Lena Winslow Junior High celebrates Down Syndrome Awareness

During the week of March 24, Junior High Student Leadership raised awareness for Down syndrome by hosting a coloring contest. In addition to the coloring contest, Student Leadership also organized special dress-up days in which the student body participated. This week was chosen because World Down Syndrome Day is observed on March 21 each year, symbolizing the triplication of the 21st chromosome, the genetic cause of Down syndrome.

Lady Wolves defeat Warren-Stockton in early softball matchup

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

It has been a busy start to the 2025 softball season for the Pearl City Wolves. After playing a double header in Jacksonville on Saturday, the Wolves had completed eight games over a nine-day stretch. Their season opener was played on March 21, and they held an overall record of 4-4 by March 29.

All four of Pearl City's victories came in the first five games of their season. The home opener featured an electric 16-1 victory over the Ashton-Franklin Center Raiders. The next day, they suffered a 2-9 loss to the Oregon Hawks. After that, Pearl City rattled off three consecutive victories, including a 14-7 win over the Warren-Stockton Warhawks on March 24.

Things didn't get off to a good start for the Wolves. Despite Pearl City being the home team, it was Warren-Stockton who appeared comfortable to start. Mackenzie Lotz got the start from the pitcher's circle for the Wolves, and she took an inning to get settled in. After registering two quick outs, Mackenzie wound up hitting two batters and walking three more. After the top of the first, Pearl City was already trailing 0-3.

Mackenzie had a much better second inning. It was a one, two, three inning as Lotz drew three consecutive groundouts. The Pearl City defense was solid behind her, and it was just what they needed to build some momentum.

In the bottom of the second, Pearl City's bats came to life. Jorja Johnson got the rally started with a single. Kendra Kuhlemeier followed that up with a double to right center field, driving in Johnson for Pearl City's first run. Natalie Lotz then singled to put runners on the corners. Anna Dampman followed that up with a line drive through the middle, bringing the Wolves within one.

Pearl City eventually took their first lead of the day when Isabella Smith hit yet another single through the middle. Dampman and Natalie scored, putting the Wolves up 4-3. The Wolves added to their lead in the bottom of the third. After M Perry's leadoff double, she eventually scored on a wild pitch. Her aggressive baserunning put the Wolves up 5-3 after three innings of play.

Warren-Stockton wasn't ready to go away so easily. The Warhawks responded by putting up solo runs in the top of the fourth and fifth innings, tying the game 5-5. All that seemed to do was light a spark for the Wolves, however. After

Obituary

MARCEL BOURQUIN

Marcel Bourquin, son of Charles and Bernieta Bourquin of Apple River, IL, passed away on Tuesday, March 25, 2025, at the age of 66 after a courageous battle with cancer. Farming was not just his livelihood but his passion. He dedicated himself to caring for his family, land, and cows, and his hands were a testament to his hard work and kindness. The farm was a community, and in his final months, neighbors rallied to support him, reflecting the bonds he had built over the years.

His wife, Karen, stood by his side through every challenge, demonstrating a love that only grew stronger with time. Together, they raised a family grounded in love and resilience.

Despite his illness, Marcel found joy in simple pleasures—hayfields, tinkering in the shop, and the love of his John Deere tractors. His legacy is one of perseverance and unwavering love.

The family wishes to extend their heartfelt thanks to the local EMTs, hospital staff, and all who provided care and support during Marcel's illness. A special thanks to Dr. Cleary, who never hesitated to answer a call or visit during his time of need, and to Marcel's loyal farmworker, Roger, for his unwavering support.

Marcel is survived by his wife, Karen; children, Cory (Sara) Bourquin and Kristy Bourquin; grandchildren, Emma and Hayden Bourquin, sister Lynnsey (Mike) Armoska, in-laws and nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by his parents, Bernieta and Charles Bourquin.

Visitation was held at Bartell-Leamon Funeral Home in Warren, IL, Sunday, March 30, 2025. The funeral service was on Monday, March 31 at the Bartell-Leamon Funeral Home in Warren, IL followed by a short burial ceremony at West Ella cemetery and luncheon at the Apple River Event Center.

Though he is gone, we take comfort in knowing he's tending to heaven's pastures, free of pain, watching over us with love. Condolences may be sent to the family at www.leamonfh.com.

Democrats argue Republicans waited too long to file latest redistricting lawsuit

Republicans say legislative districts illegally gerrymandered

By Ben Szalinski, Bridgette Fox and UIS Public Affairs Reporting

Two elections have come and gone since the Illinois General Assembly passed new legislative maps, and Democrats' attorneys argue in a new court filing that Illinois Republicans have lost their opportunity to challenge the maps in court.

A case brought to the Illinois Supreme Court by House Republican Leader Tony McCombie, R-Savanna, asked the court to reject the current legislative map for its partisan bias and have a special master redraw the districts. But it is not yet known whether the court will take the case.

McCombie, along with four voters, alleged the voting district maps are not "compact," a requirement of the state constitution, which has led to allegations of gerrymandering in favor of Democrats.

While the court hasn't yet said whether it will hear the case, it did ask both parties to explain whether McCombie and the other plaintiffs filed the lawsuit in a timely manner, a factor to be considered in deciding whether to take the case.

The Senate Republican caucus is not involved in the case.

A lawsuit from multiple parties challenging the map was rejected in 2021 by a federal three-judge panel, which rejected arguments that the map diluted the voting strength of racial minorities. However, Republicans' lawyers argue new data from the 2022 and 2024 elections prove the map is the product of partisan gerrymandering.

The Illinois Attorney General's Office on behalf of the State Board of Elections said in a filing it isn't taking a position on the complaint's timeliness. However, the court allowed House Speaker Emanuel "Chris" Welch, D-Hillside, and Senate President Don Harmon, D-Oak Park, to intervene as defendants.

Leading the case for General Assembly Democrats are three well-connected attorneys in Democratic circles, including Mike Kasper. Kasper is a long-time elections lawyer who previously worked as a top attorney for the Democratic Party of Illinois and was former House Speaker Mike Madigan's go-to lawyer for political issues.

Kasper, who was described by Rep. Ryan Spain, R-Peoria, at a Statehouse news conference last week as "Darth Vader himself, Madigan's henchman, the prince of darkness," has successfully defended previous legislative maps against lawsuits.

"To allow plaintiffs to proceed now, mid-decade, with their proposed redistricting challenge would invite political parties to wait until they have a wave election and use their best election results to justify a partisan challenge to the legislative map," the Democrats' lawyers said in their filing.

The current state House and Senate maps were passed in 2021 and implemented in 2022 following the 2020 census. Republicans have not gained any seats in the General Assembly since then, keeping them as the minority.

Republicans and supporters of redistricting reform in Illinois haven't had much success in court in recent decades. The Illinois Supreme Court blocked a 2016 citizen-driven referendum attempting to create an independent redistricting commission. The lead plaintiff in that case was John Hooker, a now-convicted conspirator in the "ComEd Four" case.

Other Republican efforts to throw out the 2011 legislative maps were also rejected by the courts.

Lawyers for Welch and Harmon said in a March 19 filing Republicans should have filed their lawsuit with the Illinois Supreme Court after the maps were enacted in 2021 instead of filing it more than three years later.

"These arguments could have, and should have, been raised years ago. Plaintiffs cannot claim they did not know about the map," Democrats' lawyers argued in a written brief.

They cited claims Republican lawmakers made during House debate on the maps in 2021 based on data Republicans shared showing the maps were not compact and drawn for Democrats' benefit.

McCombie's lawyers responded that they were following their interpretation of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that would require data from two election cycles to show any discriminatory effect caused by gerrymandering.

Her lawyers said Democrats were putting them in a "catch-22" situation, comparing it to a "heads I win, tails you lose" game.

"If a plaintiff brings a gerrymandering challenge right after a map is passed, then intervenors would argue that the claim should fail on the merits because of insufficient evidence of the map's effects," McCombie's lawyers wrote. "And if a plaintiff waits to collect evidence of the map's effects, intervenors would argue that the claim should fail procedurally."

Republicans' lawyers argued that the 2024 election was the last time the district map was used, meaning there's a recent "injury" to voters and Republicans, which could also satisfy timeliness requirements. They also cite a common law doctrine which says the government generally isn't subject to statutes of limitations.

Democrats also argued any redistricting the court might order would interfere with the Senate's staggered terms. Illinois senators have terms of either two or four years so the entire body is not up for reelection at the same time.

Democrats' lawyers argued senators elected in 2024 could have the four-year term they were elected to wrongfully reduced.

McCombie's lawyers rejected that idea citing case law in which redistricting still allowed representatives to finish out the term for which they were elected, and that a mapmaker could separately be directed to not unseat any senators when redrawing districts.

McCombie has requested oral arguments for the suit, but the court has yet to say what the next steps will be in the case.

Raoul joins motion to block dismantling of U.S. Education Department

Motion seeks to halt mass layoffs, block transfer of agency functions to other federal departments

By Peter Hancock
CAPITOL NEWS ILLINOIS
Illinois Attorney General Kwame Raoul and 20 other state attorneys general are asking a federal judge to immediately halt President Donald Trump's efforts to dismantle the U.S. Department of Education.

In a motion filed last week in U.S. District Court in Massachusetts, the coalition of Democratic attorneys general are seeking a preliminary injunction to block the mass firing of half the agency's employees, which Trump ordered March 11, as well as the transfer of student loan management and special education services to other federal agencies.

"States, including Illinois, are already feeling the impact of the Trump administration's attempts to dismantle the Department of Education," Raoul said in a statement. "Enrollment deadlines for Illinois public community colleges and universities approach in just a few short weeks, and the turmoil caused by the administration's actions jeopardizes the futures of tens of thousands of Illinois students."

The lawsuit was originally filed March 13, two days after the administration announced plans to eliminate half the agency's workforce.

The motion for a preliminary injunction, however, was prompted by Trump's March 20 executive order calling for the eventual closure of the department as well as his announcement the following day directing the Small Business Administration to take over processing of student loans while the Department of Health and Human Services would take over responsibility for administering special education programs.

"Ultimately, the Department of Education's main functions can, and should, be returned to the states," Trump said in the executive order.

But the attorneys general argue Trump is overstepping the power of the executive branch by dismantling a department established by Congress.

"No constitutional or statutory authority allows the President or the head of an agency to take actions that incapacitate core statutory functions of an agency that Congress created, or to transfer statutory duties to other agencies," the states argued in their motion.

Raoul and the other attorneys general argue that states are already feeling the effects of Trump's efforts to dismantle the agency.

In a statement attached as an exhibit in the original lawsuit, Illinois Superintendent of Education Tony Sanders said that since the March 13 announcement of mass layoffs, Illinois has been unable to access certain categories of federal funds "because no staff remain in the Department's Office of State and Grantee Relations."

Sanders noted in his statement that Illinois expects to receive about $794 million in federal Title I funds this year, money targeted to the state's lowest-performing schools. It also expects to receive another $625 million in federal funds that help pay for services for students with disabilities.

The Department of Education also administers the federal Pell Grant program, which provides need-based financial aid for college students. In the 2023-24 academic year, according to state data, more than 225,000 students in Illinois received a total of more than $1 billion in Pell Grant assistance.

Slices of life

Just do good in this life

"Do all the good you can, by all the means you can, in all the ways you can, in all the places you can, at all the times you can, to all the people you can, as long as ever you can."—John Wesley

By JILL PERTLER
Columnist

There you have it. The recipe for a good life. On the surface it sounds pretty simple and straightforward, and it should be. But not always – in this world of ours that seems to make the simple complex.

But whether simple or complex, this recipe—sentence—is one thing for sure... It is beautiful. Perhaps the most beautiful (albeit long) sentence ever composed.

While it is long (42 words for those who are counting) and complex, it doesn't have to be.

Doing good should be simple. It is simple, and often involves so little.

It's easy. If you allow it to be.

But let's break it all down. Do all the good that you can. How does a person do good?

The original sentence gives us this very answer: You do good using all your resources and creativity. You do it everywhere, all the time, to everyone. And you do it forever. You never stop.

When you think about it, and let it sink in, it's pretty profound – beyond profound.

And it's as simple as that famous tennis shoe company: Just. Do. Good.

Except it isn't always that simple, because life gets in the way.

Except for the hardships. Except for commitments. Except for responsibilities. Except for everything.

Except for sleepless nights when you have to go to work the next day and face the boss you greatly dislike and after that you also have to go to the grocery store and wade your way through the aisles alongside all the other after-work people who are tired and cranky and hungry.

Somewhere in amongst all that you are supposed to smile and wink and above and beyond all that do good?

Life is hard. Some days it's difficult just to face yourself in the mirror—much less do good for others.

And then, there's the big conundrum that I haven't even mentioned.

What about me?

Because that's pretty important. It's hard to be kind to others if you aren't kind to yourself.

Our own happiness, our own peace, our own well-being is important.

It truly is. But maybe perhaps not in the conventional line of thinking. Maybe we are assessing our own happiness from the wrong angle. Maybe our own happiness doesn't depend on any angle at all.

Here's the truth as I see it. Happiness, peace and all the other positive descriptors for our lives don't depend on the world around us.

All those things come from within.

You can't find peace on a mountaintop or from a sunset or an incoming tide. It has you find you, or more importantly you have to understand it has been with you—simply there for the finding—all along.

Peace is yours for the taking. You can find it at work – even during an unending meeting with your boss. You can find it at the grocery store—even when your cart is creaky and everyone around you is cranky and crabby. Even in the most dire of situations you can have peace. It's always yours for the taking. It's always yours for the having.

But before you, me—any of us—can understand this, we have to come to terms with one thing: None of this is about us.

We tend to think it is about us. It's practically in our DNA. And we certainly have the power to isolate and find our own peace and joy and all the good-feels that go along with that. But here's the kicker:

We aren't really supposed to seek out our own happiness. We are supposed to support that in others.

Do all the good you can, by all the means you can, in all the ways you can, in all the places you can, at all the times you can, to all the people you can, as long as ever you can.

You see how that sentence doesn't say anything (anything!) about satisfying your own desires?

It isn't about you (or me). It's about us. And when we finally embrace that thought—truly madly, deeply—we achieve not only personal happiness, but something one step above it: peace.

Life lessons from the farm

The older I get the more grateful I am for the childhood that God allowed me to experience. As I have written this column over the years so many of you have commented to me about how similar your lives were to my own as far as growing up or raising your children on the family farm is concerned. When I was a senior in high school in 1980, I wrote a research paper on the changes that were taking place in agriculture at that time. I wrote about how the family farm, sadly, would soon be passing out of existence, and so would a wonderful way of life that had helped to teach a great work ethic to young people for centuries. I wrote that larger corporate farms would be replacing smaller family units all across the country. The truth of the matter is that we have indeed seen that day come to pass. Today the big boys have taken over the landscape and all the old dairy barns sit empty as their boards weather and fall to the ground. With the passing of the smaller family farms so also goes a way of life, a life rich in character.

By SCOTT CERNEK
Columnist

When I was growing up on the dairy farm all of the neighbors and their kids could be seen doing the same things that we were doing each day. We could look across the fields and see barn lights coming on each morning at about 5:30 the same time we were getting started. After the milking, the cows were let out to eat, the gutters were cleaned and the manure hauled. It wasn't unusual to see five or six farmers at the same time out in their fields spreading the manure at about 8 or 8:30 each morning. All the young stock were fed before breakfast and then the rest of the daily morning chores were completed in the barn.

All of the neighbors were pretty much on the same schedule. Then it was off to the fields with our little tractors and implements. If it was in the spring, we all had fences to mend, soil to prepare and crops to plant. If it was the summer, we had hay to make, crops to cultivate, machinery to fix and buildings to maintain. In the fall, the harvest brought a sense of urgency up and down the road from farm to farm each day. We surely didn't want to waste the hard work of the spring and summer by neglecting to get the crop in. Finally, in the winter there was usually the daily battle with keeping drinkers thawed and animals bedded down and cared for to protect from the weather. No matter the season, each and every day there was the evening milking plus the nightly feeding of all the cattle and livestock.

In his first letter to the church in Thessalonica chapter 4 and verse 11, the apostle Paul tells us; "to make it your ambition to lead a quiet life: You should mind your own business and work with your hands, just as we told you, so that your daily life may win the respect of outsiders and so that you will not be dependent on anybody"

Keeping up with all the work of the day built a sense of strong character and steady perseverance

Build Illinois Homes Tax Credit is the right call for the state

By Ed Hightower

In high-pressure moments, when everything is on the line, leaders must be able to make the right call. As March Madness takes hold this spring, Illinois lawmakers are encouraged to make the tough call regarding affordable housing.

Growing up in a family of eight children in Southeast Missouri, I knew what it meant to struggle. We didn't have indoor plumbing until 1966, when my mother moved us to Alton, Ill., in search of a better life. That experience shaped my understanding of the critical need for safe, affordable housing—something too many families in our state still lack today.

Throughout my career in education, including decades as a school superintendent in the Metro East, I have advocated for families from all backgrounds. I often made tough decisions to ensure children had access to stable housing and health care—essentials for academic success. I've seen firsthand how a safe and affordable home can change a child's future.

Many may also know me from my time on the basketball court, where I refereed 12 NCAA Final Fours and high-profile international games. Officiating taught me that leadership requires making the right call, even when it's unpopular.

The same principle applies to public policy. I urge Illinois lawmakers to support the Build Illinois Homes Tax Credit—a bright, innovative solution to our state's affordable housing crisis.

I believe this legislation

could be a game-changer. It bridges financing gaps, providing the final push developers need to move projects forward. This tax credit is a low-risk investment for taxpayers. Private investors supply the funds upfront, and the state issues credits only after developments are completed and families move in. It's a fiscally responsible way to create much-needed housing while spurring economic growth.

I recognize the profound impact affordable housing has on communities and the complex challenges in securing financing for these developments. This spring, the Sunnybrook Community in Alton will open its doors, offering 40 affordable homes to help sustain Madison County's growing workforce near St. Louis. Beyond providing much-needed housing, this project has driven millions of dollars in local investment, created high-quality jobs in construction, and strengthened local businesses with up to $4 million in material purchases from area suppliers.

Sunnybrook became a reality thanks to a one-time grant from the state that leveraged existing private investment and was bolstered by federal housing tax credits. However, many other promising affordable housing developments across Illinois remain stalled due to financing gaps. Without renewed investment from Springfield, these shovel-ready affordable housing developments might never break ground, leaving communities without desperately needed housing.

The Build Illinois Homes Tax Credit will close those financing gaps by making the critical commitment for developers and investors to give these developments the green light. More than half of the states nationally have adopted credits like Build Illinois Homes to drive affordable housing investment. During these trying times, people need safe, affordable housing and education, health care, and social service support. All work together to lift people and their communities.

I want to commend Gov. JB Pritzker and Illinois legislators for prioritizing affordable housing and encourage them to support the Build Illinois Homes Tax Credit. This is the right call for working families, communities, and the future of our state. Let's make the right call and give Illinois families the homes they deserve.

Ed Hightower is a retired educator and college basketball referee who lives in Edwardsville.

• Lessons

(Continued from page 4) into each and every member of all the families in the farm neighborhoods. When the family farms began to disappear across the landscape, our communities began to feel the brunt. Now we must teach our kids the importance of work and family unity in different ways.

Until next week, God bless.

Scales Mound-River Ridge Hornets battle through busy softball week

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The Scales Mound-River Ridge (SM-RR) Hornets got their first win after dropping their first two games of the 2025 softball season. The Hornets opened the new campaign with a 3-8 loss to Pecatonica and a 0-6 loss to Oregon. SM-RR turned a new page when they entered last week with an away game against the Forreston Cardinals.

Not only did the Hornets draw some tough competition early in the season, but they had a heavy road schedule. Four of their first six games of the year were on the road. The same was true when they traveled to take on Forreston on Monday, March 24.

It took a comeback effort to get the job done against Forreston. The Cardinals jumped out to a 2-0 run in the first and held a 3-0 lead after two innings of play. The key for the Hornets was to simply keep putting the ball in play.

Early on, it didn't result in much. However, Forreston's defense eventually collapsed. The Hornets scored five runs in the fifth inning, thanks to three errors and a dropped third strike. Forreston's defense wound up having eight errors in the game, which allowed the Hornets to take a significant lead.

SM-RR went on to win the game by a score of 8-4. Five of those eight runs were unearned as Forreston's defensive woes cost them the game.

Elizabeth Rife got the win for the Hornets. In four innings, Rife allowed zero hits while striking out eight. Laiken Haas pitched three innings, allowing two earned runs off two hits and six walks. Rife also had a big day at the plate, going two for four with two runs scored and two runs batted in. Sarah Winter led the way offensively, going two for four with two runs scored and three RBI.

The Hornets were back on the road the very next day as they took on Southwestern on March 25. It was another close game that came down to the wire, but the Hornets came out on top, thanks to an excellent pitching performance.

Early on, it looked like it would be an offensive shootout. The Hornets quickly took a 1-0 lead when Haas was hit to lead off the game and Rife followed up with a triple to right. Before the end of the inning, Anna Weis drove in Rife to put SM-RR up 2-0. Southwestern responded by getting a run back in the bottom half. Still, the Hornets took a 2-1 lead into the second.

The Hornets would add to their lead in the top of the third. Following a single by Haas, Winter roped a two-out line drive to center for a double. Weis then followed that with a double of her own as she drove in Winter, putting SM-RR up 4-1. Once again, the Hornets' production produced a response from Southwestern, who put up two runs in the bottom half.

After three innings of play, both teams had already combined for seven runs. The game had all the makings of a high-scoring matchup, but that wasn't the final outcome. A big reason for that was the pitching effort of Rife, who entered the game in the fourth inning. Rife wound up pitching the final four innings, allowing just two hits and striking out eight. She shut out Southwestern for the last four innings, and that is exactly what the Hornets needed. The SM-RR offense was also halted, as they didn't score another run for the remainder of the game. Despite that, they won by a final score of 4-3, led by Rife's pitching performance.

The Hornets got the chance to play at home on March 26, but they played host to a developing Lena-Winslow squad. Rife still managed an impressive pitching performance as she racked up fifteen strikeouts. Both Haas and Rife struggled with control, as they combined to have 15 walks in the game. Rife had nine walks in five innings, while Haas had six in two. The Hornets fell by a score of 7-15.

The Hornets didn't have to wait long to bounce back. On March 27, they made the trip to take on the Durand Bulldogs. It was another road game for SM-RR, but after six games played, they were 0-2 at home and 3-1 on the road. That includes a 3-2 victory over Durand.

Rife pitched a complete game for the Hornets. In seven innings, Rife allowed just four hits, while striking out nine and walking one. Rife allowed just one earned run in the game. Winter led the way offensively, going one for four with one run scored and one RBI.

The Hornets are back at home for an April 3 match-up against the Pearl City Wolves. That game is set to begin at 4:30 p.m. Then, they have another road game on April 5, as they travel to take on South Beloit. That game starts at 10 a.m.

Warren-Stockton tied the game, Pearl City responded with six runs in the bottom of the fifth.

Not only was it a massive fifth inning, but it all came as part of a two-out rally. After a strikeout and a fly out to start the inning, Kuhlemeier finally got things going with a double to center field.

It was Mackenzie Lotz who had the big hit of the inning. Mackenzie crushed a home run over the right field fence, putting the Wolves up 9-3. They weren't done there, however, as Elizabeth Dinderman drove in two more runs with a double to right. After five innings of play, the Wolves held an 11-5 lead over the Warhawks.

Warren-Stockton managed to make things interesting with a pair of runs in the top of the seventh, but Pearl City eventually won by a final score of 14-7. Mackenzie pitched a complete game, allowing five earned runs off seven hits. She struck out 12 batters in the win.

The Wolves collected 14 hits at the plate. Kuhlemeier led the way, going three for four with four runs scored and one run batted in. Dampman went three for four with three runs scored and three RBI, as well. Natalie finished the day with two hits and a pair of runs scored.

Pearl City went on to pick up two impressive road victories over the Polo Marcos and the Freeport Pretzels, after that. The Wolves pitched back-to-back shutouts, beating Polo 13-0 and Freeport 8-0.

Pearl City returns to action on April 3 when they travel to take on Scales Mound-River Ridge. They are back on the road on April 8 to take on the Orangeville Broncos. Both games are set to begin at 4:30 p.m.

Panther baseball pitches back-to-back shutouts

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The Lena-Winslow baseball team has gotten off to a hot start in the 2025 season. After winning the first two games of the season, the Panthers went on to shut out their next two opponents, beating them by a combined score of 22-0.

The Panthers went on the road to shut out their first opponent of the week in the Morrison Mustangs on Monday, March 24. It was Morrison's home opener, but they didn't have much to celebrate. Le-Win took the lead before the Morrison defense could even register an out. It took just five innings for the Panthers to beat the Mustangs 12-0, sending the Morrison crowd home early.

After Koby Kearns took a walk to lead off the game, Luke Madigan and Miles Mahon followed up with back-to-back singles. Mahon drove in both Kearns and Madigan with his single to left, putting the Panthers up 2-0 in the first.

It was Madigan who got the start on the mound for Le-Win. He made quick work of the Mustangs. In four innings, Madigan collected 12 strikeouts. It was a boring day for the Panther defense, as Madigan registered every out in his four innings. He allowed just three hits and zero walks on the day. Maverick Cass closed the day out with one inning pitched and a pair of strikeouts.

Mahon had a monstrous day at the plate. He reached safely in all five of his plate appearances as he collected four hits and a walk on the day. Mahon also drove in six of the Panthers' 12 runs. Madigan was next up, going three for four with three runs scored and two runs batted in. Kearns had a rather impressive stat line, scoring three runs without collecting a hit. Kearns walked four times in the game.

Two days later, the Panthers returned home to play host to a well-known River Ridge-Scales Mound (RR-SM) Wildcats squad. RR-SM has gotten off to a bit of a slow start to the season. Between poor weather and some tough competition, the Wildcats were just 1-3 after their first four games. That includes a 10-0 shutout loss to the Panthers last week.

It was another quick start for Le-Win. Cass was on the mound to start the game, and he opened the game with a four-pitch strikeout. Some nice defensive work brought an end to the top half, and the Panther bats quickly went to work in the bottom half.

Kearns has been an electric leadoff hitter and that remained true against the Wildcats. Kearns ripped a line drive up the middle to get the game started for the Panthers. Kearns' hard-hit ball set the stage for Madigan, who followed up with a big shot. Madigan crushed the first pitch he saw over the left center fence. Once again, the Panthers had a 2-0 lead before an out was registered.

That told the story of the day for Le-Win. A few big innings allowed them to collect another mercy rule victory, beating the Wildcats 10-0 after just five innings. The Panthers were held scoreless in the second and fourth innings, but they put up big runs in the first, third, and fifth.

The fifth inning was the biggest of the day for Le-Win. The Panthers scored five runs in the inning, and they all came with two outs. It was Jaden Schubert who singled through the right side, driving in Ryder Schulz for the first run of the inning. Shortly after, Madigan hit another extra base hit as he doubled to center, driving in a pair. With that, Madigan brought an end to the game as the Panthers went up 10-0 in the bottom of the fifth.

Madigan finished the day with three hits, two runs scored, and three RBI. Cass also had three hits on the day, going three for three with one RBI. Landon Grindey was the third Panther to rack up three hits in the game as he went three for three with two runs scored. Cass pitched all five innings, allowing just four hits and one walk, while striking out four.

After getting off to the 4-0 start, the Panthers finally suffered their first loss of the season when they took on the Alleman Pioneers on March 27. Alleman went just 8-29 last year, but they are off to a 6-2 start to this season.

Le-Win returns home on April 5 to play host to the Ashton-Franklin Center Raiders. The Raiders are off to a 4-2 start to the season themselves. That game is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.

Freeport police

Felony arrest for possession of child pornography

On March 25, 2025, Michael Arbuckle, a 47-year-old resident of Freeport, was served with a felony warrant and complaint for 11-counts of Possession of Child Pornography stemming from an investigation that was launched on Jan. 16, 2025, after it was discovered that Arbuckle had child pornography images stored in his cellular phone.

Michael Arbuckle was served copies of the arrest warrant and complaint at the Stephenson County Jail where he has been custody since Jan. 16, 2025, on an unrelated matter. Arbuckle was released to the custody of the Stephenson County Sheriff's Office pursuant to an order by the court.

The public is reminded that the defendant is presumed innocent and is entitled to a fair trial, at which the government has the burden of proving guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

Le-Win's Maverick Cass signs to the University of Dubuque

Lena-Winslow senior Maverick Cass recently announced his commitment to playing collegiate baseball at The University of Dubuque. When asked about this accomplishment Cass stated, "I want to thank my family for helping me to get to this point in my career and taking me to all the travel baseball tournaments, showcases, and making me a better person each and every day. I also want to thank my coaches and teammates for helping me develop all the way through this point in my career and helping me achieve this dream of mine. I also want to thank Coach Spain and the University of Dubuque Baseball coaching staff for giving me this opportunity to play at the next level." Congratulations, Maverick!

EPC Drama Department presents Disney's The Little Mermaid

The EPC Drama Department is thrilled to announce its upcoming production of Disney's The Little Mermaid, with performances on Friday, April 4 at 7:00 p.m., Saturday, April 5 at 7:00 p.m., and Sunday, April 6 at 2:00 p.m. This highly anticipated musical will take audiences on a magical journey under the sea and onto land with Ariel, played by Caylie Schubert, and Prince Eric, played by Dylan Rominski. They will be joined by Emma Lagos as the villainous Ursula, Shelby Groezinger as the lovable Flounder, Etana Yang as the quirky Scuttle, and Callie Blevins as the ever-charismatic Sebastian. This is just the top of the list for all the talented performers in this production! Based on the beloved Disney animated film and Hans Christian Andersen's classic tale, The Little Mermaid tells the story of Ariel, a young mermaid who dreams of life on land. Defying her father, King Triton, she makes a dangerous deal with the sea witch Ursula to trade her voice for human legs. With the help of her friends, including the ever-loyal Flounder and the comedic Scuttle, Ariel embarks on a thrilling adventure to win Prince Eric's heart before time runs out. Featuring iconic songs like Part of Your World, Under the Sea, and Kiss the Girl, this production is a must-see for all ages. Join us for three spectacular performances at the Pearl City Big Gym.

Doors will open 30 minutes before each performance. Tickets are priced at $12 for adults and $10 for students, with free admission for children under 3. Tickets will be available for purchase starting March 21 from cast and crew members or at the door on the day of the performance. This production showcases an incredible array of talent from both Eastland and Pearl City junior high and high schools. With a talented supporting cast, dazzling costumes, and beloved songs, this production promises to be a fantastic experience for audiences of all ages. Come be part of the adventure as we bring Disney's The Little Mermaid to life! For more information, please contact Mrs. Jamie Graf at jgraf@pcwolves.net.

Stephenson and Carroll County Farm Bureau news

By Victoria Hansen

Have you heard of Illinois Farm Bureau's Allies in Agriculture program? This program is a partnership effort between county Farm Bureaus® and local government officials across Illinois. It is designed to improve communication, help these officials better understand the significance of agriculture to their county, and encourage farmers to better understand local government duties and structure.

To facilitate that effort, county Farm Bureaus are working with county officials to adopt a Pro-Agriculture Resolution. These proclamations signify that government officials in that county understand agriculture's importance. Counties that pass these resolutions are given plaques that they can proudly display to demonstrate their status as one of our Allies in Agriculture.

During the month of March both the Carroll County and Stephenson County boards adopted Pro Agriculture Resolutions. We appreciate their support of agriculture within our counties and northwest Illinois. To learn more about this program or to see what other counties have received the Allies in Agriculture designation visit www.ilfb.org/ifb-in-action/allies-in-agriculture/

Twenty-Five graduate from Illinois Farm Bureau Agricultural Leaders of Tomorrow Program

Twenty-five Illinois Farm Bureau members recently graduated from the Agricultural Leaders of Tomorrow (ALOT), an extensive leadership development program designed to help participants develop leadership and advocacy skills and to become a voice for Illinois agriculture. ALOT provides selected IFB members an opportunity to learn a broad range of process and content skills to enrich their leadership abilities and enhance agriculture's voice in Illinois. Started in 1979,

The 2025 ALOT graduating class represented 15 Illinois counties and included nine full-time farmers, 10 part-time farmers, and participants from other agriculture-related industries. Local Graduate: Alyssa Nelson, of Carroll County, joined her family's farming operation near Chadwick. After graduating from the University of Illinois with her bachelor's in animal science, she continues a legacy of strong focus on cattle health and nutrition, as well as soil health and conservation practices. When she's not farming, she enjoys flying, hiking and playing the harp. Nelson is also involved in her county's Farm Bureau Young Leaders and a local flying club.

FROM LENA'S KITCHEN

The not so skinny cook

March certainly had a lot of lion characteristics like the song says. April is now with us, and it starts out cool. April Fools Day is a tradition in a lot of places. I forget and often get "fooled." This week we continue with spring recipes and a couple of meatless recipes too. Have a great week cooking.

Macaroni Coleslaw
 1 pkg. (7 oz.) macaroni
 1 pkg. (14 oz.) coleslaw mix
 2 medium onions, finely

chopped
 2 celery ribs, finely chopped
 1 medium cucumber, finely chopped
 1 medium green pepper, finely chopped
 1 can (8 oz.) whole water chestnuts, drained and chopped

Dressing

1½ C. Miracle Whip
 1/3 C. sugar
 ¼ C. cider vinegar
 ½ t. salt
 ¼ t. pepper

Cook macaroni according to package directions; drain and rinse in cold water. Transfer to a large bowl. Add coleslaw mix, onions, celery, cucumber, green pepper and water chestnuts. Mix thoroughly. In a small bowl, mix the dressing ingredients. Pour over salad; toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate at least one hour.

Horseradish Mashed Potatoes

One of my friend's family makes homemade horseradish in the spring and fall. It is treasured by a lot of people. It is a great addition to a dips and sauces. One of the ways it is used this week is in mashed potatoes. It gives them a lot of zing.

6 medium potatoes, peeled and cubed
 ¼ C. butter, melted
 ¾ t. salt
 ½ t. pepper
 ½ C. sour cream
 1 T. horseradish

Place potatoes in a large saucepan and cover with water; bring to a boil and reduce heat and cook for 10 minutes or until tender; drain. Add butter, salt and pepper. Mash potatoes. Beat in sour cream and horseradish. Top with a pat of butter to serve.

Asparagus Beef Teriyaki

This main dish is an easy weeknight meal and great for spring. Asparagus should be coming down in price, and Sullivan's often has steak on sale on the weekend. You can substitute the teriyaki marinade by mixing equal parts of soy sauce and honey. A substitute for sesame oil is peanut or olive oil,

½ C. teriyaki marinade
 2 T. water
 1 T. cornstarch
 ¼ t. pepper
 3 T. sesame oil, divided
 1 beef sirloin tip steak, thinly sliced (1 lb.)
 2 medium green peppers, thinly sliced
 2 medium red peppers, thinly sliced
 ½ lb. fresh asparagus, trimmed and cut into 1-inch pieces
 1 garlic clove, minced

4 C. cooked rice
 Soy sauce
 Sesame seeds
 In a small bowl, mix teriyaki marinade, water, cornstarch and pepper until smooth. In a large skillet, heat 1 T. oil over medium heat. Add beef, stir fry until no longer pink, 6 to 8 minutes. Add garlic and cook 1 minute longer. Remove from pan and set aside.

Add onion, green peppers, red peppers, and asparagus in remaining 1 T. oil until vegetables are crisp tender, 4 to 5 minutes longer. Stir in cornstarch mixture and add to pan. Bring to a boil; cook and stir 1 to 2 minutes or until sauce is thickened. Return beef to pan; heat through. Serve with rice and add soy sauce and sesame seeds for taste.

Spinach Parmesan Casserole

This Lenten casserole will be easy to make and tasty. Put it with a green salad and crusty bread, and you will have an easy meal.

2 lbs. baby spinach
 5 T. butter
 3 T. olive oil
 3 garlic cloves minced
 1 T. Italian seasoning
 ¾ t. salt
 1 C. grated Parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 400. In a stockpot, bring 5 C. water to a boil. Add spinach; cook covered 1 minute or just until wilted. Drain well. In a small skillet, heat butter and oil over medium heat. Add garlic, Italian seasoning, and salt; stir until garlic is tender, 1 to 2 minutes. Spread spinach in a greased 8-inch square pan which has been sprayed with cooking spray. Drizzle with butter mixed with cheese. Bake, uncovered, until cheese is lightly browned, 10 to 15 minutes.

Cream of Crab Soup

If you would rather have a heartier meal for Lent, this rich soup will help fill everyone up. It is a tasty way to give up a meat meal. You can use mock crab if you want, it just won't be as rich. You can also add half-and half for some of the milk to make it richer.

½ C. butter
 ½ C. flour
 1 T. Old Bay seasoning
 1 t. salt
 ½ t. curry powder
 4 C. milk
 1 lb. fresh crab or 3 cans crab meat, drained, flaked and cartilage removed
 2 T. minced fresh parsley
 Melt butter in a 3 qt. saucepan; stir in flour, Old Bay, salt and curry powder. Cook until thickened and bubbly. Gradually add milk; cook and stir until mixture is hot, but do not boil. Remove cartilage from crab and add crab and parsley to soup; cook and stir just until crab is heated through. Garnish with parsley. If soup is too thick, thin with milk.

Green Velvet Cupcakes

If you are looking for a festive Easter dessert, these cupcakes would make a great addition to a brunch table. There is a lot of green food coloring. The coffee gives the chocolate a deeper taste. They are pretty and elegant on a cake stand.

¼ C. brewed coffee, cooled
 2 T. baking cocoa
 1½ C. flour
 1 t. baking powder
 ½ t. baking soda
 ½ t. salt
 1 C. sugar
 ¼ C. unsalted butter, softened
 ¼ C. canola oil
 1 egg
 ½ C. buttermilk
 2 T. green food coloring
 1 t. vanilla

Frosting:
 ½ C. unsalted butter, softened
 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
 1 t. vanilla
 ½ t. salt
 3½ C. powdered sugar
 Green sugar for decorating

Preheat oven to 350. Line a 12-cup muffin pan with paper liners. In a small glass measuring cup, whisk together coffee and cocoa powder until combined; set aside. In a large mixing bowl, whisk together flour, baking powder, baking soda, and salt; set aside. In the bowl of a stand mixer, cream sugar and butter for 3 to 4 minutes until smooth and pale in color. Add the egg, buttermilk, food coloring and vanilla; beat another 2 minutes until evenly combined. Gradually add the dry ingredients to the creamed mixture, stirring after each addition until no dry patches remain. Stir in coffee/cocoa mixture until smooth. Fill each muffin cup about 2/3 full with batter. Bake 18 to 20 minutes or until toothpick comes out clean. Remove from muffin tin and transfer to a wire rack to cool.

In a stand mixer, beat butter and cream cheese for 3 to 4 minutes or until smooth and fluffy. Add vanilla and salt; beat another 30 seconds. On low speed, gradually add powdered sugar and continue to mix until completely combined. Fill a pastry bag fitted with a large star or round tip with frosting. Pipe a generous swirl of frosting on top of each cooled cupcake. Decorate with green sugar.

Illinois State Police targets human trafficking

ISP Director to testify at Senate Criminal Law Committee on SB 2323

The Illinois State Police (ISP) continues to combat trafficking, including human trafficking. ISP Director Brendan F. Kelly, along with key stakeholders representing human trafficking survivors, law enforcement, and support service providers, will appear before the Senate Criminal Law Committee today to speak to Senate Bill 2323. The proposed legislation includes development of a strategic plan to improve the victim-centered, trauma-informed law enforcement response to individuals who have been trafficked, as well as developing training standards for detection, investigation, and response to human trafficking.

"Human trafficking can come in many forms, from commercial sex acts to forced labor," said Director Kelly. "Because human trafficking has many faces and can happen almost anywhere, it is important to have a comprehensive, statewide trauma-informed response that encompasses those who may come in contact with individuals who are being trafficked, such as law enforcement, child services, case workers, treatment providers, and others."

To combat human trafficking, one of the most underreported and under-identified crimes, the ISP Trafficking Enforcement Bureau (TEB) conducted seven human trafficking demand suppression operations in 2024, resulting in 31 arrests and 90 criminal charges.

2024 human trafficking details

- Bloomington – Number of arrests: 1; Number of charges: 2
- Carbondale – Number of arrests: 6; Number of charges: 18
- Columbia – Number of arrests: 5; Number of charges: 22
- Danville – Number of arrests: 5; Number of charges: 16
- Effingham – Number of arrests: 5; Number of charges: 7
- Rockford – Number of arrests: 6; Number of charges: 18
- Yorkville – Number of arrests: 3; Number of charges: 7

Charges filed during the seven operations include Indecent Solicitation of a Child, Traveling to Meet a Child, Grooming, Solicitation to Meet a Child, Unlawful Possession of a Controlled Substance, and Armed Violence – all of which are felonies. In addition to the demand suppression operations, ISP obtained charges in three more cases, including charges of Involuntary Servitude and Promoting Prostitution.

Since TEB's creation in 2022, more than 1,200 ISP officers have received human trafficking awareness training, and more than 130 officers have been trained in advanced investigative techniques related to human trafficking investigations. In 2024, ISP partnered with the Texas Department of Public Safety to provide Interdiction for the Protection of Children (IPC) training for front-line officers to recognize signs a child may be a victim, at-risk of victimization, or missing.

Chocolate Angel food Cake

If you have ever been to a Lena Methodist event, you probably had a chocolate angel food cake. It was an old standby of Flo Chapin. It is generally a favorite because it is so different from an ordinary angel food cake. It is a great cake for spring. Enjoy this wonderful variation of angel food cake. It is beautiful on a cake stand!

- 1½ C. egg whites (about 10)
- ¾ C. cake flour
- 1½ C. plus 2 T. sugar, divided
- ¼ C. baking cocoa
- 1½ t. cream of tartar
- ½ t. vanilla
- ¼ t. salt

Frosting

2 C. heavy whipping cream
1 C. powdered sugar
½ C. baking cocoa
Dash of salt
Preheat oven to 350. Place egg whites in a large bowl and let stand at room temperature for 30 minutes. Sift the flour ¾ C. sugar plus 2 T and cocoa three times. Set aside.

Add cream of tartar, vanilla and salt to egg whites. Beat on medium speed until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar, about 2 T. at a time, beating on high until glossy peaks form and sugar is dissolved. Gradually fold in flour mixture about ¼ C. at a time. Mixture will be thick. Gently spoon in an ungreased 10-inch tube pan. Cut through the batter with a knife to remove air pockets. Bake on the lowest oven rack at 350 for 40 to 45 minutes and top is lightly browned, and entire top is completely dry. Immediately invert pan; cool completely about an hour. Run knife around side and center tube of pan. Remove cake to a serving plate or cake stand.

Frosting: In a large mixing bowl, beat cream until it begins to thicken. Add the sugar, cocoa, and salt. Beat until soft peaks form. Frost top and sides of cake.

Final Thoughts

Congratulations to the cast and crew of the Le-Win musical on their successful production. We are so lucky to have live theater in our area; it is truly due to the dedication of the students and directors who make these productions possible.

Remember that there is Lenten music on Wednesdays at the Lena Evangelical Free Church and Lenten luncheons and devotions at the Pearl City Methodist Church. We continue to have baseball and softball games along with track meets. These athletes deserve a lot of credit for working so hard in not very good conditions.

Don't forget the Lena Area Historical Society's Annual Dinner and Raffle. It is April 24 at the Lena Community Center. The speaker is Alan Wenzel, and he will present the history of The Lena State Park and how it came to be. The price of the dinner is $40.00; the tickets can be purchased at Engels, the Lena Mercantile, or Cindy's Beauty Shop.

We are looking for some Easter recipes. If you find some recipes to share, you can contact us by email or by mail at From Lena's Kitchens, The Shopper's Guide at Rock Valley Publishing, 1102 Ann St., Delavan, WI 53115. Have a great week.

Oral Cancer Awareness Month

As April is Oral Cancer Awareness Month, I want to share that there is a concerning rise in oral cancer rates, particularly among younger adults. The American Cancer Society estimates that 59,660 United States' citizens will be diagnosed with oral and oropharyngeal cancers this year. They also project 12,770 deaths from these cancers. The increase in cancers of young adults primarily involves cancers of the tongue, tonsils, and oropharynx, which are often associated with the human papilloma virus (HPV). The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) estimates that 70% of oropharyngeal cancers are associated with HPV. Oral cancers can occur on

By DR. STEPHEN PETRAS
Illinois Licensed
General Dentist

the lips, tongue, floor of the mouth, cheeks, gums, roof of the mouth, tonsils, salivary glands, pharynx, larynx, paranasal sinuses, and nasal cavity. As with all cancers, early diagnosis contributes to improved prognosis and survival rates. Every patient should be screened for oral and oropharyngeal cancer and precursor lesions during their dental exam. During an oral cancer screening, your dentist will examine the oral cavity, the oropharynx (which includes the soft palate, the base of the tongue, the tonsils, and lateral and posterior pharyngeal walls), and the lymph nodes of the neck. Warning signs of cancer or precancerous lesions include, but are not limited to, frequent bleeding in the mouth, a lump or dense tissue in the cheek or neck, a mouth ulcer or sore that does not heal, patches of red or white irregular spots, persistent pain or numbness in the mouth or lips, difficulty chewing, swallowing or moving the tongue or jaw, a lesion on the tonsil and/or one tonsil significantly larger than the other and enlarged lymph nodes. If oral cancer has spread to nearby tissues, you may also experience a persistent sore throat, the sensation that you have a constant lump in your throat, persistent hoarseness, difficult and/or painful swallowing, swollen lymph nodes in your neck, ear pain, and unexplained weight loss.

It is important for the public to know that in its' early stages, oral cancers rarely cause any pain. If you have any of these warning signs, do not wait until your next dental exam to contact your dentist. Do not assume that a lack of pain means you can put off an exam or recommended biopsy and diagnostic tests. A biopsy and diagnostic tests will provide a definitive diagnosis and guide treatment going forward. Often, oral cancer is only discovered when it has metastasized to another location. The prognosis at this stage of discovery is significantly worse than when it is caught in a localized intraoral area.

Known risk factors include any form of tobacco use and alcohol consumption, with a 30-fold increased risk for individuals who both smoke and drink heavily. As mentioned above, HPV infection of the mouth and throat, believed to be transmitted through sexual contact, is conclusively implicated in the increasing incidence of young, non-smoking oropharyngeal cancer patients. Unfortunately, oropharynx cancers caused by HPV do not produce visible lesions or discolorations that have historically been the early warning signs of the disease process in the anterior (front) of the mouth. The public should be aware that the HPV vaccination could prevent more than 90% of these cancers from ever developing.

In addition to the oral cancer exam that your dentist performs, you are encouraged to do a monthly self-exam of your mouth, looking for anything new, abnormal, or persisting. Keep in mind that while people with oropharyngeal cancer often do not have oral symptoms, they may develop/notice a lump on their neck. A dedicated website, www.checkyourmouth.org has been established to show you how to perform a self-exam. This simple how-to-video is user friendly and extremely easy to follow. The idea of self-exams is not new and has already proven to be quite effective in helping to detect breast and skin cancers.

Prevention, education, and early detection are critical in the fight against oral cancer. Stop smoking, minimize alcohol consumption, get vaccinated against HPV, eat a balanced diet, practice good oral hygiene, have regular dental exams, perform regular oral cancer self-exams, and contact your dentist if you have any questions or concerns.

4-H Fun Day: Doing, thinking, and creating

Jo Daviess County 4-H Fun Day will be held on Monday, April 21, 2025, at the Elizabeth Community Building in Elizabeth, IL. Sponsored by the University of Illinois Extension, this event will include hands-on learning activities that will have kids DOING, THINKING, and CREATING! This event will be offered at no cost to families.

Everyone in Kindergarten through 12th grade is welcome, so grab a friend. Participants do not need to be 4-H members to participate.

Participants in the 3rd-12th grade will have fun in the following workshops. The "Tie-Dye Your Way" will allow participants to express their creativity and learn tying techniques to create unique patterns while having fun. In the "Omelet Mastery" workshop, participants will learn to make an omelet, choose the best ingredients, and find fun ways to present. Our "Chain Reaction Fun" workshop will have participants creating intricate chain reactions using dominoes! Finally, participants will enjoy the "Pressed Flowers" workshop and learn to press flowers and other types of preservation. Participants will make a one-of-a-kind project to take home and enjoy flowers from the garden all year round.

Kindergarten-2nd graders will have an experience created just for them during our Cloverbud session. Participants will explore the world of art, play games, make snacks, and enjoy some hands-on activities that are fun and engaging related to STEM. They will spend their time jumping from one activity to the next.

All participants will enjoy our "Animal Encounter" as they get up close and personal with our 4-H members' animal projects, rabbits? Register and see.

Interested youth may register and review each workshop's details by visiting our website at <https://go.illinois.edu/JDC4-HFunDay> or by calling the Extension Office at 815-858-2273. Pre-registration is required, and spots are limited. Registration will be on a "first-come, first-serve" basis. Registration closes on April 15.

Venison is game changer for fighting food insecurity

By Hannah Spangler
FARMWEEK

Hunters Feeding Illinois is taking a shot at tackling food insecurity throughout the state by connecting hunters, meat processors and food pantries.

During the 2024-25 deer hunting season, the program provided 24,278 pounds of venison to 54 local food pantries.

Hunters donated 584 deer to 20 local meat processors, increasing access to lean protein across central and southern Illinois.

"All of the venison that is donated stays local, which we're really proud of, and the funding that is raised also stays local," said Kaitlyn Streitmatter, a senior manager of Illinois Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) Education at University of Illinois Extension. "It's hunting that's happening locally, supporting our local families and local meat processors."

The process starts when a hunter donates meat to a local food processor. Streitmatter noted that the program helps address the deer nuisance issue, especially in areas where hunting is popular and venison is relevant to the community. Hunters who have more meat than they need can donate it to families in their communities.

"This is a way that hunters can use their passion of hunting and then also give back to their community by donating the excess deer that they are unable to use at home," said Meredith Probst, U of I Extension SNAP-Education educator.

Following the donation, Feeding Illinois financially supports the food processors who turn harvested deer into ground meat. Probst explained that in past years U of I Extension would reimburse meat processors, but partnering with Feeding Illinois helps the reimbursement process run smoother.

"With our partnership with Feeding Illinois, they can actually reimburse our meat processors on a monthly basis, a weekly basis or however many invoices the meat processors sent to Feeding Illinois, they were able to reimburse on more of a streamlined and faster process than what our process was the past two years," Probst told FarmWeek.

Streitmatter added that the deer donation program included in Illinois Senate Bill 2160 would further streamline the reimbursement process. If passed, the legislation would establish the Hunter Food Bank Fund to support grants for food banks to pay processors for donated deer.

Hunters Feeding Illinois also helps food processors find food pantries for partnerships. U of I Extension provides education on venison to the food pantries, including recipes, tastings, food safety instructions and handouts to help clients prepare the meat at home.

The goal is to expand the reach of the Hunters Feeding Illinois program. It has already grown from 11 to 44 counties in three years, but Probst and Streitmatter hope to see it become a statewide program.

"If a county is interested, if there's a meat processor, if there is a food pantry, then we're open to expanding to that county," Probst said, adding that the only stipulation is that deer cannot be accepted from counties facing Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD). "If the county does not have CWD, you can donate to a partnering meat processor within the program, in any of the participating counties."

Hunters, meat processors or food pantries interested in getting involved can visit extension.illinois.edu/food/hunters-feeding-illinois for more information. Donations to the Hunters Feeding Illinois program can also be made through the website.

ISP continues to develop and support victim-centered human trafficking investigations and plans to conduct at least one operation each month. ISP works closely with local law enforcement and community organizations to provide essential services to those who have been trafficked, including medical, mental, and substance use treatment, as well as food, clothing, short and long-term housing, financial aid, and help obtaining legal assistance.

Every year, millions of men, women, and children are victims of trafficking worldwide, including in the United States and in Illinois. The signs of human trafficking can be subtle. To learn more, visit Recognizing the Signs on the National Human Trafficking Hotline website at humantraffickinghotline.org/en/human-trafficking/recognizing-signs.

If you suspect human trafficking, contact the National Human Trafficking Hotline at 1-888-373-7888 or text *233733. For more information, visit www.humantraffickinghotline.org. You can also email ISP.CrimeTips@illinois.gov.

Rainwater Management in the Home Landscape is being held on April 8 at 1:30 p.m. There is a $5 fee to attend. Learn about options to put rainwater diverted from the hardscapes in your yard to use instead of lost as runoff. We will discuss how rain gardens, bioswales, and other structures can be designed into your landscape to retain this valuable resource.

Vermicomposting is being held on April 15 at 1:30 p.m. There is a $5 fee to attend. This is a cool compost method that utilizes your kitchen scraps to transform into compost that you can then use for your houseplants, vegetables, garden beds, and seed starting. This class will look at the basics of getting started, discuss different bin options, maintaining your bin, troubleshooting, and utilizing your castings.

Ticks in Illinois is being held on April 15 at 6 p.m. There is no fee to attend. Learn about Dr. Steckler's research study on Ticks and have the opportunity to be a part of Citizen Science by volunteering to gather data on ticks.

Spring Centerpieces is being held on April 17 at 1:30 p.m. There is a $30 fee to attend. Fresh-cut flowers are a great way to decorate your home or celebrate special occasions. Participants will learn the basics of designing with cut flowers and will then make a fresh spring-themed flower arrangement to take home with them.

Invasive Species is being held on April 29 at 1:30 p.m. There is a $5 fee to attend. With warmer weather on the horizon, things are starting to green up. But are all of those plants you expected and want? Are there plants taking over your yard and landscape? If you have unwanted plants, now might be the best time to manage them before they become problematic. The primary focus of this spring workshop will be on vegetative plants easily identified and controlled prior to developing seeds.
