeport.

The MADDMEN perform Nov. 11 at Masonic Event Center

The MADDMEN, a northern Illinois rock and roll band, is performing a stage show in the ballroom of the Masonic Event Center, located at 305 W. Stephenson St. in Freeport, on Saturday, Nov. 11. In addition to being a fun-filled night of great music and entertainment, the event also serves as a fundraiser for downtown Freeport beautification efforts for the season. The event is hosted by the Greater Freeport Partnership, along with generous support from local sponsors.

The MADDMEN are following in the footsteps of the NOMADDS, a popular Freeport-based rock and roll band who played in northwest Illinois in the 1960s. Since their inception, every one of the NOMADDS have played in the MADDMEN at different times.

"So many of our great music events happen outside, but we want to keep that great energy going! We invite everyone to the Masonic Event Center for a fabulous local band on Nov. 11 and hope to have the same positive response," said Katie Gentz, events and engagement manager for the Partnership. Tickets can be purchased for $20 on the Greater Freeport Partnership Facebook event page or search on Eventbrite.com. They can also purchase in-person at Riteway Furniture and Appliance, 20 E. Stephenson St., Freeport; the Greater Freeport Partnership office, 110 W. Main St., Freeport; or Stockton Ace Hardware, 116 N. Main St., Stockton. For larger groups that want to make sure they can sit together, consider purchasing a VIP table of eight for $200.

Doors will open at 6 p.m., with the show starting at 7 p.m. Food will be provided by Benchwarmers and drinks will also be available for purchase.

Proceeds from the event will benefit beautification efforts in downtown Freeport including seasonal plantings, mulch, planters, pedestrian furniture, and more.

The Greater Freeport Partnership is a collaboration of business, community, visitor and economic development services with the mission to drive economic growth for Freeport and Stephenson County.

Illinois State Police releases 'Response to Homelessness Guidebook'

The Illinois State Police (ISP) is releasing the first Illinois Law Enforcement Response to Homelessness Guidebook – “The Guidebook.” The Guidebook is designed to provide law enforcement agencies and officers across Illinois with practical community resources, planning tools, training resources, and policy examples to help create a safer and more inclusive environment for all residents, including people experiencing homelessness (PEH).

“Law enforcement officers respond to all types of emergencies and social-service related calls among all populations, including people experiencing homelessness,” said ISP Director Brendan F. Kelly. “Because of these interactions, officers are in a position to provide information about resources and programs available in communities, and help connect individuals to longer-term solutions to prevent and end homelessness.”

When responding to calls, police officers face contributing factors to homelessness such as mental illness, substance use, and criminal activity, and must develop skills in de-stigmatization and crisis intervention. Officers and departments can use their personnel and other resources more strategically but investing in developing community collaborations and having the most up-to-date information about referrals and other assistance.

“Project NOW is proud to partner with our state partners in government, law enforcement, and human services to produce the comprehensive Illinois Law Enforcement Response to Homelessness Guidebook. It is comprehensive in nature, contextual to the lived experience and expertise of those experiencing homelessness and a call to collective action for all of us,” said Project NOW Community Action Agency Executive Director Dwight L. Ford. “We recognize the value of our law enforcement community as a vital part of our society. The guidebook is a living testament of our collective will and a declarative departure from old ways of thinking which diminish relationships and degrades human life. Our sincere hope the guidebook becomes our North Star, giving us direction in our service to people experiencing homelessness.”

The Guidebook provides an in-depth analysis of various strategies and programs that have been successful in addressing homelessness in other jurisdictions. It examines the role of specialized units, such as Homeless Outreach Teams (HOTs) that reach mental health, in effectively managing homeless encampments, property seizures, and homeless court systems. Furthermore, it explores the importance of police training on homelessness, innovative uses of technology and data-sharing, funding mechanisms for homeless assistance programs, and regional partnerships to share resources.

“Bolstering the crisis safety net is a pillar of our state plan to prevent and end homelessness,” said State Homelessness Chief Christine Haley. “Through this guidebook, the Illinois State Police provide concrete examples of compassionate and effective strategies on how police officers can serve residents living outside, strengthening the safety net for all.”

“Homelessness equates to humanity. For a community to say they care about their citizens, they must include all citizens,” said Fairview Heights Police Department

Chief Steve Johnson. “The problem is what do we do with people who have mental health needs, drug behaviors and simply don’t want to change or get help? This guide will not solve all problems, but is a best practice stepping stone guide for local governments to start the process of helping all of their citizens.”

A promising approach adopted by numerous police departments across the country, and highlighted by the Police Executive Research Forum, is the establishment of HOTs. These specialized units often work in collaboration with mental health service providers to connect homeless individuals with necessary services and resources. The co-responder model, wherein patrol officers are paired with or co-located with mental health service providers, has proven to be effective in facilitating access to services for homeless individuals. Implementing similar practices in Illinois could significantly improve interaction and communication with the homeless. By adopting best practices and fostering collaboration with other stakeholders, the Illinois law enforcement community can make a significant impact on addressing homelessness in the state.

The Guidebook was made possible by the Illinois Department of Human Services, Office to Prevent and End Homelessness, the Illinois State Police, DeKalb Police Department, Springfield Police Department, Fairview Heights Police Department, Madison County Sheriff’s Office, Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police, and Project NOW Community Action Agency.

It can be found on the ISP website by visiting isp.illinois.gov/Director/Response-ToHomelessnessGuidebook.
