Whispering Pines Reindeer Ranch & Tree Farm delivers holiday glee

By Celeste Huttes
ILLINOIS FARM BUREAU
PARTNERS

Every morning, Randy and Beth Espe watch reindeer frolic outside their kitchen window as they sip their morning coffee—a delightful daily ritual they have fondly dubbed the “rodeo.”

Santa himself would envy their view.

“When they go out into the pasture, they get giddy because it’s cool, and that’s their playtime,” Randy says of the reindeer. “They run, they jump, they kick, they spin. It’s pretty amazing to see.”

And so, the day begins at Whispering Pines Reindeer Ranch & Tree Farm in Shabbona, where the Espe family’s labor of love grew into a beloved holiday tradition for countless families.

Reining in holiday cheer

What might seem an unlikely retirement gig comes as a slight surprise to those who know Randy well.

“People would bring me abandoned and orphaned animals when I was young,” Randy says. “We raised a lot of raccoons, a pet fox, a little bit of everything. I always dreamed about raising white-tailed deer at some point. But reindeer turned out to be a better choice because they are domesticated. You can snap a halter on them and walk them around on a lead rope—and you can just sit and love on them.”

His dream of deer became a reality after Beth retired from Northern Illinois University and Randy wrapped up a 40-year career in the seed business. As they started a second act in life, the couple set aside 18 acres to grow the small Christmas tree operation they began years earlier on the family farm.

As Randy researched ways to promote Christmas trees, he discovered Hardy’s Reindeer Ranch in Rantoul. He visited owner Mark Hardy for some tips and promptly fell in love with reindeer.

“In hindsight, I wish I had listened better to Mark,” Randy says. “He told me to take all the money I was going to spend on Christmas trees and buy another reindeer or two. Reindeer have turned into our major focus, and they are actually less work than the Christmas trees.”

Before buying any reindeer of their own, the Espes joined the Reindeer Owners and Breeders Association (ROBA) and the Reindeer Farmers Association (RFA) to learn how to responsibly breed and care for reindeer. By 2018, they felt ready to welcome their first four reindeer from Alaska. Today, their herd numbers more than a dozen.

Arctic adaptability

A close but more laid-back cousin to the caribou, reindeer represent a distinct subspecies and longtime friends to humans.

“The Laplanders domesticated reindeer thousands of years ago,” says Randy, referring to the Sami people of the northern regions of Scandinavia. “Reindeer are to the Laplanders what the buffalo was to the American Indian.”

Far from their native lands in the Arctic and mountainous regions of eastern Europe, Siberia and Scandinavia, reindeer living in Illinois require special care. According to Randy, ticks and heat present the biggest challenges.

warmer months, the reindeer typically stay in the barn throughout the day, emerging at dawn and dusk to graze in cooler temperatures.

Those amazing antlers—grown by both males and females—also present a serious safety hazard for reindeer. Sprawling like a tree canopy, the antlers can easily become wedged in a fence or gate.

“Reindeer antlers go in all different directions,” Randy says. “It’s one of the bigger challenges of working with them. We’ve done everything we can to make our fencing safer and try to eliminate places they can get caught.”

Randy notes the steep learning curve involved with raising a nonnative animal and the importance of joining organizations like RFA and ROBA to learn from others’ experiences.

“A lot of products you might typically use for farm animals are not labeled for reindeer,” Randy says. “We medicate them like sheep, feed them like a cow because they’re ruminant, and treat their hair and skin like a horse because they’re sensitive.”

Magical moments

The Espes have also learned reindeer have a magic all their own. With their friendly natures and impressive appearance, the Espes’ reindeer often outshine Santa at the many holiday events they attend.

“The reindeer always create a lot of excitement,” Randy says. “Kids just get giddy, and their eyes light up. It’s heartwarming to see how much happiness they bring.”

Every Thanksgiving weekend, the Espes open their ranch to the public for a holiday experience, complete with Santa, reindeer and countless Christmas trees. Eight varieties of evergreen trees grow at Whispering Pines Reindeer Ranch &

Tree Farm, and 2024 marks the first year you can cut your own.

You will also find the Espe family and their reindeer at holiday festivals, Christmas parades and tree-lighting ceremonies across northern and central Illinois throughout the holiday season. To further delight young visitors, Randy and Beth’s three daughters dress up as elves.

Beth recalls a young boy named Fritz who was only mildly excited to see Santa and his reindeer. He told Beth he was really there to see the elf, Ginger Bells, because he follows her on TikTok and thought she was “awesome.”

“Ginger Bells is my daughter, Allie, and she’s very into her role,” Beth says. “Seeing those smiles and hearing those laughs and giggles—it’s the best thing ever.”

From watching their reindeer prance in the pasture to seeing faces light up at the sight of them, the Espes are living their dream.

“Reindeer are such playful and magnificent animals. When they run and jump in the pasture, it looks like they’re learning to fly,” Randy says. “We are blessed to get to see that every day. Reindeer have become part of who we are. And the way they make people feel is magical.”

Fram Bureau makes a visit to Little Learners Academy

The Farm Bureau staff visited Little Learners Academy preschool in Elizabeth to talk about tree farms. The lesson included reading the book, "Christmas Tree Farm" by Ann Purnell. The story includes how trees need to be tended to all year long and preparing them for sale. The Grandpa in the story opens a Christmas Tree store the day after Thanksgiving and awaits customers to pick out just the perfect Christmas tree.

After the story, students made DIY birdfeeders. Supplies needed to make the bird feeders include pinecones, peanut butter, bird seed, and string. Spread peanut butter on the pinecone then sprinkle the seeds on the sticky peanut butter. Tie a string on the pinecone and pick a place outdoors to hang it and let the birds enjoy.

OPINION

Slices of life

Contemplating the topic of hate

By JILL PERTLER
Columnist

“When hate feels easy, be very wary, lest your hate becomes greater than the one who is hated. Because it is at that point you turn the corner toward evil.”

Today, I've been contemplating hate.

It's a definite switch for me. I prefer to focus on love, because love is so much more important and impactful and life-changing. When you truly embrace love, there is no room for hate.

But the recent political activities have brought up strong feelings in many people and some of those involve hate. I've listened to the news. I've heard people vent in real time. I've read posts on social media. And, sadly, there is much hate circulating the airwaves.

It's made me wonder and ponder the topic.

I don't purport to have all the answers. In this column, as in many others, I'm only answering for myself and from my perspective. I hope to encourage thought, discussion and awareness, but I certainly don't have any of the answers, much less all of them. What I do have are questions.

My first: Is hate ever justified?

I think not. Stay with me here.

But what about serial killers? What about parents who horribly abuse their children? What about sadists and sociopaths? What about elder abuse? What about schoolyard bullies? What about leaders who use their power in inhumane ways? Isn't that worth our hate?

I think not.

We can have many negative emotions about the actions taken by very bad people, but those emotions do not need to lead to hate.

Hate is a very strong word when it comes to describe feelings toward other people.

We can hate Brussels sprouts. We can hate a rainy Saturday when we had plans to go to the beach. We can hate cancer. We can hate the death of a loved one.

But hating another person—even if they do unquestionably bad things? I think not.

Here's the thing: we can hate the actions—the bad things—without hating the person. I know I may be splitting hairs, but I don't think it's in our capacity to hate others. It goes against our DNA. Hate is counterintuitive to what we are meant to be. We are meant to be inclusive. To be brothers and sisters. To be family. To love.

Hate is contrary to love. The two cannot co-exist. And we simply cannot live without love.

I remember the Broadway musical, “Wicked.” It is the backstory to “The Wizard of Oz” and tells of the origins of the Wicked Witch of the West. As a child I feared her. She was mean and vengeful. She was threatening and combative. She was scary.

She demonstrated no meaningful attributes, because that is what the 1939 movie showed us. But upon seeing the history in “Wicked,” the viewer came to understand the witch who was labeled wicked. Her story illustrated why she became who she was and in knowing that it was much more difficult to see her in the light of all the negative adjectives listed above.

It became more difficult to hate her.

I think that might be the case with most people we deem hate-worthy. We don't know them or their history.

I'm not making excuses for inexcusable behavior, but I am saying that people—each of us—live out our own history, and while behaviors might be inexcusable and hateful, people themselves are not.

We may have to put them in prison for the rest of their life. We may have to relegate them to whatever justice suits their actions. We may renounce their actions and mourn with the people they hurt. We may never get over the impact they made on our lives.

But we need not hate.

Hate brings about such negativity to the person experiencing it. Hate hurts the person doing the hating, much more than it hurts the hated.

A Christmas surprise

I got a wonderful early Christmas present the other day and it wasn't a new tool or flannel shirt. It wasn't a new pair of sweatpants or a box of mixed nuts. No, it was a different sort of gift that gave my heart a huge blessing. Allow me to explain. Since my newspaper article runs in both my present and past communities, I thought it would be fun to write about what happened last week. It was almost thirty-five years ago that my wife and I packed up and left the South Wayne, Wisconsin community for a career over in the Clinton, Wisconsin community. We both had become teachers, and Clinton was the place where we landed when I got my first full-time teaching job. We taught, coached, and raised our family in Clinton, pouring ourselves into that wonderful community for twenty-seven years. We even helped start a church and then I was the pastor for twenty of those years. We both taught and coached so many kids that it became hard to keep all the names and years straight. They say you remember your early years and your most recent years as a teacher, but you tend to get the middle years a little scrambled. Anyway, after we left Clinton and returned to our home area about seven years ago, we both got involved in teaching and coaching again at our alma mater Black Hawk School in South Wayne. Here's where the cool part begins. About a week ago we noticed that the girls' basketball teams of Black Hawk and Clinton were going to be playing a non-conference game in South Wayne. We knew we had to go to watch the game and to see if anyone we knew would be there.

It couldn't have been a more enjoyable night. Right away when we got there and looked over the rosters, I recognized all the girls from Clinton because they were all my elementary PE students that I had taught just a few years prior. The big difference was they had all grown up a couple feet or more since then. The game was a hard-fought battle between the two teams with Black Hawk winning. After the game we had some great conversations with the parents of the players who were mostly all my students from my earliest years teaching in Clinton. It was like a big family reunion with lots of laughs and a few hugs to boot. The biggest blessing of all was when all the Clinton girls came out of the locker room after the game and gathered around. We were laughing and talking and they all had fond memories of me as their elementary PE teacher. I've always said there isn't a better job than being an elementary PE teacher. Everyday feels like Christmas because being an elementary PE teacher is like being Santa Claus. You're everybody's hero. I've only known a couple kids in over thirty years of teaching who didn't like elementary PE.

The other day one of my students here at Black Hawk asked me why I still wanted to be a teacher when I was already a grandpa. I told her that it's because I just love kids even if they're not my own. I love teasing them, giving them fist bumps, but mostly watching them grow and change and learn the art of respecting others

Warriors win sixth consecutive matchup

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The Warren Warriors opened the 2024-2025 Illinois High School boys basketball season with a disappointing 78-41 loss against a good Dakota squad. That wasn't a sign of things to come for the Warriors, however. After picking up a big victory over the Durand Bulldogs last week, the Warriors improved their record to 6-1 on the year.

Durand came into the matchup amid some offensive struggles. They held an overall record of just 2-4 and they were riding a two-game losing streak. They scored just a combined 73 points in those two losses.

Those struggles continued to show when the Bulldogs made the trip to face off with the Warriors on Warren's home court. Offensively, Durand put up just five points in the first quarter. All five of which came from just one player, Ethan Rager.

Warren had three separate players who individually outscore the Bulldogs in the opening quarter. Beau Podnar had a trio of early baskets giving him six points in the quarter. Treyton Pafford quickly exploded for 13 points, including a pair of first quarter three-pointers. Jordan Kohl hit a pair of threes of his own, giving him six points in the quarter.

Just eight minutes into play, the Warriors were in strong command of this NUIC matchup. Five different Warriors scored in a first quarter that saw Warren jump out to a 30-5 advantage. With the big lead, Warren's offense let up just a little bit in the second. They still combined for 14 points, 13 of which came from the duo of Podnar and Pafford.

Defensively the Warriors continued to hound the Bulldogs. Durand's only success came from Rager, who managed to score a trio of baskets inside. By the halftime break, Warren had already jumped out to a 44-15 lead.

Durand's opening quarter was disappointing, but the third quarter may have been worse. Although Warren would open the second half with just 16 points, Durand put up just four points themselves. They didn't come from the leading scorer, Rager, who was held scoreless in the third. Meanwhile, Pafford put up another seven points as Warren expanded their lead to 60-19.

With Warren well in control, the Warriors watched the clock tick out on their sixth victory of the young season. Pafford had a dominant night, putting up 28 points, 26 of which came in the first three quarters. Podnar was next up with 14, and Kohl was the third Warrior in double figures with 10. Bryce VanRaalte added eight as Warren picked up a 70-30 victory.

VanRaalte made his presence felt in this matchup in many other ways. The junior led the Warriors with four steals and four blocks. He also had seven rebounds, which tied Kohl for second on the team. Pafford also led the team in assists with six, and rebounds with eight. Podnar and Alex Niemann both had three steals as the Warren defense gave Durand fits all night.

After the Holiday break, Warren returns with a road game on Jan. 4, as they travel to take on the Amboy Clippers at 1 p.m. They return home on Jan. 7 to play host to the Stockton Blackhawks at 7 p.m. Two days later, the Warriors travel to take on the Scales Mound Hornets on Jan. 9 at 7:15 p.m.

Around the Northern Hills

This past weekend I traveled into Chicago with our Jo Daviess County delegates to the Illinois Farm Bureau annual meeting. The delegates from across the state worked hard to determine the changes and additions to Illinois Farm Bureau's policy. This is what is so great about farm bureau, it is truly a grassroots effort.

Family Farm signs

It's that time of year that we are all thinking of what to get that hard-to-buy-for person for Christmas. Why not get them a "This is a Family Farm" sign? The signs are 17.5" X 23" and cost $30 and are available at the farm bureau office in Elizabeth.

Farm Fun Fact

The value of all Christmas trees harvested was $399 million. Illinois' crop was worth 7.6 million.

IAA Foundation scholarships

The IAA Foundation just announced the lineup for the 2025 IAA Foundation Scholarships. This includes 120 scholarships totaling $210,251. We have had several winners from Jo Daviess County in the past, so I encourage anyone interested to apply. The link will be live for the IAA Foundation website until Jan. 1.

Stephenson County Farm Bureau news

By Victoria Hansen

"Planting a Vision" was the theme of this year's Illinois Farm Bureau Annual Meeting that took place Dec. 7 through Dec. 9. As I began to reflect on this past annual meeting, I started to think of the local visions we have planted in each county.

Since 2005 Farmers in Carroll County have donated corn to the Young Leader Harvest for All Program. Since the first year the committee has donated over $780,000 to local pantries. The first group planted a crop that continues to be harvested 20 years later. The Young Leader Committee was recognized for these efforts in Chicago.

Over eight years ago, Stephenson County Farm Bureau's Young Leaders and past Manager, Bruce Johnson, had an idea to host a Farm-to-Farm Run in rural Winslow. Thus, the Farm-to-Farm 5K/10K Run was born, raising money for Agriculture in the Classroom in Stephenson County. This event has changed over the years but continues to follow the original vision of supporting agriculture education in our county.

I'm not sure either of these groups had imagined that their visions would turn into two incredibly successful events that support those programs in their respective county, but I am beyond grateful they did.

To see photos and learn more about our time at Annual meeting visit the Carroll County Farm Bureau Facebook page, Stephenson County Farm Bureau Facebook page, and the Illinois Farm Bureau Facebook page.

Operation Christmas Child volunteers send Christmas joy to children overseas

Area volunteers are celebrating the collection of gift-filled shoeboxes that will send a message of joy to children around the world. Thousands of volunteers contributed to Operation Christmas Child, a project of Samaritan's Purse, by packing shoeboxes filled with fun toys, school supplies, and personal care items.

The global Christmas project will deliver these gift-filled shoeboxes to children in more than 100 countries, including many who are suffering from war, poverty, disease and disaster. Each shoebox is an opportunity to share the message of the Gospel and bring hope to children in need around the world.

Although drop-off locations have closed for the season, there is still time to share hope and love with children overseas by packing a gift-filled shoebox online. Shoeboxes built online go to some of the hardest-to-reach areas in the world. Those who prefer the convenience of online shopping can browse samaritanspurse.org/buildonline to select gifts matched to a child's specific age and gender, then finish packing the virtual shoebox by adding a photo and personal note of encouragement. For more information on how to participate in Operation Christmas Child visit samaritanspurse.org/occ.

Highland celebrates first semester in new, donor-funded CNC/CAD lab

Years of work on manufacturing facilities at Highland Community College culminated with a Greater Freeport Partnership ribbon-cutting for the institution's new CNC lab on Dec. 12, 2024.

SUBMITTED PHOTO Rock Valley Publishing

Highland has kicked off the last two semesters by more than doubling spaces for manufacturing programs. The refurbished CNC (computer numeric control) and CAD (computer-assisted design) learning lab was unveiled this fall, and the spring term began with a similar welding lab expansion.

Highland Community College celebrates the opening of the institution's new CNC lab on Dec. 12, 2024. The redesigned lab incorporates a new CNC mill, two additional simulators, expanded inspection and tooling options, and advanced measurement with a donated coordinate measuring machine (CMM).

"As part of our Strategic Plan, Highland has been focusing our creative energy and resources on a key concept we call 'Reimagine.' This CNC lab expansion encapsulates these efforts," said HCC President Chris Kuberski. "Our manufacturing programs were experiencing space limitations, and seat capacity was hindering our potential. This remodel project enabled us to reimagine vacant adjoining spaces."

"We have given our faculty the tools they need to continue serving students and preparing them to make a difference in the workforce — whether as an entry level operator or an apprentice. Thank you to our partners like Honeywell, Danfoss, Carroll Industrial Molds and Anchor Harvey who have worked with us hand-in-hand for over three decades to meet the needs of the manufacturing community."

The redesigned lab incorporates a new CNC mill, two additional simulators, expanded inspection and tooling options, and advanced measurement with a donated coordinate measuring machine (CMM). "Once the vision was cast and the funds were secured, many had their hands in the success of this project," said Scott Anderson, vice president of Business, Technology and Com-

Generous donors helped fund the recent growth in both CNC and welding — with the Highland Foundation rallying support through their recent Legacy Campaign. Thanks to these efforts, more than $4.6 million in donations has cleared the way for multiple renovation projects across campus.

To capitalize on these investments in manufacturing, Highland joined with Rock Valley and McHenry colleges in securing a $5.5 million federal grant through the Department of Labor this April. HCC's portion of this Strengthening Community Colleges Training Grant will infuse more than $1 million over four years into serving more students entering the skilled trades through CNC and welding.

First-year student Emilee Seebeck, who is taking welding and CNC classes, hopes to make her family and future generations proud by graduating from Highland next year with new career options and higher earning potential. Her stepfather, a CNC machinist, taught her how to weld in their garage.

"To everyone who contributed to this project — whether through a gift, your time, or your advocacy — you have made a transformational difference in our

"I honestly thought I was going to come to college and not like it ... But when I got here, everybody was just so welcoming, and they made me feel welcome. If I had questions, they answered," said Seebeck. "I actually really am going to miss it next year when I graduate. It's going to be hard to say goodbye to all these amazing people. It's kind of like my second family."

Diane Reinhold recognized with State and National Awards for Excellence in Nutrition and Wellness Education

Diane Reinhold, Nutrition and Wellness Educator with the University of Illinois Extension, has recently been honored with multiple awards, both at the state and national levels, recognizing her contributions to nutrition and wellness education. With 11 years of service to Extension serving Jo Daviess, Stephenson and Winnebago Counties, Reinhold has proven herself as a respected leader in nutrition education.

At the 2024 Illinois Extension Association for Family and Consumer Sciences (IEAFCS) State Awards, Reinhold's efforts were celebrated with two first-place awards and a second-place award for three different programs. These selected programs were then recognized once again at the 2024 National Extension Association for Family and Consumer Sciences (NEAFCS) National Awards, where she placed first in the central region with her I MADE That! publication series; second in the central region for her Food Allergies in Schools program; and third-place nationally, for the Florence Hall Award for the Community Seminar Series.

Reinhold's I MADE that! program consisted of educational information geared towards youth in the kitchen. The publications included fun activities, cooking tips, healthy lifestyles, and encouraged participation in the Illinois 4-H program.

The Food Allergies in Schools program provides relevant, up-to-date information about food allergies and guidelines for implementing school nutrition policies as well as increasing the knowledge of nutrition staff who provide healthy school meals.

The Community Seminar Series provides education to University of Illinois graduate students by mentorship from Extension Educators. The goal of this series is to improve graduate students' science communication skills.

"I am incredibly proud of Diane Reinhold for receiving state and national recognition of her work. Her dedication and commitment to excellence has been a testament to the positive impact Extension has had in our local communities," remarks University of Illinois Extension County Director Margaret Larson.

Through her work with the University of Illinois Extension,

Reinhold offers a variety of educational programs focused on nutrition, wellness, food preservation and food safety. For more information about Diane Reinhold's programs or to inquire about upcoming events, visit go.illinois.edu/jsw.

Panthers split games with Durand, Dakota

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The Lena-Winslow Panthers got off to a 3-0 start to the 2024-2025 boys basketball season. They didn't suffer their first loss until meeting up with a 7-1 Dakota Indians squad on Dec. 13. That wasn't before the Panthers picked up a big win over a fellow NUIC opponent in the Durand Bulldogs. Durand has gotten off to a bit of a slow start to the season, and the Panthers quickly exposed some of their weaknesses. Turnovers allowed the Panthers to establish a lead in the first half. Durand's offense managed to hang around with a few first quarter three-pointers, but Le-Win maintained their advantage.

Cobryn Lynch had the hot hand as a couple of three-pointers gave him eight points in the opening quarter. Miles Mahon added six points with a trio of baskets. Altogether, the Panthers outscored Durand 24-17 in the first.

Mahon continued to attack the interior of Durand's defense in the second quarter. Mahon exploded for 10 points in the quarter, many of which came off fastbreak opportunities. Late in the half, Mahon hit Jaylen Rakowska for a deep three, which put the Panthers up big heading into the break. It was Rakowska's third three-pointer of the quarter. Mahon and Rakowska combined for 19 points in the quarter. The Panthers put up 27 as a team as they took a commanding 51-30 lead into halftime.

Le-Win was in a comfortable position to pick up their third win of the season at that point. Mahon continued to attack when he came out the break. Another eight points in the third quarter helped Mahon get over the 20-point mark.

Durand made the score look closer than it was by outscoring Le-Win 17-7 in the fourth. Still, the Panthers picked up a convincing win with a final score of 74-57. Mahon led the way in scoring with 24 points. Rakowska was next up with fifteen, and Lynch had eight in the victory.

First year head coach, Mark Blakely, couldn't have asked for a much better start to his new gig. The team had three games and three victories, all by double-digit deficits. Blakely and the Panthers found themselves on the other end of the stick when they traveled to take on Dakota, however.

Coming into the matchup, Dakota already held an overall record of 6-1. They were fresh off a blowout 51-18 victory over the Orangeville Broncos. Even after hosting the 3-0 Panthers, Dakota's only loss was to an undefeated Eastland Cougars squad.

Dakota started both halves with convincing opening quarters. In the first, they outscored Le-Win 17-12. Then again to start the second half, the Indians outscored the Panthers 22-17. The Panthers were able to keep pace in the closing quarters, but the deficit built in the first and third quarters proved to be the difference.

Le-Win had a strong duo performance from Rakowska and Aiden Wild. Rakowska led the team with 18 points off four three-pointers. Wild added 14 of his own. Koby Kearns finished with nine, all of which came from beyond the arc in the fourth quarter. Mahon also finished with nine as the Panthers fell by a final score of 66-55.

There was no need to panic, and really no time to, for the Panthers. The following afternoon, Le-Win began play in this year's Forreton Holiday Tournament by facing off with the River Ridge Wildcats.

Le-Win Stadium Committee reveals stainless-steel placard details for donor recognition

Just in time for the holidays, the Lena-Winslow Stadium Committee has released placard recognition plans for Stadium Project gifts. Stainless-steel placards, displayed at the facility, will represent a lasting tribute to proud Panther supporters in recognition of gifts of $500 or more.

"We want to celebrate the folks who are helping us build the new stadium in a meaningful way," said Dr. Thomas Chiles, Superintendent. "Whether donating personally, on behalf of your organization or as a gift to your family, the stainless-steel placards will be a lasting symbol of your contribution to Le-Win Athletics. It would be a great way to honor the ultimate Panther fan in your life."

Donations can be dropped off at Community Bank in Lena or mailed to Community Bank PO Box 189 Lena, IL 61048 (checks payable to Le-Win Stadium Fund).

Hate does not heal. It does not inspire. It does not illicit compassion. It does not foster kindness. It does no good.

Instead it eats one from the inside out. Hate is black and bleak where there could be light and love.

So, go ahead, hate broccoli or the smell of mothballs, but reject hate against other humans. It does them no good. But more importantly, it does you no good. Compassion, on the other hand goes a long way to accomplishing something.

Something beautiful. And loving and lovely.

And that, my friends, is my wish for you. Today and every day.

and themselves. It's just a blessing to be a part of so many lives over the years in two different but similar communities. I remember as plain as day when I got the call to go to Clinton to teach back in 1990 and I remember when I got the call to start again in 2021 at Black Hawk. In Proverbs 3:5-6 we read; trust in the Lord with all your heart and do not lean on your own understanding. In all your ways acknowledge Him and He will direct your paths. I have to say God has been so good to us to direct our paths right into the lives of so many young people and their families over the years. It has been a joy. Wishing you all a very Merry Christmas! Until next week, God bless.

FROM LENA'S KITCHEN

The not so skinny cook

I am writing this column in the coldest weather so far. Thank goodness the heat is working, and the wind didn't blow any electrical lines down. I am grateful for the small things in life. This week features some more Christmas goodies. Try something different and see if you like them! Have a good week cooking.

Appetizer Wreath

This appetizer wreath is very pretty on a table full of appetizers. It is easy to make because the base is crescent rolls. You can add other vegetables on top if you want. Radishes, green peppers, shredded Brussels sprouts would make for great additions.

- 2 tubes (8 oz/ each) refrigerated crescent rolls
- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 C. sour cream
- 1 t. dill
- 1/8 t. garlic powder
- 1 1/2 C. chopped broccoli florets
- 1/2 C. finely chopped red pepper
- 1 C. finely chopped celery
- Celery leaves

Remove crescent dough from packaging. Do not unroll. Cut each tube into 8 slices. Arrange in a 11-inch circle on an ungreased 14-inch pizza pan. Bake at 375 for 15 to 20 minutes until golden brown. Cool for 5 minutes before carefully removing to a serving platter; cool completely.

In a small bowl, beat the cream cheese, sour cream, dill, and garlic powder until smooth; spread on wreath; top with broccoli, red pepper, chopped celery and celery leaves. Place a bowl of stuffed olives in the center.

Perfect Winter Salad

This winter salad uses spring mixture bagged lettuce. The dressing is a little savory and sweet. The pecan halves, apples, and dried cherries give it a little crunch.

- 1/4 C. mayonnaise
- 1/4 C. maple syrup
- 3 T. white wine vinegar
- 2 T. minced green onions
- 2 t. sugar
- 1/2 C. canola oil
- 2 pkg. (5 oz. each) spring mix salad greens
- 2 medium apples, thinly

- sliced
- 1 C. dried cherries
- 1 C. pecan halves
- 1/4 C. thinly sliced red onion

In a small bowl, mix the mayo, syrup, vinegar, onions and sugar together; whisk in oil until blended. Refrigerate, covered until serving. Place remaining ingredients in a large glass salad bowl; toss with dressing.

Amish Chicken and Noodles

Some people like a different side for Christmas. This noodle casserole will fill the bill. I think you could also make it after Christmas and use cooked turkey.

- 3 C. cooked chicken, cut into pieces
- 2 T. chicken bouillon granules
- 2 T. butter
- 5 bay leaves
- 1 pkg. (12 oz.) frozen egg noodles
- 3/4 t. salt
- 1/2 t. pepper
- Parsley, chopped

Place 4 C. water in a stockpot. Stir in granules, butter, and bay leaves. Slowly bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer for 1/2 hour. Remove bay leaf. Add noodles and cook for 12 to 15 minutes until noodles are tender and liquid is absorbed. Stir in chicken, salt and pepper. Garnish with parsley.

Beefy Wild Rice Soup

I make a great wild rice soup, but it takes a lot of time and energy. This one is an easy and quick one to put on the table on a cold night. My wild rice soup uses chicken; this one is full of beef.

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1/2 t. Italian seasoning
- 6 C. water, divided
- 1 C. uncooked wild rice
- 2 t. beef bouillon granules
- 1/2 t. pepper
- 1/4 t. hot pepper sauce
- 3 cans cream of mushroom soup
- 1 can (14 oz.) mushrooms stem and pieces, drained

In a Dutch oven, cook beef and Italian seasoning over medium-high heat until meat is no longer pink; drain. Add 2 C. water, onions, celery, rice, bouillon, pepper, and hot pepper sauce; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and cover; simmer for 45 minutes; stir in the soup and mushrooms. Add remaining water. Stir and cover; simmer for 30 minutes.

Baked Swiss Chicken

If you are looking for an easy dinner for a supper on a cold night, this chicken recipe has all the elements of easy and fast. It only takes an hour, and you can serve it with rice or mashed potatoes.

- 6 boneless skinless chicken breast halves (6 oz. each)
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1/2 C. chicken broth
- 6 slices Swiss cheese
- 1 C. crushed seasoned croutons

Preheat oven to 350. Place chicken in a greased 9x13 baking dish. In a small bowl, combine soup and broth; pour over chicken. Top with cheese and sprinkle with croutons. Bake, uncovered, until a thermometer inserted in chicken reads 165, about 35 to 40 minutes. Serve with rice or garlic mashed potatoes.

Christmas Wreath Cookies

These pretty Christmas cookies are a no-bake recipe. You do have to be organized with all the ingredients and utensils ready to go. They are great on a cookie tray and use corn flakes rather than rice crispies.

- 20 large marshmallows
- 2 T. butter
- Green food coloring
- 3 C. cornflakes
- Red M&Ms, minis (about 2 T.)

Place marshmallows and butter in a microwave safe bowl; microwave, uncovered, on high until butter is melted and marshmallows are puffed, about 45 seconds. Tint with green food coloring; stir in cornflakes. On a waxed paper-lined baking sheet, divide mixture into 8 portions. With buttered hands, working quickly, shape each portion into a 3-inch wreath. Decorate immediately with red candies, pressing to adhere. Let stand until set.

Lemon Snowflakes

These lemon cookies are a great addition to a cookie tray and are easy to make. You use a cake mix and Cool Whip and only two other ingredients.

- 1 pkg. lemon cake mix
- 2 1/4 C. Cool Whip
- 1 egg, room temperature
- Powdered sugar

Preheat oven to 350. In a large bowl, combine the cake mix, Cool Whip and eggs until well blended. Batter will be very sticky. Drop by tablespoonfuls into powdered sugar; roll lightly to coat. Place on ungreased baking sheets. Bake until lightly browned and tops are cracked, 10 to 12 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool.

Turtle Candy

A lot of people love turtle candy. This recipe is one which uses a candy thermometer, so if you aren't into using one, you might want to skip this recipe. However, I suggest you try it because the end result is as good as a Fannie May Turtle!

- 1 lb. pecan halves, toasted
- 2 cans (14 oz.) sweetened condensed milk
- 3/4 C. light corn syrup
- 1/2 C. sugar
- 1/3 C. packed brown sugar
- 1/4 C. butter, cubed
- 1 1/2 t. vanilla
- 1 lb. milk chocolate candy coating, chopped
- Sea salt

On waxed paper lined baking sheets, arrange pecans in small clusters of 4 to 5 pecans each. For the caramel: In a small saucepan, combine the milk, corn syrup, and sugars. Cook and stir over medium heat until a candy thermometer reads 238 (soft ball stage). Remove from the heat. Stir in butter and vanilla. Working quickly, spoon caramel onto pecan clusters. Let stand until set. In a microwave bowl, melt candy coating; stir until smooth. Spoon over caramel. If desired, sprinkle with sea salt.

Mint Brownies

These chewy mint brownies are a great chocolate addition to a cookie plate. You can use spearmint extract if you are not a peppermint fan. They do take a little planning to make because of all the layers.

- 4 oz. unsweetened baking chocolate
- 2 C. butter
- 4 eggs
- 2 C. sugar
- 1 t. vanilla
- 1 1/4 C. flour
- 1/2 t. baking powder
- Mint Frosting:
- 2 C. powdered sugar
- 4 T. butter, softened
- 1 1/2 t. peppermint extract
- 1 to 2 T. milk
- 4 drops green food coloring

Glaze:
6 oz. semisweet chocolate chips
5 T. butter

Preheat oven to 350. Grease a 9x13 baking dish with nonstick cooking spray. Chop the butter and baking chocolate into chunks and place together in a microwave safe bowl. Microwave on low power in 30 second intervals, stirring in between, until melted. In a large bowl, beat together the eggs, sugar and vanilla. Slowly add the melted chocolate while stirring. In a separate small bowl, combine the flour and baking powder. Stir in the flour into the chocolate batter, just until combined. Do not over mix. Pour batter into greased pan and bake for 20 to 30 minutes or until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean. Remove from oven and allow to cool completely.

Frosting: Combine all frosting ingredients and beat until light and fluffy. Add more milk if you want it thinner. Spread the frosting evenly over the cooled brownies. Refrigerate while you make the glaze.

Glaze: Place chocolate chips and butter in a microwave safe bowl. Microwave on low power in 10 second intervals, stirring in between until melted and smooth. Allow to cool for about 5 to 10 minutes. Spread evenly over the frosted brownies. Return to fridge to allow the chocolate to harden. Allow the bars to sit at room temperature for 10 minutes before cutting into squares.

Final Thoughts

Christmas is fast approaching as each day passes. The Lena Hometown Christmas Parade was fabulous. Each year it gets bigger. The vision of the Lena Business and Professional Association 11 years ago was a dream that has come to fruition. Thank you to those early members who went out on a limb to make this such a special event.

Lots of people were in Lena last Saturday, and the town was decked out. The Lions Club delivered beautiful poinsettias to people in town who are shut ins and struggling with problems. They are beautiful, and I was lucky enough to be remembered. They are a fantastic group that does so much for our community.

Remember that we have many places to shop in our little town, so don't forget to get your presents here. I hope you have kept warm during the last week; we are to have more seasonal temperatures for a while. Enjoy the beautiful lights in your town!

We are searching for recipes for Christmas cookies and candies, so send some favorites our way. We also will be looking for some holiday recipes as well as some soup recipes. If you find some recipes to share, you can contact us by email at scoopshopper@rvpublishing.com or by mail at From Lena's Kitchens, The Shopper's Guide at Rock Valley Publishing, 1102 Ann St., Delavan, WI 53115. Have a great week.

PantherHawk wrestling picks up conference wins over Amboy, Morrison

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The Le-Win-Stockton PantherHawks wrestling squad picked up a pair of impressive NUIC victories when they traveled to Amboy last week. On Dec. 12, the PantherHawks were set to compete against both the Amboy Clippers and the Morrison Mustangs. The PantherHawks were fresh off a two-win day just two days prior. On Dec. 10, Le-Win-Stockton traveled to Oregon to face off with the Hawks and the Erie Panthers. There, the PantherHawks beat Erie by a score of 58-12.

Their matchup against Oregon wasn't so easy. Initially, the PantherHawks found themselves trailing the Hawks by a score of 35-0. Le-Win-Stockton fought their way back for an epic 41-35 victory. That impressive team win set the tone for the PantherHawks' next matchup.

Le-Win-Stockton rarely trailed against Amboy, who had low numbers for the day. Amboy took six forfeit losses in the 132, 157, 165, 175, 190, and 285 pound weight classes. There was little opportunity for Amboy to find success with so many forfeits, but they still had a strong performance in the lower weight classes.

Carson Hill and Anthony Laino were the only PantherHawks to take a loss against the Clippers. Hill wrestled at 113, while Laino wrestled at 120. Hill fell by pin fall, while Laino lost by Major Decision.

Things got better for the Pantherhawks as they moved into heavier weight classes. David Prater picked up a victory by pinfall at the 126 class. Mauricio Glass won a close one with a 9-6 decision at the 138 class. Arrison Bauer dominated his way to a technical fall at the 144 class, and Reece Demeter picked up a pin fall victory at the 150 class. Finally, Jeremiah Luke picked up another technical fall victory in the 215 class. Le-Win-Stockton easily beat Amboy by a final score of 61-10. Their matchups against Morrison played out in a similar, although closer fashion.

Le-Win-Stockton picked up another three victories by forfeit in the 132, 144, and 215 pound weight classes. The PantherHawks also took a forfeit loss of their own in the 106 weight class. Despite that, the PantherHawks handled business when it came to wrestling on the mat.

Five separate victories by pinfall came from Glass, Mark Detwiler at 157, Eli Larson at 175, Oliver McPeck at 190, and Luke Kempel at 285. Additionally, Bauer and John Mensendike both picked up victories by Major Decision. Mensendike did so in the 165 weight class, with a score of 12-2.

All in all, the PantherHawks went on to beat Morrison by a final score of 56-22. After doing so, Le-Win-Stockton went on to compete at the Glenbard North Quad over the weekend. There, they faced off with some tough competition. They lost to Lincoln-Way West 60-10 and Glenbard North 40-35. They beat Plainfield South by a score of 68-12.

Freeport Police Department plans traffic enforcement for holiday season

With the holiday season just around the corner, the Freeport Police Department has joined forces with the Illinois Department of Transportation for the "Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over" and "Drive High, Get a DUI" enforcement campaign to ensure that festive gatherings don't end in tragedy. From Dec. 13 through Jan. 2, law enforcement agencies across Illinois will adopt a zero-tolerance policy for impaired driving to keep our roads safe.

"This season, let's make safety our shared priority," said Lt. JoLynn Marcum. "If you plan to drink or use impairing substances, plan ahead for a sober ride home. Driving impaired isn't just dangerous – it's unacceptable. We'll be out in full force, and no excuses will be accepted."

The Freeport Police Department urges everyone to take the following simple steps to prevent impaired driving:

- Plan ahead: Designate a sober driver, use public transportation or arrange for a ride-sharing service.
- Report dangers: If you spot an impaired driver, pull over safely and contact the Freeport Police Department.
- Be a hero: Stop a friend from driving impaired by taking their keys and helping them get home safely.
- Buckle up: It's your best defense against impaired drivers.

Make this holiday season memorable for all the right reasons. Celebrate responsibly and help ensure everyone gets home safely. This campaign is made possible through federal highway safety funds from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration administered by IDOT.

High sugar diet wreaks havoc on oral, physical, and mental health

By DR. STEPHEN PETRAS
 Illinois Licensed General Dentist

Oral disease, heart disease, obesity, insulin resistance, leptin resistance, metabolic disease, type two diabetes, and nonalcoholic fatty liver disease are just several of the health issues associated with a high sugar diet. But recent research has now unveiled two additional consequences - accelerated ageing and an increased risk of developing dementia.

Recent research has been examining distinctions between chronological age and biological or epigenetic age. Since one year is the same amount of time for everyone, our chronological age equates to how many birthdays you have celebrated. Your epigenetic age refers to the impact that behavioral and environmental factors have on the health or age of your body at the cellular level. While it is intuitive that a healthy diet would slow the body's biological "clock," and a diet high in sugar would accelerate aging, this research is helping to define how that process works and what damage may be reversible.

A diet that is high in sugar specifically plays a role in altering epigenetic switches which accelerates the cellular aging of your skin by a process called glycation, where sugar molecules attach to proteins in your body, creating harmful radicals/compounds called Advanced Glycation End Products (AGEs). As AGEs accumulate, they damage the proteins which make up collagen and elastin. While healthy collagen and elastin keep skin firm and elastic, AGEs make your collagen and elastin stiff, dry, and brittle. Your skin contains three primary types of collagen. Type I is the weakest and Type III is the strongest. Glycation degrades Type III collagen into Type I, thereby diminishing your skin's structural strength and stability. The result is further sagging and wrinkles.

In addition to damaging your skin's essential proteins, AGEs deactivate your body's natural antioxidant enzymes, which normally would help protect your skin against damage from pollution, blue light and UV rays and other harmful exposures.

AGEs cause chronic inflammation and inflammation-related diseases in your body. Inflammation in your gut can lead to increased gut permeability, also known as

"leaky gut." This is because a high sugar intake changes the types and amounts of different bacteria in your gut, leading to overgrowth of inflammation-causing bacteria. This inflammation, in turn, may alter gut mucosa and tissue integrity, increasing permeability of the intestinal wall. A high sugar diet stimulates the liver to make more triglycerides (a type of fat), which increases the production of very low-density lipoproteins (VLDL) in the liver to the point that it spills over into the blood. Excess sugar also increases blood concentrations of LDL, a type of "bad" cholesterol, which causes inflammation and a buildup of plaque in your blood vessels, putting you at risk for a heart attack or stroke.

The incidence of type 2 diabetes resulting from a high sugar diet is rising. Research examining the factors that exacerbate dementia have identified type 2 diabetes as one of the most detrimental factors contributing to the decline in cognitive functioning. Knowing that Dementia, which robs our ability to remember, think, and make decisions on their own, is associated with a high sugar diet, is yet another incentive to choose a diet that will improve your oral, physical, and mental health.

Letters To Santa

Dear Santa,
I was nice and naughty this year. I will try not to slide down the stairs. I helped my mom put up the decorations for Christmas. My dad would like a new grill. My mom would like two new candles. My brother would like some laser guns. My sister would like a real makeup salon. I would like a lot of Dogman books. I would also like a PS5 with a TV. Lastly, I want a lot of Cat Kid books. How fast can your reindeer fly? What time will you be at my house by? I hope you have a good Christmas!

Love your friend, Jaxon

Dear Santa,
This year I have tried to be nice. I helped Garrett wash the dishes. Please bring my mom some new clothes. My dad would like a Milwaukee tool kit. Sloan wants a new binky. For Christmas I would like a PS4. Please bring me a Bakugon Battle Arena and Fortnite V-Bucks. When do you fly your sleigh? Would you rather have a cookie or a muffin? Have a Merry Christmas!

With love, Mavrick

Dear Santa,
This year I have been nice. I helped my friends spell some words. Please bring my mom an Ariat purse. My dad would like a new dirt bike. For Christmas I want a real kitten. I would also like a real diamond and a real puppy. Do all the elves work together? When do you and Mrs. Clause work? Have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Love, Adalyn

Dear Santa,
This year I have been nice. I helped my friends pick up the shed at recess. Please bring my dad a new phone.

My mom would like a new pair of blue shoes. Esmee wants a Barbie Dream House. For Christmas I would like a new hoverboard. I would also like a PS5. Is Rudolph real? What is your favorite cookie? Happy Christmas!

Love, Jordan

Dear Santa,
I have been naughty and nice. I hit my chicken because it was trying to attack my puppy. We went to Lindy's house and I gave my stickers to her grandkids. My brother would like an automatic drill. Emma would like a booster pack for Pokemon. Mom would like York Peppermint Patties. My dad would like a go-cart frame. Bogey would like a Busy Bone. I would like a jewelry box because I have too much jewelry. I want a bracelet kit because I need to make more bracelets for Mrs. D. I want a sticker book because I ran out of stickers from my last book. How do you get down the chimney if you don't have a chimney? Where do your elves come from? What is your favorite type of cookie?

Love, Charlee
