Wildcats claim fifth regional title

By Trenten Scheidegger
CORRESPONDENT

The River Ridge-Scales Mound Wildcats won their first regional baseball championship since 2019 when they beat the East Dubuque Warriors last weekend. RR-SM got hot at the right time. After getting off to a 9-16 start to the 2025 season, things weren't too promising for the Wildcats, but you can't count any of Jeremy Knauer's teams out. Seven consecutive wins and a Regional Championship later, and the Wildcats have proven they have what it takes to win.

The rally began on May 12 when the Wildcats had a comeback victory to beat Polo 5-4. Since then, RR-SM has found ways to win in any type of situation. After ending the regular season on a four-game winning streak, the Wildcats entered the postseason at the right time.

On Monday, May 19, RR-SM began their playoff run with a familiar opponent in the Orangeville Broncos. Back in April, the Wildcats beat the Broncos 10-0. The postseason proved the regular season matchup was no fluke as RR-SM went on to end Orangeville's season with an 11-1 victory.

The RR-SM pitching staff helped lead the way to victory in the postseason opener. Joe Winter collected the win on the mound. In two innings, Winter allowed one earned run off three hits, while striking out three. Damon Dittmar pitched two innings of shutout ball with two strikeouts. Sam Rife also tossed two shutout innings, striking out four batters along the way.

The Wildcats were expected to get that win over Orangeville, but that wasn't the case when they took on the Galena Pirates in the semifinal round. Galena was the one seed in their bracket. They brought a record of 18-7 into their matchup with the Wildcats.

The semifinal matchup had a little bit of everything. RR-SM scored in four separate innings, including a four-spot in the third. When Kaden Deurr tripled to center in the top of the fourth, an error allowed him to round the bases and reach home safely. At the time, that gave RR-SM a big 8-1 lead over Galena.

The Pirates would respond with five runs in the bottom of the fourth. By the end of the fifth, the Pirates had tied the game 8-8. In the end, Galena's defense came back to bite them. The Pirates had seven errors in the game, including a passed ball in the top of the sixth, which ultimately cost them the game. Bode Dittmar scored the game's winning run.

Rife picked up the win from the mound. Galena put some pressure on with a pair of hits in the seventh, but Rife earned a fly out to get out of trouble. With that, RR-SM advanced to the championship round with a 9-8 victory.

Jo Daviess County Farm Bureau

Agriculture is a cornerstone of life and the economy in Jo Daviess County. Here are the top 5 reasons why it's especially important in this region:

1. Economic Backbone

Agriculture is one of the leading economic drivers in Jo Daviess County. It provides employment through farming, agribusiness, and supporting industries, and revenue from crops like corn and soybeans, and livestock including cattle and dairy.

2. Preservation of Rural Character and Land Use

Farming helps maintain the scenic rural landscape that defines the county. It prevents urban sprawl by preserving open space. It also supports tourism (especially agri-tourism) due to the county's natural beauty and rolling hills.

3. Food Security and Local Food Systems

Local agriculture ensures access to fresh, locally grown food. Farmers markets and farm-to-table operations support community health and local economies. It also reduces dependence on long supply chains.

4. Environmental Stewardship

Many Jo Daviess County farmers are leaders in conservation by implementing soil health practices, cover cropping, and rotational grazing, and protecting water quality in our watersheds.

5. Cultural and Historical Significance

Farming is deeply tied to the identity and heritage of the county. Many farms have been passed down for generations. Local traditions, fairs, and community events often revolve around agriculture.

Each year, our Agriculture in the Classroom program teaches children the importance of our food and fiber industry. Anyone can contribute to the Jo Daviess County Farm Bureau Foundation since it has a 501 (c) (3) tax-exempt status. The Foundation may accept charitable contributions of money, property, securities, and special memorials and endowments. # OPINION

Slices of life

Aging and technology don't always mix

In this column I want to address a topic most of us avoid.

Growing old. Or more specifically, the people living around us who are senior citizens – aging professionals, if you will.

I want to talk about this greatest demographic of all time.

We expect a lot of them. After all they've given us. Think about it. People in their 70s, 80s, and so on gave us the best years of their lives. They parented and nurtured us. They endured the hippy era, Vietnam, avocado-colored kitchen appliances (sans microwave ovens, because they weren't mainstream yet), shag carpet, shag haircuts, and black and white TV programming that ended at midnight with

By
JILL PERTLER
Columnist

the playing of the national anthem.

They shared bathrooms and bedrooms with multiple siblings, dialed rotary phones, learned to drive on a stick shift, and know firsthand how an eight track tape system works. They remember when The Beatles premiered on The Ed Sullivan Show, The Rolling Stones were a new band, and Patsy Cline sang "Crazy."

They have lived. After all they've experienced, we continue to ask more of them.

Isn't that just like us? I, for one, think it might be too much.

Last year, I heard a news story about an, 82-year-old woman in Washington state who was in the locker room of the local YMCA. While there, a transgender woman entered with two girls. The octogenarian saw the scene and did not understand what was happening in the context of 2024. The transgender woman had a male voice and this young 82-year-old heard it and failed to see the person with the male voice as the woman she clearly saw herself to be.

The 82-year-old called for help, thinking the two girls were in danger. In response to her inability to correctly assess the situation, the YMCA banned her for life.

This morning, I was making coffee and a 90-something neighbor literally called out to me through my front window. She'd inadvertently called 911 on her watch during the early morning hour of 2 a.m. and couldn't stop the notifications going to her emergency contacts every 20 minutes. She was mortified and embarrassed and was desperate to find someone who could reprogram her watch.

These are two examples, but I think they might stand for a larger crowd.

Aging is a privilege and a gift and I believe we should treat it as such.

We are living in an age where technology will very soon surpass most of us, but it may have already surpassed some of the people we should value the most.

Yet we keep pushing it, and pushing them.

I am not saying this is inherently wrong. Technology can be a good thing. But enough is enough.

Let's give those we call seniors a break and understand the journeys they've lived through and all the changes they've witnessed throughout their lives.

We think we are helping them when we gift them a smartwatch or smartphone or smartcar, but I think maybe, just maybe, they might be smart enough – in their own way. They have lived. They have navigated life.

If they want to embrace technology, I say hurrah! But if they are kicking and screaming, or maybe just confused, give them a break. Realize what they've experienced in life and value that very experience.

I think it's safe to say that we all hope to grow into the golden years. And, I think it's safe to say that we hope to do it surrounded by kindness, compassion and understanding – but not necessarily things we don't really need and can't really understand.

For some, that includes the latest, greatest technology.

For others, not so much. I say we let both groups age with grace, without any unintended demands from us. However smart that sounds at the time.

Winning a Regional Championship has become a tradition for the Orangeville Broncos' softball program. After beating Durand 5-2 in last Saturday's Regional Championship game, the Broncos claimed their seventh consecutive regional title.

The Broncos are another team that got hot at the right time. Lon Scheuerell's teams have been known to do that, and their seven-year regional championship streak is proof of that. Scheuerell's hall of fame record is filled with excellent late season runs, and the 2025 Broncos are no different.

In early May, Orangeville suffered a three-game losing streak, including back-to-back losses to Dakota. It was only the second time they had lost multiple games in a row this season. The skid dropped their overall record to 22-8. It's also the third consecutive year in which the Broncos have won at least 20 games.

Orangeville cleaned up their play after the losing streak. A weekend trip to Wisconsin helped get things going in the right direction. On Saturday, May 17, the Broncos took on Juda-Albany and Evansville, two solid squads out of Wisconsin. The Broncos went 2-0 on the day, winning their games 5-3 and 5-1.

It was just what the Broncos needed before the 2025 playoffs began. After a few days of rest, the Broncos got into postseason action with a Wednesday, May 21 match-up against Ashton-Franklin Center Raiders. AFC came into the game with a record of just 4-30. They did beat Hiawatha in the first round of regional play.

Orangeville made quick work of AFC. The Broncos beat the Raiders 15-0 in just four innings. They combined for 10 hits at the plate, while the AFC defense helped them out with seven errors. The Broncos also took four walks as a team.

Jillian Carlisle led the way at the plate. With two hits in three at bats, Carlisle had two runs scored and three runs batted in. Kylie Wolfe was equally impressive. Wolfe proved to be a tough out, going two for two with a walk, one run scored, and three RBI. Abigail Hazzard, Jada Reed, Addy Wheeler, Annicka Kraft, Aubrey Fryer, and Kelsey Gordon each tallied one RBI in the win.

The stakes were raised on Saturday, May 24, when Orangeville faced off with the Durand Bulldogs in the Regional Championship. Durand came into the game with a record of 14-12, but that includes an 11-1 victory over Orangeville back on April 15.

Orangeville proved to be the better team with the season on the line. For at least five innings, it didn't appear that way. After Durand jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the third inning, the Broncos were running out of opportunities. When Durand took their two-run lead into the sixth, they were just six outs away from ending Orangeville's streak.

Six outs are a lot to ask for against this Orangeville lineup. Kylie Blakely led the bottom of the sixth off with an infield single. Following an error and a single by Reed, the Broncos had the bases loaded with no outs.

The Broncos rallied, as Wheeler, Kraft, and Carlisle hit three consecutive run-scoring singles. Carlisle's single to left drove in a pair of runs, putting the Broncos up 5-2. Despite Carlisle advancing to third on a sacrifice bunt, the Broncos were unable to bring her in. The rally ended there, and they took their three-run lead into the final inning.

Durand hit a leadoff single, giving them hope in the top of the seventh. R Scheuerell managed to pitch her way out of any danger.

Two fly outs and a strikeout helped Scheuerell escape unfazed as the Broncos picked up a 5-2 victory. Scheuerell pitched four innings of two-hit softball with zero runs allowed.

Orangeville had just seven hits at the plate. Two of those came from Wheeler, who went two for three with one run scored and one RBI. Carlisle was the only other Bronco to have a multi-hit day, going two for three with one RBI. Kraft went one for three with two RBI in the win.

CORRESPONDENT

The Pearl City Wolves got hot at the right time. After a three-game losing streak to end the month of April, the Wolves entered May with hopes of righting the ship. They did just that by opening the month with a four-game winning streak.

The Wolves wound up going 7-1 over their first eight games of May, which includes a dominant run to a 2025 Regional Championship. The Wolves drew an interesting matchup in their first postseason game as they were set to face off with the Lena-Winslow Panthers. Pearl City and Le-Win faced off in two regular season games just a week before postseason play began.

While the regular season matchups between Le-Win and Pearl City were as close as possible, the regional matchup was anything but that. Pearl City got their post-season off to a red-hot start when they rattled off six runs in the top of the first inning against the Panthers. Le-Win trailed the entire game.

The Wolves' postseason started with a big bang. In just their second at bat of the game, Isabella Smith crushed a solo shot to right-center field. From there, the Wolves were off and running. Anna Dampman and Kylie Campbell both singled to put runners in scoring position. Kendra Kuhlemeier then stepped to the plate and blew the game wide open with a three-run homer to right field.

The Wolves weren't done there. Natalie Lotz and Elizabeth Dinderman went on to hit a pair of doubles, pushing the Wolves' lead up to six runs. Pearl City scored four runs with two outs in the first, and Le-Win found themselves trailing big before they even came to the plate.

The Panthers managed to hang around. With three runs in the bottom of the fourth, they managed to make it a two-run game as they trailed the Wolves 5-7. That was as close as they would get, however. Pearl City scored four runs in the final two innings as they beat the Panthers 11-6.

Dampman led the way offensively for Pearl City. She went five for five with one run scored and one run batted in. Lotz was also perfect, going four for four with one RBI. Dinderman was two for four with three RBI. Smith finished the day going two for five with two runs scored and one RBI. Jorja Johnson added two RBI in the victory.

Rachael Setterstrom was the lone bright spot in the Panthers' lineup. Le-Win combined for just seven hits, three of which came from Setterstrom. She finished the day going three for three with a walk, four runs scored, and one RBI. Eden Dietz was also two for four with one RBI in the loss.

Pearl City continued their run when they faced off with the East Dubuque Warriors in the Regional Championship on Friday, May 23. East Dubuque had just beaten Warren-Stockton 6-2 in the Regional Semifinal game.

It wasn't exactly a quick start like the day before, but the Wolves still jumped out to an early lead when they exploded for four runs in the top of the third inning. They did so with another long ball as Dampman homered on a three-run shot to center. That put the Wolves up 4-0, and they held the lead the rest of the way.

Everything was working for the Wolves in the championship round. Their starting pitcher, Mackenzie Lotz, threw a complete game with zero earned runs allowed. The Pearl City defense had a mostly clean game with just one error on the day. Although it allowed East Dubuque to score a run, that didn't matter as the Pearl City bats had all the firepower. They wound up combining for ten hits in yet another dominant performance.

Pearl City matched their third inning output with four more runs in the top of the fourth. Kuhlemeier and Natalie got the inning started with back-to-back singles. S Snyder eventually drove Kuhlemeier in with a sacrifice fly to right. It was Mackenzie who had the big hit of the inning as her double to left allowed another run to score, putting the Wolves up 6-0.

After four innings of play, Pearl City held an 8-0 lead over the Warriors. That was plenty of insurance with Mackenzie in the pitcher's circle. She wound up collecting the win with eight strikeouts, three walks, and seven hits allowed over seven innings of work.

Dampman continued her offensive tear, going two for four with one run scored and four RBI. Smith went two for three with a walk, one run scored, and one RBI. Dinderman also went two for three with two runs scored and one RBI in the Regional Championship.

The Wildcats flirted with even more danger in the championship game. On Saturday, May 24, RR-SM found themselves trailing the East Dubuque Warriors 1-6 after four innings of play. RR-SM still has plenty of fight in them. The Wildcats went on to score 14 runs over the final three innings of the game. In the end, the final score looked like a blowout as the Cats claimed a regional title with a 15-7 victory.

Rife led the way at the plate. He went three for three with two walks, three runs scored and three runs batted in. Winter was extremely productive, going four for five with two runs scored and five RBI. Damon

Dittmar and Mason Smith both had two RBI in the victory.

RR-SM advanced to the next round, where they face off with Eastland on Wednesday, May 28, in Lena, IL.

Lena-Winslow breaks ground on stadium on May 28

On Wednesday, May 28, 2025, at 6 p.m., the Lena-Winslow community is invited to witness a historic moment as organizers break ground on the new stadium at the Ric Arand Football Field. This milestone marks the beginning of a transformational journey to create a state-of-the-art outdoor sports and community complex that will serve generations of Panthers to come.

In a moment of celebration on their last day of high school, the Class of 2025 football seniors, alongside Head Coach Ric Arand, gathered on the field they proudly called home for four unforgettable seasons. These young men represent the final team to play on the original grass field, and their legacy is etched into the foundation of what's to come.

"It has been an honor and a pleasure to coach this group of gentlemen the past four years," said Coach Arand. "It is only fitting that on their last day of high school they get one last memory on this field before construction starts on the new stadium. This group did things together that almost no one else in IHSA history can say they have done on a high school football field. They amassed a record of 52-4 over the past four seasons and played in four consecutive state championship games, taking two first and two second place finishes. Not only were they great on the football field, but they represented the district of Lena-Winslow as well as anyone or any group ever has, and I am absolutely certain that these young men will go on to be great employees, and great husbands and fathers."

The May 28 groundbreaking ceremony will feature Stadium Project committee members, school leaders, and major sponsors, all of whom have played a critical role in making this dream a reality. The Lena-Winslow community is encouraged to attend and show their Panther pride as the next chapter in the school's athletic history begins.

Thanks to an overwhelming outpouring of community support, the Stadium Project has exceeded its ambitious $1,250,000 fundraising goal, announced just last fall, with $1,254,146 raised to date. The total project cost of $3.4 million will be funded through a combined investment of $2.15 million from the Lena-Winslow School District and the successful community-led campaign.

The Lena-Winslow School District, in collaboration with staff, coaches, families, and dedicated volunteers, has developed a comprehensive vision for a versatile complex designed to host year-round sporting events, school activities, and community gatherings.

The upgrades include: School District Investment:

- Track and field improvements
- New bleachers with 1,000-person capacity
- Improved drainage and facility access
- Hard-surface pathways
- Relocation of existing bleachers to the field events area

Fundraiser Investment:

- Installation of artificial turf and supporting field infrastructure
- Addition of a digital display scoreboard

Hand, Foot, and Mouth Disease

Hand, Foot, and Mouth disease (HFMD) is a viral infection generally seen in children under the age of 5. While outbreaks can occur year-round, the virus is most active and prevalent during the warmer seasons. It is most commonly spread in childcare settings because of frequent diaper changes, toilet training, sharing toys/playground equipment and children putting their hands and other objects in their mouth.

Children often get a fever and other flu-like symptoms (sore throat, eating or drinking less, drooling, and general malaise) anywhere from three to six days following exposure to the virus. One to two days after the fever starts, your child may develop sores in their mouth. These start as small red spots in the back of their mouth, that blister and may become quite painful. A similar rash usually develops on their hands and the soles of their feet, but may involve the knees, elbows, and genital area.

If a dental exam reveals signs of HFMD, your child will be sent to their pediatrician for further evaluation. HFMD can be mistaken for several other illnesses due to similar symptoms. For example, early symptoms of herpangina mimic HFMD, as they include fever, sore throat, difficulty swallowing, and the development of tiny blisters at the back of the mouth. The doctor may take a throat swab or stool sample to confirm the diagnosis. Accurate diagnosis is important for appropriate treatment and management, including education to both avoid and recognize signs of complications and how to prevent further spread of this highly infectious viral disease.

To help prevent the spread of HFMD, it's important for both you and your child to stay home from school or work and away from anyone outside your immediate family. HFMD is highly

By
DR. STEPHEN PETRAS
Illinois Licensed
General Dentist

contagious, and not just limited to children. Not only can adults contract this virus they can pass the virus on without showing any signs or symptoms of the disease themselves. Notify your healthcare professional if you develop HFMD while pregnant so they can monitor the situation closely.

While your child is most contagious during the first week of the illness, the virus can stay in the body and be shed for weeks after the signs and symptoms are gone. Be sure to notify your child's day care, summer camp, vacation Bible school, or babysitter as soon as possible if they receive a diagnosis of HFMD.

The virus spreads through contact with saliva, sneezing, coughing, stool, and fluid from the blisters. Keep blisters and scabs clean and uncovered and avoid touching them. Disinfect toys and common areas (doorknobs, etc.) as the virus can live on these surfaces for days. Isolate contagious family members and make sure all family members practice frequent handwashing. Do not share cups, silverware, towels, or other personal items.

Mothers do not need to stop breastfeeding to prevent transmission of disease. Breastmilk does not transmit the virus and can offer your infant some protection against HFMD if you are caring for another child/ children with HFMD. If you are breastfeeding your infected infant, you are susceptible to HFMD from handling your sick child, not from the breastmilk. When caring for or comforting your sick child, parents should wash their hands frequently and try not to rub their eyes or mouth, as the virus can be transmitted through body fluids.

There is no specific treatment for HFMD. Your pediatrician may prescribe Tylenol to ease the pain, a cream for painful, extensive blisters or iv fluids if severe dehydration is present. It's not recommended that children under the age of 18 use aspirin as it can cause a rare but serious illness called Reye syndrome. Since dehydration is the most common complication, due to the pain of the oral blisters, offer sips of cold fluids and ice pops. Offer cold, soft foods that do not require chewing. Avoid acidic fluids such as citrus fruit juice and soda, and all salty, acidic, or spicy food.

You can help your child keep up with their oral care routine by twice-daily gently brushing their teeth with a toothbrush made of extra soft bristles. Make sure to dispose of this toothbrush upon recovery, so it's not a source of reinfection.

Alert your doctor if your child's fever lasts longer than three days, they develop neck or chest pain, decreased or dark urine, if their symptoms worsen, or last longer than ten days.

More than 200, 000 cases of HFMD are diagnosed annually. The body typically builds up an immunity to most viruses that cause HFMD after having it. However, since a number of different enteroviruses are responsible for HFMD, it is possible to get it again from one of these other viral strains. As always, preventing disease is always better than treating it. Teach your children to routinely wash their hands after using the restroom, before eating, and after being out in public. Help them to understand why they should not share food or put their hands, toys, or other objects in their mouths.

FROM LENA'S KITCHEN

The not so skinny cook

We finally got our much needed rain. It could have rained several more days, but we were grateful for the rain we did get. The weather was unseasonably cool, but it is warming up a little bit at a time. Gardens are growing, crops are sprouting out of the fields, and summer activities have begun. We have some summer recipes as well as some interesting recipes you can use all year long. Have a great week cooking!

Dill Pickle Dip

If you are looking for an easy appetizer, this dill dip is great for snacking. You can add some half-and-half to it to make a great salad dressing or use it to dress up baked potatoes. It is a dip for every season of the year.

1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 C. sour cream
¼ C. dill pickle juice
1 C. chopped dill pickles
1 t. garlic pepper
Chips or pretzels

In a small bowl, beat the cream cheese, sour cream and pickle juice until smooth. Stir in pickles and pepper blend. Refrigerate at least one hour. Serve with potato chips or pretzels.

Red, White, and Blue Salad

This salad is great for a picnic. You can save it for the Fourth of July or enjoy it in June. You can substitute endive for the romaine and butter lettuce for the Arugula. The champagne vinegar is easy to find.

Pickling mixture:

¼ C. champagne vinegar
¼ C. water
1 T. sugar
1 t. Kosher salt
½ English cucumber, peeled and sliced about (about 1 C.)

Salad:

3 T. extra virgin olive oil
1 T. champagne vinegar
1 t. whole-grain mustard
½ t. Kosher salt
1½ C. red grapes, halved
1 C. blueberries
3 heads of romaine, chopped
1 C. Arugula, chopped
½ C. crumbled blue cheese
½ C. chopped roasted almonds

In a small saucepan over medium heat, combine the vinegar, water, sugar and salt and bring to a simmer. Remove from heat and allow to cool for 5 minutes. In a small bowl, pour the brine over the cucumbers and allow to sit at room temperature for 30 minutes.

In a large salad bowl, whisk together the oil, vinegar, mustard and salt. Add the grapes, blueberries, romaine and Arugula; toss well to coat. Drain the cucumbers and add them to the bowl along with the blue cheese crumbles and almonds. Toss one last time and serve.

Cauliflower Tacos

This different taco is a great one for outdoor meals and for those who are not into eating meat. The avocado sauce cools down some of the spice of the cauliflower. Enjoy this different kind of taco.

Avocado Crème:

½ C. plain Greek yogurt
1 medium ripe avocado, peeled and mashed
1 T. fresh lime juice
1 T. fresh minced cilantro
¼ t. sea salt

Tacos:

1 t. sea salt
1 t. cumin
1 t. garlic powder
½ t. chili powder
½ t. dried oregano
6 C. fresh cauliflower
¼ C. canola oil
12 flour tortillas (6 inches)
1½ C. coleslaw mix
Sliced radishes, red onions, sliced jalapeños

Sauce: In a small bowl, combine all the ingredients until smooth; refrigerate for at least 30 minutes until serving. For the tacos: Preheat the oven to 450. In a large bowl, combine the salt, cumin, garlic powder, and oregano. Add the cauliflower and oil; toss to coat. Transfer to a foil-lined baking sheet. Bake cauliflower until it is tender and browned, about 20 minutes, stirring halfway through the baking time. Serve in tortillas with coleslaw mix and avocado cream. Add radishes, onions, and jalapeños to taste.

Poor Man's Casserole

It seems that in many cooking shows and magazines of late, there is always a recipe for a "poor man's casserole." This one caught my eye because it is creamy with noodles and cheese. It is made with ground beef and not a more expensive beef. It has a lot of flavor for an affordable casserole.

12 oz. uncooked extra-wide noodles

1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened

1 carton (8 oz.) sour cream
1½ lbs. ground beef
½ C. chopped onion
3 garlic cloves, minced
1 t. Italian seasoning
1 t. salt
½ t. pepper
½ t. crushed red pepper flakes

1 can (29 oz.) tomato sauce
1½ C. shredded Monterey Jack cheese

½ C. grated Parmesan cheese

Chopped fresh parsley for garnish

Preheat oven to 350. Grease a 9x13 baking dish. Bring a large pot of water to a boil. Add egg noodles; cook according to package directions for al dente. Drain; return to the pot. While the noodles cook, stir together the softened cream cheese and the sour cream in a large bowl. Stir into the pot with the cooked noodles until noodles are completely coated; set aside.

Heat a large skillet over medium-high heat; add ground beef and onion. Cook 9 to 11 minutes or until meat is browned, breaking it up with a wooden spoon as it cooks. Drain off excess grease. Stir in garlic, Italian seasoning, salt, pepper, and pepper flakes. Cook 2 -3 minutes; remove from heat. To assemble the casserole, spread 1/3 of the meat sauce in the bottom of the prepared baking dish. Top with ½ of the noodle mixture, spreading into an even layer. Sprinkle with ½ C. shredded cheese over the top. Repeat layers, then spread the remaining meat sauce on top. Sprinkle with the last ½ C. of shredded cheese; sprinkle the Parmesan on top. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until sauce is bubbling and the cheese is melted and lightly browned. Transfer to a cooling rack. Top with chopped fresh parsley.

French Onion Chicken Pasta Casserole

Enjoy this easy chicken casserole for a weeknight dinner. If you find Vidalia onions, they are really great in this recipe. Using rotisserie chicken makes for an easy assembly.

8 oz. uncooked fettuccine noodles, broken into thirds

¼ C. butter
2 large sweet onions, halved and thinly sliced

1 T. chopped fresh thyme leaves

¼ t. salt
¼ t. pepper
2 T. flour

2¼ C. beef broth

2 C. shredded deli rotisserie chicken

2 C. shredded Swiss cheese

Topping

2 T. butter, melted

1 C. Panko breadcrumbs

Preheat oven to 350. Spray a 9x13 glass baking dish with cooking spray; set aside. Cook and drain pasta as directed on the package, using minimum cooking time. In a 12-inch nonstick skillet, heat ¼ C. butter over medium-high heat. Add onions, thyme, salt and pepper. Cook 11 to 12 minutes, stirring occasionally, until onions are tender. Reduce heat to medium; cook 10 to 12 minutes, stirring occasionally, until onions are starting to brown. Sprinkle flour over onions in skillet; cook and stir about 1 minute. Stir in broth; heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Simmer 1 to 2 minutes or until slightly thickened. Remove from heat; stir in chicken and cooked pasta, mixing to combine. Add half of the mixture to the baking dish. Sprinkle with half of the cheese. Top with remaining pasta mixture, then remaining cheese. Cover and bake 20 minutes. In a small bowl, mix topping ingredients. Remove cover; sprinkle on top of pasta mixture; bake 5 to 10 minutes or until topping is golden brown and mixture is heated through.

Strawberry Pretzel Salad Dip

This fruit dip is a great way to end a meal or to have as a light dessert. It is based on the strawberry pretzel salad.

1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened

½ C. powdered sugar

¼ t. salt

1 t. vanilla

1 container (8 oz.) Cool Whip, thawed

1 C. strawberry pie filling,

divided

Pretzels for dipping

Using a mixer, beat cream cheese, powdered sugar, vanilla, and salt on medium-low heat until smooth, 2 to 3 minutes. Using a rubber spatula, gently fold in the whipped topping until evenly incorporated. Gently stir in ¼ C. strawberry pie filling until combined. Transfer mixture to a serving bowl; spread into an even layer. Dollop remaining ¼ C. strawberry pie filling on top of cream cheese. Using the end of a sharp knife, swirl the strawberry pie filling around the top. Cover and refrigerate for 10 minutes before serving with pretzels.

Red, White, and Blue Cheesecake Bars

These are a lighter version of cheesecake because you whip cottage cheese for part of the cream cheese. Because of the strawberry preserves and blueberries, you don't notice that it is a lighter cheesecake.

1 graham cracker crust (9 inches)

¾ C. 2% cottage cheese

1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened

1 C. sugar

1 t. grated lemon zest

2 T. lemon juice

1 t. vanilla

2 large egg whites, room temperature

1 egg, room temperature

1/3 C. strawberry preserves

½ C. fresh blueberries

Preheat the oven to 375. Line an 8-inch square baking pan with foil, letting ends extend up sides, coat foil with cooking spray. Remove pie crust from foil pan; break into fine crumbles into prepared pan. Press crumbs on the bottom of the pan.

Place cottage cheese in a small food processor; process until smooth. Transfer to a bowl. Add cream cheese, sugar, lemon zest, lemon juice, and vanilla; beat until smooth. In a small bowl, lightly beat egg whites and egg; add to cottage cheese mixture. Beat on low speed just until blended. Pour over crust. Drop preserves by teaspoonfuls over filling. Cut through cheesecake with a knife to swirl. Sprinkle with blueberries. Bake 25 to 30 minutes until center of cheesecake is almost set. Cool 1 hour on a wire rack. Refrigerate 2 hours or until cold. Lifting with foil, remove cheesecake from pan; cut into 12 bars.
